Following an all morning meeting at M-G-M, producers accepted without qualification the terms for ending the studio strike as presented by a committee from the Labor Council. The two point plan was: (1) that all striking crafts return to work immediately without prejudice, (2) that negotiations be undertaken by representatives of each striking union for the establishment of wage scales and working conditions. Casey stated that it was assured that Labor Council representatives believed the strike would be terminated promptly if the producers agreed to the plan. Charles Lessing stated after conferring with

K-A-O, B. F. Keith Profits Show Gain

Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corp. yesterday reported a net profit of $512,803 after all charges except surtax on undistributed profits for the 13 weeks ended April 3. The figure compares with a profit of $274,049 for the corresponding period a year ago, and is equivalent to $7.97 per share on the 64,304 shares of seven per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock outstanding.

For the 53 weeks ended April 3, K-A-O and subsidiaries show a net profit of $1,539,495 after all charges

MPTOA Seeks Conference on Radio Problem

Wants to Learn Producer Stand on Regulation

A meeting of producers' representatives with the M. P. T. O. A. radio committee to discuss the possibilities of regulating the use of film stars and material on radio broadcasts is being sought in advance of the general meeting of industry officials with representatives of the radio industry, Walter Vincent, committee chairman, said yesterday.

Invitations have been sent out by Vincent to the heads of the major producing companies inviting them to designate representatives to attend the preliminary meeting with the committee. A date will be fixed as soon as possible. Proposals may be evolved at the preliminary meeting for submission to the later session which the M. P. T. O. A. committee will seek with producing company heads and broadcasting officials. Plans for this later session may be developed at a conference which Vincent is seeking with Will H. Hays for today or tomorrow.

Additional developments in radio on pages 14-15

Vincent said that the committee's work would be developed as rapidly as his other duties and obligations would permit. He has been out of the city for several days and during his ab-

"Prince, Pauper" Is Given a Big Opening

Warners gave "The Prince and the Pauper" one of its special Grade A openings last night. The idea was to make the New York populace think King George had come over here for his coronation. The only thing missing was the royal coach and chargers.

Many came in limousines, more came in taxis and a lot more came on foot. Those who came on foot were lucky if they scrambled through the jam into the Strand lobby with all buttons in place.

Fourteen debutantes wore court presentation dresses, and their ostrich plumes waved in the brilliant glare of flood lights. Members of the International Mark Twain Society were there—also several sets of twins, to tie in with the Mauch Twins. Among those present were: Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, John W. Davis and Mrs. Davis, Rear Admiral Harris Laning and his staff, Edward G. Robinson, Anna May Wong, Floyd Gibbons, Jack Pearl, Helen Jepson, Helen Gleason, Collette Lyons, Lanny Ross, Gradwell L. Sears, S. Charles Einfield, Sam Morris, Princess Obolensky, Elsa Maxwell, George Abbott, "Dinty" Moore, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, General Louis T. Stotesbury and a number of other socialites.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 5.

"WINGS Over Honolulu" is hooray stuff for the glorious navy and its tradition, but it is also pleasant entertainment modeled from a story pattern which cannot deny its familiarity. In one form or other what Universal has gotten from Mildred Cram's Red Book yarn other producers have previously tapped as a lightning approach on the content will demonstrate.

Wendy Barrie, as a Virginia belle, has a chance meeting with Roy Milland, naval aviator. Both fall madly in love and in 24 hours marry.

Come official orders which fly Milland to Honolulu, while the girl travels on a naval transport and has a rough time of it because the menacing and disappointed love interest, played by Polly Rowles, is a daughter of the Admiral, no less. The navy exacting considerable demands from its handsome flyers, Milland has little time to spend honeymooning and Miss Barrie rapidly gets not to like the situation.

When Kent Taylor, who owns yachts and millions and once wanted to marry her, anchors he invites her to a party on his boat, but Milland has to go flying again. He doesn't want her to go. She goes and as a result they break.

Realizing she is interfering with his career, the girl decides to step out by tying up with Taylor. Milland hears of it, flies a naval plane through a fog to dissuade her and cracks up. Following his recovery, he is court-martialed and is about to be drummed out when Miss Barrie explains the fault was hers. Milland earns clemency and the couple have a chance to try it all over again, although why either one should think a second fling will be better than the first is not quite clear. In point of treatment by Isabel Dawn and Boyce De Gaw the approach on routine material is reasonably fresh. H. C. Potter's direction is competently handled against top-notch production backgrounds and gorgeous photography by Joseph Valentine.

The attractive Miss Barrie handles what she has to do adequately in a part requiring standard performance only. This goes for Milland, Taylor and William Gargan. If "Wings Over Honolulu" had genuinely important cast names it would be a cinch for top playing time. As it stands, however, the attraction will register satisfaction in the wide market which is available for a formula picture of its type.

Russell Hardy Here For Justice Dep't

Russell Hardy of the anti-trust division of the Dep't of Justice arrived from Washington yesterday, presumably to check up on a number of complaints filed with his department. He refused to answer questions on the purpose of the trip, stating that "the Dep't of Justice never reveals information on complaints being investigated and suits to be filed."

Hardy, who was the prosecuting attorney against Paramount, Warners and RKO executives in the St. Louis criminal and equity suits, said he planned to return to Washington tonight by plane. He said he has not been in touch with developments in the settlement of the St. Louis case and that his trip was not in connection with it.

Meanwhile, it is learned Albert Law, who has been investigating conditions in Hollywood, may remain there permanently.

Berg Bill Is Passed

Albany, May 5.—The Senate has passed and sent to the Assembly the Berg bill requiring a permit and payment of a $10 fee to change the location of a place of business of reselling tickets of admission to theatres and places of amusement and providing that no license shall be issued unless the office is approved as suitable.

"Maytime" Is March Box-Office Champion

"Maytime" heads the list of "Box-Office Champions" as published in Motion Picture Herald today. The Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy opus is followed by "Love Is News" and "Swing High, Swing Low" in second and third places, respectively.

"Green Light" is in fourth position among the champions, while "Waikiki Wedding" takes the No. 5 spot. "On the Avenue" is sixth in the list with seventh place going, by coincidence, to "Seventh Heaven."

Plan Annual Stage Meet

The American Theatre Council, new combination of theatrical organizations dedicated to a revitalizing of the stage with the American public, stated yesterday that it had decided to hold national conventions annually and that during the World's Fair year an international convention will be held here. The organization's first convention opens May 24 at the Astor.

Mrs. Le Roy Recovering

Hollywood, May 5.—Mrs. Mervyn Le Roy, the former Doris Warner, is making a quick recovery from an appendix operation at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. She spoke to her father, Harry M. Warner, on the transcontinental telephone a few hours after the operation.

General Suit Naming Electrics Dismissed

Wilmington, May 5.—Judge Nields in the U. S. District Court here has handed down a formal decision dismissing the action brought originally in 1932 by General Talking Pictures Corp. and the Duovac Radio Corp. against the A. T. & T., Western Electric and Erpi.

The charges against A. T. & T. and Western Electric were dismissed, and the injunction sought against Erpi was denied. The court has retained jurisdiction in case Erpi should hereafter endeavor to enforce the so-called "equality" and "repair and replacement" clauses in some of its early contracts. The litigation was started in September, 1932.

Postpone Joan Lowell Suit

Trial of the $250,000 personal injury suit brought by Joan Lowell against Van Beuren was postponed in U. S. District Court yesterday to June 1 by Judge John C. Knox. He stated that he was adjourning the case for the last time and would dismiss the complaint unless the plaintiff was ready to proceed. Miss Lowell's attorney asked for a postponement of the case until October because his client is at present in Brazil and he is unable to locate her. Miss Lowell alleges that she sustained injuries in Central America during the filming of "Adventure Girl" and is now unable to work.

Dismisses Magazine Action

Federal Judge Robert T. Patterson yesterday dismissed the suit of F. Kay Kaplan against Fox Film Corp. because of the failure of the complaint to state a cause of action. Kaplan is assignee of the copyright of Theatre Magazine. He charged that the cover design of the August, 1929, issue was infringed in "George White's Scandals of 1935." Judge Patterson ruled that the complaint failed to show that Durenceau, who drew the cover, assigned his rights to the magazine. Kaplan had 20 days to file an amended complaint.

Warner Decision Reserved

Judge Henry W. Goddard in U. S. District Court yesterday reserved decision after three days of trial, in the infringement suit brought by Albert Bein against Warners. Bein claims his play, "Lil' Ol' Boy," was infringed in "Mayor of Hell," which Edward Chodorov wrote while under contract to the company. Chodorov testified that his story was based on an original idea.

Marx Suit Is Settled

Los Angeles, May 5.—A civil infringement suit against Groucho and Chico Marx has been settled out of court. It was brought by Garrett and Carroll Graham, writers, and was predicated on the asserted unlawful use of a radio skit by the comedians.

branch manager, and his sales force boarded the train. Sam Decker, William Hurlburt and salesmen of the Detroit exchange joined the convention train at Detroit.

Other branch managers who will convene in Chicago today include Howard Stubbins and Ray Olmstead, Los Angeles; Ed Blumenthal, Dallas; Nate Schultz, Cleveland; George Blumenthal, San Francisco; Carr Scott, Oklahoma City; William Norris, William P. Humston and Lester Durland, Kansas City; Charles Trampe, Milwaukee; A. M. Goldstein, Seattle; Lon T. Fidler, Denver; John W. Mangham, Atlanta; D. J. Selznick, Pittsburgh; Henri Elman, Chicago; Carl Harthill, Indianapolis; F. E. Judd, Des Moines; L. O. Ringler, Omaha; William Onie, Cincinnati.

Scott R. Dunlap, vice-president in charge of production, is due to arrive in Chicago this morning from the coast. Sol A. Rosenblatt, attorney for Monogram, and J. A. Sisto, underwriter of the Monogram stock issue, will also be on hand.

Elman will be host to the men during the convention. The first get together will be held in his exchange today and tonight the delegates will assemble at the hotel for preliminary talks.

Busy Sessions Ahead

The first business session will get under way tomorrow with Johnston presiding. A dinner and meeting of franchise holders and the advisory committee is scheduled for the evening. Additional meetings will be held Saturday with a banquet at night officially bringing the sessions to a close.

Johnston will announce product details tomorrow. There will be 42 features, among which will be "My Old Kentucky Home," produced by I. E. F. Chadwick.

O. Henry Briggs, president of Pathe, left for Chicago yesterday morning. He will be one of the principal speakers. Rosenblatt will leave by plane from Philadelphia today. He will make a speech before a garment convention in Atlantic City, following which he will go to Philadelphia to catch a plane. Sisto will leave by plane tomorrow morning, while his partner, Mortimer Burnside, will depart tonight.

Many Addresses Scheduled

Chicago, May 5. — Monogram's three-day convention starting Thursday will be addressed by every important factor identified with the company. Aaron Saperstein, local Allied head, will be among the speakers.

For tomorrow, the schedule calls for open house and cocktails at the Chicago exchange from 4 to 6 P. M. as guests of Henri Elman. In the evening, from 8 to 10, there will be a reception at the Drake.

For Friday morning, the list of speakers will include W. Ray Johnston, Elman, Saperstein, Sol A. Rosenblatt, Scott R. Dunlap and Edward A. Golden.

For Friday afternoon, Louis S. Lifton, Johnston, Harry Berkson, William Onie, Ray Olmstead, Cecil Farnes, O. Henry Briggs, F. E. Judd, John W. Mangham and Dunlap.

In the evening a dinner will be tendered by franchise holders and the advisory committee.

For Saturday morning, Norton V. Ritchey, Steve Broidy, Dave Selznick, George Blumenthal, Lon T. Fidler, Sam Rosen, Harry Bachman, Charles Weiner and Carl Harthill.

For Saturday afternoon, Charles Trampe, Joe Felder, Sam Decker, Herschel Stuart, Howard Stubbins, Mortimer Burnside and Edward A. Golden.

In the evening a banquet will be served at 8 o'clock and officially wind up the meetings.

Name Three Branch Heads

Three new branch managers have been named by Monogram. Sam Rosen, formerly of the Grand National sales staff and before that with RKO, has been named to head the Philadelphia exchange, while Harry Bachman will pilot the Washington branch. Headquarters have not been set up in Washington, but negotiations for an office there are expected to be completed shortly. Additionally, Al Goldstein has been named exchange head for the northwest. He will have offices in Portland and Seattle.

No arrangement has been set for Albany. This is one of the few situations which will be set after the convention.

Grand National Not To Release Shorts

Grand National will not announce any shorts on its product schedule for next season. Condor, which will produce a series of features for Grand National, at one time was said to be planning a series of shorts in addition, but sales executives of the distributing company yesterday denied Grand National would handle any.

James Cagney will make two features for Grand National next season, the sales force will be told at the annual convention on the coast May 17-19

Overseas Previews

"It Isn't Done"

(Cinesound-British Empire Films)

Melbourne, April 20.—Here is a film for which this country need make no apologies. It is immeasurably better than anything yet turned out by Cinesound, and in that respect is historic, since it marks a new era in Australia's youngest industry.

In the principal part of Hubert Blaydon is Cecil Kellaway, leading stage player, who wrote the original film story. He typifies a bluff Australian farmer who completely lacks the social graces but has a dignity all his own. The type is well known. He is comfortably settled with his family in the "bush" when news comes that he has inherited a title and a legacy. Blaydon and his family depart for London. Except for the daughter they do not fit into their new surroundings and there are signs of a snobbish indifference on the part of those who resent the Blaydons. Despite this, romance quickly blossoms between the daughter and Blaydon's heir. Finally Blayden deliberately falsifies some evidence which disproves his right to the title, and leaves the new earl and his daughter to marry while he and his wife return to Australia.

Kellaway's Blaydon is an excellent study. A girl with great possibilities is Shirley-Ann Richards. She is by far the most impressive feminine personality local studios have so far delivered. The rest of the cast also is capable. Ken G. Hall directed.

Running time, 90 minutes. "G." Holt

Para. Renews Pacts

Hollywood, May 5.—Paramount has renewed contracts with Fanchon, Martha Raye and Billy Lee.

Short Subjects

"Penny Wisdom"

(M-G-M)

Prudence Penny of syndicated news column fame goes through her paces with some appropriate gagging by Pete Smith. There is a slight story thread—the wife cooking dinner for her husband's boss and a buyer when the cook leaves—that serves well. Miss Penny accomplishes her culinary feats with proper distinction and to the amazement of the cast, Smith, and no doubt the audience, too. It is done in Technicolor. Production Code Seal No. 3,060. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"A Day at Santa Anita"

(Vitaphone)

A sentimental story serves as background for an otherwise diverting series of exciting shots of the California track. Sybil Jason brings all her youthful talents into play as she enacts a rather humdrum plot—the old stuff about the horse that cannot win unless she is there to urge him on. The horse wins. There are fine Technicolor scenes of track activities, a thrilling race, and plenty of comic doings by the Warner roster of players. Production Code Seal No. 3,227. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"Behind the Flood Headlines"

The relief activities of the Red Cross in the recent flood areas are vividly and dramatically shown in this short. Assistance to the suffering populations is glimpsed in quick snatches of realistic photography. It is not entertainment but will grip and impress audiences. It may be obtained free from local Red Cross division headquarters. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Paramount Pictorial, 6-9"

(Paramount)

A good collection of novel and interesting subjects. Buddy Clark's singing is tastefully synchronized with beautiful moonlight compositions, the rooftop activities in Manhattan, and the playful antics of a pair of bear cubs, make up the reel. Production Code Seal No. 01,536. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 36"

(Universal)

The only woman diamond cutter in New York, a wooden horse collection, a bat farm, art through X-raying flowers, and a few other strange items along the line of this series, should reliably entertain. Production Code Seal No. 01,464. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Colorful Bombay"

(FitzPatrick-M-G-M)

Another top-notch film from James FitzPatrick's Technicolor cameras. In the usual entertaining and interesting fashion the Indian city is covered. It is all too brief. Production Code Seal No. 3,092. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

British Units Still at Odds On Quota Plan

R. S. The former suggests a quality basis in addition to cost, while the K. R. S. wants a cost basis with the quota reduced in inverse proportion to the cost.

It is pointed out that although the three groups have agreed on most of the major points at issue, the report of the joint conferences will leave many minor differences for the Board of Trade to decide.

Producers and distributors are said to have agreed on a minimum cost of £15,000, but differ on the quota percentages. The Film Group of the F. B. I. have approved the Moyne suggestion of 20 per cent for distributors and 15 per cent for exhibitors. The C. E. A. and K. R. S. is asking 15 per cent and 10 per cent for distributors and exhibitors, respectively, and the K. R. S. separately has suggested 10 per cent and five per cent, with a provision for an average cost, to be £20,000 or £25,000.

The principle of compulsory trade arbitration has been agreed upon. The F. B. I. is supporting a move for a separate quota on shorts, which is opposed by the C. E. A. and the K. R. S. It is understood that the conferees have scrapped an earlier suggestion for reciprocity.

Silverstone with Korda

London, May 5.—Maurice Silverstone, head of United Artists in London, sailed today on the Ile de France with Alexander Korda. Both will attend the U. A. annual meeting on the coast May 15. They will arrive in New York May 11.

To Release "Road Back"

"The Road Back" will not be roadshown, but will go out as a general release from Universal. The picture has been dated to open May 28 at the Roxy. The distributor at one time was after the Globe where it was planned to show the film two-a-day.

"Wake Up" Is Philadelphia Top, $17,000

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—"Wake Up and Live" was the only first run to do business. It grabbed a neat $17,000 at the Stanley and was held a second week.

"Captains Courageous" held on to $11,000 for its second roadshow week at the Boyd, duplicating its first week's gross. The picture is not hitting the figures of "The Good Earth" and will stay only two more weeks—giving it four in all. "Lost Horizon" ended its roadshow engagement at the Erlanger with $7,500 for its eighth and last week.

The rest of the town slumped.

Total business, including roadshows, was $92,950. Average, exclusive of roadshows, is $80,600.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

Parking Meters a Worry

OMAHA, May 5.—Local exhibitors are disturbed by the five-cent parking meters recently installed on most downtown streets. Since all the houses run double features it makes it impossible for matinee goers to park their cars on the streets, and, worse yet, parking lots have raised prices, too. The loss is being somewhat offset, however, by increased evening attendance as a result of most of the big radio programs coming on an hour earlier because of daylight time. Omaha still is on central standard time.

Delay Lease Discussion

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—Loew's Theatres, Inc., has not yet renewed its lease on the Midland here, J. R. Vogel, general manager, said here on his way to the Coast with the M-G-M convention train. There has been no discussion of the matter as yet, although the lease expires in October.

'Ready, Able,' Show $17,000 Denver Smash

DENVER, May 5.—"Ready, Willing and Able," with a Major Bowes girl show on the stage at the Denver, proved a smash combination. The gross ran $9,500 over normal to a total of $17,000. Standouts were common throughout the week.

"50 Roads to Town" accumulated a neat $5,000, up by $2,000, at the Aladdin, and "The Good Earth" turned in a strong $6,500 at $1.50 top in its second week at the Broadway.

Total first run business was $41,500. Average is $27,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

"50 ROADS TO TOWN" (20th-Fox)

Mixed Show Tops Lincoln at $1,700

LINCOLN, May 5.—The Liberty went out front with a double average take when "Vice Racket" in three days boomed the 10-center to the large share of the $1,700 gross. That was $850 up.

"50 Roads to Town" gathered $2,800, $600 up, at the Lincoln, while "Wake Up and Live" overshot the Stuart's average by $500, on a $3,600 tally.

Total first run business was $10,700. Average is $9,000.

Estimated takings:

State's Largest

Omaha, May 5.—A survey by a local newspaper as a "gag" stunt has revealed that State Senator Alois Slepicka, who is Nebraska's second oldest exhibitor, has the state's largest mustache. It is of the walrus type.

"Personal" Pulls $14,500 in Cincy

CINCINNATI, May 5.—"Personal Property," which gave the RKO Palace $14,500, over average by $2,500, was the outstanding draw in an otherwise tame week. It was moved to the RKO Capitol.

"Waikiki Wedding," in its fourth downtown stanza at the RKO Grand, pulled $250 over the $2,750 normal, and went into its fifth period.

"The Good Earth," in a holdover roadshow week, didn't keep the RKO Shubert turnstiles working overtime, further exemplifying the fact that the natives here do not go for pictures in the higher admission brackets.

Total first run business, exclusive of the Shubert, was $45,850. Average, also exclusive of this house, is $46,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

"TOP OF THE TOWN" (Univ.)

Fox Midwest Drops Prizes in Two Towns

KANSAS CITY, May 5.—Fox Midwest has discontinued Bank Night in Joplin and Carthage, Mo., following refusal of Circuit Judge Wilbur J. Owen to issue an order restraining Charles R. Warden, prosecuting attorney at Joplin, from enforcing his edict banning use of Bank Night, Screeno and other money giveaways.

Warden issued his order April 16 with the comment that he had an opinion from the Missouri Attorney General's office, which held such promotions are lotteries under the Missouri law.

Warden is under indictment by a Jasper County grand jury investigating vice conditions on a charge of "negligence in office."

Is Paramount Salesman

PORTLAND, May 5.—Glen Haviland has resigned from Hamrick Evergreen in Seattle to become a salesman for Paramount here.

"Woman" High In Dull Week San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—"The Woman I Love" was out front in a dull week among the first runs with a gross of $18,300 at the Golden Gate. This was $2,300 over par and was helped by a stage show consisting of vaudeville.

"Wake Up and Live" and "Song of the City," at the Fox, went $2,600 into the profit column on a take of $18,600. "The Good Old Soak" and "Doctor's Diary" at the Paramount and "Internes Can't Take Money" and "Way out West" at the Warfield were the only other attractions to make a showing.

"Maytime" as 2nd Run High In Washington

WASHINGTON, May 5.—"Maytime," on a return visit to Loew's Columbia, after skipping a week following its three-week engagement at Loew's Palace, topped the town with a take of $6,200 to beat average by $2,600.

A return engagement of "Marked Woman" at the Metropolitan hit $5,800, exceeding par by $1,500. "Internes Can't Take Money" at the Earle did $19,800—or $1,400 over par—but most of the picture's success was attributed to Horace Heidt and his orchestra.

Total first run business was $69,700. Average is $76,700.

"Wake Up" Buffalo Leader at $17,500

BUFFALO, May 5.—"Wake Up and Live" at the Buffalo was away out front as spring fever hit the box-offices. It took $17,500, cracking par by $5,500.

Back to duals after some weeks, the Lafayette, with "I Promise to Pay" and "Let's Get Married," rolled up a nice $8,600, to go $2,600 over average.

Total first run business was $44,900. Average is $38,400.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 1:

Flood Menace Cuts Grosses In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, May 5.—Just when downtown Pittsburgh seemed to be heading for one of its best weeks of the year, a flood scare came along. Only the Fulton managed to withstand the beating and there "No Man of Her Own" rung up one of the surprises of the season, the five-year-old reissue topping average by more than $3,000 to get $7,600. That earned for it a second week as well.

The Stanley, with "History Is Made at Night" and Major Bowes Amateurs, was on the way to $26,000, but the three-day rain sliced that figure by $5,500, the $20,500 being very good, everything considered, as was "Maytime's" $5,350 at the Warner in its third downtown week.

Total first run grosses were $44,950. Average is $44.000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

"TIME OUT FOR ROMANCE" (20th-Fox)

"MAYTIME" (M-G-M)
WARNER—(2,000), 25c-50c, 6 days, 3rd week. Gross: $5,350. (Average, for 7 days, $5,000)

"Family Affair" at $5,600, New Haven

NEW HAVEN, May 5.—The College doubled average with "A Family Affair" on the screen and the annual local Fresh Air Fund "Town Topics" revue, taking $5,600.

"Top of the Town" and "Her Husband's Secretary" at the Roger Shermen grossed $6,000, above par by $1,300. The Poli outdistanced slightly the average $7,000 week with "Good Old Soak" and "Song of the City."

Total first run business was $23,400. Average is $19,300.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 30:

"A FAMILY AFFAIR" (M-G-M)
COLLEGE—(1,499), 35c-40c, 7 days. Stage: "Town Topics Revue." Gross: $5,600. (Average, $2,800)

Asks Protection

One of the prisoners at Welfare Island recently called Harry H. Buxbaum, local exchange head of 20th Century-Fox, and asked for a picture to show the inmates.

"Have you seen 'On the Avenue?'" Buxbaum asked. The prisoner said he had. Then Buxbaum offered "Wake Up and Live."

"We haven't seen that one, but can we get protection on RKO's 58th St.?"

"Wake Up" $9,000 Hit in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, May 5.—"Wake Up and Live" at the Rialto pulled the best business of the week, topping the $4,500 average by a good 100 per cent. The take was $9,000. It was moved over to the Strand for an additional seven days.

"The Hit Parade" and "Killer at Large" combined to pull $6,000 at Loew's State. This was $500 up.

"The Good Earth," with roadshow prices at the Brown, was heavily exploited but failed to come up to expectations. The advance sale was light, and while business built steadily as the week progressed, the takings were far from satisfactory.

Total first run business, excluding "The Good Earth," was $24,500. Average is $23,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

"Wake Up" on Dual $29,000 Boston Draw

BOSTON, May 5.—"Wake Up and Live," with "Highlights in Color" featuring Harris & Howell and Al Bernie on the stage, hit $29,000, which exceeded par by $7,000 at the Metropolitan.

"The Woman I Love," with "We Have Our Moments," drew $18,000, which was $6,000 above par at the RKO Memorial. "Personal Property," dualed with "Devil's Playground," in a second week at the Loew's Orpheum drew $13,600. Average is $12,000. The same bill, also in the second week, took $11,000 at Loew's State. Average there is also $11,000.

Total first run business was $171,600. Average is $89,500.

FCC Approves Licenses for Six Stations

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Operating licenses have been granted to six broadcasting stations by the F. C. C., as follows:

WEAU, Eau Claire, Wis., 1,050 kilocycles, 1,000 watts, daytime only; WRBL Columbus, Ga., 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; KORE, Eugene, Ore., 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts; WSBC, Chicago, 1,210 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; WBLK, Clarksburg, W. Va., 1,370 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime only; KGKO, Wichita Falls, Tex., 570 kilocycles, 250 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

The commission also approved the assignment of license of KIUP, Durango, Col., from C. Guy Shepard to San Juan Broadcasting Co., and WLWL, New York, from the Missionary Society of St. Paul the Apostle to Arde Bulova.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division ordered the holding of hearings on the applications of the Colonial Network, Inc., Providence, for a new station to operate on 720 kilocycles, 1,000 watts; WDSU, Inc., New Orleans, for new station to operate on 1,500 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; and WBLY, Lima, O., for increase of day power to 250 watts; KPQ, Wenatchee, Wash., for change of frequency to 1,360 kilocycles and increase of power to 1,000 watts; WMIN, St. Paul, for change of frequency to 1,400 kilocycles and increase of night power to 250 watts; and WFAS, White Plains, N. Y., for increase of time.

Detroit Plea Approved

The division approved applications of WWJ, Detroit, for an increase of night power to 5,000 watts, and WRC, Washington, for increase of power to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day.

Acting on examiners' reports, the commission denied applications for new stations at Ventura, Cal.; Kingsport, Tenn.; Pomona, Cal.; Pottsville, Pa.; Brownwood, Tex., and Sweetwater, Tex., and denied applications of WMAS, Springfield, Mass., for change of frequency and increase of power, and KMPC, Beverly Hills, Cal., for transfer of control of corporation. Application for a new station at Phenix City, Ala., was dismissed at the request of the applicant, R. W. Page Corp.

During the past week, examiners' reports were received recommending the granting of applications of KLPM, Minot, N. D., for change of frequency to 1,360 kilocycles and increase of power to 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day, and for a new station at Rice Lake, Wis., to be operated by Walter H. McGenty on 1,210 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only; and recommending denial of an application for a new station at Brooklyn. An examiner's report also was submitted, recommending denial of the application of WMBQ, Brooklyn, for renewal of license.

An application has been received from WKAR, East Lansing, Mich., for an increase of power to 5,000 watts. Also received were two applications for new stations, submitted by Broadcasters, Inc., Gastonia, N. C., for 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; and Airfan Radio Corp., Ltd., San Diego, Cal., for 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts.

sence no material progress has been made.

Vincent denied published reports that the committee would undertake a national poll of exhibitors by mail to determine their attitudes toward radio's use of film stars and materials.

"A poll of that kind hasn't even been thought of by the committee," he said. "It is possible that I may contact some of my exhibitor friends whom I know very well for advice or suggestions, but I don't know that I'll even do that. Not only are exhibitor attitudes toward radio pretty well known already, but the length of time required to complete such a poll makes it inadvisable, I should think."

CBS Discloses 24,500,000 U.S. Families Own Radios

The CBS Radio Census of 1937, a brochure bringing up to date Columbia's continuous four-year measurement of the national radio audience, compiled under the direction of Dr. Daniel Starch, reveals, among other facts, that more than 24,500,000 families in the United States own radio receiving sets.

Personal interviews with some 160,000 set owners in all parts of the country form the basis for the figures contained in the survey. The interviews by Dr. Starch's statisticians during the four quarter periods of 1936 covered every income group of 160 communities of 2,500 and more.

In this category it was found that nine out of every 10 families were radio owners.

The brochure discloses a total of 33,000,000 sets in use in homes and autos. At the beginning of 1937, 24,500,000 families owned radios. The number of automobile radios in use at the beginning of the year is shown in the study at 4,500,000. Taking into account the 4,000,000 families owning more than one radio, the survey arrives at the 33,000,000 set mark.

Of the 24,500,000 families owning sets early in 1937, Dr. Starch's researchers learned that 20,212,500 listened to the radio an average of five hours each day. In 1932, the average daily period for each family listening was 4.1 hours.

Intensity of ownership of radios according to size of family income varied as follows:

98.6 per cent of homes with incomes over $5,000; 96.3 per cent of homes with incomes of $2,000 to $5,000; 85.1 per cent of homes with incomes of $2,000 or less.

The percentages of homes having radios in communities of various sizes were as follows:

92.4 per cent in cities of over 250,000; 90.8 per cent in cities of 25,000 to 250,000; 91.8 per cent in cities of 10,000 to 25,000; 88.8 per cent in cities of 2,500 to 10,000.

Ownership figures by time zones show the Pacific region first with 91.3 per cent of all homes equipped with radios; the Eastern division next with 90.7 per cent; the mountain region third with 89.7 per cent, and the Central zone last with 88.8 per cent.

At some time each day, four out of five of the nation's radio families use their sets, 64.0 per cent after 6 P. M.; 57.6 per cent before that hour.

Oil Firm Will Air 400 Baseball Games

Approximately 400 baseball games will be broadcast this season under the sponsorship of the Atlantic Refining Co. Five teams make up the schedule—the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the minor league teams of Binghamton, Williamsport, Hazleton and Wilkes-Barre.

In Pittsburgh, WWSW is carrying the activities of the Pirates, through resumes of play-by-play reconstructions via Western Union.

WNBF, Binghamton, is carrying the company's programs featuring the ball team there, the broadcasts coming direct from the park. The other stations are WAZL, Hazleton; WBRE, Wilkes-Barre, and WRAK, Williamsport.

N. W. Ayer & Son set the programs of Atlantic Refining. The company's baseball broadcasting policy is based on the success of the football campaign last year.

Derby on Louisville Stations

LOUISVILLE, May 5.—All three local stations are giving a prominent place in their schedules to pre-Derby programs. Meador Lowry, WHAS news commentator, is on the air daily with a 15-minute program, furnishing the latest dope on the races; WAVE has been broadcasting for several weeks a "Mythical Race," sponsored by the Vissman Packing Co., with cash prizes for listeners who pick the winner of each race; Jack Powell is heard daily over WGRC, New Albany, Ind., giving his opinions of the day's card at Churchill Downs, sponsored by Patrick Henry Beer. Additionally, various prominent persons identified with the racing game are presented over all stations.

WKRC Starts "Street" Series

CINCINNATI, May 5.—Dick Bray, announcer and sportscaster of WKRC, Columbia affiliate, has inaugurated a new "Man on the Street" series, broadcasting from the Carew Tower Arcade in the downtown business sector. Dixey Company Issue Is 1,100,000 Shares

LONDON, May 5.—The British Independent Exhibitors' Distributing Co., headed by Capt. A. C. N. Dixey, on May 10 will issue 1,100,000 two-shilling ordinary shares. The company will engage in operations on the sale of shares totaling £50,000. This amount has already been guaranteed, including £35,000 in ordinary shares subscribed for by the Rock Studios.

The company's contract with Rock for floor space at the plant calls for the payment of £16,250 the first year, rising to £32,500 annually in four years. Four films already have been bought. Dixey is chairman of the company. A total of 300 exhibitor franchise holders will absorb 100,000 franchise shares to a value of £10,000.

League of Nations Getting Equipment

LONDON, April 29.—The two main halls of the League of Nations building at Geneva, the Salle de Commission and the Salle de Conseil, are being equipped with sound film apparatus by G.B. Equipments, Ltd.

In the Salle de Commision G.B. is putting in a standard duosonic sound reproducer, supplemented by a 16 mm. model. In the Salle de Conseil, portable models will be used.

By the end of May facilities will be complete for the exhibition of special films depicting the League's work against the white slave traffic and the drug smuggling industry. International previews of important entertainment subjects are also planned.

Sees Catholic Drive As Helping Industry

BRISBANE, April 20 (By Air Mail via London)—Commenting on the Catholic film review plan in Australia, Archbishop Duhig said here that the church had no desire to harm the film industry. "Our campaign," he stated, "will indeed help the industry because more people will attend when they know what pictures they and their children may safely attend."

Since the first announcement of the formation of a Catholic Central Film Committee to review films, there has been a growing disposition on the part of exhibitors and distributors to cooperate to the full. It is clear that exhibitors desire a high moral tone in film product as much as the church.

Lichtman Addresses Final MGM Session

he told the assembled delegates that 10 of the best M-G-M pictures grossed 30 per cent more business than the 10 best of all other producing companies combined.

William F. Rodgers, general sales manager, confined his morning talk to angles on next year's policy.

Louis B. Mayer in an address said the philosophy of picture making today is "not to plan for the year but for three, four, five or ten years in the future."

He said that M-G-M had taken its 1937 policy from the World War, saying, "You can't win the battle without young, fresh reserves. Years ago we went aside from the policies of other producing companies. I felt it unwise to attempt to attract older, established stars from other studios. There is no soundness in such a plan. Ten years ago we set out on a policy of developing unknowns into stardom. Today we have the largest list of stars, executives and directors in the world. And they were raised from our ranks. Picture making is too complex today for minute decisions. Only great pictures succeed today with a public trained to and clamoring for only the best. And great pictures cannot be continuously made unless reserves of talent are provided for now so that when one star or producer or director falls by the wayside through illness or death another is ready immediately to take his place in the ranks."

Lauds Schenck

Mayer paid tribute to Nicholas M. Schenck by ascribing the success of Loew's and M-G-M to the latter's vision in solidly backing the plan of providing ample talent reserves. "But Mr. Schenck and I view a success in a slightly different manner. He was delighted in the figures of "Born to Dance" and from the standpoint of you boys of the distribution department and the manager of Loew theatres he was quite right. But to me the thrill of that picture was not its success but the fact that we created a new star, Eleanor Powell. There is no computing the value of a new star."

Lichtman presented sales members who expressed their appreciation to Mayer. These included Ted Mendelssohn, J. J. Maloney, J. E. Flynn, E. M. Saunders, Tom Connors and Howard Dietz. Lichtman, for the entire sales group, then presented Mayer with an engraved watch.

Talks on Young Producers

At another point Mayer stressed company's commitment to the policy of developing young producers and cited as this need the exigencies of production and the fact that many current M-G-M producers are not completely well. Harry Rapf who with Mayer and Irving Thalberg comprised M-G-M's original three producers, spoke on the importance of talent. Sam Katz and Dietz were other speakers.

The latter portion of the forenoon session was devoted to a general discussion from the floor. Participating were C. J. Brient, New Orleans; Frank Drew, Cleveland; H. A. Wagner, Indianapolis; Bob Workman, Minneapolis; Ted Mendelssohn, Chicago; Joe Vogel, New York; George Hickey, Los Angeles; J. E. Flynn, Detroit; Leroy Bickel, Dallas; E. K. O'Shea, Buffalo; Miss M. Ryan, Buffalo, and Jerry Adams, Indianapolis.

Tonight the delegates were the guests of Hal Roach at a barbecue on the producer's back lot in Culver City. Thursday will be a day of play with some of the visitors setting forth for Catalina, some for the Santa Monica Swimming Club and others on a sightseeing trip. The highlight will come in the evening when Louis B. Mayer will be host of a lavish dinner-dance on one of the studio's big stages. All M-G-M personalities will appear.

Jungle Notes from Leo

Los Angeles, May 5.—Bob Lynch reverted to type. An old-time railroad man, it appears he has never recovered from a yen to return to the throttle. Between Emporia and Newton, those two Kansan metropoli, Bob clambered into the cab of the special and pushed the party closer to Pasadena. He reached a top speed of 68 miles per hour.

It was at Albuquerque that William F. Rodgers went into what appeared to be an important conference with Eddie Saunders and Tom Connors, his two aides-de-camp. There, as elsewhere along the line of travel, the public foregathered. One group of girls sidled up, submitted the trio to a careful inspection and turned away in obvious chagrin with: "Those aren't the men who make the pictures. They're the financiers."

Jackson Rose was behind the motion picture camera as the group alighted from the battery of busses on the Ambassador grounds. It is said for Rose that he was the first cameraman to make a newsreel clip 30 years ago in New York, a shot of Theodore Roosevelt departing on an African hunting trip. Rose is now one of Metro's camera aces.

They're kidding Joe Morrow, Philadelphia salesman sometimes yclept "The Foreign Representative" because he didn't send any mail orders en route. He didn't even tear up a deck of cards which seems to be some sort of an accomplishment in Morrow's life.

J. S. McLeod, head of the exchange maintenance department, arrived ahead of the conventionites. At Pasadena he was one of the greeters outfitted in an immaculate ice cream suit. His necktie, a la Technicolor, gave him away, despite the dark glasses.

Joe Farrow, Philadelphia office manager, sometimes referred to as "Captain Bligh," insists he misses his girls. Even in California.

Fan stuff. Bill Koenig, studio manager, hit Pasadena wearing a hotcha sport shirt reported to be a replica of the kind Bob Taylor disports.

Herb Genter, Pittsburgh city salesman, recalls the days when he was an oil magnate right here in California.

This is Sandy Gottlieb's first jaunt away from Minneapolis since his marriage in March. John Dembeck, booker from Detroit, notes this as his initial trip away from his home town.

Louis ("Mickey") Coen is described as the Beau Brummell of the Minneapolis sales force. Other statistics regarding him: He earned the reputation for playing the best game of bridge on the train. He favors blondes, which stamps him a gentleman.

Eddie Lipson reported to be $75 in the red on the trip. This is construable as an advance tip the powers which call the shots in the Milwaukee exchange will be scrutinizing his expense account with rigor and care.

Bill Bishop, Detroit exploiteer, was pretty well exploited himself on the journey. He is a double for Bob Woolsey and was beleaguered at the various trains stops for autographs.

Sol Gottlieb, Pittsburgh salesman, is credited with the card record of the trip. He blanketed the 15-car train and is reputed to have played in every game he happened across.

Adam J. Shumow does not drink, smoke or gamble. This salesman from Milwaukee, with those who don't know him, is being subjected to quizzical glances.

Allen Chatworthy is a new pappy, his daughter now only a couple of weeks old. He hopes she'll recognize him by the time he returns to Minneapolis.

Seventeen years of exploiteering is Morrie Abrams' record. He is now attached to the Minneapolis exchange.

Joe Imhof, no sooner off the train, launched a search for his "passion flower." Outcome not yet available.

Loew Has 16,922

Los Angeles, May 5.—Loew's numbers 16,922 employees in its ranks.

Displays around the convention room at the Ambassador attractively decorated by W. R. Ferguson give these statistics: Sales, 4,278; theatres, 6,722; contract players, 215; writers, 447; directors, 28, studio without extras, 5,111; stars, 21.

Rosenberg Joins G. N.

Omaha, May 5.—Joe Rosenberg has resigned as Republic-Midwest salesman here to become Grand National's branch manager. The post has been vacant since Carl Reese quit to resume his old job as 20th Century-Fox salesman. Harry Lefholtz has resigned as United Artists salesman to join Grand National, and Jake Schlank has left Universal to join U. A. Dick Stahl, formerly salesman for Scott-Ballantyne, equipment house, now is Universal's booker, replacing R. A. Morrison, resigned.

M-G-M Shorts List Increased to 201

Los Angeles, May 5.—M-G-M has increased its short subject lineup next season from 194 to 201, it was announced today by Al Lichtman, vice-president; William F. Rodgers, general sales manager, and Fred Quimby, manager of short subjects.

The list comprises 16 two-reelers, of which four are Laurel and Hardy re-issues, 81 singles and 104 issues of News of the Day. The producers and number of pictures they will make are as follows:

Two-Reelers

6 "Crime Doesn't Pay."

6 Musical novelties.

4 Laurel and Hardy re-issues, namely "Bohunks," "Blotto," "A Perfect Day" and "The County Hospital."

One-Reelers

16 Pete Smith subjects. One will deal with three-dimensional photography.

10 Human interest films. One will be a narration by Adrian on how she selects gowns and fashions for film stars. Carey Wilson will do some on mental telepathy.

10 Unsolved historical mysteries. The first will be "Was Lincoln's Assassin Ever Caught?"

8 Robert Benchley subjects. "How to Wake Up," "How to Pay Your Income Tax," "How to Make an Impression" and "How to Take Care of a Baby" are some of the titles.

12 Fitzpatrick Traveltalks.

12 "Our Gang" comedies to be produced by Hal Roach.

104 News of the Day, newsreel produced by Hearst International.

Delay Loew Board Meet

Loew's board of directors meeting yesterday was postponed for at least two weeks because Nicholas M. Schenck, David Bernstein and other members are out of town.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., An M-G-M Producer

Los Angeles, May 5. — Carl Laemmle, Jr., after protracted negotiations has signed on as an M-G-M associate producer. He probably will make "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" as his first. The deal with U. A. collapsed because of Laemmle's reported inability to raise proper financing.

Laemmle at present is in New York where he is seeking talent and production material. He leaves shortly for a short sojourn in Bermuda.

Raise Providence Prices

Providence, May 5.—Leading downtown theatres here have increased prices from a 40 to 50-cent top. Managers explain that the jump is necessitated by a recent wage raise given to employes and to increased cost of operation. The houses include the Majestic and Fay's, of the Fay circuit, Loew's State, RKO Albee and the Strand, an independent.

'U' Sets Annual Musical

Hollywood, May 5.—Universal will produce an annual musical to be known as "Merry-Go-Round." The first of the series will be handled by Buddy DeSylva and will go into production shortly. Bert Lahr, Billy House, Mischa Auer, Jimmy Savo and Alice Brady will be featured.

Paramount to Put 50-60 on '37 - '38 List

Monthly Million Dollar Feature Planned

Paramount's new season production plans indicate a schedule of 50 to 60 features at present, Robert M. Gillham, director of advertising and publicity, said yesterday following his return from a studio visit. The company announced 70 to 80 pictures for the current season at its 1936 sales meeting.

Production budgets have been increased materially for the 1937-'38 season and plans are being made for the delivery of a $1,000,000 production every month, Gillham said. With the new schedule approximating a picture a week, a drastic reduction in the number of low budgeted pictures is indicated, as several pictures a month, apparently, will come within the intermediate cost brackets.

"Star Born" Pulls $90,000, 2nd Week

"A Star Is Born" tallied approximately $90,000 for its second week at the Music Hall.

At the Roxy, "Wake Up and Live" tallied $47,000 for the second week ending last night. It will go a third. In the final five days of "Marked Woman," the Strand took in about $9,000. "The Prince and the Pauper" opened there nicely yesterday after a formal preview Wednesday night. In the first 20 minutes, 980 tickets were sold and by 10:30 yesterday morning standees were in evidence.

The third week of "Swing High,

Monogram to Have 42 for Next Season

Titles Will Be Revealed At Meeting Today

CHICAGO, May 6.—W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram, tomorrow will reveal a total of 42 features for 1937-'38, at the opening business session of the company's fifth annual sales convention at the Drake Hotel here. Production budgets will be increased an average of 25 per cent.

The product schedule, the largest yet to be announced by Monogram, comprises 26 dramas in three series, and two series of westerns, each including eight pictures.

The meeting opened today with informal discussions, and will conclude on Saturday.

The production schedule is headed by a special group of five "Certified Attractions." The other divisions

Rodgers Talks on Flexibility Policy

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—William F. Rodgers, sales manager of M-G-M, in a speech which brought to a close the current sales convention of the company, substantiated MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S prediction of last Monday that flexibility would be the principal characteristic of next season's policy.

Rodgers told the conventioneers that the new season's policy would be carried forward substantially as last year with the exception that it would be flexible. For the new year each manager would adjust policy to the individual exhibitor where such adjustments seemed necessary to make

Newsreels Face New Coronation Problem

The destruction of the German dirigible Hindenburg which was struck by lightning and burned at Lakehurst late yesterday afternoon presents a new problem to newsreel producers who had planned to ship their films here on the next trip of the giant airship. The decision to send the prints on the Hindenberg had halted negotiations with prominent aviators who had planned to make solo over-ocean flights with the pictures. These negotiations may now be reopened.

The newsreel companies' executives could not be reached last night for statements.

Fashion Note

Hollywood, May 6.—Pickets and how they dress are largely a matter of geography.

In the industrial centers, it's overalls and sober array.

In Hollywood, it's sport shoes, slacks and gay sweaters.

Hardy Checks On St. Louis Case Details

Although Russell Hardy denied that his trip from Washington had anything to do with the St. Louis antitrust case which was settled out-of-court last summer, it was revealed yesterday that he has been checking up with various litigants involved on the fulfillment of stipulations filed in the New York Federal Court.

During his two-day stay, Hardy visited Warners, Paramount, RKO and F. & M. executives and it is understood several details remain to be worked out. Attorneys for the distributors, it is said, have assured the Dept. of Justice counsel that the stipulations argreed to will be lived up to in due course.

Hardy returned to Washington last night by plane to report his findings to Homer S. Cummings, attorney general.

Production Holds; 39 Films in Work

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Production held up well here last week despite strike conditions with studio rosters showing a total of 37 features and two short subjects in work. Seven new pictures went before cameras during the week and 73 features and 15 shorts were in the cutting rooms. A slacking up of action in the studios was not apparent with 16 features and five shorts scheduled to shoot within the next two weeks.

The new films starting were "Flashing Skates" at Columbia; "Hurricane" and "Dead End," Samuel Goldwyn; "You'll Be Married by Noon," M-G-M; "Let's Talk of Love," Paramount; "Born Reckless," 20th Century-Fox, and "West Coast Limited," Universal.

Paramount had all production wheels turning with nine features in work, peak production among majors.

Columbia had four features shoot-

Picketing by FMPC Starts Within 2 Days

C. I. O. Assistance Offer Is Accepted

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Picketing of all theatres in the United States playing films produced by the 10 major companies now under strike regime will start within 48 hours, F.M.P.C. headquarters announced today. Wires were dispatched to international offices of the crafts represented in the Federation and picketing will start immediately through the supervision of craft locals throughout the country.

C.I.O. groups will be on the picket lines, having signified their desire to cooperate through a number of wires received at F.M.P.C. headquarters here. F.M.P.C. heads said that the theatre picket campaign would take 48 hours to organize.

Picket lines around the studios here apparently were augmented today;

More Talks Coming On Service Unions

Further discussions with I. A. T. S. E. officials in the middle west on the current lockout of equipment service men in Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis will be required in the near future before a settlement of the I. A.'s unionizing demands for service men nationally can be had, L. W. Conrow, head of Erpi's maintenance operations, said yesterday on his return from Chicago.

With representatives of RCA Mfg. Corp. and circuit theatres affected by the lockouts, Conrow conferred with

Balaban and Arthur Talk St. Louis Deal

CHICAGO, May 6.—A. J. Balaban early this morning conferred with Harry C. Arthur at the Municipal Airport in regard to purchasing an interest in the F. & M. circuit in St. Louis. Arthur was on his way to New York. It was the first time he had met Balaban since the latter returned from Switzerland.

Reports have been current for some time that Balaban and his associates have been interested in the St. Louis circuit. Balaban said he would be glad to make a deal with Arthur, but nothing definite has been done yet.

E. C. Grainger Will Be at 20th-Fox Meet

E. C. Grainger, film buyer for Feiber & Shea and former eastern division sales head for 20th Century-Fox, has been invited to attend the distributor's annual sales convention at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, starting May 30. He has accepted and will accompany the eastern contingent of 20th Century-Fox next Thursday.

Spyros Skouras and a number of other National Theatres' operating heads also will attend the meetings.

Chase Sells Fox Stock

Chase National Bank, in a statement issued yesterday, announced the sale of "a few thousand" shares of 20th Century-Fox stock during the past two months, adding that additional blocks would be sold as occasion offers.

Warner Managers Meet

WASHINGTON, May 6.—All managers of Warner theatres in this territory attended a meeting here over which John J. Payette, general zone manager, presided. Payette was given a watch by the managers and territory exectives. The group attended a screening of "The Prince and the Pauper" at the Ambassador.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 6.

THOSE Warner brothers go banging away again with their flair for good old melodrama in "Slim." There is the girl once more, two men in love with her and one of them clearing the scene to sweep the way toward an implied clinch finish. Add an interesting and, if you can find it, different background and insist upon standard performances from an experienced cast and there's your picture.

William Wister Haines' novel had the necessaries. He incorporated them into his own script and Ray Enright followed through in his direction. Margaret Lindsay is the girl. Pat O'Brien is a power lineman who lives for today and lets tomorrow take care of itself. Henry Fonda is a country bumpkin taken under O'Brien's wing to finally turn into a first-class lineman on his own. He falls for Miss Lindsay with reverse sentiments prevailing.

It is never quite conveyed whether Pat purposely slips to his death while repairing broken power lines in a raging blizzard or whether he merely fell. Anyhow he and the plot part and it's a case of tea for two. Thereafter, the result of this story array which can be matched up with a carload of predecessors, if your memory is working properly and allows for differences in background, makes for conventional but acceptable entertainment. One weakening influence is the direct similarity of the thrill moments fore and aft. They are so identical that a carbon impress of one on the other does considerable hurt to the "ohs" and "ahs" content and provides two chills of the same temperature. That's contrary to the dictates of the best constructionists of the ten-twenty-thirty school.

Bookings Shifted in Westchester Houses

Day and date bookings for the Bronxville, Bronxville, and Scarsdale, Scarsdale, N. Y., have been dropped by Skouras Theatres as a result of protests by the Women's Clubs in both Westchester towns. The clubs objected to the booking arrangement on the ground that once a picture is not seen in either house there is no chance for catching it again.

The Women's Clubs are staunch supporters of both theatres and asked that one theatre follow the other with the same bookings. This has been agreed to by Skouras.

Recently, the Women's Clubs objected to double features and demanded that they be dropped. This request also has been accepted by Skouras and the policy of single features reinstated.

Say Loew to Build At Jackson Heights

With negotiations continuing for taking over the Dyckman, in upper Manhattan, from Sol Silver on a 15-year lease, starting Sept. 1, Loew's is reported to be planning to build a de luxe theatre on Roosevelt Ave., between 73rd and 74th St., Jackson Heights, L. I.

Rules Game a Lottery

ALBANY, Ga., May 6.—Judge Clayton Jones of the City Court of Dougherty County has ruled in favor of the state in its action against Frank Barker, representing the Albany, charged with operating a lottery last Sept. 16, in a Bank Night drawing. The case is being appealed to the State Court of Appeals.

Argue Bank Night Case

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—The Bank Night case of Missouri vs. R. W. McEwan, Bank Night distributor, was argued before the Missouri Supreme Court yesterday. The case is expected to be taken under advisement.

Heads Film Council

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 6.—Mrs. V. J. Guthrie has been reelected president of the Charlotte Motion Picture Council. Other officers are: Mrs. J. H. Frickhoeffer, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Jacob Binder, recording secretary. The meeting heard praise of the past year's product.

Poe Sells Melody Share

HOLLYWOOD, May 6.—Coy Poe has sold his interest in Melody Pictures Corp. to Maurice Conn for a reported $12,500. Poe will remain at the Conn Studios as head of the music department until the next Pinky Tomlin picture is completed.

Monogram Salesmen Are Elman's Guests

CHICAGO, May 6.—Henri Elman, Monogram distributor here, played host to the Monogram sales force this afternoon with a party at the exchange. Later in the afternoon the newspapers were guests of Jackie Cooper and Jack Randall, Monogram's new western star, at a party. Cooper and Randall will be surprise visitors at the convention at Drake Hotel tomorrow.

Johnston today told MOTION PICTURE DAILY: "This coming year looks like the best in history for the picture industry. The men we have been able to get for our sales force are of the highest calibre and show great faith in Monogram. From indications given me today by salesmen I am sure Monogram will show 1937 to be the greatest year we've ever had and that the new company will be a dominant factor in the production and sales field within a short time. Hundreds of exhibitors have inquired about our plans and if ever a company had incentive for bigger and better things we have it, and what's more, we will deliver."

Dickinson Appoints District Managers

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—The Glen W. Dickinson Theatres, Inc., has instituted the management practice of district supervision. Dickinson has named three district managers to handle his large circuit in Missouri, Kansas and Iowa.

Robert Guise, city manager of Dickinson houses at Manhattan, Kan., has the Manhattan district, including two houses in Manhattan, two in Junction City, and one in Herington, Kan. J. G. Weigand remains with Guise as publicity director for the three towns. Jack Carmichael, assistant at the Dickinson at Manhattan, has been named city manager at Junction City. John Krieger continues as manager of the Dickinson at Herington.

Missouri and Iowa units will be supervised by Howard Sexton, former city manager at Junction City. He will have Chillicothe, Fayette, Marceline, and Slater, Mo., and Creston, Ia.

already have been added to Paramount's lits of producers and additional newcomers may be announced at the company's annual sales meeting in Los Angeles, June 10 to 13. Younger players on the studio's roster, who have been featured during the past year or two, are expected to augment Paramount's present list of stars during the new season.

Clevelanders Object To Para. Transfers

CLEVELAND, May 6.—Resolutions have been passed by the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n "condemning" Paramount for transferring certain features from the 1935-'36 list to the 1936-'37 list "thereby disregarding the moral rights of the 1936-'37 contract holders."

Copies of the resolution are being sent to Adolph Zukor, Neil F. Agnew and regional and state exhibitor organizations affiliated with Allied. The matter is to be one of the topics at the Allied States Convention in Milwaukee May 26-28.

the plan equitable in every respect, Rodgers stated. He pointed out that through this plan, which was met with skepticism when offered last year, both theatre owner and MGM will profit. Thirty per cent increases in gross sales had been registered by various exchanges, he said.

The sessions concluded tonight with an elaborate formal dinner-dance on M-G-M stage 15. Entertainment included ensembles of "Broadway Melody of 1937" girls, an individual entertainment by Eleanor Powell, Bill Robinson and Cliff Edwards. Louis B. Mayer presided, with Sophie Tucker and Frank Whitbeck alternating in the emcee spot.

Eastern and Southern delegates left on a special train at 11:30. The coast group will depart by a later train. Sightseeing trips, cruises to Catalina Island, golf and other pastimes occupied conventioneers as meeting closed.

Theatre Openings Up In Southwest Areas

Kansas City, May 6. — With its brightest crop and general business prospects in six years, the southwest is experiencing accelerated activity in new openings, remodelings, etc.

A new 700-seat house, the Byam, being built in Fairmount, suburban Kansas City, will be operated by Rube Finkelstein of the Belmont.

The Peoples, Pleasant Hill, Mo., is being remodeled and redecorated. It was formerly owned and operated by Wayne Jenkins, but Glen W. Dickinson Theatres, Inc., has assumed control, with Jenkins remaining as manager.

Dickinson spent $10,000 remodeling and reequipping the Dickinson at Beloit, Kan., which was opened to film and theatre men of the area at 11 P. M. April 27.

H. Hanson and Elmer Kunz will open the Royal, Burlingame, Kan., May 1. C. E. Cook, exhibitor of Maryville, Mo., is building a new house at Savannah, Mo. Ferris Oxford, Wichita, has taken over the Orpheum at Fredonia, formerly operated by Art Pugh. Pugh continues with the No. 1 house there. J. J. Kametz, who formerly operated the Princess, Bunceton, Mo., has opened the Community, Wellsville, Kan.

Jungle Notes from Leo

Los Angeles, May 6.—It took some of Leo's cohorts the entire convention to learn exactly what Turbine Vehimr meant. Adorning the badges worn by Jack Flynn's men—the midwestern district—it is Latin for "We ride the whirlwind."

Bill Parker, out of the Indianapolis office, conceded all the stories he had heard about California climate were correct and that things really do grow big in these parts. He said he saw a flea going down the street carrying two dogs.

It was Bob Workman of Minneapolis who earned the dubious accolade for early rising. By 6 A.M. a couple of mornings he had been walking around the Ambassador grounds.

Jack Bowen, New York branch manager, found Thursday his big day. He was at one time a deep sea diver and managed to sneak off to San Pedro for a bit of hobnobbing.

John Maloney, Pittsburgh, qualified as the convention's best on-the-cuff orator. He was the one who made the presentation speech when the gang presented Bill Rogers with a baby lion cub 'way back when the sessions first got under way.

L. W. Royalty, Oklahoma City office manager, was the butt of much kidding on the basis of his name and the coronation in London.

"Butch" Wingham, Seattle, bore a pronounced resemblance to the captain in the French Room where the delegates had most of their meals.

Roy Avey, Atlanta and a onetime railroad engineer, went in for heavy purchases of shirts in the men't shop on the casino floor of the hotel. He wanted a batch bearing Hollywood labels, but when he looks he may be disappointed. The Ambassador is in Los Angeles.

Now that his exchange was named the best of the Metro system on operation, Burtus Bishop, Jr., went in for a can of metal polish to keep his button, reading "Top Efficiency," bright and shiny.

Last year Felix Mendelssohn, Chicago branch manager, was convention host. This year the job devolved upon Clayt Lynch, resident Los Angeles manager. It's a worry and a job and Felix kept watching Clayt and how he held up.

Joe Vogel is seeing a good deal of his brother, who is in the camera department at the studio, and, for the first time, met his sister-in-law and her two children by a former marriage.

The Minneapolis contingent applauded loud and long when Suzanne Larson, youngster with a reported big voice, was introduced at the studio luncheon. She hails from that Twin City.

Frank Hensler, Kansas City, must be an admirer of Rodin's famous statue, "The Thinker." He unconsciously assumed the pose while listening to various addresses.

Charles Kessnich might have thought his mustache was getting places until he caught a peek of the lip adornment sported by G. Lightstone, Toronto manager. Thereafter, Kessnich was completely silent on the subject.

Bill Scully made George Hickey drink milk. The doctor made Jack Flynn do ditto which proves practically nothing.

Si Seadler almost made a direct line for the B-Bar-H, but remembered his allegiance to Leo in the nick of time.

The railroad man who permitted "Louis Pasteur" in the Pullman lineup on the westbound special tried hard to get another car, named "Paramount," on the eastbound.

Louis K. Sidney, here with Mrs. Sidney, is spending non-convention hours with his son, George, who is working with Pete Smith and the short subject department at the studio.

Acquires Edison Studio

Film Art Studios, Inc., new company, has taken over the Edison Studios in the Bronx. The company plans the production of features, shorts, commercial subjects and the handling of screen tests. The first production will be on a group of shorts titled "We, the People." Marie Kenny, C. Kenny and John T. Doran head the company.

Brennan with Warners

Kansas City, May 6.—Tom Brennan has been named ad sales manager for Warners here, which now has its own advertising department. Brennan formerly managed the Fox Strand, Hutchinson, Kan.

"Tobacco Road" Banned

Omaha, May 6.—E. R. Cummings, district manager of Tri-States, which had rented the Paramount here for a showing of "Tobacco Road," was advised yesterday by Mayor Dan Butler that he had barred the play. A precedent for the action was the upholding of a similar ban in Chicago by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Doob Adds Floor Space

Loew's publicity and advertising departments under Oscar Doob will expand its quarters on the fourth floor of the Loew Bldg. The projection and sound department will move to the annex with Doob's departments taking over the additional space.

before Justice Levy, who reserved decision. The suit arose out of a recent agreement between the I. T. O. A. and Local 306 which would in a large measure supplement the agreement that has six years yet to run. The plaintiffs argue that the Local 306 agreement is invalid because it was not ratified by the I. T. O. A. board of directors.

Drop Suit Against Para.

The infringement suit of Samuel Kantrowich against Paramount was discontinued in Federal Court yesterday on consent of both sides. The case has not been settled. Kantrowich alleged that he was the assignee of the copyright obtained by William W. Young who created the film characterization of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" in 1914 on which Kantrowich claimed Paramount infringed. Paramount answered that the story was in the public domain and that they had bought the rights from the heirs of Lewis Carroll. Kantrowich asked for an injunction and an accounting of the profits.

Hear Lina Case Today

After many adjournments, argument on a motion by Lina Pictures Corp. for a summary judgment of $5,000 against First Division Exchanges, Inc., is scheduled to be heard today by Justice Aaron J. Levy in N. Y. Supreme Court. Lina took over on assignment a contract between First Division and Principal Distributing Corp. of Sept. 11, 1933. First Division allegedly violated the contract which involves the distribution rights of a number of short subjects.

CBS to Open Daily Service To Continent

Regular daily program service, especially designed for listeners of Europe and the British Isles, will be initiated by CBS on Coronation Day, May 12, when network officials dedicate station W2XE, Columbia's new short wave transmitter.

The new station which has a peak power of 40 kilocycles, will be officially opened at 5:00 A. M., E.D.S.T., with dedicatory address by E. K Cohan, CBS director of engineering, and William Lewis, vice-president in charge of programs. The first program of the regular series will be transmitted to Europe and England at 5:15 A. M., E.D.S.T., when W2XE will carry the Coronation ceremonies as they are broadcast from London by CBS in collaboration with BBC.

Salute Programs Planned

Progress of interest primarily to foreign audiences will be selected for W2XE's trans-Atlantic transmission by a new program department headed by Elizabeth-Ann Tucker, who is former member of the CBS general engineering department, on short-wave activities. Salute programs commemorating historic dates in European history and other special broadcasts will be presented in the language of the country to which they are dedicated.

The operating schedule of the new station will enable English and European audiences to hear the programs during their afternoon and evening hours of listening. Licensed to employ five sequences, W2XE will be heard as follows: 7:30 A. M.-10:00 A. M., E.D.S.T: (11:30-14 G.M.T.)—21,520 kilocycles; 1:00 P. M.-2:00 P. M., E.D.S.T.: (17:00-18:00 G.M.T.)—17,760 kilocycles; 3:00 P. M-6:00 P. M., E.D.S.T.: (19:00-22:00 G.M.T.)—15,270 kilocycles.

The fourth frequency, 11,830 kilocycles, will be held in reserve until further tests indicate its period of maximum usefulness. The remaining frequency, 6,120 kilocycles, is for transmission to Central and South America.

"Crime Clinic," a WBAL, Baltimore, program, will be fed to the Mutual network, coast-to-coast, beginning May 12. It will be heard weekly, from 9 to 9:15 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Television Not a Problem To Theatres, Lohr States

Kansas City, May 6.—Lenox R. Lohr, president of NBC, does not regard television as a future competitor of films. His opinion was expressed here yesterday before 250 members of the Chamber of Commerce.

He said he doubted whether the medium would affect first runs and said subsequent runs and suburban houses had nothing to worry about.

It will take several years to develop it as a means of commercial entertainment, he said. All the damage that can be done to theatres by broadcasting, he asserted, already has been done by sound broadcasting.

Lohr mildly ridiculed stories that manufacturers of radio receiving sets and broadcasting chains were holding back television because of possible damage to present investments. The truth is, he said, that television is 100 times more complicated than sound broadcasting, and no man in the country knows a fraction of its potentialities. Its complexities surpass any invention of the human mind, he declared, and developments come almost hourly.

The big barrier to rapid commercial development, he continued, is the close relationship of transmitter and receiver. Changes in one must be accompanied by changes in the other.

Lohr expressed the opinion that television would not replace sound broadcasting for the reason that it requires the undivided attention of the listener in a darkened room. Its expense, he said, would make it impractical in cities of 100,000 or less. He predicted that it would be placed on networks either by means of coaxial cables or high frequency relay stations.

CBS Signs to Broadcast All Tennis Games

CBS yesterday signed with the United States Lawn Tennis Ass'n for the exclusive broadcasts of all U.S.L.T.A. matches, it was authoritatively learned last night. The contract is reported to be for five years at an approximate fee of $10,000 for each season. Re-selling of the broadcasts to sponsors is specifically forbidden in the terms of the contract.

Reported also as signed by CBS for exclusive presentation on that network of all the association's national matches is the U. S. Golf Ass'n. Vice-president Larry Lowman of CBS handled both deals. Lowman was not available for comment when called yesterday for verification.

The signing of U.S.L.T.A. and the U.S.G.A. by CBS marks either the finish or the heightening of a feud between that network and NBC for the booking of sports attractions. Both networks have been seeking leadership in this field.

Dorothy Lamour Advances

Dorothy Lamour has been added to the permanent cast of the new Chase and Sanborn program beginning on the NBC-Red next Sunday. She will participate in the opening program.

The signing of Miss Lamour for this program illustrates the strides she has made since becoming a picture star in Hollywood. When she left New York to try her luck in pictures, she was on the air at NBC, broadcasting sustaining. NBC artist service made repeated efforts to sell her to a sponsor, but none would have her.

Would Permit WRUF Lease

Tallahassee, Fla., May 5.—A bill that would give the State Board of Control authority to lease the state-operated radio station, WRUF, at Gainesville, has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Holland of Bartow. The leasing could be for a period of 14 years. Stipulations would keep the station at Gainesville and would reserve time for the broadcast of agricultural market reports, bulletins to police and peace officers, weather reports and special storm and hurricane reports.

Gulf Program to Be Variety

The replacement program for the Phil Baker-Gulf Gasoline series will be a variety, guest star show headed by Harry Von Zell as master of ceremonies. Von Zell takes over July 4 and will continue until Baker's return to the program in the fall. In all probability Oscar Bradley's band will be a holdover feature on the new series. Young & Rubicam is the agency.

WMCA to Get Coronation

WMCA and the Inter-City network will broadcast a summary of the Coronation in a program from London, May 12, at 7 P. M. E.D.S.T.

The program will originate in the London studios of BBC. Harlan Eugene Reid and J. W. Marriott, noted English novelist, will handle the assignment.

Kyser Band on Tour For Willys-Overland

Kay Kyser's band, broadcasting Sundays on the Mutual network for the Willys-Overland Co., is now out on tour, playing nightly in Willys dealer cities in a promotional campaign said to be one of the most elaborate ever undertaken by a sponsor.

Willys dealers are taxed for blocks of tickets in each of the cities by the automobile company. The dealers dispose of the tickets to customers and prospective clients, the tickets serving as admissions to the Kyser performances, Willys-Knight publicists and U. S. Advertising Agency representatives travel in advance of the Kyser troupe, placing ads in the local papers calling attention to the forthcoming performance.

The Kyser itinerary to date is as follows: May 8, Peoria; 9, South Bend; 10, Columbus City; 11, Terre Haute; 12, Indianapolis; 13, Paducah; 14, Memphis; 15, Herrin; 17, Springfield; 18, Quincy; 19, St. Joseph; 20, Des Moines; 21, Lincoln; 22, Sioux City; 23, Omaha; 24, Sioux Falls; 25, Storm Lake; 26, Waterloo.

KSL Players Take a Rest

Salt Lake City, May 6.—After 117 consecutive weeks for Logan Co., the KSL Players, heard in the half-hour feature "Radio Playhouse," have taken a two-week leave, and will return for a new series for Mar-o-oil. Latter has signed for 52 weeks.

The program and station has been selected by Mar-o-oil for entire western coverage, their only independent outlet besides regular NBC program. W. E. Featherstone placed the account.

Form Midland Television

Kansas City, May 6.—Following a legal conflict over control of station KXBY last winter, which was decided by the Circuit Court in favor of Sidney Q. Noel, Midland Television, Inc., has been formed here. The new company is headed by G. L. Taylor; N. G. Sother is vice-president and sales manager; Arthur B. Church, head of Midland Broadcasting Co. (KMBC) holds the post of treasurer.

Claim Success in Test

New Castle, Del., May 6.—Success was claimed by John C. Roberts, inventor of the Roberts method of transmission, in the experimental transmission of electric power and light by wireless, undertaken here by the National Wireless Power and Light Corp. A beam was said to have been sent 63 miles, from here to the receiving station located near Milford, Del.

Cycle Title Changed Again

The Cycle Trades of America program, heard Thursdays on the NBC-Blue, will be known under the title of "Ridin' High" henceforth. This is its third title in six weeks. Originally, it was called "All Star Cycle," which was changed subsequently to "Cycling the Kilocycles." Southmayde, Inc., is the agency.

"Definitely" Is Out

The word "definitely" is being overworked on the air, in the opinion of L. B. Wilson, president of WCKY, Cincinnati. Accordingly, the staff of WCKY's news and continuity departments have been instructed to dispense with it, except where positively required.

Thus "definitely" is out at WCKY—quite definitely.

Dema Harshbarger Signs Talent

Hollywood, May 6.—Dema Harshbarger, head of the Hollywood NBC artists' bureau, is back from Chicago and New York where she contacted 485 artists under contract to NBC and made arrangements for new players to come to the coast.

Hildegarde, Florence George, Nadine Conner and Senator Fishface and Figsbottle are among those scheduled to arrive here soon.

Picture rights for the radio serial, "Today's Children," also were acquired by Miss Harshbarger and a new contract for Gertrude Berg to do a screenplay for Sol Lesser was set.

Charles Smith, associate in the local bureau, has gone East to complete deals started by Miss Harshbarger and arrange new ones.

KXBY Staff Is Shifted

Kansas City, May 6.—KXBY has added to and shifted several members of its staff. H. R. Makelin, formerly commercial manager of WIRE, Indianapolis, has named Frank Bailey production manager succeeding Herbert E. Nelson. Clair Heyer now is promotion and merchandise manager. Jim Bannon, formerly with KMOX and KSD, St. Louis, is in charge of special events and news. Dot Chaquette now is program director.

Latham Sets Into Pictures

New Orleans, May 6.—KWKH, Shreveport, La., in its house organ, On the Level, ran a panel of six candid photos of Jack Latham, Young & Rubicam time buyer, as he listened to and liked an audition of the KWKH Shelton Brother Act. The act was optioned on a 20-week basis for Gulf Refining Co., and its new product, Gulf Spray.

Murphy in New NBC Job

Chicago, May 6.—William J. Murphy has been named assistant continuity editor of the NBC Central Division, taking the post vacated last week by Ken Robinson, who was made continuity editor. Murphy has been with NBC since 1933. Previously he was copy writer with the McJunken agency.

KCKN Resumes Listings

Kansas City, May 6.—KCKN Kansas City, Kan., recently tried to discontinue its complete listing of radio programs. Objections from readers forced it to resume printing the log.

however few outbreaks of violence were reported. Meanwhile, the Central Labor Council, having failed to bring the unions and producers to harmonious accord, has asked Edward A. Fitzgerald, U. S. labor conciliator here, to aid in ending the strike.

William Green, of the A.F.L., is quoted here as saying that he does not approve of the proposed picketing campaign and that the Federation can expect no cooperation in the move from the Green organization.

Guild-Producer Meeting Held

Hollywood, May 6.—Following today's meeting wherein the Screen Actors' Guild committee presented the Guild's proposals to the producers' committee, a statement was issued saying that the meeting was adjourned with the understanding that each group would report to its own organization the progress thus far made. No further statement was issued.

The meeting will not affect the decision of the F.M.P.C. to organize a picketing campaign of all theatres. It is reported that the producers may accede to the Guild's demands in order thus to separate the Guild from the other labor union factions.

I. A. officials in Chicago. He described the conferences as "very cordial throughout" and said that the union's demands are now under consideration. No theatre closings due to equipment breakdowns are looked for in the meantime, he said. A date for another meeting with the I. A. has not been set yet.

Continuing Talks on Clearance in Kansas

Kansas City, May 6.—Conferences between Kansas City, Kan., exhibitors and individual distributors on the formers' demands for first run clearance in their city are continuing with no conclusion yet reached.

While members of the Theatre Owners' Ass'n were quietly busy with distributor talks, the Kansas City Kansan continued to use the influence of its front page to arouse Kansas City Kansans to the importance of getting distributors to quit considering their town a suburb of Kansas City, Mo., in releasing pictures.

In one two-column front page story the Kansan quoted liberally from the story on the situation that appeared in Motion Picture Herald last week. In another front page story under a two-column head and lead, the Kansan quoted the entire story in Motion Picture Daily.

"U" Changes Title

Hollywood, May 6.—The title of Universal's "Channel Crossing" has been changed to "Missing."

Report IATSE Fund In St. Louis Race

St. Louis, May 6.—Local I.A.T.S.E. unions spent a total of $3,155 in their efforts to defeat City Comptroller Louis Nolte for re-election, and also contributed $3,175 to the Democratic party, a statement of political expenditures filed with Recorder of Deeds English reveals. Nolte was the only Republican elected in the April municipal balloting, being renamed Comptroller for his sixth term.

A measure requiring the city to pay the projectionists' union wage scale to city employes operating portable equipment in civic institutions, which died in the last aldermanic session, has been revived recently. A new measure proposed to the Board of Aldermen would revise the theatre safety code to require the employment of an operator for each projection machine. A similar measure was passed by the last aldermanic session, but was vetoed by Mayor Dickman. Exhibitors' contracts with the union already provide for two men in a booth, but theatre owners object to the inclusion of a union requirement in the city ordinances.

Labor Agreement in St. Louis

St. Louis, May 6.—The recently formed Theatrical Local No. 2, has signed agreements for the establishment of wage scales through conferences with F. & M., St. Louis Amusement Co., Loew's, the Municipal Auditorium and the Municipal Theatre, according to a statement issued today by John Nick, I. A. T. S. E. vice-president.

Nick, who meets with independent theatre men tomorow, also stated that members of Film Exchange Employes and Theatrical Service Employes, both old unions, have surrendered their A. F. L. charters to join I. A. T. S. E. affiliates.

Fleischer Has Labor Row

As a result of the dismissal of 10 cartoonists, members of the Commercial Artists' Union, by Max Fleischer Animated Cartoon Studios, the union will vote on the question of calling a strike at the studio where it claims membership of 115 out of 135 employes.

To Merge 4 Theatre Firms in Australia

Sydney, April 12 (By Mail Via London).—It is understood that a plan soon will be submitted to shareholders for the amalgation of four theatre companies, Greater J. D. Williams, Ltd., Spencers, Wests and Amalgamated Pictures. The proposal is that shareholders should surrender their holdings in return for shares in the operating company, Greater Union Theatres, Ltd.

The total subscribed capital of the four companies is £5,733,760 and the paid up capital of Greater Union is £2,000,000. Under the plan shareholders will have a direct voice in the election of directors of the operating company, whereas at present they have only an indirect influence as the board is elected by the directors of the holding companies. It is believed that the ultimate distribution of shares to shareholders will be below the par value of their present holding. The actual distribution in each case will vary according to the interest of each company in the operating company.

"Horizon" In Its 8th Week On the Coast

Los Angeles, May 6.—"Lost Horizon" continued to set a fast pace in its eighth week at the 4 Star by grossing $8,800, over a first week par at regular prices by $5,550.

The only other attractions to get into the money were "Wake Up and Live" and "Song of the City" at the Chinese and Loew's State. At the former the $13,814 gross was up by $1,314 and at the latter the $16,438 take was $2,438 to the good.

Wolfberg Recovering

Omaha, May 6.—Harris P. Wolfberg, M-G-M district manager in St. Louis, who was stricken suddenly while on a business trip here, is convalescing after nine weeks in a local hospital with a streptococcus throat infection.

Also home from the hospital are Mrs. Irving Gossick, wife of the Muse Theatre co-owner, and Mrs. William Miskell, wife of the Orpheum manager, and her 10-day-old daughter, Mary Leith. Elmer Huhnke, RKO salesman recently hurt in an auto crash near O'Neill, Neb., has been brought to a Omaha hospital with torn shoulder ligaments. Danny McCarthy, United Artists salesman injured in another crash, has returned to work.

Amend SEC Statement

Washington, May 6.—Educational Pictures has filed with S. E. C. a minor amendment to the registration statement, covering 150,000 shares of 60-cent dividend cumulative convertible preferred stock, and 499,729 shares of $1 par common. The effective date of the registration is expected to be about May 15.

"Wake Up" $5,900 Oklahoma City Hit

Oklahoma City, May 6.—"Wake Up and Live" was an outstanding hit at the Midwest. The $5,900 gross went over normal by $1,900, which was especially noteworthy with all the other first runs finding the going rough.

"Two Against the World" pulled $2,400 in four days with a vaudeville show to help at the Warner. Average for seven days is $5,000.

Total first run business was $14,700. Average is $16,500.

"Property" on Dual $18,500 In St. Louis

St. Louis, May 6.—"Personal Property" and "Servant of The People" at Loew's was the best draw of the week with $18,500, over house par by $4,500.

"Wake Up and Live" and "Clarence" at the Fox was second best with a take of $17,000, topping average by $4,000.

All other houses were below average.

"Lost Horizon" at the American was held over an extra four days.

There was an excess of rain. Various C. I. O. strikes and other industrial disturbances had an effect on box-offices.

Total first run business was $68,750. Average is $59,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 29:

Drops Hartford Shows

Hartford, May 6.—The Cameo has discontinued all vaudevile and stage shows, and will adopt an all-picture policy, with admissions reduced to 10 and 15 cents. A. D. Goldberg and Bessie Goldberg will manage the house.

"No Man", "Wings" $8,500 at Omaha

Omaha, May 6. — Surprising strength was shown by "No Man of Her Own," a reissue, coupled with "Wings of the Morning." The Omaha led the parade with a take of $8,400, or $1,900 over average of $5,500. Henry Fonda's strength at the box-office as the "local boy who made good" helped bring 'em in for "Wings of the Morning."

The whole week was bright, with "Top of the Town" and "Time Out for Romance" dragging in $8,600, or $1,400 better than par at the Orpheum.

Total first run business was $21,500. Average is $16,700.

Estimated takings:

"Marked" Up In 2nd Week At Cleveland

Cleveland, May 6. — "Marked Woman," playing a second week at the Allen where it moved after a big first week at Warners' Hippodrome, was the outstanding downtown draw of the week. The picture went 30 per cent over the Allen $6,000 average.

"The Hit Parade" at Loew's State with Ted Lewis and his Band as the stage attraction went over the top with a gross of $22,500. This is $2,500 better than the usual take with a combination show.

The weather was uncertain with rain over the weekend. The "Ziegfeld Follies" at the Hanna cut into business somewhat.

Total first run business was $61,500. Average, with two houses playing combination stage shows, is $64,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending April 30:

"MARKED WOMAN" (F.N.)

Reade Buys at Hudson

Walter Reade has acquired a site at Hudson, N. Y., from Victor J. Rose. He will build a modern theatre which will also be used for traveling attractions.

This is the fifth unit for American Community Theatres.

"Maytime" Up At St. Paul; Gets $8,500

Minneapolis, May 6.—"Maytime," which cracked records in Minneapolis, moved into the St. Paul Paramount and led the Twin City hit parade with a take of $8,500. Average is $5,500. The show continued at the Orpheum for a second week.

Continuing with success its double feature policy, the Tower took in $2,500 where normal is $1,500. The features were "Great Guy" and "Secret Valley." Cloudy skies and light rains aided business with spring outdoor entertainments postponed. "Internes Can't Take Money" proved a winner for the Century, taking in $500 more than a $3,500 average.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $24,300. Average is $27,000. Total first run business in St. Paul was $18,000. Average is $14,500.

American Pictures Lead Dutch Market

By PHILIP de SCHAAP

Amsterdam, April 29.—During 1936 a total of 290 features were imported into Holland from the United States, as compared to 240 in 1935 and 265 in 1934, according to the annual report of the Dutch board of censorship.

The dominant position of American product in the Dutch market is indicated by the fact that the nearest competitor in point of quantity of import, Germany, imported 84 features in 1936, the same number in 1935 and 91 in 1934. All other countries combined imported for the three years, 154 features, 145 and 126, respectively.

A total of 20 features were banned by the censor in 1936, of which 13 were American, three French, and one each from Germany, Austria, Belgium and Russia.

Metro Selling 32 Percentage For 1937-'38

Will Run from 25 to 40 Per Cent Under Plan

Los Angeles, May 7. — M-G-M next season will sell 32 features on percentages running from 25 to 40 per cent, and with the decision as to how many attractions will fall into each group remaining with the company.

The designation will be determined by test runs in Loew's theatres in widely scattered territories. It will be possible, under this change in company policy, to have as many as eight pictures selling at 40 per cent.

During the current season, M-G-M sold 30 features on percentage, but while the attractions were not specified by name in the contracts, the

Buying Still Slow, Allied Report Says

Not more than 22 of approximately 400 theatre operators canvassed by Allied States have bought product to an extent approaching their requirements, it is claimed by Allied in a report on the preliminary tabulation of a questionnaire sent out prior to the Allied convention in Milwaukee May 26-28. It is said 29 exchange centers have been covered.

The organization claims 38 exhibitors of the group queried have bought two or three lines of product, and 34 have bought only one line. The final report will be disclosed to the exhibitors during the course of the coming convention.

Spoiled the Show

Tampa, Fla., May 7. — The police spoiled Bank Night for a host of car owners in the Tampa and Victory here the other night. The law staged a sudden and unexpected raid on a street in the wholesale district nearby which had been used customarily by theatre patrons for parking.

Word of the raid was flashed to the theatre, broadcast to the audience via loud speaker, and following the pell mell rush of owners, the police found only a pair of cars when they returned with the towing cars.

Strike Appears Inevitable As Parleys Prove Fruitless

Hollywood, May 7.—Despite heavy barrages of propaganda from both union and producer camps it became evident here today that the Actors' Guild and producers will be unable to reach an agreement and that the actors' mass meeting Sunday night possibly will result in a general walkout. The feeling among the membership leans towards a strike since it is understood the producers will not recognize the primary demand for a Guild shop.

The Actors' Guild today stated officially that the write-in ballot vote conducted during the past few days resulted in 99 per cent of the voters favoring a strike. This is said to have included all of the big contract players. Guild officials would not say whether or not the voting was done in accordance with instructions from organization leaders. Aubrey Blair, of the Guild, expressed the hope that his organization would not be forced to strike but he emphasized that the strike would be called Sunday if negotiations failed.

It is understood from an inside source that the current producer parleys are merely a stall by the Guild until its members' decision regarding a strike can be fully determined. The producers, realizing the current seriousness of a strike and its impending reverberations, are now worried, it is learned. Meanwhile, salient factors contributing to a prolonged strike condition were as follows:

(1) The Central Labor Council admitted it is stymied and accused Pat Casey of issuing an erroneous statement when he told the press that the Council had assured him a strike would be terminated if the producers agreed to the two-point peace plan.

(2) Members of striking unions met

Warner Men Begin Arriving for Meet

Part of the 250 field representatives who will attend the Warner sales convention, which opens at the Waldorf-Astoria Monday, will begin trickling in from all parts of the country today. By tomorrow night the entire force will be in town.

For the first time in five years salesmen will be included in the roster of men attending the four-day sessions. The first meeting will be held in the Sert Room which has been decorated with a huge replica of the Academy of M. P. Arts & Sciences statuette. Warners took nine of the awards last March.

Every branch of the company will

Lohr Denies Frisco Office to Be Moved

Chicago, May 7.—In an interview with a Motion Picture Daily representative here today, Major Lenox R. Lohr, president of NBC, denied a printed report elsewhere that the network's west coast headquarters in San Francisco would be shifted to Hollywood.

Lohr said the report of the impending transfer was untrue, and that such a move had not been contemplated or discussed. He said that Don E. Gilman, NBC vice-president in charge of west coast operations, would spend more time in Hollywood than heretofore, due to increasing radio work.

Ray Johnston Greets Monogram Delegates

Chicago, May 7.—W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram, in opening the fifth annual sales convention of the company at the Drake Hotel here today, told the 95 assembled delegates that delivery on the first of the new Monogram releases has been set for July 1 at which time eight features will be on hand in the exchanges. Among these, he said, will be "Boy of the Streets," "Paradise Isle," "Romance of the Limberlost," "The Outer Gate," "Legion of Missing Men," "The 13th Man," "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" and "Blazing Barriers." During the course of his speech Johnston paid tribute to Henri Elman who

Colonial Is Dropped In Anti-Trust Suit

Boston, May 7.—Two anti-trust actions filed by Nashua Theatres, Inc., and Commonwealth, operators of the Park and Colonial at Nashua, against Colonial Theatres, which has the Tremont and State, have been dismissed by Federal Judge George Sweeney. The first two companies are controlled by Moss & Rothenberg and Colonial Theatres is owned by Mort A. Shea.

Although the conspiracy actions against the exhibitor have been marked off the calendar, enght major distributors, defendants in the suits, have yet to file answers.

When Moss & Rothenberg first instituted suit, it was claimed that distributors and the Shea company had

Airship Fire Films Cover U.S. in Day

At Salt Lake Yesterday; On Coast Early Today

Theatres as far west as Salt Lake City and Denver showed newsreels of the Hindenburg disaster at Lakehurst, N. J., throughout yesterday and last night as a result of the swift functioning of the industry's five newsreels. Pacific coast theatres will have the reels for their opening performances today. Air express shipments of the prints out of Newark arrived there last night too late for regular shows.

The efficiency of the newsreels and laboratories made the most of one of those rare coincidences in news coverage which finds cameras on the scene and grinding while a major disaster occurs before the lenses. Such was the situation at Lakehurst on Thursday evening. Cameramen of Movietonews, News of the Day, Paramount, Pathe and Universal were on the landing field or circling the Hindenburg in chartered planes, covering the ship's arrival on its first trip of the season to the United States, when the giant dirigible exploded near the mooring mast.

Universal to Make 8 Musical Westerns

Hollywood, May 7.—Universal will make a series of eight musical westerns annually starting with next season's program and the company is now testing players for the singing cowboy role.

Charles R. Rogers has turned the responsibility for the series over to Trem Carr, who will handle these in addition to the John Wayne action films.

Universal plans to announce the series at its convention.

Picketing Record

Fort Dodge, Ia., May 7.—Charles Schultz, who has been picketing the Pokadot here for the past two years, has asked that the theatre owner, Francis Mahoney, be required to post a peace bond because he claims that Mahoney has attacked him twice. Mahoney claims the union is trying to put him out of business.

the ship to record her more or less routine arrival at Lakehurst continued to grind from the instant of the explosion until the air liner had been reduced to a smoldering skeleton of twisted wreckage.

The disaster occurred at 7:20 P. M. In a short time the newsreels had additional cameramen in Lakehurst relieving or augmenting those already there. By 8:20 P. M., the first footage was on its way to New York or nearby laboratories. Newsreel offices began receiving the footage around 10 P. M. It was in the laboratories, whose crews had been marshalled in advance and were waiting for it, a few minutes thereafter.

Ed Reek, general manager of Movietonews, arrived at the De Luxe Laboratory with the reel's first negative.

"Strike off duplicate negatives and put the original in a gold can," he exclaimed.

Laboratories finished their work between 11:30 and midnight, just too late to catch late Broadway shows, although Paramount News had a flash of the disaster with a review reel from stock at the Paramount on Broadway shortly after 11 P. M. No footage from Lakehurst, of course, was included in the flash.

The releases were on the first morning planes out of Newark and were available for the first shows on Friday in the east and all large cities from New York to Chicago. They made afternoon and evening shows as far west as Kansas City and were in Denver and Salt Lake City last night.

The Universal Newsreel had shots of the dirigible's arrival over New York, taken from a plane which followed the Hindenburg to Lakehurst. The shots reveal the unfavorable weather conditions which prevailed and made the ship's landing more difficult. Evidences of strong winds and views of a gathering storm were caught in the Jersey background as the Hindenburg made her way above the Hudson and shifted toward Lakehurst. As the ship approached its mooring mast, the camera caught smoke emitting from one of the stern motors. U. S. Navy officers studied the shots in the projection room of the Universal home office yesterday afternoon.

Coverage by the reels was costly, office estimates of the expense running from $8,000 to $15,000. No additional revenue from exhibitor accounts is derived from the "specials." The disaster occurred between the Wednesday and Monday reel makeups, necessitating "specials" for every office. Footage of the first releases varied from 250 to 300 feet. Newsreel staffs worked all night and special laboratory crews cooperated at Consolidated's Fort Lee, N. J., plant; Pathe's Bound Brook plant, the De Luxe and Paramount laboratories in New York.

Merrill Flying Pictures

Dick Merrill, ocean flyer, is expected to take off some time today from Floyd Bennett Field with pictures of the destruction of the Hindenburg, bound for London. He expects to make the flight in 17 hours, taking the shorter, northern route via New Foundland. With him will go Jack Lambie as co-pilot.

The flight to London, originally scheduled for a later date, is for the outward trip, from which Merrill plans to return with newsreel prints of the Coronation on Wednesday, as reported in MOTION PICTURE DAILY two weeks ago.

Purely Personal

LOWELL CALVERT, eastern representative for Selznick International, yesterday gave a luncheon party at the Tavern to a number of United Artists executives because of the fine results on "A Star Is Born." Among those attending were A. W. SMITH, JR., ARTHUR W. KELLY, HARRY GOLD, L. JACK SCHLAIFER, HARRY D. BUCKLEY, CHARLES STERN, MONROE GREENHAL and SIDNEY MEYERS, the Miami exhibitor.

JOE WEIL, Universal exploitation director, leaves for the coast by plane tomorrow to work on arrangements for the company's annual sales convention, which opens May 17 at the Ambassador, Los Angeles. He will also begin work on the national exploitation campaign for "The Road Back."

CHARLES CURRAN and PHIL BOGART of Donahue & Coe left for Columbus last night and will take a plane from there today for the coast.

ABEL GREEN of Variety sails today on the Santa Paula. He will be gone two months.

HERMAN ROBBINS and GEORGE DEMBOW are due from the coast Monday.

B. S. MOSS sails today on the Rex. He is expected to return about June 15.

SAM DEMBOW is in Chicago.

Sedgwick Joins Loew

HOLLYWOOD, May 7.—David L. Loew has taken over the contract of Edward Sedgwick, director of the new Joe E. Brown film, "Riding on Air," from Hal Roach.

G. B. Offices Closed

The G. B. home office goes on a five-day week starting today. The office will be closed Saturdays for the spring and summer.

See Coronation Flight Delay

LONDON, May 7.—Coronation newsreel transportation plans here were thrown into confusion today by the news of the explosion of the Hindenburg at Lakehurst last night. It is considered unlikely that any planes will start for the United State before Thursday, since the Earl Marshall and the Archbishop of Canterbury must approve all shots taken in Westminster Abbey.

was host to the delegates here yesterday.

Sol Rosenblatt flew in for the meeting and addressed the group. He complimented Eddie Golden and Aaron Saperstein, local Allied leader, who was a guest of Monogram. Rosenblatt said that various practices now current which make it difficult for independent exhibitors would soon be eliminated. He said that independent exhibitors would turn to independent producers for pictures and that Monogram would lead that list.

Scott Dunlap, production chief, also spoke this morning, saying "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" will go into production May 15 and that "The Thirteenth Man" will be finished next week. Dunlap stated that Frank Shields has been borrowed from Samuel Goldwyn for "Romance of the Limberlost." Dunlap introduced Jack Randall, new singing western star, and Jackie Cooper, juvenile star, who is now with Monogram.

Eddie Golden spoke for two hours about sales policy and the establishment of Monogram in various territories. He announced a nine-week sales drive starting at once with $1,000 in prizes for winners. The quota for this period is set at $1,500,000 with the standing of every office to be shown weekly during the drive. Golden reviewed Monogram's past record showing that company, from 1931 to 1934, delivered in full all pictures contracted for.

Lifton Talks Advertising

Lou Lifton spoke on advertising and publicity, stating that full cooperation with exchanges would be an important factor and that considerable money would be spent in trade paper and newspaper advertising.

O. Henry Briggs, president of Pathe, talked on "As the Industry Views Monogram" and John W. Mangham of Atlanta and F. E. Judd of De Moines discussed sales problems in the field.

Franchise holders and the advisory committee will meet tomorrow. Norton Richey, foreign representative, will speak, also Herschel Stuart and Mortimer Burnside, financial expert. A banquet for the entire group tomorrow night will wind up the meeting. Johnston today told of how the new company was formed and plans for it; also told plans for product and amount of money to be spent.

This season there were four at 40 per cent, six at 35 per cent, six at 30 per cent and 14 at 25 per cent.

The M-G-M convention special train bearing eastern and southern delegates left today following a lavish farewell dinner-dance at the studio which carried into the early hours of this morning. The convention train is due in New York Monday afternoon.

William F. Rodgers, general sales manager; Howard Dietz, director of advertising and publicity, and Si Seadler, advertising manager, are among the small group who are staying here for a few additional days.

DISASTER!

Germany's giant dirigible Hindenburg exploded and burst into flames as she landed at Lakehurst, N. J., shortly after 7:20 p. m., Thursday night. Paramount News cameramen caught the whole shocking fatality. Friday morning the scenes taken in Lakehurst were flashing from the screens of theatres along the Eastern seaboard. By noon, they were being shown throughout the middle West. By nightfall, the South had the reel. Saturday morning it was being shown along the West Coast. That's PARAMOUNT NEWS SERVICE!

at the Central Labor Council meeting Friday night at which time the F. M. P. C. asked the Council to give full support to a strike.

(3) Telegrams to F. M. P. (4) Telegram from Louis Weinstock, secretary of the Painters Union, New York district council, advising F. M. P. C. "You can depend upon full support and cooperation of District Council 9 with 15,000 members who stand ready to picket New York theatres or be of any other service."

(5) Similar cooperation pledges to the F. M. P. C. from the United Automobile Workers boasting 300,000 members, also C. I. O. national leaders and other unions comprising 3,000,000 members, according to F. M. P. C. spokesman.

(8) Strike threat by F. M. P. C. to picket independent studios.

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman, producers committee, today issued the following statement: "The proposal submitted to the producers by the actors committee was discussed today at a full meeting of major studio executives. On most of the important points raised by the actors' representatives there was full accord. Practically all the remaining items under discussion can, in my opinion, be ironed out to the satisfaction of both sides. It is physically impossible for producers immediately to make a specific statement as to all the measures under consideration but I can say unequivocally that all questions will be disposed of without delay and as quickly as humanly possible. I can say positively that I see no really formidable obstacles in the path of harmonious and just settlement of the entire question. (Signed) Schenck."

Word received at F. M. P. C. headquarters said that A. F. L. didn't call the strike and would not endeavor to effect settlement which to local observers indicated possible C. I. O. entrenchment.

Radio Flashes News of Air Disaster Inside 12 Minutes

First news of the sky horror above the Lakehurst landing field was given the world by radio shortly after the first explosion wracked the huge frame of the Hindenburg and sent 32 persons to their death.

At 7:23 P. M., E.D.S.T., the ship blew up. New Yorkers got the first news of the disaster 12 minutes later, at 7:30, over WHN, by way of a United Press flash. The next flash was heard four minutes later, at 7:34 P. M., over WMCA, with Universal Service providing the news. NBC and CBS followed at 7:45 P. M., with Press-Radio bulletins, broadcasting the first news of the disaster to the nation. At the same time, Mutual-WOR broadcast a similar dispatch through Trans-radio.

The first broadcast from the scene was provided by NBC. C. E. Herring, an RCA engineer who lives near Lakehurst, witnessed the explosion, called NBC by telephone as soon as possible, and through a special emergency hookup was interviewed from a phone booth near the field by Burke Miller, NBC night program manager from a phone on his desk in Radio City. The broadcast was heard on the Blue network at 9:07 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Both NBC and CBS held their lines open more than two hours beyond their usual closing time to bring to listeners reports by bulletin and from the scene. Both signed off about 3 A. M., E.D.S.T. NBC broadcast approximately 50 talks, interviews and bulletins up to closing time, CBS about 45. Mutual was on the air with approximately 40 disaster interviews and dispatches.

WHN broadcast news of the crash 32 times before signing off at 1:30 A. M. WMCA did an unusual remote job, among non-network stations, in covering the disaster, rushing three crews of announcers, commentators and technicians to Lakehurst Thursday night, where they worked practically all night interviewing eye-witnesses and survivors.

Warner Force To Start Four Day Meet Here

Sears Will Welcome 400 At Waldorf-Astoria

Warners' four-day sales convention will get under way today at the Waldorf when Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, formally welcomes the 200 division, branch and district managers and salesmen. He also will preside at all other business sessions.

Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, is slated to arrive today from the coast on the Virginia and on Wednesday he will detail production plans for the company's 60 features for 1937-'38. On Thursday, Norman H. Moray, Vitaphone executive in charge of trailers and short subjects, will outline the product in his division. Sam Sax, head of the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio, will also inform the men on some of the pictures planned under his supervision.

This year's convention, according to Sears, is the largest in the company's history with all branches of Warners to be represented. Although all speakers are not listed, it is expected that Harry M. Warner, Joseph Bernhard and S. Charles Einfeld will deliver short talks.

Among the chief executives who will be on hand for the sessions are Harry M., Jack L. and Albert Warner, Sears, Sam E. Morris, Bernhard, Einfeld, Carl Leserman, Roy H. Haines, Herbert Ochs, Jacob Wilk, Sax.

MPTOA Will Halt Program For New Laws

Further efforts of the M.P.T.O.A. to bring about distributor adoption of its trade practice program will be suspended until the Administration's new legislative policy for industry becomes known, Ed Kuykendall, M.P.T.O.A. president, said yesterday on his arrival here from Washington.

The possibility that the Administration's forthcoming industrial legislation will encompass fair trade practices which would supersede the M.P.T.O.A. trade program, in the event the exhibitor organization were successful in bringing about its adoption, makes further campaigning on behalf of the program inadvisable for the time being, Kuykendall said. This is regarded as being particularly true of the efforts to establish local conciliation boards through which the M.P.T.O.A. expected to realize seven of the 10 trade practice proposals com-

Segal to Take Over Imperial Franchise

Boston, May 9.—Harry Segal, until recently local manager for Grand National, is to take over the Imperial franchise for this territory. E. J. Smith is expected here Tuesday to close the final details.

Imperial has been doing its own distribution here for the past four months since buying out Academy Pictures. Elmer Turnquist, local Imperial manager, will keep the post, according to Segal.

W. B. Gellatly Quits as WOR Sales Manager

William B. Gellatly, sales manager of WOR, is resigning that post to engage in business in Bermuda. He sails with his family June 12.

Gellatly joined WOR as a salesman in October of 1935, and has been sales manager since the latter part of last year. His successor has not been selected as yet, stated an official of the station Saturday.

20th-Fox to Sell List in Four Groups

With a total of 69 features scheduled, 20th-Century-Fox will sell its output next season in five different groups. The first will be known as the K-5 list and will embrace 57 pictures. Included in this number will be four films to be made by New World, the company's British producing subsidiary under Robert T. Kane.

The second group will be two Eddie Cantor productions. Two "Tarzan" specials, to be produced by Sol Lesser, comprise the third group, while the fourth list will embrace four outdoor action pictures with Richard Arlen. The last group will be four Will Rogers' re-issues.

This season the company also had four Rogers revivals. John D. Clark, general sales manager, will leave for the coast by plane May 15 to confer with Joseph M. Schenck, Darryl F. Zanuck and William Goetz on final details on next season's lineup. He will return in time to join the company's eastern contingent, slated to depart for Los Angeles May 26 for the annual sales convention at the Ambassador, May 30-June 3.

Scramble for New Houses In Local Area Under Way

Reade's Disclosure of Plan Brings Cocalis Retaliation Threat

A scramble for new theatres in the local area by major and independent circuits has started with a bang with many deals set or about to be closed. One of the announcements by an independent exhibitor has brought about an open declaration of retaliation by a competing theatre owner.

With Walter Reade, head of American Community Theatres, announcing he will build a 600-seat theatre at Hudson, N. Y., Sam D. Cocalis has informed Reade that the Cocalis circircuit will immediately construct a number of theatres along the Jersey coast.

Cocalis has been operating at Hudson for some time without any serious competition. Now that Reade plans to build in the town and use his circuit's buying power to obtain product, Cocalis intends to invade Asbury Park, Long Branch and Red Bank, Reade strongholds, with new units. Reade owns the Asbury Park and Long Branch spots himself and has no competition.

Reade recently announced building

Officers are Sam Martin, president; Mary Womach, vice-president; Robert Conn, business representative; Jeanette Lohr, recording and corresponding secretary; Webster Knight, financial secretary; Charles Lewis, treasurer. The executive board, which includes the president and vice-president, comprises: Brittie Mueller, Jay Knight, and William Bruegging. Mayme Wagner is guide; John Long, sergeant-at-arms; George Kopf, reading clerk. Webster Knight, Jay Knight and Conn are delegates to the Central Labor Union.

Union officials here have not yet received word to start the I.A. strike against RCA and Erpi service men, although the I.A. projectionists in the St. Louis area are keeping equipment manufacturers' service representatives out of booths.

RKO Lists Two Astaires

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—Although there are rumors Fred Astaire may join another company, RKO is now selling two pictures starring Astaire in the 1937-'38 lineup of 54 features.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 9.

TALES from the Hollywood Hills:

Two well known actors were in the usual competition for the same part. One interviewed by the producer, got this:

"You'll kill 'em in the role. The director is all for you, too. But he tells me the part calls for a bird who is bald, and look at the head of hair you own."

Replied the actor:

"Yes? Wait until I take off my toupe and then you'll change your mind." And he did.

It set the producer apondering. Then he remarked:

"You know, it's a funny thing. I can't seem to visualize you bald." . . .

North of the neck, she had nothing. Externally and on all points, a very comely wench. Excitedly, if vacuously, she encountered a friend one day with:

"What a break for me! The studio has just given me a new elocution teacher. He is very well known and his name is ——. You never heard of him? Are you sure? He told me he studied under Shakespeare." . . .

Another Alperson story, vouchsafed by Eddie, himself and in person.

On the Grand National lot one day, he dropped in to visit one of his directors who was out of his office.

"Will you please have him call me when he returns?" Alperson asked the secretary.

"I'll be glad to, but before you go, do you mind telling me who you are?" . . .

The phone rang. It was a producer calling for his assistant.

"I had a terrific idea this morning."

The assistant:

"Well, what did you do with it? Didn't you write it down?"

The producer:

"No. It was terrific, but I didn't think so much of it." . . .

"It's getting under my skin. I've been here for months, drawing a fat salary check and I haven't made a picture," a producer was complaining.

"Not so loud. They'll discover you're around. You've made no pictures and so no strikes are against you, which means you'll last here for a long time." Al Jolson was advising. . . .

A few days before he left for New York and his convention, Jack Warner said:

"We don't have trouble with directors on scripts. We give them the manuscripts and they shoot them. We've been in business twelve or fifteen, or whatever number of years it is, and, by this time, they know we mean it." . . .

Late probably, but much too good to escape further recording is Wilfred J. Funk's definition of "terrific." The editor of The Literary Digest talking:

> "Terrific—All persons exposed to Hollywood for twenty-four hours or more."
> Twenty-four will do. . . .

Dave Selznick turned on the swank through all faucets for the preview of "A Star Is Born." All credits listed Janet Gaynor, first, and Fredric March, second, in the star billing. The Music Hall in New York advertised March and Miss Gaynor.

This is all very confusing to Hollywood. . . .

Producers can be tough. There is the instance of a star, apparently a born rebel, who reported ill with a heavy cold and a fever the other day. The studio refused to believe it on the ground the supervisor had not seen the thermometer. . . .

The philosophy of a producer, a la Walter Wanger:

"The crafts are striking. The actors are hard to handle. The agents want to read the scripts. The producers are worried over the gamble. The exhibitors say the pictures are lousy. The bankers won't advance money. The public is fickle. Nice going." . . .

Twenty at Republic

Approximately 20 franchise holders will attend the Republic sales meetings to be held on the coast May 31—June 2. Following these meetings, J. J. Milstein will conduct regionals.

Brulatour Is Honored

HOLLYWOOD, May 9.—The American Society of Cinematographers has named J. E. Brulatour an honorary member.

Oklahoma Drive Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 9.—Oklahoma City houses are to participate this week in the drive for funds for the Will Rogers Memorial Hospital.

Gehring to Des Moines

DES MOINES, May 9.—William C. Gehring, 20th Century-Fox central division manager, and M. A. Levy, district manager, are due here shortly to negotiate an important circuit deal.

New Florida Theatre Tax Bill Presented

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 9.—A theatre tax bill has been introduced by Representatives Harrell and Winburn for the stated purpose of raising funds for the state's public school system. Higher taxes would be imposed on circuits. Starting at $25 for a single theatre, the bill aims at a graduated scale of licenses up to $500 for each house in a circuit of 20 or more.

The levy would be in addition to all other taxes, and it is estimated that it would raise from $60,000 to $75,000.

Signs Civil Rights Bill

COLUMBUS, May 9. — Governor Davey has signed the civil rights bill, amending Section 12,940 of the General Code, granting equal civil rights in all public places and conveyances, including theatres and other places of public accommodation or amusement, to all citizens regardless of color or race.

Immoral Show Bill to Lehman

ALBANY, May 9.— The Assembly passed and sent to Governor Lehman Senator Dunnigan's bill allowing revocation of a theatre's license for an immoral show even though there shall have been no conviction thereof.

Legion Approves All Of 11 New Pictures

The National Legion of Decency, in its list of new pictures for the current week, has approval all of the 11 films examined, nine for general patronage and two for adults. The new films and their classification follow:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage—"Dance, Charlie, Dance," "The Man in Blue," "Michael O'Halloran," "Midshipman Easy," "Rootin' Tootin' Rhythm," "Shall We Dance," "Tough to Handle," "Turn Off the Moon," "Wings Over Honolulu." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults — "The Thirteenth Chair," "Jaeger von Fall."

Adopt New Title Method

Superimposed titles for foreign prints of all color features will be printed on the dark space between frames henceforth instead of within frames on all United Artists' releases of this kind, Arthur W. Kelly, head of the foreign department, has declared. A minor adjustment in projector apertures is all that is required under the new technique. The method is said to eliminate indistinct titles on color prints for the foreign market as well as detraction from the color itself caused by the superimposed titles.

Bernstein Made Colonel

ATHENS, Ga., May 9.—David Bernstein, vice-president and treasurer of Loew's, Inc., has been named a lieutendant-colonel on the staff of Gov. E. D. Rivers. Bernstein is the only non-resident of Georgia to be appointed on the present governor's staff.

Forms Wild Life Prod.

Wild Life Prod., Inc., has been formed by Mervyn Freeman. The company will produce one and two-reel nature films. Offices and studios are being sought on the coast.

Samuel Goldwyn has engaged Lady Sybil Colfax as his London editorial representative, it was made known here over the week-end.

Heads Reorganizing Of Mexican Company

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, May 4.—Alberto J. Pani, former Finance Minister and capitalist, has been named chairman of a board which is undertaking the reorganization of Cinematografica Latino Americano, S. A. (CLASA), which recently went into bankruptcy. It is understood the board plans to proceed with the schedule of 12 features, only one of which had been completed when the company became involved in financial difficulty.

prising its program. Any industrial legislation enacted at Washington is expected to make provision for administrative boards with enforcement powers within industries.

The Administration's industrial program is expected to be made known as soon as President Roosevelt's court reform proposals are settled, and enactment of the new industrial legislation is regarded as likely prior to the adjournment of Congress.

The M.P.T.O.A. policy decision cancels for the time being, at least, Kuykendall's planned trip to confer with exhibitor leaders in 13 strategic keys in an effort to unify exhibitor insistence on the adoption by distributors of the M.P.T.O.A. trade practice program. This move may be revived, however, if the Administration's industrial legislation is delayed or fails to include trade practices, it was said.

Kuykendall stated that the legislative prospect would prevent his accepting a public invitation to attend the annual convention of Allied States in Milwaukee, May 26 to 28. It also makes uncertain his plans for attending the summer meeting of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. in England on June 22.

The M.P.T.O.A. president plans to return to Washington tonight for an indefinite stay.

Whispers from Warner

JACK L. WARNER, who has been on the water for the past two weeks and missing the strike excitement at the studio, is due to arrive by boat from the coast Wednesday.

GRAD SEARS has been saving a couple of nifty gags which he plans to tell privately to some of the boys. He spent most of the day yesterday around the lobby of the Waldorf checking up on some of his ideas and he promises plenty of fun during the next four days.

N. H. BROWER, coast district manager, says that he's becoming a regular commuter between New York and the coast. He was here two weeks ago, flew back to finish up a few details, and is here again. He hopes to close the F.W.C. deal while here. That is unless CHARLIE SKOURAS gets away before BROWER can get to him.

For years, ROY H. HAINES has been sitting down front at conventions with a smug look on his face. Now that's all changed. As eastern sales manager ROY will be on the dais and observing the optimistic looks on the boys below.

HERB OCHS and BILL MANSELL are leaders in the family sweepstakes. Each is the proud daddy of five children. Modestly, they refuse to list the number of boys and girls.

TOOTS SHOR will feed the 250 men tonight at the Tavern. The entire place will be turned over to convention forces with the regular after-theatre trade ruled out.

BEN KALMENSON has been made an honorary member of the Society for the Prevention of Mothers-in-Law.

ED SELZER has been handing out first hand information on the Hollywood strike. He had to delay his departure four days because of it.

ROGER MAHAN, who lives in New Haven and works in Phliadelphia, has completed negotiations with railroad officials for a special weekend train trip home. Roger feels he's entitled to this small courtesy.

CHARLIE BEILAN of the Philadelphia exchange has been advised by his doctor to take on 10 pounds—and quick, too.

DAVE COOPER, Philadelphia's football enthusiast, says he's going to finish selling his situations by Sept. 1, so that he can make all the big pigskin games.

JERRY PRICE has been telling the boys, in his own inimitable way, just how his car came to run into a mountainside near West Virginia.

JACK HOWLAND of the Los Angeles office has been named Poet Laureate of the Warner meet.

Warner Total 60

Warners are expected to announce the same number of features and shorts next season as are being released during the current year. For 1936-'37, the company announced 30 pictures from Warners and a like number from First National.

Like M-G-M, Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager of Warners, is expected to make known part of the line-up with the balance to be rounded out as the season progresses.

HARRY SEED, sartorial specialist from Pittsburgh, arrived in all his splendor, but misses his old crony, HAROLD DUNN. HAROLD, who now represents Warners in Japan, was HARRY's only competition for the King of Fashion.

NORMAN AYERS, who had great difficulty tearing himself away from the golf courses in Albany, brought his clubs along, hoping to find time for at least one day on the local greens.

Led by CHARLIE RICH and HARRY DECKER, the contingent from the New York exchange arrived at the Waldorf by special car. The famous 42nd St. shuttle.

BOB LYNCH, from Pittsburgh, arrived safe and sound after stopping off at his country home in EMPORIA.

RAY SMITH of Buffalo came to town with a bank roll looking for bets on the Louis-Braddock fight. He took over the boys last year on the Baer-Louis battle.

VIRGINIA PHILLIPS, besides being secretary to SEARS is an excellent seamstress. She will attend the meetings with her Butterick, she says.

Minneapolis will have to struggle along without the great RUD LOHRENZ for a week. RUD, "the finest man in America"—by his own admission—will be busy at the convention.

BYRON ADAMS, Memphis branch manager, came to town preceded by much tooting about his having scored his first hole-in-one, last year.

LEO BLANK, midwest district manager, is reported to have lost 15 pounds last week, all because of worrying about his standing in the recently concluded sales drive.

HARRY DECKER, New York manager, visited no less than three wholesale houses buying up the latest spring fashions in ties, which he will sport for the benefit of the out-of-towners.

With the return of the field forces, negotiations are expected to get under way immediately on a number of deals which have been pending and awaiting selling details.

"Marked" Is Highest In Lull at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, May 9.—Rain, the May Music Festival, baseball, a circus and other opposition made inroads on receipts last week, with "The Marked Woman," at the RKO Palace, the only picture to go over the top. The gross was $11,000. Average is $10,000. It was moved to the RKO Capitol.

"Waikiki Wedding," in its fifth downtown week, broke even at $2,750 at the RKO Grand, which was the case with "The Gold Racket" and "Breezing Home" in a split week at the RKO Family. Some of the other houses came within hailing distance of their averages, but on the whole the week was light.

Total first run business, exclusive of the RKO Shubert, was $41,150. Average, also exclusive, is $46,700.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 6:

"THE WOMAN I LOVE" (RKO)
RKO ALBEE—(3,300), 35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $10,500. (Average, $12,000)

"MARKED WOMAN" (F. N.)
RKO PALACE—(2,700), 35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $11,000. (Average, $10,000). Moved to RKO Capitol.

"LOST HORIZON" (Col.)
RKO SHUBERT—(2,150), 55c-83c-$1.10-$1.50, 7 days. Gross: $7,500. (Average, at 40c-60c, $12,000)

"PERSONAL PROPERTY" (M-G-M)
RKO CAPITOL—(2,000), 35c-42c, 7 days, 2nd downtown week. Gross: $5,200. (Average, $6,500)

"THE SOLDIER AND THE LADY" (RKO)
RKO LYRIC—(1,400) 35c-42c, 7 days. Gross: $3,500. (Average, $6,500)

"WAIKIKI WEDDING" (Para.)
RKO GRAND—(1,400), 25c-40c, 7 days, 5th downtown week. Gross: $2,750. (Average, $2,750)

"THE GOLD RACKET" (G. N.)
RKO FAMILY—(1,000), 15c-25c, 4 days. Gross: $1,250. (Average, $1,250)

"BREEZING HOME" (Univ.)
RKO FAMILY—(1,000), 15c-25c, 3 days. Gross: $1,200. (Average, $1,200)

"THE GOOD OLD SOAK" (M-G-M)
KEITH'S—(1,500), 30c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $5,750. (Average, $6,500). Moved to RKO Grand.

Delay Memorial Plan

It has been decided, because of the sales conventions, to postpone until fall the project to institute an annual memorial service for the dead of the industry, which would include a radio hookup across the country. Numerous industry executives have consented to serve on the sponsoring committee.

SHALL WE DANCE

DANCE?...but definitely!

Dance?... but definitely! ... And what a dancing mood you're in! ... Dancing in the engine room, tapping to the rhythm of the pistons, cams and gears! ... Dancing with two dozen Gingers! ... Dancing in the brilliant battle of the ballet versus swing!

Dancing in a swanky night club just for fun! ... DANCING IN THE PARK ON ROLLER SKATES! ... Dancing to the music of the songs the world is singing! ... Stepping higher, swinging sweeter, laughing gayer, in your grandest show of all!

Scramble for N.Y. Houses Is Under Way

plans for Toms River, Morristown and Trenton, N. J., in addition to Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Cocalis within the last month has taken over the Casino, 1,200-seat house at Keansburg, N. J., and on June 12 will open the new Farley, 700-seat unit, in the same town. He is now negotiating for a few other sites which he plans to announce late this week.

Cocalis stated over the weekend that Reade started the theatre building fight and that the Cocalis interests would not stand by without retaliating.

Meanwhile, Loew's and RKO have made considerable progress in their respective campaigns to add a number of first run neighborhood spots. This is held to be in line with changing conditions and the rapid development of situations where new theatres are planned.

Loew-Randforce Conferring

Loew's some time ago took over the Cameo, New Rochelle, and included the house in the RKO pool in that city. A deal has been set to operate the Lefferts and Republic in Brooklyn on a profit sharing arrangement with Randforce, which now runs the houses. A 1,200-seat house is being built for the circuit at Fenton Ave. and Boston Road, Bronx, and a site was acquired last week at Jackson Heights, L. I. According to reliable reports, Loew's has taken an option on a site near the Bliss, Century house, at Woodside, L. I. The Dyckman also will be taken over Sept. 1 on a 15-year lease.

RKO, which shortly will start building a de luxe structure at 23rd St. and 8th Ave., recently took the Parkway, Mt. Vernon, and this week will close with Cocalis for the Parkhill and Broadway, Yonkers. An agreement also has been reached with Herman Sussman for the Central, Yonkers. In addition the circuit will build two in the Bronx, one at Allerton and White Plains Rd., and the second at Westchester and Sound View Aves.

Trans-Lux soon will start building a 600-seat unit at 85th St. and Madison Ave.

Plan Great Neck House

Plans have been drawn and will be filed in Albany this week for a new 600-seat theatre at Great Neck, opposite Skouras' Playhouse. The Middle Neck Holding Corp. of New York will build and negotiations are now under way with a prominent local exhibitor to take it over upon completion the end of summer.

Sam Strassberg, who operates a number of small theatres locally, several weeks ago closed for the new 600-seat house planned at New Rochelle. Some exhibitors doubt whether the structure will ever go up due to a product situation and the RKO-Loew pool in that city.

While plans were announced last week for a new 600-seat unit at E. Tremont Ave., Bronx, it is said the builder is looking around for an operator to take the structure off his hands before the ground is broken.

for the project. Consolidated, it is reported, may take the house.

Harry Brandt is understood planning to add about six new theatres to his circuit before the new season gets under way.

Dave Rosenzweig and his associates are preparing to build a new theatre on Long Island. A 600-seat house is planned also at Queens Boulevard and 43rd St., Queens. It will be completed in October.

Morris Kutinsky, who operates the Community, Queens Village, L. I., was reported to be after a half dozen houses in Brooklyn, but he has denied the story.

Other independents are looking forward to increasing their holdings during the summer, indicating one of the most active theatre acquisition drives in this territory during the last 10 years.

Four on Broadway

Warners have four pictures on Broadway this week to greet delegates arriving from points south and west. They are:

"Prince and the Pauper" at the Strand.

"Call It a Day" at the Capitol.

"That Man's Here Again" at the Palace.

organization that handled Monogram before.

Ritchey outlined difficulties in foreign operations today citing quota regulations and various other impediments in film distribution abroad. He announced that Monogram had planned to solve the Czecho Slovakian problems by making pictures in that country. The present ratio there will be six American films to one native production. Monogram will probably make three or four pictures there this season.

Joe Felder, the company's New York manager, said offices will be opened there immediately following the convention. Felder stated he had received assurances from many circuits which have planned to use Monogram product during the coming year.

Golden Talks on Sales

Edward Golden, general sales manager, summed up the convention program and activity. He made an appeal that the sales force should reach the $1,500,000 quota set for the drive.

Ray Johnston told Motion Picture Daily that the convention was the most successful in the company's history and the outlook is the brightest of any year. He stated that the sales force is pepped up and ready to go. He added that product deals have already been closed in many spots and this has made him confident of his predictions for the coming year.

Hyman Rejoins Lesser

Louis Hyman, who handled "Tarzan, the Fearless" for Sol Lesser in 1933, has rejoined Lesser as distribution manager and to maintain contact with 20th Century-Fox distribution executives at the home office.

Purely Personal

NED E. DEPINET is scheduled to return from the coast today, but S. Barrett McCormick and A. A. Schubart are not due to return for another week.

Clay Adams, assistant to Sol M. Wurtzel, is honeymooning here with his bride, the former Patty MacRobert of Larchmont. The couple is scheduled to return to the coast late this week.

Charles Munro, managing director for Hoyts in Australia, will leave for the coast May 25. He will attend the 20th Century-Fox meetings in Los Angeles before sailing for Sydney.

Mildred Altes, secretary to T. P. Drew at the General Register Corp., will return to her desk this morning. She had been out for a week with a severe cold.

Vicki Cummings, stage player, has signed a managerial contract with the Leo Morrison office. I. R. Samuels handled the pact.

Paul Terry, producer of Terry-Toons for Educational, will be among those attending the 20th Century-Fox convention on the coast.

Arlene Whalen, who hails from Pueblo, Col., has been signed by 20th Century-Fox.

Peter Arno, is slated to leave for Hollywood and the Paramount studios by plane today.

Loretta Young, back from a Bermuda vacation, will return to the coast this week.

Producers Receive FMPC Peace Terms

strike, was submitted by Charles Lessing after conferences with Edward A. Fitzgerald, local labor conciliator. The peace terms read in part:

"It is proposed by various A. F. L. unions, through the international organization, that you give consideration to the following proposals for the settlement of the strike now in effect at various studios controlled by your association: (1) That we receive written communication from the producers to the effect that they will recognize these international unions and the jurisdiction granted by A.F.L. (2) That for mutual protection we receive a guarantee that the producer will recognize these unions only. (3) That any jurisdictional dispute affecting A. F. L. unions shall be settled by the international unions involved. (4) That pending adjustment which shall establish jurisdiction of workers involved, no change shall be made in rates of pay. (5) That all workers who left positions shall return to jobs in the same status immediately prior to April 4, 1937, and that any higher rates of pay established since that time shall remain in effect. (6) That negotiations shall begin not later than six days after the return to work and shall be continued for a period of ninety days, after which time any dispute not settled shall be subject to arbitration."

Arbitration Board Asked

The balance of the proposal specified the setting up of an arbitration board of three picked by producers and unions with both parties sharing the expense of arbitration. The committee is authorized to conduct and complete negotiations for and in behalf of the following international unions: Scenic Artists, Painters, Makeup Artists, S.U.E., Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers, Machinists, Cooks Ass'n., Stationary Engineers, Plumbers, Moulders, Structural and Iron Workers, Boilermakers, Welders and Blacksmiths and affiliated crafts.

F. M. P. C. headquarters announced Saturday that pending action from Casey, picketing plans are being set up, with theatre picketing starting in New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul and ten key cities Monday by C.I.O. F.M.P.C. made it clear that C.I.O. aid was not sought but offered.

Mary Garden to Sail

Hollywood, May 9.—Mary Garden, who is under contract to M-G-M, has left en route to Europe to make tests of five singers in France. The tests will be sent to the studios here.

Miss Garden, in a radio talk here, predicted that Hollywood would become the musical center of the world in three years.

Talley, Thomas Coming

Truman H. Talley, short subjects head, 20th Century-Fox, and Lowell Thomas are scheduled to sail from England on the Normandie May 13.

"U" Purchases Original

Hollywood, May 9.—Universal has purchased "Let's Be Candid," an original by Lawrence Pohle and Thomas Aherne.

Arde Bulova Buys WLWL From Paulists

Following approval by the F.C.C. the Paulist Fathers, owners of WLWL, New York, on Saturday confirmed the sale of the station to Arde Bulova, watch manufacturer and radio station operator. The purchase price is reported to be $275,000, although this could not be confirmed.

Reports of the impending sale of the station had been brewing for months.

The announcement from WLWL, the only Catholic-owned station in this part of the country, said that the financial burden of carrying the station on its present limited schedule of fifteen and one-half hours a week has proved too great a commercial handicap. Sanction of the sale, of course, has been given by Cardinal Hayes and the diocesan consultors of New York.

The total operating expense for the station in 1936 was more than $42,000, which was less than for previous years, the statement said. Despite the help from diocesan collections and the contributions of the Catholic Missionary Union, the Paulist Fathers said that "with practically no income from the station it becomes impossible to continue."

See Merger with WOL

Bulova was not available for comment Saturday. It is said, however, that he contemplates joining part-time station WLWL to part-time station WOL, another of his local radio properties, combining both stations into a full-time unit. The F. C. C., of course, must approve.

Harold A. Lafount, former F.C.C. commissioner and general manager of Bulova broadcasting enterprises, said Saturday it would be unwise to make public the company's plans, due to the 30-day protest clause effecting all F.C.C. rulings. Because no protests to the sale are expected, however, he said an announcement may be issued within the next 10 days.

Lafount and Bulova jointly own and operate seven stations.

Enjoins Hotel Radios

Federal Judge John M. Woolsey has permanently enjoined the New York Hotel Statler Corp. from public performance for profit of copyrighted songs owned by the Society of European Stage Authors and Composers, Inc. Damages and costs were fixed at $500. Judge Woolsey ruled last week that the Hotel Pennsylvania was infringing on copyrighted songs when it transmitted radio broadcasts to its 900 guest rooms without permission from the society.

Lesser Seeks "Tarzan" Deal

Hollywood, May 9.—Sol Lesser is negotiating with a sponsor for a national broadcast twice a week throughout the summer of an "Adventures of Tarzan" series featuring Glen Morris, who is also starring in the Lesser film series.

WJTN Now With NBC

WJTN, Jamestown, will join the NBC network today, instead of on May 15, at previously announced.

Air Fire Sounds

For the first time in the 10-year history of NBC, a recorded program was aired on the company's Red and Blue networks, Friday at 11:35 P.M., E.D.S.T. It was a sound effects platter taken at the Lakehurst landing field at the exact moment the Hindenburg exploded. The appalling sounds of the explosion, the screams of onlookers and passengers, the crackling flames—all were captured perfectly on the platter.

New Hearings List Is Ordered by FCC

Washington, May 8.—The F.C.C. today made public its calendar of hearings for the current week, as follows:

May 10, before an examiner: Applications of T. E. Kirksey, Waco, Tex., for a new 930-kilocycle station, 250 watts night, 500 watts day; and Stations WBZA, Springfield, Mass., change of frequency to 550 kilocycles, and KGLO, Mason City, Ia., increase of day power to 250 watts.

May 11, before an examiner: Application of Station KFUO, Clayton, Mo., for increase of power to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day.

May 12, before an examiner: Application of Young People's Assn., for the Propagation of the Gospel, Shark River Bay, N. J., for new 640-kilocycle, 5,000-watt daytime station.

May 13, before the broadcast division: Applications of Loyal K. King, Pasadena, Cal., for new 1,480-kilocycle, 250-watt daytime station, and State Capital Broadcasting Assn., Austin, Tex., for the new 1,120-kilocycle station, 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

May 14, before an examiner: Applications of Louisville Broadcasting Co., Louisville, and Louisville Times Co., Louisville, for new 1,210-kilocycle station, the former seeking 250 watts daytime only and the latter 100 watts unlimited time; and Harold F. Gross, Lansing, Mich., for new 580-kilocycle station, 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

WRC Gets Power Increase

Washington, May 9.—WRC, managed and operated by NBC, has been granted a power increase by the F.C.C. The increase is from 500 to 1,000 watts at night, and from 1,000 to 5,000 watts by day. Approval was granted also for the erection of a new transmitter in Maryland.

MPTOA to Develop Its Stand on Radio

The M.P.T.O.A. radio committee will endeavor to develop a definite program for regulation of broadcasts using screen players or material at its preliminary meeting with producer and distributor representatives and, if successful in this, would arrange a second meeting to include radio representatives to whom such a program would be submitted, Walter Vincent, committee chairman, stated Saturday.

Vincent conferred late last week at M.P.P.D.A. headquarters, he said, as a result of which May 18 was set as the tentative date for the preliminary meeting of the committee with film executives only. The meeting is scheduled for 2:30 P. M. at the Astor but may be advanced to a luncheon session, Vincent said. He issued invitations last week to heads of all large production and distribution companies to designate representatives to send to the preliminary meeting. Although all replies are not in yet, only acceptances have been received thus far. Vincent declined to give the names of either companies or individuals whose acceptances have been received. He said it was possible that a small committee might be named to represent the production and distribution companies at the preliminary meeting in preference to sending representatives from all eight large companies. Vincent's committee has a membership of four.

Renew "Junior G-Men"

"Junior G-Men," heard Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 5:45 to 6 P. M. on WOR, has been renewed for an additional period, effective May 31. The Fischer Baking Co., sponsors, through Neff-Rogow.

Hecker Gets "Uncle Don"

Hecker Products Corp., through Erwin Wasey, will sponsor "Uncle Don's" program on WOR beginning tomorrow from 6 to 6:30 P. M., and daily announcements at the same time.

Facilities on Short Wave to Be Replaced

Complete replacement of all short-wave facilities used in special events programs at six NBC key points was revealed Saturday by O. B. Hanson, NBC chief engineer. Four new types of high frequency transmitters, with receivers and other field pieces, will be delivered in July to NBC offices at New York, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago, Denver and San Francisco, at a cost of about $75,000.

Distribution of 70 new field amplifiers and more than 200 new microphones for field broadcasts was recently announced by NBC. Including these, the new apparatus made by RCA will cost more than $125,000.

The new equipment will expand NBC's capacities for covering events such as the Hindenburg disaster, conventions, parades and outdoor meets.

WHN's Programs for N. Y. State Network

Effective today, WHN will feed sustaining programs to the New York State network, exclusive of WINS, key station of the regional web.

Stations which will take the WHN programs are WABY, Albany; WBNX, Buffalo; WIBX, Utica; WSAY, Rochester; WMBO, Auburn.

The deal was arranged by Herbert L. Pettey, assistant director of WHN and Bert L. Squires, representing the New York State network.

It is understood that the sales forces of both WHN and the New York State network will immediately begin a drive for commercials, offering sponsors WHN as an added outlet to the network.

WHN Signs New Contracts

Two new contracts, and the renewal of a current one, were affected at WHN Saturday.

C. W. Hill & Co., a commercial refrigeration firm, has purchased Ida Bailey Allen's participating program, "Homemakers Exchange," Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 10:30 to 11:30 A. M., for 13 weeks. The agency is the George H. Gibson Co. The contract starts tomorrow.

Madison Personal Loan Co., beginning today, will sponsor an Associated Recordings program, Monday through Saturday, for 52 weeks. The Klinger Adv. Corp. placed the account.

Mrs. Sarah Wheeler's book review column, Sundays from 5:15 to 5:30 P. M. is renewed for 13 weeks by the publishing firms participating in the sponsorship of her program.

NBC to Discuss Problems

NBC artists service will begin a new policy next Monday night with the first of a series of monthly evening sessions for the purpose of discussing departmental problems. The evening sessions will be in addition to the regular Monday morning meetings when the week's reports are issued.

Agency problems, fall programs, and other topics pertaining to the industry, especially sales angles, are to be treated in round table manner. D. S. Tuthill will preside.

Two Promoted By Sears as Meet Starts

Kalmenson and Smeltzer Of Warners Raised

Two promotions by Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, marked the opening yesterday of the Warner sales meetings at the Waldorf. The men are Ben Kalmenson and Robert Smeltzer.

Kalmenson, who has been in charge of central district sales, is now eastern district manager with supervision over New York, New Jersey, Boston, New Haven, Albany and Buffalo. Smeltzer, who has been mid-Atlantic sales head in charge of the Philadelphia and Washington branches, now adds Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit.

The metropolitan post has been vacant since Roy H. Haines was appointed eastern sales manager some months ago. It had been announced that his successor would be named at the convention.

After announcing the program, Sears introduced A. W. Schwalberg at the morning session. Schwalberg,

Bondy Denies RKO Intervention Move

Federal Judge William Bondy yesterday denied the petition of Class A and common stockholders of RKO for permission to intervene in the reorganization proceedings. Objections filed by the stockholders, however, were referred to Special Master George W. Alger, who is holding hearings on the proposed plan of reorganization, for a report.

Judge Bondy stated that the stockholders had delayed too long in filing their motion and said that the special

London, May 10. — Nat Levine, former head of production for Republic, here at the Savoy Hotel with his wife, is expected to conclude a deal by which he will tie in with M-G-M's British production unit. He has been conferring with Ben Goetz, head of the Metro unit here.

Columbia 9-Month Profit $1,189,354

Columbia Pictures and subsidiaries yesterday reported net profit for the nine months ended March 27 last of $1,189,354.86, after all charges, which compares with a net profit of $958,578.63 for the same period ended March 28, 1936.

The company reported net profit for the quarter ended March 27 last after all charges and provision for Federal income and other taxes of $559,582.93.

The profit for the three months to March 27, this year, was equal to $1.61 per common share on the 316,358 common shares outstanding at the closing date of the quarter. The nine months' profit was equal to $3.27 per share, which compares with $2.54 per share for the nine months ended March 28, 1936. The common share equivalent has been determined after

Early Settlement Of Strike Is Seen

Hollywood, May 10.—An early settlement of the film strike was foreseen by observers here today, following the decision of the Screen Actors' Guild not to join the Federated M. P. Crafts in the walkout. It was pointed out here that in view of the fact that the striking crafts lack the support of the American Federation of Labor, through the refusal of the I.A.T.S.E., A.F.L. affiliate, to join the strikers in the picketing of studios, a conclusion of the strike is near. Additionally, William Green, A.F.L. president, refused to agree to the plan of the Federated Crafts for picketing theatres throughout the country.

The granting of practically all the Cowdin Denies Change Likely At the Studio

Has 'Highest Admiration' For Rogers, He Says

Hollywood, May 10.—Stating that Universal officials "have the highest admiration" for Charles R. Rogers' studio operations, J. Cheever Cowdin, Universal chairman, denied to studio department heads at a dinner given by him tonight that any consideration has been given to a change in the post of executive producer of Universal.

Cowdin's statement was a direct reply to recent reports that a change was contemplated.

"Contrary to reports," Cowdin said, "neither my associates nor I have had any conversations or negotiations with anyone, directly or indirectly, with that end in view. The fact is that we have the highest admiration for the manner in which our associate, Charles R. Rogers, has reorganized the studio and is carrying on its operations. We have the utmost confidence in his ability to maintain the high standard which he has established for the productions of the new Universal."

Cowdin, who has been at the studio for the past several weeks participating in new season production conferences, will remain here for the company's annual sales convention, which opens next Monday. James R.

Republic Regionals To Be Started Here

Republic's four regional will probably be held in New York, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco, J. J. Milstein, general sales manager, stated yesterday upon his return from Washington where he spent the weekend.

The three-day meetings at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, will be only for franchise holders, Milstein said, and home office executives. There will be about 20 franchise representatives at the May 31-June 2 sessions.

Herbert J. Yates, who returned yesterday from the coast, will accompany J. J. Milstein and Edward M. Schnitzer to Los Angeles on May 25.

"Good Earth" Bows Out After 14 Weeks

Limitation on Reorganizing Groups Urged

SEC Bases Suggestion on Paramount Study

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, May 10.—Limitations upon the activities or corporation reorganization committees, based upon disclosures in its investigation of the Paramount and other reorganizations, today were recommended to Congress by the Securities and Exchange Commission in the fourth of a series of reports on its investigation or reorganizations undertaken under the securities exchange act in 1934.

A three-point program was offered by the commission, requiring that control of reorganizations be placed with bona fide security holders and their direct representatives; that emphasis be placed upon the fiduciary responsibilities of the representatives of security holders in reorganizations, and that abuses which have characterized the strategy and techniques of reorganization be prohibited. It is also recommended, as to most reorganizations which are not within the jurisdiction of the Federal courts, the enactment of a separate law giving the commission the power to require disclosure of all relevant facts concerning committees, and the power to prohibit solicitation of proxies through use of the mails or in interstate commerce by committees having interests

Some of M-G-M Men Delay Return Here

Al Lichtman, William F. Rodgers, Howard Dietz, Joe Vogel, William R. Ferguson and Herbert Morgan did not return yesterday with the M-G-M delegates after attending sales meetings in Los Angeles.

Lichtman left Hollywood Sunday for New York while Rodgers, Dietz and Morgan are still at the studios. Ferguson was in Chicago yesterday in connection with the opening there of "Captains Courageous," while Vogel stopped over at Kansas City to look over Loew's State. Si Seadler flew in from the convention over the week-end to prepare for the opening tonight of "Captains Courageous" at the Astor.

Nicholas M. Schenck returned from Miami yesterday and will be on hand for the Astor opening tonight.

Marcus En Route Here

Morey Marcus, general manager for M-G-M in China, is en route to the United States for a leave of absence which is expected to run for five or six months. Sydney Schwartz, M-G-M auditor in the Far East, will supervise distribution during the absence of Marcus.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 10

WOODY VAN DYKE tore San Francisco apart on the screen and the consequences in the picture of that name did what you know they did for the theatres of the nation. In "The King and the Chorus Girl," Joan Blondell told Fernand Gravet she had to spend her honeymoon at Niagara Falls and, before she knew it, the ocean greyhound on which they were traveling was heaving on the Niagara River's turbulent bosom. They build cities up and they tear them down over night, courtesy of all studios' technical departments, and the producer thinks nothing of it beyond expecting to get on short notice whatever he desires. . . .

That's here. And because it is here, there is the producer who has come to believe, not that it ought to be, but that it must be so elsewhere. He expects wonders to be performed and is decidedly inclined to be as impatient as he is lacking in understanding of any problems outside his own immediate roost. This is why extravagant negatives, running a million and often more, are embarked upon without endeavor to check, so far as it is reasonably logical, the market pulse to see if the public is apt to buy them. It is assumed, with very little reason, that the public will if, indeed, the public is thought of at all. Frequently, pictures are launched on a theory they will bring self-aggrandizement and always in the background lurks the impression the sales machinery will pull such endeavors out of their very expensive hole. . . .

It is taken for granted, minus one scintilla of right, that the distribution force is standing by, doing nothing and spending nothing but awaiting the day, the week, month or year when the product will be ready. Hollywood, or part of it anyway, expects maximum in rentals, complains no matter what the returns and concludes by seeking to alibi exorbitant costs on the alleged inadequacies of the sales department and the cost of distribution. Consciously or otherwise, there is glossed over the expense of maintaining the salesmen who ultimately peddle the film while they cool their heels and heads impatiently awaiting the day that brings them something to sell. . . .

Those there are who have heard you can't have your cake and eat it, but they usually function on a theory of divine Hollywood right that the world beyond and the industry beyond are wrong. Sometimes they will turn over for marketing a type of product born out of the common desire to go bigger in order to become biggest in the colony's social system. They, therefore, frequently but not always, give their sales managers a hunk of merchandise that is saleable in local drawing rooms but not outside and thereafter score all and sundry, but sales, in particular, for the shortcomings of its job. . . .

Old and true goes the chromo which reads production is the lifeblood of the industry. But the blood stream needs sunshine and light and it must course through a well-ordered system to nurture, to flourish and to survive. It requires sustenance to maintain its health and it is sadly and often in need of complete rejuvenation. Hollywood may conjure in its mind thousands of exhibitors tearing the barricades apart in their rush to buy films. They need to buy, of course, and finally they do. But between the manufacturer who has an uncontrollable habit of sliding off his slippery base and the spigot that feeds the public stands the distributor. He is selling and arguing and getting prices unwarranted for production mistakes. He does a job of it when Hollywood does not. . . .

Wihelm Henie Dead

Hollywood, May 10.—Wilhelm Henie, father of Sonja Henie, died here yesterday after an illness of a week. He was 65. Mrs. Henie, his daughter, and Tyrone Power were at his bedside when he passed away. His body will be sent to Norway for burial.

Edward Bimberg Dies

Edward Bimberg, veteran vaudeville actor, died Sunday at his home following a brief illness. Bimberg was 49.

Fire in L. I. House

Cedarhurst, L. I., May 10.—The Central here was damaged by fire early yesterday. The blaze was reported to have started from a cigarette which was left smouldering on the carpet.

RKO Wins Second Game

The RKO home office baseball team, winners of the M. P. League championship last year, won their second game of the season by defeating the Apeda Studio, eight to seven.

Defer Questioning In Fox Bankruptcy

Atlantic City, May 10.—Resumption of the questioning of witnesses in the William Fox bankruptcy, scheduled for today, was postponed until next Monday. Federal Referee Robert E. Steedle stated that the postponement was requested by counsel for Mrs. Fox, for whom they are preparing an appeal from her conviction for contempt of court.

Federal Judge John Boyd Avis, in Camden, upheld Steedle's contempt citations against both Mrs. Fox and Herbert Leitsteen, family bookkeeper, for refusing to answer questions. Mrs. Fox could purge herself of the contempt citation by submitting to questioning, but she has chosen to fight further, it has been learned. In Leitsteen's case the offense was described as a criminal grade of contempt, so that by testifying now he could obtain only a lessening of the sentence, it was pointed out by Steedle. Leitsteen will have that opportunity on Monday.

Hear Universal Plea Today

A motion by Universal Pictures for a bill of particulars will be heard by Justice Alfred Frankenthaler in N. Y. Supreme Court today. The B. F. Morse Broadway Theatres, Inc., is suing Universal for $130,752 damages arising out of the alleged breach of a lease made in September, 1927, for the B. F. Morse Colony. The alleged lease was made for 260 weeks but was terminated by consent on May 31, 1930. The plaintiffs claim that Universal failed to keep the theatre in good condition and that injuries to the high standard, good name and reputation of the Colony resulted. The damages asked include renovation cost.

File Goldwyn Details

Mort Eisman, Clara Dellas and Robert L. Shayon yesterday filed a bill of particulars in Federal Court in their plagiarism suit against Samuel Goldwyn, Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., United Artists and Eddie Cantor. The action is based upon an alleged infringement of the plaintiff's script, "Oh Shah," in the picture "Roman Scandals." The bill of particulars states that the script was given to Cantor in December, 1932 and that he held it for several months before rejecting it. An accounting of profits and an injunction are asked.

Distributors Get Judgment

A default judgment against the Amusement Parkway, Inc., Isidore Leibman and Edward Spiegel, operators of the Parkway, was obtained in Federal Court yesterday by 20th Century-Fox, RKO and Van Beuren for alleged exhibition of the plaintiffs' pictures without permission. For each showing $250 damages was asked.

Permits Cullman Suit

Permission to sue Howard S. Cullman, trustee of the Roxy, for personal injuries sustained in September, 1936, resulting from his alleged negligence, was granted to Mary Elizabeth Murphy in Federal Court yesterday by Judge Francis G. Caffey.

Roxy Report Due Thursday

Special Master Addison S. Pratt stated yesterday that he will render his report on the proposed plan of reorganization for the Roxy Theatre Corp. on Thursday. The report will then go to Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey for confirmation.

Two Promoted By Sears as Meet Starts

supervisior of exchanges for Warners, outlined details of the sales accessories' rental plan which was adopted by the company last Tuesday.

Arthur Sachson, contract department head, then addressed the delegates and following him were H. M. Doherty, exchange auditor, and Albert S. Howson, director of censorship.

Luncheon was served in the Empire Room, following which the men returned to the Sert Room for the afternoon's proceedings.

Jack L. Warner gave a preliminary talk on some of the new pictures planned next season. Albert Warner thanked the delegates for their loyal support during the past season and envisioned similar cooperation during the coming year.

Haines, eastern and Canadian sales manager, and Herbert J. Ochs, southern and western sales manager, then addressed the salesmen for the first time since assuming the titles they now hold. After the talks, Sears announced the winners of the Sears Sales Drive.

A beefsteak dinner was held last night at the Tavern. About 250 attended.

To Screen Five Plays

Warners are expected to have five plays, some of them currently on Broadway, on next season's lineup. They are "Boy Meets Girl," "Tovarich," "Yes, My Darling Daughter," "Chalked Out," and "George and Margaret."

"Prince" $13,000 in 2 Days

"The Prince and the Pauper" garnered approximately $13,000 in the first two days at the Strand. The picture is expected to remain for three weeks.

Whispers from Warners

Joe Vergesslich, Atlanta manager, had a funny experience yesterday. During lunch hour he found a "Welcome to New York" card in his room with a list of educational and theatrical places to visit. Joe was born in the metropolitan city and for 16 years was manager of the company's local exchange. He plans to stay over two or three extra days after the sales talks to visit with his folks.

G. R. Keyser's hands were bandaged yesterday. The reason: poison ivy. Keyser a fortnight ago bought a house at Danbury, Conn., and over the weekend spent a few hours gardening. He touched an ivy leaf without knowing it, but he found out about it soon enough.

Bob Smith, who hasn't missed a convention in 12 years, again promised Jack L. Warner yesterday in the presence of a Motion Picture Daily reporter that he will sell every situation 100 per cent next season. Smith is manager of the Milwaukee exchange.

Harry M. Warner is missing from the meetings. He was called to the coast over the weekend when his daughter, Mrs. Mervyn LeRoy, was operated on for appendicitis.

Jack Warner says he will remain here for three weeks after the close of the convention. Purpose: to see the shows and have a good time generally.

Cliff Almy, former Indianapolis manager and now head of the company's office in the Philippines, is the only foreign representative in the field present.

Oscar of Warners yesterday formally met Oscar of the Waldorf. The Oscar of Warners has the food concessions at the home office and Vitaphone studio in Brooklyn.

Mort Blumenstock turned out a swell job on that front page layout in the New York American yesterday. The paper was a special remake with the entire front page devoted to Warner convention topics.

Luke Connor, New Orleans branch manager, is on his first visit to New York and will spend his spare time trying to locate Isadore Rifkin, to settle some differences of two years standing.

Future Stars

Warner players being groomed for stardom, according to Gradwell L. Sears at the convention yesterday are: Humphrey Bogart, Ian Hunter, Anita Louise, Pat O'Brien, the Mauch twins, Boris Karloff and Dick Foran.

Sears will conduct a poll of the delegates for their selection of stars to be culled from the younger contract players. A similar plan was used last year and is said to have aided the studio in making decisions.

Warner Sales Drive Winners Get Citations

Winners of the recent 15-week Sears Sales Drive were announced yesterday by Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, who presented cash awards.

In the district managers' division, Leo Blank, midwest head, came out first. Second was Robert Smeltzer, mid-Atlantic head with headquarters in Washington.

Branch awards were made to the following in the order named:

Rud Lohrenz, Minneapolis; Harry Seed, Pittsburgh; A. Shmitken, Cincinnati; R. L. McCoy, Charlotte; Fred Greenberg, Indianapolis; T. R. Gillham, Chicago; R. T. Smith, Milwaukee; William Warner, Kansas City; Nat Furst, Boston; C. K. Olson, Omaha; Norman Ayers, Albany; R. S. Smith, Buffalo; Robert Smeltzer, Washington; W. G. Mansell, Philadelphia; L. McKenzie, St. John; Joseph C. Vergesslich, Atlanta; M. A. Mooney, Cleveland; John Pavone, New Haven; Byron Adams, Memphis; A. W.Anderson, Des Moines; Hall Walsh, St. Louis.

Warners Buy Hurst Novel

"Sister Act," Fannie Hurst novel which recently appeared in Cosmopolitan, will be produced by Warners. Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Anita Louise, Margaret Lindsay and Gloria Dickson are being considered for the cast.

Southern Warnerites Steal Waldorf Show

Warners' southern contingent yesterday morning took the convention by storm with an act all of their own. Marching into the Sert Room to the tune of "Dixie," the salesmen and managers from below the Mason and Dixon line were garbed in the uniforms of colonels with 10 gallon

Bank Takes Belmont

The Belmont Theatre, West 48th St., was sold yesterday at a foreclosure sale held in the Manhattan auction rooms. The house was bought in by the Bank for Savings.

materially conflicting with those of the security holders they are undertaking to represent.

Much of the report submitted today was concerned with the activities of committees not representing security holders generally, and traced in detail the activities of the independent group in the Paramount reorganization, formed by Harold A. Fortington, financial secretary of a group of insurance companies, which entered the picture when a reorganization had been practically worked out and forced its entire rewriting.

"The most striking characteristic of many reorganizations is the fight to retain or obtain control, which follows immediately upon financial collapse of a company," the report declared. "Banker-management groups affiliated with the company at the beginning of reorganizations are generally the victors in these campaigns.

Paramount Case Cited

"This fight for control is motivated by the profits accruing to those who are able to dominate the nature and activities of the reorganization, and the affairs of the reorganized company. Among the more direct of these emoluments are large reorganization and protective committee fees, counsel fees, depositary fees, brokerage commissions, underwriting discounts, and the salaries and possibilities of personal profit which flow to those who are able to gain control of the reorganized company."

In the Paramount case, the commission indicates, the fight between the Fortington group and the Kuhn, Loeb & Co. group eventually turned into a struggle for control of the company.

"It is clear that the original program which Fortington stressed concerning management of the company was not executed," the report pointed out, after tracing the developments of the reorganization finally perfected. "And it is clear that the ultimate arrangements concerning management of the company and underwriting of the securities were profitable to the group and were probably not inherently necessary to protection of its financial stake in Paramount."

"Substitution," not Reorganization

Further, the commission said, "it appears that the ultimate spoils of reorganization—control of the new company—were divided among the Fortington group, the bank creditors and the Vanderlip committee. Provision was made for the continuation of memberships on the board of directors for one, two and three years. In addition, it is subject to serious question whether this change in control was more than a mere substitution of another set of investment bankers for Kuhn, Loeb—a change in dramatis personae rather than a new scheme for management.

"The inference is strong throughout that for various reasons the members of the group were interested in control of the new company: control for purposes of profitable business arrangements; control in the form of directorships; control for purposes of investment banking and other connections."

Certainly, the commission commented, "the group advanced its own interests exceedingly well."

The story of the Paramount reorganization, it pointed out, illustrates "how those who enter the reorganization in the independent advocacy of the interests of the real owners can readily take unto themselves the spoils of victory. In this case the spoils were a share in the control of the company. In terms of realities in the world of finance such control is the chief stake of any reorganization."

master would give them a full hearing. Permission to renew the motion, if it should later appear necessary, was granted. Ernest W. Stern, holder of 1,234 shares of Class A stock, who alleged that the reclassification in 1931 of Class A shares to common stock was illegal, was one of those referred to the special master. Others were: Iva A. McPherson, Mary G. McPherson, Pauline L. Fleming and James A. Glassman, holders of 1,002 shares of common stock, who claimed the issuance of common stock to RCA in 1931 was illegal and gave RCA dominance over RKO, and Edward Hickey, class A stockholder who has petitioned the court to declare Section 77B of the bankruptcy law unconstitutional.

that the deficit of £507,742 shown in the company's consolidated balance sheet would be £1,594,582 except for the writing up of properties. It is asserted by the group that the deficiency of the G. B. investment in Denman Trust amounts to £1,000,000.

It is further claimed that the closing down of the G. B. studios and distribution implies heavy capital losses, but that G. B. Distributors appears in the assets at £510,000 and the Lime Grove Studios at £450,000. Heavy losses also are alleged in Gainsborough, Baird and British Acoustic, all G. B. subsidiaries. It is claimed that all the G. B. companies are showing trading losses.

The Board of Trade must act on the petition of 10 per cent of the shareholdings, which means 250,000 ordinary shares. It is generally believed that 1,000,000 shares are held outside the Ostrer group, although the actual figure is uncertain. It is pointed out that the committee has used facts and figures in its statement which were inadmissible in the recent court case concerning the preference dividend, including the position of subsidiaries.

Mutual Broadcasts Flash from Merrill

Mutual engineers and the listeners tuned to that network kept all-night vigil with Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie as the flyers raced over the Atlantic in the America to England hop. Mutual was the only network to keep its lines open all night, NBC and CBS signing off at their usual closing hour.

As a reward for its effort, Mutual established a new radio record when, at 2:15 A.M., E. D. S. T., Monday morning, it broadcast the voice of Merrill reporting his position, 1,686 miles at sea, to Newark airport officials. At 3:15 A.M. Mutual again caught Merrill's voice reporting "all's well," but no position was given.

Following the takeoff Sunday at 4:35 P.M., E. D. S. T., which was described by Dave Driscoll, Mutual broadcast hourly reports of the flight beginning at 5:15 P.M. and continuing until the station opened for business at 6 A.M. Monday morning.

It is generally understood Merrill will fly Hearst newsreel pictures of the Coronation to America.

New Shows on the Air

"Chase and Sanborn Varieties"

The new Chase and Sanborn series is the granddaddy of all variety programs, and if subsequent offerings measure up to Sunday's premiere, the coffee company quickly will regain the listeners it lost during the run of the boring "Do You Want To Be an Actor?" series, which this new variety program replaces.

Heard on the opening session were W. C. Fields, Ann Harding, Edgar Bergen and Charley McCarthy, Ray Middleton, Rogers and Hart and Don Ameche. Each contributed sparkling bits.

Hilarious in particular was the sequence wherein W. C. Fields and Charley McCarthy, who is Edgar Bergen's dummy, swapped wits. Describing the Field proboscis, McCarthy said it looked as if it had been carved from an "ample piece of California redwood." In vaudeville parlance, this "tore the house down."

Describing his long illness, Fields said he had suffered from a case of "pernicious dandruff," aggravated by a broken neck suffered when a Paramount sound truck backed up and ran over him. "W. C." was in one of his most mirthful moods, and good news indeed was the announcer's statement at the close of the program that he was returning for another guest appearance next Sunday.

The comedy, however, was only a part of the proceedings. Ann Harding and Don Ameche contributed an elegant scene from "The Guardsman;" Ray Middleton sang Rogers' and Hart's imaginative work, "All Points West" in a thoroughly enjoyable and competent fashion; Dorothy Lamour proved herself to be a much improved vocalist over the mediocre-voiced young lady who forsook radio to enter pictures a year or so ago; Don Ameche "em ceed" excellently; and Edgar Bergen and "Charley" never were better.

Summing up, the opening offering was a superlative program.

"Chase and Sanborn Varieties" is heard Sundays on the NBC-Red, from 8 to 9 P. M., E.D.S.T.

"Vocals by Verrill"

Virginia Verrill's throaty voice, reminiscent of Gertrude Niesen's, made for pleasurable listening Saturday evening on CBS, when "Vocals by Verrill" made its first bid for popularity.

Miss Verrill, now in Hollywood making "Vogues of 1938," is no stranger to the networks, having been heard previously on many CBS programs. She has been absent from the airwaves for quite a spell, however, and her return is a welcome one. Wilbur Hatch's orchestra provides the musical accompaniment.

"Vocals by Verrill" is offered Saturdays from 5:30 to 5:45 P. M., E.D.S.T., on CBS. It's a sustaining period. BANNER

China to Hear NBC's American Broadcasts

By J. P. KOEHLER

SHANGHAI, April 15.—Appropriations have been made for the erection of transmitting and receiving stations in San Francisco or some other coast location and Shanghai, which will be used for the direct transmission of American radio programs of NBC to China, according to George F. Shecklen, vice-president of the RCA Communications here.

Meanwhile, Shecklen said, arrangements have been made for the handling of regular American programs over the commercial system which local stations will be able to pick up and re-broadcast on a standard commercial basis.

Radio reception is rapidly gaining in popularity in China, reaching the point where only receivers with short wave range are desired by the public. The sale of receivers is expected to increase markedly with the advent of American programs.

Transamerican Tries Preview of Programs

Borrowing a practice of the screen, Transamerican is inaugurating a series of program previews of its forthcoming radio productions. The previews will be exclusively for the press.

The first preview, that of "The Uncrowned King," a new Transamerican feature, will be held this Thursday in the Transamerican audition rooms.

"The Uncrowned King" is based on the adventures of Lawrence of Arabia. Lionel Atwell portrays the lead role.

Iowa Air Libel Bill Signed by Governor

DES MOINES, May 10.—The recent session of the Iowa Legislature passed a radio libel bill, and it became a law with the signature of the Governor. The bill relieves Iowa radio stations of responsibility for so-called defamatory statements uttered during broadcasts by persons not directly connected with the radio stations.

The bill was sponsored by the Iowa Ass'n. of Broadcasters: KFJB, Marshalltown; KFNF, Shenandoah; KOIL, Council Bluffs; KRNT, Des Moines; KSO, Des Moines; WHO, Des Moines; WMT, Cedar Rapids; WOC, Davenport; WSUI, Iowa City; KMA, Shenandoah.

Dismiss "Jemima" Complaint

The Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed the judgment in favor of Tess Gardella, known professionally as "Aunt Jemima," for $115,968 and against NBC, the Log Cabin Products, Inc., and General Foods Corp. The Circuit Court dismissed her complaint. Miss Gardella alleged that she used the name, "Aunt Jemima," on the stage and radio for many years and that the General Food show infringed by using another actress who was introduced as "Aunt Jemima." The court held that Miss Gardella had no exclusive right to the name, as Quaker Oats had used the same name on pancake flour since 1890.

Engineers of Radio Start Session Here

Attended by approximately 800 members, the Silver Anniversary convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers opened at the Hotel Pennsylvania, convention headquarters, yesterday morning. H. H. Beverage, president of the Institute, welcomed the delegation in his opening address.

Twelve papers were read at the convention. The morning subjects were as follows:

"The Origin and Development of Radiotelephony," by Lloyd Espenschied, Bell Telephone Laboratories; "Transoceanic Radiotelephone Development," by Ralph Brown of Bell Telephone; "Ground Systems as a Factor in Antenna Efficiency," by G. H. Brown, R. F. Lewis and J. Epstein, RCA; "Simple Method for Observing Amplitude and Phase Relations in Antenna Arrays," by J. F. Morrison, Bell Telephone; "Ultra-High-Frequency Relay Broadcasting" by W. A. R. Brown and G. O. Milne, both of NBC.

Full Program in Afternoon

The afternoon session was taken up by the following talks:

"The Ultra-Short-Wave Beacon and Its Field of Application," by Walter Hahnemann, C. Lorenz, A. G. Berlin; "A Multiple Unit Steerable Antenna for Short-Wave Reception," by H. T. Friis and C. B. Feldman, Bell Telephone; "Time Division Multiplex in Radiotelegraphic Practice," by J. L. Callahan, R. E. Mathes and A. Kahn, RCA; "Automobile Receiver Design," by F. D. Schnoor and J. D. Smith, RCA; "Radio Methods for the Investigation of Upper-Air Phenomena with Unmanned Balloons," by H. Diamond, W. S. Hinman, Jr., and F. W. Dunmore, Bureau of Standards, Washington; "Characteristics of the Ionosphere and Their Application to Radio Transmission," by T. R. Gilliland, S. S. Kirby, N. Smith, and S. E. Reymer, National Bureau of Standards; "An Automatic Sound Pressure Recorder," by W. S. Bachman, General Electric Co., Bridgeport, Conn.

CBS Building Halted By Labor Picketing

HOLLYWOOD, May 10. — Work stopped today on the building of the new CBS studio when 200 pickets marched in front of the project and truck drivers and shovel operators were called off the job.

It is said that the move resulted from what labor feels is the anti-union attitude of William Simpson, in charge of construction, and also that it was a gesture to express sympathy for the studio union shop drive.

Grainger, Universal general sales manager left New York last night and will arrive here on Thursday to complete convention plans. Ed Bonns, short subject sales manager, and Joe Weil, exploitation director, are already here. Home office executives and the national sales forces are scheduled to arrive on Saturday.

The home office contingent will be headed by R. H. Cochrane, president, and will include Gus Schaefer, newly appointed foreign sales manager. The home office officials will leave New York Wednesday afternoon with the entire eastern sales force. They will stop over in Chicago all day Thursday, where headquarters will be set up in the Stevens Hotel. They will be joined by the staffs of central district exchanges, and leaving Chicago that night the Santa Fe's California Limited will carry five special cars for the Universal party. An additional car will be picked up at Kansas City the following day. Southern and far western delegations will make the trip to Los Angeles in separate contingents but timed to arrive in Los Angeles on Saturday, also.

Contracts with Universal have been signed by 8,300 theatres in the past year, Universal sales managers will be told at the company's convention on the coast next Monday. James R. Grainger, general distribution manager, left for Hollywood yesterday to arrange details of the meetings.

Producing managers met separately yesterday and appointed a committee headed by Herman Shumlin to plan opposition to the signing. A protest was also made over the weekend by Frank Gillmore, president of Actors' Equity Ass'n, in a letter to Governor Lehman which asked for a hearing. Stage groups contend that the failure of the measure to set forth what proof of an indecent performance is necessary gives the license commissioner an arbitrary censorship power over the stage. They contend the bill was "railroaded" through the legislature without a hearing as a result of the recent public indignation against burlesque.

Two New York Bills Pass

ALBANY, May 10.—The New York state legislature before final adjournment Saturday passed and sent to Governor Lehman two important bills relating to the film industry.

The Ehrlich bill confers upon cities outside of Greater New York the power to adopt local laws or ordinances to regulate the admission of unaccompanied children to film theatres.

The Reoux bills amends the town law generally so as to give towns of the state jurisdiction over the operation of film houses, shows, skating rinks and amusement parks. Both the Ehrlich and Reoux bills are in the hands of the Governor as 30-day bills.

hats and long, black sweeping mustaches.

Some of the men carried banners with the following:

"Sears Solid South; 1937-'38 Quota Busters; No Sherman but Sears."

What the north, east and west will do about it remains to be seen as the convention continues.

Gale Sondergaard In

Gale Sondergaard, who won an Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences award for her supporting role in "Anthony Adverse," is in town from the coast, having arrived by plane. She is expected to drop in at the Warner convention before it ends Thursday night.

Hallett in Warner Short

Mal Hallett and his orchestra are now making a one-reel musical short at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studios.

G. N. Men to Convene On the Coast Sunday

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—Grand National's sales forces will convene here next Sunday for the annual sales convention. About 50 branch managers and sales executives will arrive at the Union Pacific station, Los Angeles, and the delegates from San Francisco, Portland and Seattle will arrive on the Southern Pacific.

Tomorrow James Winn, western sales head; Sol Edwards, eastern and Canadian head, and Morris Epstein, New York branch manager, will arrive in advance. Epstein will visit his family at San Francisco until the sales meetings get under way.

Edward L. Alperson, president, plans to devote one afternoon of the convention to a visit of the studios by the entire sales contingent. On the night of May 19, a banquet will be held at the Ambassador to officially wind up the first international meeting.

G. B. to Hold Three Regional Gatherings

Following his return yesterday from a week's tour of exchanges, George W. Weeks, general sales manager, declared that the first of three regional G. B. sales meetings will be held June 10 in New York. Home office and eastern sales representatives will attend.

The second session will be held in Chicago and the third in Los Angeles.

Robbins, Dembows Return

Herman Robbins, Sam and George Dembow returned yesterday from Kansas City after attending the opening of National Screen's exchange in that city. The executives are now preparing to open offices next month in Philadelphia, Washington, Charlotte and St. Louis.

Charles Gregory, formerly a salesman for National in Kansas City, Mo., is now managing the office.

FMPC Orders Start Of House Picketing

cago, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The F.M.P.C. looks upon the Guild-producer agreement as advantageous to the strikers, pointing out that if the actors walked out producers would be forced to call a twelve-week contract suspension under the "Act of God" clause. Now the producers must keep production going with incompetent labor or violate star contracts, it is claimed.

Warners, Selznick, Hal Roach and Walter Wanger have signified their approval of a Guild shop. Contracts will be drawn tomorrow by Lawrence Beilenson, Guild attorney, and Loeb, Walker & Loeb, law firm.

Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Jack Oakie and Norma Shearer are the only really big names not yet included on the Guild roster. Greta Garbo, Jean Harlow and Simone Simon joined today. Barrymore, Oakie and Beery were suspended by Actors' Equity several months ago and will not be eligible for Guild membership until the ban is lifted.

It was learned today that under the Guild shop agreements the producers will refrain from signing contracts with non-members of the Guild.

Production continued unmolested today despite the picket lines.

The F.M.P.C. has authorized the sale of good-will bonds expected to net $50,000 to the strike fund in three days and has also arranged an entertainment program, the first to be a boxing and wrestling show at the American Legion Stadium a week from Wednesday.

Contribution Received

In face of findings by the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles County that the I.A.T.S.E. was unfair and had violated jurisdictional rights by offering cards in fields presumably controlled by other Internationals, I.A.T.S.E. was reported today as continuing to offer such cards in wholesale lots.

A check for $150 from an unnamed writers' group now influences the F.M.P.C. proponents to believe that the Screen Writers' Guild, which waged an unsuccessful fight with producers last year faces a revival.

A union of office workers, including stenographers, secretaries, script girls and scenario stenographers is likewise reported completed, thus crystallizing the undercover movement current for a number of weeks.

Perhaps indicating the disaffection of some of the Screen Actors Guild membership over the settlement with the producers, the F.M.P.C. this afternoon released a wire signed "White Rats of the Junior Screen Actors Guild" declaring that the signers felt they had been placed in eyes of the world in the same light as scabs and strikebreakers and concluded; "Although in the minority we pledge to help."

Anita Whitney, state chairman of the Communist Party in session in San Francisco, today wired F.M.P.C. picket and financial support.

Frisco Reports Pickets Coming

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—It is reported here that a C.I.O. theatre picketing group is en route here from Los Angeles. It is believed that local I.A.T.S.E. groups will not refuse to pass the picket lines.

demands of the Screen Actors' Guild by the producers, headed by Joseph M. Schenck, brought about the decision not to strike, although Guild officers were empowered to call a strike at any time if the occasion demands. Contracts with the producers are expected to be signed by the end of the week. I.A. support was assured the Guild by Harlan Holmden, I.A. official, at the meeting last night.

Major houses here and in Los Angeles were picketed last night. The Guild demands verbally accepted by the producers included pay for time to and from location, pay for fittings when actors are not used, minimum of $50 weekly for stock players, pay increase for stand-ins, 54-hour week for free lance players getting less than $200, with time and one-half for overtime, access to call bureau and Central Casting records, and certain other advantages for extras. Term contract cancellations and arbitration demands also were granted.

Stagehands Reelect Brennan

James J. Brennan was reelected president of Theatrical Protective Union, Local No. 1, the stagehands' union, at the annual election held Sunday. The other officers, all reelected, were: J. L. Meeker, vice-president; John J. McDowell, recording secretary; John J. Garvey, secretary-treasurer; Vincent Jacobi and Frank Powderly, business agents. Trustees are Frank Cosgrove, Morris Fox and William F. Hall. Charles S. Murphy is sergeant-at-arms.

No Report to A.F.L.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor said here today they have received no charges against the I.A.T.S.E., reported from Hollywood to have been forwarded to Washington by the Los Angeles Central Labor Council.

It was indicated here that little or no participation is being taken in the film strike from Washington.

M-G-M Studies Ad Accessory Rental Plans

May Follow Warners and Paramount Moves

M-G-M may adopt a rental plan for advertising accessories along the lines used by Paramount and Warners, it was learned yesterday with the return of convention delegates from the coast.

The plan was brought up at one of the sales meetings in Los Angeles and tabled for study and future decision, it was stated yesterday at the home office.

Al Lichtman, assistant to Nicholas M. Schenck, is due to return from Hollywood today. William F. Rodgers, general sales manager, will arrive today or tomorrow. William R. Ferguson, exploitation head who stopped over in Chicago, returned yesterday. Joseph R. Vogel, out-of-town Loew theatre head, also returned yesterday after stopping at Kansas City to look over Loew's State, which he

Kent Says 20-Fox Will Have 30 "A's"

Twentieth Century-Fox will have at least 30 "A" pictures of the 52 to be produced in Hollywood, Sidney R. Kent, president, stated yesterday upon his return from England and France on the Ile de France. "From what I have seen, I feel sure Darryl F. Zanuck will turn out that many, if not more grade "A" films," he added.

Kent said that he has not had any further offers for the company's holdings in G.B. and that while he was in England he didn't spend as much as 10 minutes on the situation. "Things are very quiet in this regard," he added, stating he met Is-

"U" Forces Start For Coast Tonight

The first contingent of Universal home office officials and eastern sales staffs, headed by R. H. Cochrane, president, leaves New York this evening for the company's first California convention, opening at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, next Monday.

Boston and New Haven sales staffs will join the New York group leaving here in two special cars on the Manhattan Limited of the Pennsylvania Railroad. They will be joined en route by Philadelphia, Washington and Pittsburgh delegations. Arriving in Chicago tomorrow morning, they will spend the day there, establishing headquarters at the Stevens Hotel. Groups from Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Minneapolis will join the convention delegation in Chicago and continue the trip in five cars on the California Limited of the Santa Fe at 10:45 P.M. tomorrow night. An additional car will be picked up in Kansas City where other groups will converge to meet the party. The group is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles on Sunday morning.

Already on the coast are J. Cheever

Korda Says He May Quit U.S. Sales Effort

Dissatisfied with Takes On Big Features

Dissatisfied with the returns from his pictures in this country, principally from the major circuits, Alexander Korda, head of London Films, said upon his arrival on the Ile de France yesterday that he may quit making films for the American market.

"I am not complaining about United Artists," he stated, "but only about the big circuits. I fear and feel that the large first class theatres in this country are not open to my pictures, which is not fair.

"I am not squawking about pictures like 'Rembrandt.' That's probably my fault," he added. "What I am talking about are the pictures which get the peak business in England and get nowhere here."

Korda went on to say that, "I find a certain prejudice by the circuits here against feature pictures like 'Henry VIII,' 'The Scarlet Pimpernel' and 'The Ghost Goes West.' The results of these pictures in America are not

More Picketing Is Threat of Strikers

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—More militant picketing for theatres and studios and moves to force prosecution of I.A.T.S.E. for asserted violation of the Wagner Act was the F.M.P.C. answer today to Pat Casey's letter of yesterday.

Claiming the producers had issued an ultimatum refusing to grant an

'Captains Courageous' Gets Off to a Fast Marine Start

Broadway went marine last night for the launching of "Captains Courageous" at the Astor. Over on the port side of the human Gulf Stream, if you happened to be going uptown, or the starboard if you were heading south, a Gloucester fisherman rolled and rocked in a sea of flashing bulbs, and policemen pushed people around in eddies and whirlpools.

The only things missing were a couple of channel buoys out near the car tracks to keep taxi drivers from bending their bumpers against the crowd's shins. It was no sneak preview; Si Seadler and Oscar Doob saw to it that "Captains Courageous" didn't slip in and catch New York by surprise. The sign on the front of the theatre was so big and so bright that tourists from Podunk and Quogue forgot to admire Ward's automatic doughnut machine in the window alongside.

Titles of 46 Of 60 Warner Pictures Set

Jack Warner Will Reveal Product List Today

Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production for Warners, today will reveal the titles and production details of 46 of the 60 features which will be released by the company during the 1937-'38 season, to the delegates assembled for the Warner sales convention at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The product will be produced under the First National, Warners and Cosmopolitan brand names, as well as several from Mervyn LeRoy, heading his own production unit.

An investment of approximately $5,000,000 is represented in the properties to be used in next season's product, the production chief will say, including books, stage plays, original stories and screenplays.

Included in the product scheduled will be 11 films based on Broadway plays, 17 based on books and two in Technicolor, both based on novels, in addition to the numerous originals.

Included in the stage plays which will be used are: "Tovarich," currently playing on Broadway; "First

Reorganization Bill Of Sabath Approved

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The House Judiciary Committee today authorized a favorable report on the bill of Representative Sabath of Illinois authorizing the Comptroller of the Currency to appoint conservators to take charge of corporation reorganizations.

The bill is an outgrowth of the lengthy investigation made by a special House committee, of which Sabath is chairman, into the activities of protective committees in reorganization proceedings.

Circuit Theatre Tax Pennsylvania Worry

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Local exhibitors are concerned over the unexpected amendment to the Pennsylvania chain store tax measure which was introduced late last night in the senate at Harrisburg by Anthony Cavalcante, Fayette County, which includes chain theatres in the category of taxable units.

Because of the lateness of the amendment, action on the bill was deferred today until printers could ready the revised bill for the senate.

Suggests Taxing of Star's Photographs

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A suggestion that the Government "cash in" on the popularity of film stars by imposing a tax on the distribution of photographs today won for Richard Himber, orchestra leader, newspaper publicity.

Arriving from New York early this morning, Himber and his press agent revealed a plan to be laid before Chairman Pat Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee, under which $6,000,000 a year would be collected through a tax of 10 cents on each fan picture. Sixty million pictures a year are distributed by film, stage and radio stars, it was said.

Since Himber himself modestly figures he gets 400 such requests a week, the tax is to be paid by the recipient. This, it was pointed out, was but mere justice to such celebrities as Robert Taylor, who gets about 7,000 requests for pictures weekly.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 11.

TAKING product as it comes took us across wide stretches of town to the Florence Theatre miles from Hollywood Monday night.

"Night of Mystery" Paramount called this one. It proved to be a remake of "The Greene Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine with Grant Richards this time as the Philo Vance in a lengthening list of actors who have played that fastidious detective. As in all remakes not a great deal of footage unfolded before the vague story threads running around in this reviewer's mind began to take more tangible form and the solution was his, not by deduction but by memory test. . . .

This mystery yarn follows the pattern of its forebears. Everyone is suspicious of everyone else and all in the Greene household are under a cloud until most of the erratic family has been bumped off. Possibilities then narrow themselves and finally guilt is fixed by the suave Vance on the criminal.

Roscoe Karns plays the dumb sergeant, Heath, whose comedy efforts are occasionally humorous and more often not. Richards, as Vance, is all right, and nothing beyond this can be said about the others in the cast, including Helen Burgess, Ruth Coleman, Elizabeth Patterson and Harvey Stephens. . . .

"Night of Mystery" is admittedly one of Paramount's lesser efforts. It is earmarked with production niceties, but dramatically the pace is too perfunctory for its own entertainment good. The question also arises as to the general effectiveness of remakes of well known mystery tales disguised as new stories by a new title, as prevails in this case. It will not take long for those who saw the original under its book label to realize this is the same broth warmed over, but with a different cast. The flavoring is identical in a dish differently presented that easily may not be so good. . . .

Para. Stockholders To Meet on June 15

The annual meeting of stockholders of Paramount Pictures, Inc., is scheduled for June 15 at the home office. At that time stockholders will elect six directors to fill the vacancies of those whose terms expire at that time.

Directors serving two-year terms expiring next month are Neil F. Agnew, Stephen Callaghan, Duncan G. Harris, John D. Hertz, Harry O. King and Charles A. McCulloch. Indications are that several of these will be proposed for reelection, although no official comment on candidates is available at this time.

Under the Paramount bylaws, annual election of officers is required. Indications are that the board will meet soon after the annual stockholders' meeting for this purpose.

Mrs. Beetson Rites Today

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret A. Beetson will be held tomorrow at the Wee Kirk o' Heather, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Mrs. Beetson was the mother of Fred Beetson of the Producers' Ass'n. She was 77 years old. In addition to Fred another son, Frank, survives.

Daven to Make 4

Andre Daven, French producer, plans to make four a year with one probably to be done with an English version, he stated yesterday on his arrival on the Ile de France. He will leave Saturday by plane for Hollywood to confer with Charles Boyer, who will appear in one of the four films. He will remain 12 days in Hollywood and sail for Paris on the Normandie on June 2.

Picketing Is Begun At Bway. First Runs

Picketing of Broadway first run theatres in sympathy with F. M. P. C. studio strike started at eight o'clock last night, 24 hours later than had been predicted by coast heads of the Federation. Pickets varied in number from three to 10 at each of the houses between 42nd and 51st Streets as well as at the Music Hall. By 9:45, however, all picketing had ceased.

The signs which were carried read, "Please do not patronize this theatre. Help us win the Hollywood strike. Brotherhood of Painters, District Council No. 9." So far as could be learned, operations were not extended to the outlying neighborhoods and even subsequent run houses in the Times Square district were not picketed.

Business appeared to be unaffected.

No Picketing in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, May 11.—No theatre picketing was observed here today as a result of the strike in Hollywood.

A. H. Blank Returns For New Para. Deal

A. H. Blank, head of Tri-State Theatres, reached New York yesterday with the intention of signing a new partnership deal with Paramount. Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount theatre head, is due back today from Dallas.

Blank said he expected the deal would provide for a permanent continuance of the 50-50 partnership with the Paramount buy-back clause eliminated. No money will change hands, he said, and the present Tri-States corporation setup will be continued.

Odeon Takes 20 More Houses—Silverstone

The Odeon Circuit, in which United Artists owns a half interest and which recently concluded a deal for the acquistion of 55 houses from Donado, has concluded another deal for 20 units, making a total of about 270 in England, Maurice Silverstone, managing director for U. A. in England, stated yesterday when he arrived on the Ile de France for his annual visit.

"By autumn, Odeon will have 300 theatres. It is now one of the big three, the other two being A. B. C. and G. B.," he said. Charles Donado continues with Odeon under Oscar Deutsch, president.

"Theatre conditions are very prosperous," Silverstone asserted, "and there is a scarcity of building because the Government has the steel industry tied up with armament plans."

Silverstone will leave for the coast either tomorrow or Friday to attend the annual stockholders' meeting next week. He will be about three weeks before returning home.

Condor Will Delay Pending SEC Action

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Pending the acceptance by S.E.C. of an amendment to the first prospectus issued by Condor Pictures no securities will be offered by Condor. A new prospectus has been filed and it is expected that it will be effective shortly, according to Don Hancock of Condor.

In a release issued by S.E.C. today the commission stated that the original prospectus was incomplete in its failure to set forth a requirement under a studio leasing arrangement to the effect that the premises be used at least 100 days per year. The amended registration statement and prospectus disclosed that the minimum requirements had been stricken from the lease. In the commission's release it is stated that the original leasing arrangement was not definite.

New Grand Central Has Formal Preview

That train wait at Grand Central should be a lot more comfortable from today on, with the opening of the new Grand Central Theatre, newsreel house, which was subject to a formal, preview inspection last night prior to its opening to the public this morning. A regular newsreel house program is planned, consisting of shorts, reels and the like. The short, "Servant of the People," was the chief attraction last night.

John Sloan, architect and the designer and builder of the house, who is also its operator, made a neat and comfortable theatre of his venture. It is located on the terminal's upper level and seats 200. For those who are interested and well versed in the geography of Grand Central, the theatre is opposite Track 17.

Tucked away in one corner of the station, the theatre inside is attractively panelled in wood while the lobby is decorated with wall maps. Admission is 25 cents at all times.

The house will be open from 9 A.M. until midnight on weekdays and from noon until midnight on Sundays. The house clock sticks to standard time for the benefit of those with time tables in hand.

Lady," by George S. Kaufman and Katherine Dayton; "Jezebel," Guthrie McClintick play; "White Horse Inn," the Sigmund Romberg operetta; "Boy Meets Girl," "Yes, My Darling Daughter," "Swing Your Lady" and "Chalked Out," play by Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing.

Ginger Rogers will head the cast of the film version of the Rodgers and Hart musical show, "On Your Toes."

The books on which films will be based include: "White Banners," by Lloyd C. Douglas; "The Story of San Michele," by Axel Munthe; "The Story of Emile Zola," by Geza Herczeg, starring Paul Muni and now in production; "A Prayer for My Son," by Hugh Walpole, the last word of which will be pluralized for the film to accommodate the appearance of the Mauch twins, Billy and Bobby, who will appear with Kay Francis; "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air," by Clarence Budington Kelland, now being produced by Mervyn LeRoy.

Two in Technicolor Listed

The two in Technicolor will be "The Valley of the Giants," by Peter B. Kyne, with George Brent and Bette Davis, and "Gold Is Where You Find It," by Clements Ripley, with Brent and Olivia de Havilland.

Fernand Gravet, French star, will appear in "Return Engagement," a musical with a score by Rodgers and Hart and with Ethel Merman co-starred. "Gold Diggers in London" will be the next in the "Gold Diggers" series. "Lady with Red Hair," based on an autobiographical story by Mrs. Leslie Carter, with Kay Francis starred, is expected to be one of the season's big pictures.

The morning session at the Waldorf yesterday was devoted almost entirely to a talk by Carl Leserman, detailed elsewhere in this issue. Leserman is assistant to Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, who presided. During the afternoon the delegates heard Norman Moray, sales manager of short subjects; Sam Sax, head of Vitaphone production; Clem McCarthy and Floyd Gibbons.

Two Previews Seen

Following the formal session the group saw two films, "Go Getter" and "Kid Galahad." Last evening the delegates saw the play, "Tovarich," which will be made into a film by Warners.

The Vitaphone short subject product lineup for 1937-'38 will be revealed to the convention tomorrow.

The details of the new season's product, as far as it has been made known, follow:

"Tovarich," stage play, will star Claudette Colbert, Charles Boyer and Basil Rathbone.

"First Lady," play by George S. Kaufman and Katherine Dayton, will star Kay Francis, supported by Anita Louise, Preston Foster, Walter Connolly and Louise Fazenda.

"Jezebel," Guthrie McClintick's stage production, will have as its star Bette Davis.

Warners to Release Big Films in Summer

Warners will release three big pictures each month throughout the summer, from now until September, Carl Leserman, assistant to Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, told the Warner sales convention at the Waldorf yesterday.

The releases for each month are as follows: May—"The Prince and the Pauper," "The Go-Getter," "Kid Galahad"; June—"Slim," "Fly Away Baby," "Another Dawn"; July—"The Singing Marine," "Ever Since Eve," "War Lord"; August—"San Quentin," "The Deep South," "That Certain Woman."

The plan to release big films during the summer months, when business in theatres generally falls off, is not unprecedented, but is unusual.

"Pastures" in Fifth Month

Warners reports that "The Green Pastures" has started the fifth month of its run at the Edouard VII Theatre in Paris.

Mirisch Quits Warners

MILWAUKEE, May 11. — Harold Mirisch, manager of Warner theatres in the Milwaukee territory, has resigned. He declined to reveal his future plans. No successor has been named as yet.

Morris to Coast as Son Has Operation

Sam E. Morris, head of foreign activities for Warner, is en route to the coast to be with his son Edwin (Buddy), who was operated on Monday night for mastoids. From Chicago yesterday, Morris telephoned home office executives that his son had come out of the operation in fine shape.

Edwin Morris is head of the Warner music subsidiaries and has been bothered with ear trouble for the for the past few months.

Last weekend Harry M. Warner, president of Warners, left for the coast to be with his daughter, Mrs. Mervyn LeRoy, who was operated on for appendicitis.

Mauch Twins & Mark Twain

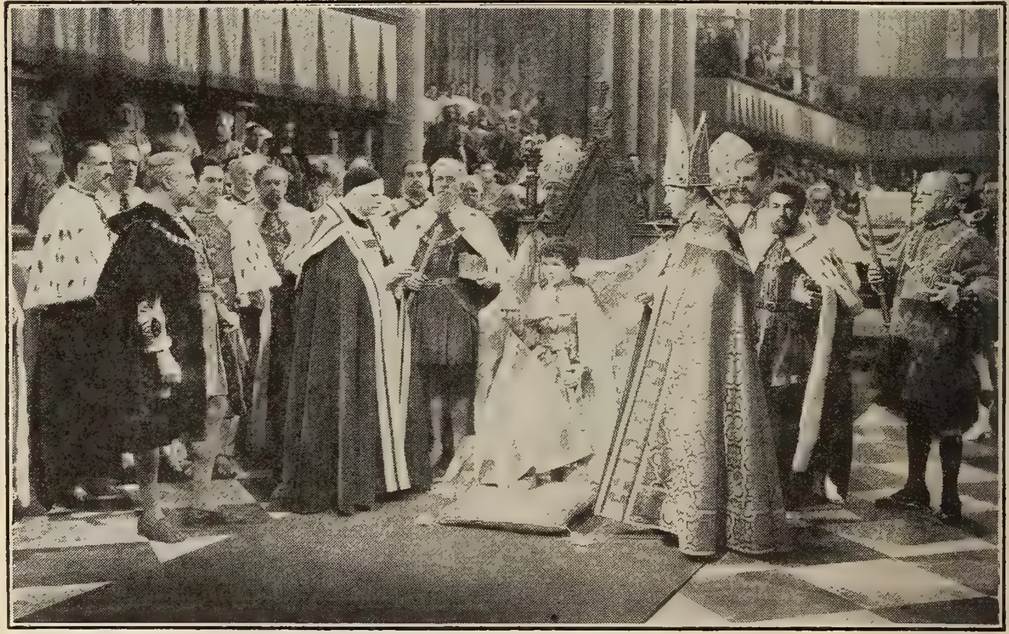
With all the stories in the world to choose from, which story would a shrewd cinema producer pick to coincide with the coronation of a King of England? This was one problem which last year faced Warner Brothers' Associate Executive in Charge of Production Hal Wallis. For a cinema producer, problems never come singly. Another and more difficult riddle for Producer Wallis was this: what were the best roles in which to cast two 12-year-old identical twins who looked so much alike that their mother could scarcely tell them apart? One test of a cinema producer is his ability to solve two problems at the same time. Ready for simultaneous release in 275 U. S. cities last week was Producer Wallis' exceedingly neat finesse of his dilemma: Billy & Bobby Mauch in Mark Twain's The Prince and the Pauper, last made as a silent picture with Marguerite Clark playing both roles in 1915.

The Prince and the Pauper starts on the day in 1537 when boy infants are born simultaneously to Henry the VIII in Windsor Palace and to Pickpocket John Canty in Offal Court. Young Prince Edward thrives at the court, under the tutelage of the Duke of Norfolk (Henry Stephenson). Young Tom Canty thrives in the gutter, with Latin lessons from Father Andrew and whackings from his father (Barton MacLane). Prowling about London one day, Tom crawls under a bench outside the castle to take a nap. The Captain of the Guard hauls him out and is giving him a thrashing when Prince Edward comes out of the palace to call his dog. Prince invites pauper indoors to play. They change clothes for a joke, laugh when the mirror shows how much they look alike. Then the Prince runs out again to find his dog. The Captain of the Guard, thinking it is the pauper, resumes his interrupted thrashing, tosses Prince Edward out into the street.

In his story, Author Mark Twain set out to show that palaces were not much better than the people in them. At Windsor, young Tom Canty falls under the wing of the bad Earl of Hertford (Claude Rains) who, when he hears Tom's story about how he got into the palace, merely tells King Henry that the Prince is mad. When the old king dies, Hertford plans to execute the Duke of Norfolk and have Tom Canty crowned, with himself as Lord Protector. As things shape up, he seems in a fair way to accomplish it.

Another notion of Mark Twain's was that monarchies would do better if kings saw how their subjects lived. In medieval London's alleys, Edward fares not much better than his counterpart in the palace until he encounters a young soldier of fortune named Miles Hendon (Errol Flynn). Hendon feeds him, humors his apparently preposterous notion that he is the King of England, sets out, when the boy is kidnapped, to rescue him from John Canty's gang of thieves. When the rescue entails fighting off the palace guards, sent to kill the young King before he can return to foil the Hertford plot, Hendon begins to think his young protégé's ideas of his own grandeur may not be delusions after all, hurries him back to London.

Biggest scene in The Prince and the Pauper is naturally the Coronation, for which Warners used their big new Stage 22, 100 ft. longer than the lot's ordinary 40-ft. stages; a small army of extras, the St. Luke's Choir and six technical advisers. In this scene Tom Canty, already prayed over, sworn and anointed, is about to get the crown when Prince Edward comes scampering up Westminster Abbey's central aisle to present his claims. When Tom Canty corroborates them, the Archbishop of Canterbury agrees to crown Edward if he can tell the whereabouts of the Great Seal of England. Edward does so with some difficulty. When next seen he is on the throne distributing rewards to those who deserve them, passing laws for the improvement of the slum population, and taking waivers on the Earl of Hertford.



WARNER'S CORONATION SCENE

Not only the Archbishop of Canterbury mistook identities.

The Prince and the Pauper is not and does not aim to be screen drama of cosmic import, super-spectacle or Hollywood picture-poem. It does aim to be, and is, a frisky, fresh and wholly likable comedy by the best comic writer, for the screen or otherwise, whom the U. S. has yet produced. Directed by William Keighley, acted by Warner Brothers' most high-powered cast since Midsummer Night's Dream, staged by Robert Lord and scored by Erich Korngold, it should amply grace next fortnight's Coronation. It should also grace, if not climax, the careers of two amiable young actors from Peoria, Ill. who, among Hollywood's currently swollen quota of remarkable children, are perhaps the most remarkable.

Billy & Bobby Mauch (pronounced mock) are more extraordinary than Shirley Temple because there are two of them. They have an advantage over the Dionnes because they are interchangeable. In The Prince and the Pauper, it is not possible to say which Mauch played which. The original plan was, not to have one play Prince and the other Pauper, but to have Billy play all the palace scenes and Bobby play all the guttersnipe scenes, regardless of which character appeared in them. This plan came to nothing because it suited the Mauch twins' sense of humor to switch from time to time. This was by no means the first trick of the kind they had played. The Mauch brothers got their Hollywood jobs not because they looked alike but because they both look like Fredric March. Producer Wallis, who had been scouring the U. S. for a ten-year-old to play young Anthony in March's Anthony Adverse, found the Mauchs, signed Billy for the part. In Anthony Adverse Bobby Mauch's job was stand-in for his brother. He apparently discharged his duties faithfully. Actually he did nothing of the sort. When the picture was over, he and Billy confessed to Director Mervyn Le Roy that they had switched jobs whenever they felt like it. Neither Director Le Roy nor anyone else knew the difference at the time or in the picture.

Sons of an employe of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad, the Mauchs were born in 1924. Billy is the older by ten minutes. Their mother, delighted with her product, had them taught to dance before they went to school. By the time they were seven, the little Mauchs were acting on radio and posing for ads in their spare time. Their jobs were comparatively easy because whenever one felt unlike working the other took his place. By the time they got their Warner contract in 1935, the Mauchs had had experience on programs like Lucky Strike, Show Boat and THE MARCH OF TIME. After Anthony Adverse, Bobby Mauch was cast in Penrod & Sam. Again he and Billy took turns acting and standing-in. When Warners drew up a new contract, Mrs. Mauch refused to let one son perform as stand-in for the other on the ground that it might give him an inferiority complex. When studio executives demurred, Mrs. Mauch threatened to let Warners keep one twin, sign the other with a rival studio. The Mauchs currently have a contract calling for $350 a week apiece, with equal attention and billing guaranteed. Mrs. Mauch gets $150 as their guardian. Until last week, Father Felix Mauch, currently a general agent for the Toledo, Peoria & Western, lived and worked in New York dashing out West to see his sons on his vacations. Between pictures his sons visited him in the East. Last week, Mr. Mauch, with Bobby and Billy, returned to California for good, where he has now been transferred. The Mauchs travel by train, because they consider that planes are injurious to their father's business.

On the screen the Mauchs main defects are their Midwest accents. Their major assets are energy, lack of precocity and a wholesome distaste for showing off which prevents them from trying to steal scenes like most of their contemporaries. Off screen, the Mauchs' most apparent assets are good brains. Both are currently well ahead of the average in their lessons. Most serious off-screen defect in the Mauchs is their enthusiasm for capitalizing their similarity of appearance to fool acquaintances. When not practicing this hobby, the Mauchs are easily distinguishable. Billy wears glasses. Contrary to legend, Mrs. Mauch can always tell her sons apart when they are awake. She sometimes makes a mistake when both are asleep. To avoid waking the wrong twin the morning when only one has to go to work early, the Mauch family has worked out a system. The Mauch who has worked late the night before leaves make-up on his arm. Only the clean twin is disturbed next day.

Invariable question raised by every cinema fan magazine about every child actor is whether or not the child actor is "unspoiled." Equally invariable is the fan magazine answer: No. Whether or not the Mauchs are unspoiled, time will tell. Tricking people about their identity, however, is by no means the only Mauch peccadillo. Two years ago, when Bobby was sick, the Mauch twins got a chemistry set. With it they have since compounded a mixture of ink and ketchup for making spots on bedspreads, an ink spot remover, for removing the spots, and a rotten egg extract for harmlessly discommoding dinner guests at the Mauch apartment on Franklin Avenue.

When not engaged in chemistry the Mauchs invent other contrivances. Their most formidable invention was a submarine in which Bobby took the maiden voyage. When the ship failed to rise after a minute, Billy rescued his brother by diving after him. In addition to being inventors, the Mauchs are pugilists speculators, sportsmen, collectors and litterateurs. As littérateurs, the Mauchs have written several scenarios for themselves and other Warner actors. None has so far been accepted. Their tastes in reading are catholic. Recently Billy Mauch read Alexis Carrel's Man, the Unknown. Last Christmas both were reading Gulliver's Travels. One day Father Mauch, who was paying them a visit, fell asleep on a sofa. They found two spools of thread, wound it around him so that when he woke up he found himself in the same predicament as Gulliver in Lilliput. Mrs. Mauch extricated her husband with a pair of scissors.

What will become of the Mauchs, not even their parents dare to guess. Neither wants to be an actor. Currently, Bobby wants to be a civil engineer, Billy a doctor. Past ambitions of the Mauchs were to be baseball players, transport pilots, acrobats, firemen, G-Men. Both intend to go to college. Since even if Warners does not give them new contracts, options on their old one will give them each $900 a week by 1938, they should be able to afford it. Last fortnight the Mauchs were in New York for a holiday. This week they were back in Hollywood, ready to start work on the next Mauch picture—probably an adaptation of Hugh Walpole's book, A Prayer For My Son.

Warners List 38 Stars for New Features

Warners' product for the 1937-'38 season will feature the work of 22 stars under long term contract, 16 others of starring caliber who are scheduled to appear but are not under long term contract, and 43 featured players.

Providing the material with which the players will work and supervising that effort will be 13 associate producers, headed by Hal B. Wallis, executive producer; 30 directors, 72 writers and 12 songwriters and music composers, the Warner convention at the Waldorf-Astoria has been informed.

The 22 stars under long contract are:

Long List to Star

Scheduled for starring roles, but not under long term contract, are:

Claudette Colbert, Henry Fonda, Ginger Rogers, Brian Aherne, Jean Arthur, Basil Rathbone, Miriam Hopkins, Charles Winninger, Warner Baxter, Charles Boyer, Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Alice Brady, Ethel Merman, Fred Waring and Benny Goodman and his Swing Band.

The 43 featured players include:

Warner Managers on Coast Are Shifted

Los Angeles, May 11.—Four management shifts have been made in the current Warner Theatre setup by Lou Halper.

Bill Hendricks of the Warner Memphis has been transferred to the Pacific coast division and will manage the Granada in Santa Barbara. Victor Rosen, who managed that house, moves to the local Beverly Hills theatre succeeding Harry Schlinker, who has been transferred to the San Pedro. Earl Cook goes to the Huntington Park house. Dick Pritchard joins the circuit to handle the Mission in Santa Barbara. He was formerly with Fox West Coast. J. Hale Cavanaugh has resigned from the company.

Whispers from Warners

Every man in the Minneapolis office, from sales manager Rud Lohrenz down, received a bonus of three weeks' salary as the award for finishing first in the 15-week Sears Sales Drive. Two weeks' salary and one week's salary went to the other winners.

W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Music Hall, came through handsomely with an offer of passes for any of the conventioneers who cared to visit his little neighborhood house over on 6th Ave.

Sid Rechetnick left the luncheon table to answer the phone, and returned almost too late for the main course. But he pulled some strings, and Oscar had pity on him.

Fred Beiresdorf, Washington salesman, arrived accompanied by two trunks containing the latest sartorial fashions from Virginia.

Joe Vergesslich, Atlanta manager, sent his two daughters to Miami while he attended the convention here.

The gastronomic functioning of the Warnerites at luncheon yesterday was aided by canned recordings of the music from "The Singing Marine."

Gordon Contee, from Washington, is accompanied by his physician, whom he says he has under personal contract, with yearly options.

"Senator" Bob Smeltzer arrived with his modernized kit; a considerable improvement over last year. The kit contains a complete dry cleaning outfit.

The "Senator" and Roy Haines, convention room mates for years, are together again. This time, however, they occupy separate bedrooms because of extra-heavy nasal activity noticed last year.

The boys are trying to match Milt Mooney, Cleveland branch manager with the winner of the Louis-Braddock fight. Milt is supposed to be terrific with his dukes.

The only father and son combination at the convention are W. "Ollie" Williamson, Sr. and Jr. Papa is from Dallas, with "Sonny Boy" representing Memphis. Jr., of course, is showing Sr. the town.

Fred Jack is having trouble with his new artificial molars. He is still trying to say "Mississippi" without biting his tongue.

Bill Robinson is coming east shortly for a five-week vacation.

Circuit Executives Attend Warner Meet

Executives of four major circuits will attend the Warner sales convention at the Waldorf this afternoon to hear Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, announce the details of next season's output. Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, yesterday told Motion Picture Daily that the following have accepted his invitation:

Spyros Skouras and William T. Powers of National Theatres, Nate J. Blumberg and John J. O'Connor of RKO, W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Music Hall, Charles C. Moskowitz and Eugene Picker of Loew's, and Y. Frank Freeman, Leon Netter, Louis Notarius, Martin Mullin and Sam Pinanski of Paramount and others identified with the circuits.

Charles Skouras, F.W.C. operating head, may attend, providing he feels well enough after a tonsil operation. Mike Rosenberg, F.W.C. partner now in New York, also may be on hand.

Jack Brower, west coast district manager for Warners, may stay on for a few days after the sales meetings to complete negotiations with Charles Skouras on a deal with F.W.C.

N. O. Capitol Wrecked

New Orleans, May 11.—The Capitol Theatre here, covering practically an entire block, was wrecked today in a series of explosions and a fire which were believed to be due to the snapping of high tension wires in the theatre. The house was operated by the United Theatre circuit. Nobody was seriously injured but many had narrow escapes. A negro porter is still missing. A rough estimate of the loss sustained is placed at $150,000.

Selznick to Discuss "Wind" Distribution

Distribution arrangements for "Gone With the Wind" may be completed here during the next week, David O. Selznick said yesterday. He declined to comment on the possibility of distribution by an organization other than United Artists, indicating that that would be determined either during the next seven days or at subsequent conferences with United Artists officials on the coast.

A possible distribution arrangement with Loew's has been reported, but is believed to be contingent upon the outcome of Selznick's negotiations with United Artists. Selznick expects to return to the coast early next week.

C. F. I. Net $229,704

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and subsidiaries, yesterday reported for the quarter ending March 31 a net profit of $229,704 after depreciation and tax deduction. This is equivalent to five cents a share on 524,973 shares of common stock.

13 U. S. Films in Reich

Berlin, May 11.—The German censor has reported that of 50 pictures released in this country during the first four months of this year, 28 were German and 22 were foreign, including 13 from the United States.

Columbia Team Wins

Columbia Pictures beat Consolidated Films by a score of 12-0 in the second game of the M. P. Baseball League series. The game was played on the George Washington High School field.

Grand National's Men Depart Today

Production and studio executives who will be on hand include Victor Schertzinger, Eugene Frenke, B. F. Zeidman, Zion Myers, M. H. Hoffman, Andrew L. Stone, Richard A. Rowland, Max Alexander, Philip H. Krasne, Sidney M. Biddell, Harold Lewis, A. E. Kaye, Sam B. Wallis and Robert Luplow.

Cagney Signed for Two

Hollywood, May 11.—James Cagney has been signed for two pictures for Grand National next season. They will be part of the program of 65 to be announced next week at the annual sales convention.

"Dynamite" will be the first and a second will be announced later. "Something to Sing About" will be the second on the current program. Anna Sten, now making "Gorgeous," is understood negotiating a deal for at least two pictures next season.

Sell Dillingham Scripts

All rights to 111 manuscripts owned by the late Charles B. Dillingham were sold in Federal Court yesterday by Referee John E. Joyce to Howard E. Reinheimer for $10,500. Reinheimer represents a group of authors whose plays are among those sold. Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin and Oscar Hammerstein were included in the authors represented by Reinheimer. Maurice Smith, attorney for the Irving Trust Co., trustee of the Dillingham estate, stated at the outset that no representation of Dillingham's ownership was being made so that only whatever "right, title and interest" the bankruptcy had was being sold.

The First Modern Picture in TECHNICOLOR

nearly what good American films gross in England."

A reporter then mentioned the fact that "Henry VIII" was one of the very big money grossers, to which Korda replied, "Yes, for the cinemas, but not for us," meaning London Films.

"While I am here I will look into the matter. Just what I will do, I have no idea. I may stop making pictures for the American market and instead of Denham Studios producing 17 films a year, we will make only 12. That is one solution," he said.

Korda denied he was here to secure finances and added that Prudential Life Assurance Co. was still backing him. He said he planned to spend $8,500,000 for the 17 pictures this year and believed about 12 would be released in this market. London Films is financially interested in the 17, but will release about eight with the company's name on them.

Discussing the British film industry in general, Korda said the number of producers, which three years ago totalled about 150, has now whittled down to the original number before the boom period.

"Producers," he added, "went into the thing without justification, but all the companies which were properly founded are still going strong.

Good Companies Still Firm

"I don't see why the British film industry shouldn't exist. It is not a question of patriotism, but it is also good for American producers in that ideas are not concentrated in one country."

While he was reluctant to discuss the subject at first, Korda said that he did not want any financing in this country, but a fair showing for his pictures. "The big pictures shouldn't be prejudiced by the large theatre interests and I am going to try and find out the reason London Films do not receive the support they do abroad," he stated.

Of the 17 planned for the current fiscal year, three color films will be included, Korda said. One is now in work, a second will be started in June with Merle Oberon, who has recovered from an automobile accident, and the third in October.

Korda will fly out to the coast Saturday night to attend the annual U. A. board meeting, which most likely will be held Monday. He plans to sail for home May 26 on the Queen Mary.

Korda-20th-Fox Report Spiked

Reports again linking Alexander Korda with 20th Century-Fox were emphatically denied yesterday by Korda and Sidney R. Kent on their arrival on the Ile de France.

Korda stated he has not talked to Kent about joining 20th Century-Fox and he did discuss "fishing." Kent dismissed the report with indifference.

Color Reel Due Saturday

LONDON, May 11.—Twentieth Century-Fox has promised that the first deliveries of the Fox Movietone color films of the Coronation will be delivered to theatres on Saturday.

idore Ostrer and John Maxwell but did not discuss G.B. stock.

"There is no change in the domestic G.B. situation, for the present," Kent stated, "but I'll know before July 1. By that time I'll know what G.B. intends to sell here. We are not going to make our exchanges a clearing house for the junk Arthur Lee picks up. I want to see the product first, and so far I haven't seen it."

Kent expected to see Lee on his arrival and was surprised that the G.B. head had left yesterday for a tour of exchanges.

Asked if 20th Century-Fox was interested in the request for an investigation into G.B. financing by a committee of ordinary shareholders, Kent asserted that his company was not involved and "we fight our own battles and no one else's."

Explains Maxwell Presence

Kent explained John Maxwell's appearance at the Paris convention as one of 10 important exhibitors who had accepted his invitation. Another was Alexander King. He said the men attended because they wanted to hear about the product they were going to buy.

New World, British producing subsidiary under Robert T. Kane, will make six to eight films with four or five designed for American release. Gracie Fields will make one and several others will be "picked up."

The president of 20th Century-Fox was jubilant over the Paris convention and said the company is fully 20 per cent ahead in business over last year. "We set a quota and the boys made good," he added. The sales meeting was the biggest ever held by any company, he declared.

"Theatre business in England is as good as it was last year. In Italy and Germany things are about the same, but in France they are not so good. In Spain there is no business."

Kent will leave for Hollywood next Monday or Tuesday.

Sue to Foreclose on Paramount in Omaha

OMAHA, May 11.—Suit asking foreclosure on the Paramount Theatre and appointment of a receiver to operate the property has been filed in District Court here by attorneys for the Omaha National Bank. The suit is against the A. H. Blank Co. of Nebraska, Tri-States Theatre Corp. and Creighton University. Action against the latter two named is only on technical grounds, however.

Allegations made in the suit are that the Blank company has defaulted on $110,275 worth of leasehold bonds of a $200,000 issue given Oct. 1, 1932, as security for a bank loan; that the company is in default $6,000, representing four $1,500 monthly installments, to Creighton for ground rent, that the Blank company is insolvent and unable to meet its obligations.

Jack Cohn on Coast

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Jack Cohn is expected here tomorrow for meetings with Harry Cohn on Columbia's program for the new year. Abe Montague and Abe Schneider are here at the present time. Nate Spingold left for the east yesterday by plane.

Networks Begin Broadcast Of London's Coronation at 5

At 5 A.M. this morning the networks began the task of bringing to the attentive ears of the nation a description of every phase of the Coronation.

The combined Red and Blue networks of NBC, the Mutual web and WNYC opened their microphones at the stroke of 5 o'clock this morning. CBS opened its lines 15 minutes later, at 5:15 A.M., as did WINS. The latter, however, is broadcasting a reconstructed picture of the Coronation from bulletins and a running account account by PostalTelegraph and I.N.S.

Every phase of the ceremony will be heard in America before the sun sets here tonight. The ceremonies are expected to run for more than six hours, starting with the departure of the Royal couple from Buckingham Palace, with pickups on the procession to Westminster Abbey, through the Coronation ceremony itself, and the parade back to Buckingham. The climax will be the appearance of the King and Queen on the balcony of the palace, the ruler's message to his Empire.

Among the local stations, WMCA will broadcast a resume of the day's activities from London at 7 P.M. this evening. WNEW will pick up a recorded BBC rebroadcast to the Empire, beginning at 10:15 P.M. this evening.

In addition to broadcasting from London all morning and afternoon today, Mutual will air recorded highlights of the coronation from 10 to 10:30 P.M., this evening, and at 10:50 tonight, Mutual will broadcast a record of the King's speech to the Empire.

The Press Approves

"I want to take this opportunity of congratulating you on the addition of radio to your daily. The news is concise, covers virtually the entire field and aids me in my work of putting out a daily column.—Chester Brower, radio editor, Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

Procter and Gamble In Program Change

Beginning today, Procter and Gamble will drop the 11 P. M., E. D. S. T. "Vic and Sade" period on the NBC-Blue, and will add another period, Fridays at 10:45 P. M., E. D. S. T. on the Red, starting May 21.

The revised "Vic and Sade" schedule thereafter will be as follows: Tuesdays at 10:45 P. M. on the Red; Wednesdays at 7:45 P. M. on the Red; Fridays at 10:45 P. M., on the Red; daily at 11:30 A. M. on the Blue; daily at 3:30 P. M. on the Red. Compton Advertising Co. handles the account.

WMCA provided one of the earliest flashes on the news of Dick Merrill's safe arrival in England yesterday, broadcasting a bulletin a few seconds before 1.30 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Colbert, Douglas on Air

Claudette Colbert and Melvyn Douglas will be starred in "Hollywood Hotel" May 21 in scenes from the picture, "I Met Him in Paris."

Listener Check Is Favorable to WMCA

As a result of a listening study made for General Mills, Inc., by the Ross Federal Research Corp., the General Mills-sponsored "Bandstand and Grandstand" program heard on WMCA daily from 2:30 to 5:30 P. M., will probably be continued on that station for the rest of the summer. The report shows WMCA in an extremely favorable light.

The survey was taken May 1-3 between the hours of 2:30 and 5:30 P. M. Of 5,650 telephone calls made, 3,162 were completed. The others either were busy, disconnected, didn't answer, or refused information.

Of completed total, 31.69 per cent reported their dials tuned to WMCA; 18.03 per cent were listening to WEAF; 14:42 percent to WABC; 12:33 per cent to WJZ, and 11:01 per cent to WOR.

Sue Don Lee on Story

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Suit was filed in Superior Court here today against Don Lee Broadcasting System, also Sylmore Packing Corp. and Frederick G. Swartz and others for $25,000 by Travis Moore and Wilford Smith. The charge is plagiarism of a story titled "Cassandra." The plaintiffs claim the defendants appropriated the story without permission on February 22 and broadcast it in episodes over KHJ. The packing company sponsors the show. The remaining defendants are employees.

Rename Hanff-Metzger

The Hanff-Metzger advertising agency will become Buchanan & Co., Inc., effective Saturday. Thomas S. Buchanan, who has been with the agency 18 years and became president two years ago, continues in the same capacity.

The agency is now moving into new and larger quarters at 1501 Broadway. Its most important radio account is the Texas Co.

NBC Artists Service Staff Changes Made

George Engles, vice-president and general manager of the NBC artists service, will revise his department, effective May 15.

Ernest Cutting, formerly in charge of auditions, has been appointed talent scout. In this capacity he will contact managed and operated stations and NBC associated stations. Chester Stratton will become sustaining booking representative.

Fred Niblo, who recently joined NBC, is placed in charge of television and film talent, with John Potter acting as assistant on film sales.

Tilzer, Smith for Auditions

Jack Von Tilzer and Robert Smith will jointly handle auditions, and both will act in the capacity of management representatives. Von Tilzer will also continue temporarily his sales activities with recording companies.

S. L. Ross, who has been acting as artists service contact for managed and operated stations, is placed in the advertising agency sales division, while William Hillpot assumes the duties of artists service representative on commercial programs. L. J. Fitzgerald, who has been artists service contact with the program department, is transferred to the concert division where he will handle sales of concert artists and will also act as associate to Marks Levine, department head.

Engineering Group Visits Local Plants

The three-day convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers reached the mid-way mark yesterday, with addresses curtailed considerably to permit the visiting delegates to embark on inspection trips through the A. T. & T. plant in New York, the RCA Radiotron plant in Harrison, N. J., and the WOR transmitter in Carteret, N. J.

Attendance at the meeting held to approximately 800. The speakers included M. A. Acheson, of the Hygrade Sylvania Co.; W. G. Wagener, B. Salzberg, A. V. Haeff, E. A. Lederer, A. C. Stocker, all of RCA.

Issue Script Catalogue

The Script Library, a division of Radio Events, Inc., has released what it claims to be the first script catalogue ever compiled to production and program officials of stations. The book is edited by Georgia Backus and compiled by Julienne Dupuy.

It will not be distributed generally, because of the high production cost. Copies will be provided upon request of production officials of stations only. It will not be distributed to agencies.

The book contains 96 pages of listings of the Library's scripts.

"Four Aces" in New Series

"The Four Aces," world's champion bridge players, inaugurated a new series on WMCA yesterday at 8:30 P. M., E. D. S. T. They will provide lessons in bridge, and players desirous of settling disputes will be invited to come to the studios to air their problems.

London to Paris to the Quai D'Orsay, and was told that no telephone facilities or microphones would be permitted for a broadcast of any of the Duke's activities. White asked the reason for this and the spokesman for the Quai D'Orsay implied that the French Government did not wish to do anything that might disturb friendly relations existing between the British and French Governments.

Move to Start Big Canada Transmitter

TORONTO, May 11.—As the first step in the establishment of a chain of 50,000-watt transmitters across Canada by the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., engineers of the Government-controlled company have selected a site for a new station near Milton, 30 miles from Toronto, where options have been taken for the purchase of three farms on which to erect the necessary structures.

Wooding Succeeds Buchanan

TORONTO, May 11.—In the reorganization of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. by Major Gladstone Murray, general manager, Arthur C. Buchanan of Ottawa has been let out as director of publicity. He was appointed to this post on the creation of the former Canadian Radio Commission five years ago. The job has gone to Frederick Wooding who had been secretary of the publicity division.

Picket Present CBS Quarters

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Picket lines will be extended to the CBS present headquarters tomorrow if Union conditions are not granted, the local building trades council announced as picketing continued at the new CBS studios under construction. Although officials stated that the campaign is waged against the William Simpson Construction Co., C. J. Haggerty, secretary of the council, is quoted as saying, "After all, it is Columbia's money erecting the building."

Florida Tax Introduced

TALLAHASSE, Fla., May 11.—A graduated tax on theatres to raise revenue for public schools has been introduced into the House here by Representatives Harrell of Hamilton and Winbum of Lafayette. Circuit houses would be taxed at a higher rate than single units.

Beginning at $25 for a single unit, the bill provides levies up to $500 on each house in circuits of 20 or more theatres.

William C. Boese Joins WCCO

MINNEAPOLIS, May 11.—William C. Boese of Minneapolis will join the engineering staff of WCCO starting next week. For the past two years, Boese has been chief engineer at WLB, University of Minnesota station. He will have headquarters at WCCO's transmitter, doing maintenance and operations work.

Critics to Advise On Films in Series

New York film critics will advise screengoers of the Metropolitan area on what to see at Broadway and neighborhood picture houses in a new three-times-a-week program on WEAF, beginning May 17. The program is titled "Day Line Movie Pilot," and will be sponsored by the Hudson River Day Line, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 7:30 to 7:45 P.M., E.D.S.T.

A master of ceremonies will introduce the film critics. Their discussions will be confined to the pictures they recommend. The program will have a musical background.

CBS Issues Listing On Air Market Areas

A detailed compilation of primary listening market areas on six of its owned and operated stations has just been made available by CBS to advertisers interested in local and national spot campaigns. Buckley-Dement & Co. prepared the report for the network.

The six stations covered include WBBM, Chicago; WCCO, Minneapolis; KMOX, St. Louis; WKRC, Cincinnati; WJSV, Washington; and WBT, Charlotte. Similar breakdowns for KNX, Los Angeles, and WEEI, Boston, will be available shortly.

Radcliffe WPA Producer

Vernon Radcliffe, formerly ace production man with NBC, and last with N. W. Ayer & Son Agency where he headed the production staff, is now radio production manager for WPA activities in New York.

Radcliffe's duties encompass production supervision of the 150 programs put on the air each week by WPA of New York, heard on 14 stations locally.

Jack Curran, formerly of Radio Guide, is the administrative officer in charge of WPA radio of New York City.

Vallee Lineup Completed

The Vallee lineup from England for tomorrow "Royal Varieties" program will include Fernand Gravet, in a skit; the London Scottish Regiment Pipers Band, a return appearance of Will Fyffe; an interview with J. B. Priestly; Florence Desmond, English mimic; and Eric Coates, conductor and composer.

Lewis Whitcomb Ill

BOSTON, May 11.—Lewis S. Whitcomb, WEEI executive for the past 12 years, has been forced to transfer the CBS outlet's publicity offices to his home in East Weymouth because of a combination of rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and gout, he says.

Hold Open on Merrill Flight

The Mutual network again will keep its lines open 24 hours beginning tonight to keep its listeners informed of the progress made by Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie in their return flight from England to America.

F.M.P.C. union shop, the federation executive board appointed William Cullen, who is chairman of the strike committee to fly to Lafayette, Ind., Thursday night with alleged proof of coercion by the I.A.T.S.E. as used against former members of federation groups, also violations of craft jurisdiction and evidence assertedly tying up the producer organization with a move to effect a company union using the I.A.T.S.E. as a foundation. Proceeding from the painters' executive board at the Lafayette meeting Cullen will take his evidence to a conference of the president and executives of the A. F. of L. at Cincinnati next week. A definite statement of position will be requested from the A. F. of L. council.

Copies of the demands by strikers reiterating their demand for 100 per cent union shop were referred to J. W. Buzzell of the Central Labor Council here as a basis for any negotiations he may carry on with producers following an indirect request by Buzzell.

Copies of all asserted violations of jurisdiction and evidences of membership piracy, coercion and intimidation will be presented formally to Dr. Towne Nylander, local National Labor Relations Board chief, charging that combined actions of the I. A. T. S. E. and producers during the strike constitute conspiracy to violate the Wagner Act. Pending action augmented picketing will continue.

Seattle Group Approached

A telegraphic request was filed today to F. M. Kelly, secretary of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast in convention at Seattle asking that he act to refuse to recognize I. A. T. S. E. and Actors' Guild cards on location. The message was supplemented by a request that all other cards of unions passing through studio union picket lines be refused recognition. Similar communications were ordered addressed to Harry Bridges, president of the Pacific Coast I. L. A.

Casey issued a statement characterized as solely for the purpose of preventing unchallenged circulation of a statement that producers and the I. A. T. S. E. have conspired to interfere with or break the strike. He said: "I desire to say emphatically and categorically that the producers have not conspired, nor have I as their representative conspired with any person or group with respect to any part or phase of the F. M. P. C. strike."

Considerable thinning down of extra ranks will be the natural result of a guild shop, officials said. Many extras work only a few days during the year and thus are unable to pay dues. Attorneys for both guild and producers' attorneys met to work out preliminary contract details today.

Sign Seattle Union Deal

SEATTLE, May 11.—A new agreement with the Operators' Union Local 154, has been signed by Sterling Chain Theatres, Inc., providing a wage increase of from 10 to 40 per cent, with an additional 10 per cent raise slated for Sept. 1. Richard Crist represented the union and John Danz, circuit president, represented the 18 downtown and surburban theatres in the Sterling chain.

Orders Game Killed In Nebraska County

OMAHA, May 11.—County Attorney John E. Sidner at Tekamah, Neb., has ordered all theatres in his county using Bank Night to discontinue the game in compliance with the recent ruling of District Judge Fred W. Messmore at Beatrice, Neb., that Bank Night is a lottery.

Judge Messmore did not stop the drawings, however, since both sides in the state's case against the Fox Beatrice Theatre Corp. had agreed in advance that Bank Night would not suspend operations until the state Supreme Court had made a ruling. This ruling probably will be delayed, however, since defense attorneys have filed motion for a new trial at Beatrice.

The 27 Omaha theatres using Bank Night have continued, but the Porter Amusement Co. at Holdrege has suspended operations of Bank Night in the Sun there pending final action in the Supreme Court.

Organize in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man., May 11.—Following the recent move of circuit theatres here to abolish gift nights or other premium stunts, the independent owners who opposed the proposal have organized the Manitoba Independent Exhibitors Ass'n with the following officers: Henry A. Morton, president; Joseph Pearson, vice-president; Russell Cook, secretary; M. Triller, treasurer; S. Morros, S. Rosenblatt, S. Ross and H. R. Browne, directors.

Ampa to Meet at Sardi's

Ampa luncheon meetings are to be held hereafter at Sardi's, instead of at the Hotel Edison. The annual recess will start after the May 27 meeting at which the guests will be Ben Bernie, Lou Holtz, Nick Lucas and Mark Sandrich.

Form Rainbow Pictures

DOVER, Del., May 11.—Rainbow Pictures Corp. has been formed here to deal in films, listing capital of $10,000.

"Les Perles de La Couronne"

Paris, May 11.—"Les Perles de la Couronne," (The Crown's Pearls) one of the most ambitious of French pictures, opened here tonight as a charity performance at the Marignan. The film, which is dedicated to King George of England, is by the famous French author, actor and director, Sacha Guitry. The premiere was attended by social, military and diplomatic notables of the capital. Guitry had previously shown the film yesterday to President LeBrun, Prime Minister Blum and the more important foreign ambassadors.

The story involves five centuries of historical facts relating to the pearls in the English crown extending from the time of Pope Clement VI until the present day. Guitry and his wife, Jacqueline DeLubac have five roles with 50 French, English and Italian stars. The film, which is spoken in three languages, shows many interesting historical scenes, some of outstanding quality and others lacking in unity. There is some witty dialogue. Included are personifications of Henry VIII, Francois, Henri IV, Napoleon I, Catherine de Medici and Napoleon III.

Lynn Harding heads the British cast. The picture will undoubtedly enjoy great success here and should interest foreign audiences also.

to squeeze into the mob out front, but their corns couldn't stand the strain, so they went down to the Paramount and then home, or maybe it was back to the Painters' Union offices.

There was probably a flock of celebrities in the melee, but Bernard Sobel couldn't get many of them over to the WHN microphone on the port side of the lobby, and Jay C. Flippen talked himself hoarse trying to describe the scene. While he relaxed his vocal chords Radie Harris read from a script, and Si Seadler filled in with a few nautical phrases. Si's a man-of-all-work. He can be a cowboy one week, an editor of a paper published on a convention train the next, and a marine authority the next.

About 8:47 Flippen got James J. Johnston, manager of Madison Square Garden, to the microphone with both arms and legs in place. James J. said something in a carefully modulated voice. Then Benny Fields, Will H. Hays, and Louis Sobol spoke. Sobol tried to convince Flippen he had a headache, but Flippen explained to him that he often broadcasts with a headache and the listening public never knows the difference. Isham Jones also broadcast.

Call Brings Rush

At 8:57 a man with a booming voice shouted: "First call for the curtain." Apparently the star-gazers thought he said "dinner," because there was a rush to the entrance. Flippen waved his arm in the direction of an anchor and a coiled rope painted on the ceiling and the radio men began to collect their apparatus. The picture started at 9 o'clock—a Times Square record for premieres.

Among those there were: Nicholas M. Schenck, Ed Churchill, C. C. Moskowitz, Arthur Hornblower, Jr., Myrna Loy, Loretta Young, Sam Berger and Colvin Brown.

Carrington Given New Post at Erpi

G. L. Carrington has been named commercial relations manager for Erpi, and P. Timothy Sheridan, operating manager reporting to L. W. Conrow, general operating manager. Sheridan, formerly of the Bell Laboratories, joined Erpi in 1927. After making some of the earliest installations of sound film equipment he entered the Erpi foreign division for service in Europe and the Far East. In 1929 he became general equipment manager acting as commercial liaison between the laboratory and field technical groups. As operating manager Sheridan will have charge of all domestic theatre installation and service in addition to continuing his supervision over commercialization of equipment.

G. L. Carrington joined the Southwest Bell Telephone Co. in 1920 and then transferred to Erpi in 1928. Prior to his appointment as operating manager last fall he was division operating manager with offices in Kansas City and New York, respectively.

Myers Speaks Before National Lime Ass'n

CHICAGO, May 11.—Abram F. Myers, general counsel for Allied States, and also consulting counsel for the National Lime Ass'n, addressed that group in convention at the Drake Hotel here today on "Current Trends in Federal Legislation."

He outlined the effects and terms of the National Labor Relations Act, the Minimum Wage Act and other new legislation, dwelling upon the recent decisions of the Supreme Court and their effect on such legislation. He declared it within the "range of possibility" that an enlarged Supreme Court "may go even further in extending the Federal jurisdiction." He also saw the Securities and Exchange Commission as proving, in the long run, highly beneficial to "substantial business interests."

Warners Win Action Against E. M. Loew

BOSTON, May 11.—Federal Judge Sweeney has awarded Warners $2,000 damages in its copyright suit against Hutchinson Amusement Co., an E. M. Loew Theatres' subsidiary, as a result of a complaint brought against the exhibitor for bicycling eight Vitaphone shorts. In addition, the respondent was assessed $1,000 attorneys' fees.

The complaint stated that E. M. Loew Theatres had purchased the shorts for the Casco, Portland, Me., and switched them without consent of the distributors to the New Portland, same city. Edward A. Sargoy of the Copyright Protection Bureau assisted in presenting the case for Warners.

In his opinion, Judge Sweeney denied an injunction, holding that "because there is little likelihood of a repetition of the infringement of these copyrights, it is not felt that an injunction should be issued."

Adds Vitaphone in Suit

Federal Judge John W. Clancy yesterday granted the motion of Nat Nazarro to bring in the Vitaphone Corp. in his suit against Warners, the Remick Music Corp., Samuel Cahan and Saul Chaplin for alleged infringement of his song. "Rhythm for Sale" in the picture "Swing for Sale." Warners denied making the picture in their answer to the suit and Nazarro later learned that Vitaphone produced the picture and Warners distributed it. He is asking for a permanent injunction, damages and an accounting of the profits.

Seattle for Brooklyn Claim

The Continental Bank and Trust Co. of New York, trustees in the bankruptcy of the Flatbush Nevins Corp., owners of the Fox Brooklyn, was granted permission yesterday by Federal Judge William Bondy to settle the $10,000 claim of Jack Nadell for $750. Nadell, an acrobat, was injured during a stage show performance at the Fox Brooklyn on Feb. 3, 1933.

Broadway Runs Ending

Accumulated bookings at both the Music Hall and Roxy will end the three-week runs of "A Star Is Born" and "Wake Up and Live," despite the fact that both pictures are felt to be good for a fourth week, it was stated yesterday. The Music Hall tomorrow replaces "A Star Is Born" with "Shall We Dance?," which is expected to hold two and possibly three weeks. "Talk of the Devil" goes into the Roxy, Friday, to be followed by "As Good as Married" on May 21 and "Wings Over Honolulu," May 28.

Vitaphone to Release Total Of 134 Shorts

To Have 30 Two-Reelers And 104 Singles

Vitaphone, Warners' short subject producing subsidiary, will release a total of 134 shorts during the 1937-'38 season, six less than during the current season. The group for next season will be divided into 30 two-reelers, as against 36 last season, and 104 single-reelers.

The announcement was made to the Warner sales convention at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday by Norman H. Moray, in charge of shorts and trailers, and Sam Sax, production chief at the Vitaphone studios in Brooklyn.

Sax will have charge of the production of 92 subjects, while six will be produced at the coast studio, in addition to Leon Schlesinger's 36 cartoons. Moray called the new schedule the most varied ever planned by the company, and declared it to be the result of his recent trip through this country and Canada, which ended in product conferences with Jack L.

Circuit Cooperation Is Asked by Warner

Climaxing his analysis of 36 "great" pictures Warners plan for next season, Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, yesterday appealed to a number of important film buyers and circuit operating heads for encouragement and support, not alone for Warners "but for the producing industry as a whole."

Bar Strike Scenes

Toronto, May 12.—As part of the official campaign to counteract a threatening wave of labor strikes, sit down or otherwise, the Ontario Government has imposed a ban on the showing of newsreel shots of labor disputes.

The ruling negated the cameramen's work during the recent strike of automobile workers.

Key City Takes Show Only Slight Change in 3 Weeks

Grosses in 29 key cities of the nation have held a remarkably steady level for three consecutive weeks, the difference being less than $2,000 each week for the period.

For the week ending April 30-May 1, the latest period for which a compilation has been made by MOTION PICTURE DAILY, the total was $1,714,841, with 175 first run theatres in operation. This was $3,583 under the previous week, when there were 176 houses in operation, and $1,586 under the week ending April 16-17. For that week 176 first run houses were open.

All three of these totals are considerably below the Easter week boom, but are well above the average prevailing during most of Lent.

Comparative tabulation will be found on page 5.

Mexican Stations Stir Coast Worry

SAN DIEGO, May 12.—Coincident with the reopening of Agua Caliente racetrack, the border resort area has become crowded with radio. Five stations are already in operation, and three more are expected to go on the air as soon as construction work can be completed.

Most powerful is a 150,000-watt transmitter shortly to begin operations at Rosarito Beach. It is expected to use a 1,020-kilocycle fre-

Music Hall, Center Loss $4,521,592

Total for 4½ Years Is Given RKO Hearing

The Music Hall and Center had a net loss of $4,521,592 for the four-and one-quarter-year period beginning Feb. 1, 1933, and ended April 30 last, John E. Hansen, comptroller of Rockefeller Center, told Special Master George W. Alger at a hearing on the RKO reorganization plan yesterday.

Rockefeller Center has a $9,100,000 claim against RKO for defaults on leases for the theatres and Radio City office space, which the RKO reorganization plan proposes to settle for 500,000 shares of new RKO common stock.

Of the loss reported for the period, $1,663,778 was on the Music Hall and $2,857,814 for the Center. It was disclosed, however, that if certain items of real estate taxes, ground rents, interest on fee, investment, depreciation and amortization were eliminated, the Music Hall's loss would be transformed into a profit of $2,823,261 for the period, while the Center's aggregate loss would be reduced to approximately $27,000.

Periodic reports on the Music Hall showed a gross of $2,146,018 and expenses and charges of $2,461,301 for the period beginning Feb. 1, 1933, and

Veteran Group Joins Russian Film Attack

CHICAGO, May 12.—Commander George Radcliffe of the Veterans of Foreign Wars declared here today that his organization has joined the Knights of Columbus in an attack on the showing of Russian films here. The action is described as a move to keep Red propaganda off local screens.

The film "The Defense of Madrid," has been banned from Chicago theatres by Lieut. Harry Costello, chief of the censor board, who declared today that the picture will be confiscated and the exhibitors arrested if any attempt to show it here is made.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 12.

THE willingness of this industry to kiss the mat and to remain quiescent thereafter while those who so elect ride roughshod crystallizes with a dubious brilliance in an incident which took place here a few weeks ago and, since then, by preference locally engendered moved into the convenient division of matters forgotten. . . .

The history:

In a letter dated April 1, Dr. Georg Gyssling, German consul accredited to Los Angeles, used the United States mails for this purpose:

> "With reference to the picture, 'The Road Back,' in which you are said to play a part, I have been instructed by my government to issue to you a warning in accordance with Article 15 of the German decree of June 28, 1932, regulating the exhibition of foreign motion picture films.
> "Copy and translation of this article are enclosed herewith. You will note that the allocation of permits may be refused for films with which persons are connected, who have already participated in the production of pictures detrimental to German prestige in tendency or effect in spite of the warning issued by the competent German authorities."

Addressed to members of the cast, certainly, and to the production and studio staff probably, the bite and the patent intimidation in the regulations make themselves readily apparent in the text, which was enclosed with the letter. It read:

> "The allocation of permits may be refused for films, the producers of which, in spite of warnings issued by the competent German authorities, continue to distribute on the world market films, the tendency or effect of which is detrimental to German prestige.
> "The same applies to pictures, with which persons are connected who have already participated in the production of pictures detrimental to German prestige in tendency or effect."
> Aus dem Reichs-und Staats-Anzeiger Nr 151 cem 30, Juni, 1932

Universal budgeted "The Road Back," a vitriolic and incisive indictment of the aftermath of war by Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front" at $850,000. The picture is being whipped into final release form at a cost of over $1,000,000 and that makes a considerable investment in a property designed for release in a world where the so-called civilized powers talk of their refining cultures while they head toward bankruptcies on a toboggan labeled rearmament. The studio, therefore, assumes the attitude the less said about the incident, the more comfortable the assurances for an uninterrupted marketing of its film. . . .

Let's probe that a bit. The presumptuous Gyssling correspondence makes it rather clear that "The Road Back" has little chance in Germany, recognizing at once that no yardstick can adequately measure the psychopathic vagaries of the Nazi mentality. Germany, as a dictator nation, the other day cemented its political skulduggery with Italy, which, at last and if you like, permits describing Naziism as Fascism and Fascism as terrorism masquerading in the glories of the Supreme State. Hitler is fearful of Russia which explains his drift toward Italy to his south and toward the Japanese militarists in the Far East. . . .

Mussolini is badgering England and finds it convenient, if not conclusive, to lean on whatever comfort comes to him from Germany on his north and Nippon in the Pacific in an easy swing toward British investments in China, the Malays and Australia. This three-way diplomatic routine already has recognized the propaganda value in films. As one goes, so apt to go are the other two. These are newspaper facts and no secret. Universal has them to face. But recognizing the company's stake, it is likewise essential to take cognizance of what the "Road Back" incident exactly means. There is importance in it. . . .

This industry has been interfered with, hamstrung and bothered by meddlers springing from all directions. It has always assumed an apologist attitude, forever more pleading its investment is too great to put up a fight for what ought to be an occasional inviolate right. Now comes a minor German official, either acting for his government or acting on his own, to dictate what a private American business concern can or cannot do in the conduct of its own enterprise. Just where is this to end if a crackpot and irrational government, riding the seat of power through ruthlessness and oppression, is to be permitted to waive international and diplomatic courtesy by its unwarranted interference in

Chicago to Welcome "U" Selling Forces

CHICAGO, May 12.—Universal's local organization, headed by E. T. Gomersall, western district manager, and Henry Herbel, branch manager, prepared today to welcome the home office and eastern branch delegations on their arrival here Thursday morning en route to Los Angeles for the company's annual sales convention.

The delegation will be here throughout the day, maintaining headquarters in the Stevens Hotel. Groups from the Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Minneapolis exchanges will converge here during the day. Special entertainment and reception programs have been arranged by the Chicago office for the conventionites. The delegation will leave here Thursday night in five special cars attached to the California Limited on the Santa Fe. Additional groups will be picked up en route.

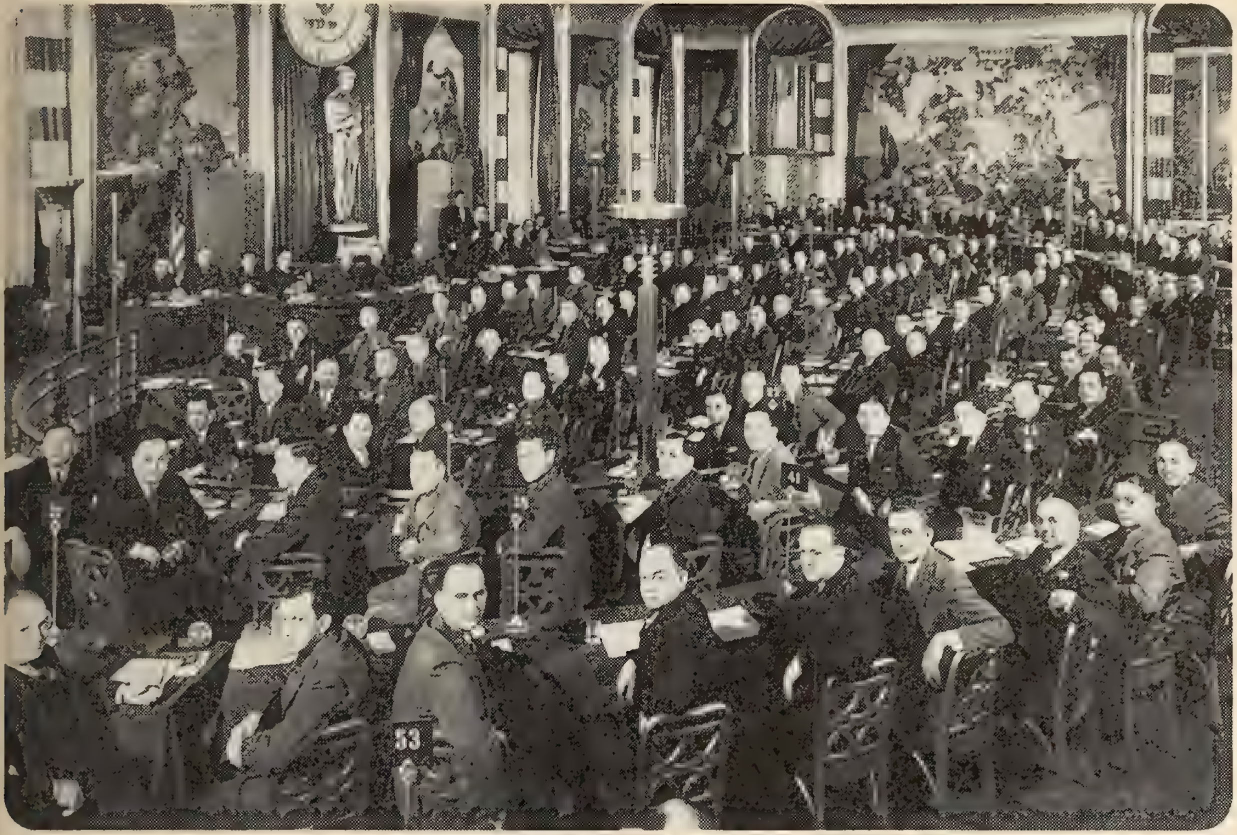
Grand National Men Leave for the Coast

Grand National's home office and eastern exchange delegations left here last night for the company's first annual sales convention which will open at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, on Sunday.

Albany and Buffalo representatives will be picked up en route to Chicago and other delegates from midwestern exchanges will join the group there during the day. The group will leave Chicago in two special cars attached to the Nothwestern's Los Angeles Limited, picking up additional delegations at Omaha and Salt Lake City.

Grand National's southern delegations will converge in New Orleans in order to start west from there tonight. En route, they will be joined by the Dallas group and will arrive in Los Angeles early Sunday.

HIGHLIGHTS OF WARNER SALES MEET



MEN OF WARNER BROS. GATHER at Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y. from all corners of the continent for 4-day conference on most important sales program since their company brought sound to the screen.

"WE'VE GOT THE GOODS!" So says production head Jack L. Warner to Grad Sears, and proves his point to convention delegates by detailing astounding array of best-sellers, sell-out plays, and new star acquisitions on studio's 1937-38 production schedule.

PLENTY OF CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION was provided conventioneers when figures were cited showing how national ad budget was upped to provide unprecedented promotional backing for new-season output. Beefsteak dinner marked close of 1st session, with Edw. G. ('Kid Galahad') Robinson leading the festivities.

Warner, vice-president in charge of production, on the coast.

Eight different series are scheduled. The Vitaphone plant here will produce 24 of the scheduled 30 two-reel musical "Broadway Brevities," with the remaining six to be made on the coast; 18 one-reel "Melody Master" band numbers; 12 Vitaphone Varieties; 12 Vitaphone Pictorial Revues, and 13 "Floyd Gibbons Headline Hunters." E. M. Newman will produce a series of 13 "Color Adventures."

On the coast Schlesinger will produce 20 one-reel "Merrie Melody" cartoons in three-color Technicolor, and 13 one-reel "Looney Tune" cartoons in black and white. The six "Broadway Brevities" made on the coast also will be in Technicolor.

The six coast two-reelers in color will feature: Sybil Jason in "The Littlest Diplomat"; Walter Cassel in "Romance Road," John Litel in "The Man Without a Country," an All-Girl revue with Rosalind Marquis and the "Gold Digger" girls; "Remember the Alamo," with an all-star cast, and "Belle of New Orleans."

Brooklyn Production Set

The Brooklyn studio will produce six Broadway Headliners, featuring The Yacht Club Boys, Hal LeRoy, Dave Apollon, The Preisser Sisters, Georgie Price and Eddie Leonard, six all star presentation revues featuring such players as Donald Novis, Dorothy Dare, Bob Hope, Aarons and Broderick, Countess Albani, June Allyson, Billy and Beverly Bemis, Irene Bordoni, Walter Cassel, Bernice Claire, Joan Abbott, Irene Beasley, Fifi D'Orsay, Evan Evans, Josephine Huston, Lucille Manners, Selma Marlowe, Duke McHale, Tommy Rafferty, Gloria Rich, Georgie Tapps, Dale Winthrop, Rufe Davis and others.

Also included will be six comedies, several of which will star Ken Murray and Oswald; and the remainder to continue the "Joe Palooka" and "Joe and Asbestos" comedies.

Plan Comedy-Music Combine

Six more two-reel subjects will be produced in this series. They will be a combination of comedy and music, and are being planned as a new type of short subject, and will be known as the "Vitaphone Gaieties."

The "Floyd Gibbons Headline Hunters" will be a new series. The "Melody Master" numbers will include the bands of Phil Spitalny, Leon Navara, Mal Hallett, Carl Hoff, Henry King, Enric Madriguera, Carl Deacon Moore, Tommy Dorsey, Clyde McCoy, Milt Britton, Clyde Lucas, Russ Morgan and Rubinoff.

The Far East will be the locale of most of Newman's new "Color Tour Adventures" series, with Milton Cross, David Ross and others handling the dialogue. The Vitaphone Varieties will include Edgar Bergen, ventriloquist, Jesse and Mrs. Crawford, Clem McCarthy and others.

The "Merrie Melody" cartoons will be increased to 20. Each of the Pictorial Revues will include four sequences, with special appeal to women.

Whispers from Warners

Eddie Morrell of Pittsburgh is on his first visit to New York. Somebody asked him yesterday whether he had been in the subway yet.

"I've been in the upstairs one," he explained, "but haven't made the downstairs one yet."

Leo Blank, Chicago district manager, will sail on the Kungsholm in three weeks for a month's vacation in Sweden. Leo, by the way, walked off with five sales prizes the other day.

James Coston says Warners will build two more theatres in Chicago shortly. He isn't ready to announce plans but will before he leaves for home tomorrow.

Joseph Bernhard will hold a special meeting of Warner theatre zone managers today at his office. All the men yesterday attended the sales convention.

Mort Blumenstock will sail today on the Beten for a vacation to Havana, Jamaica and the Panama Canal zone.

Jacob Wilk, who made the first talk yesterday afternoon, had his speech written on the back of an envelope.

Carl Leserman, assistant to Grad Sears, is quiet as a church mouse around convention quarters.

Moe Silver, who came in with his wife, plans to return to Albany on Saturday.

All of the boys who hadn't seen the play were invited to attend "Brother Rat" last night.

Ed Selzer may return to the coast next week with Jack L. Warner.

Jack Warner's talk was in script form with an orange cover. It must have been good by the applause heard by the press boys through the heavily bolted doors. And incidentally, no one was permitted to enter or leave during the speech. That included W. G. Van Schmus, who said he had planned to remain for only a short time and then came out with the other film buyers after the Warner production head had finished.

W. Elmer Callaway, Los Angeles branch head, who had to tear himself away from the arms of his two-week bride, to attend the convention, has sworn that he will buy no more second hand cars.

John Pavone, New Haven branch manager, came in with a dozen Dobbs' Hats for his friends. Johnnie can get them for you wholesale. Johnnie, incidentally, is familiar with every Italian cuisine east of the Mississippi.

M. Whipple of the Willacoochee, Ga., office is paying his first visit to the big city. It's an even bet that he returns with a stiff neck from looking up at the skyscrapers.

George Weinberg, who was a grand host to the delegates at the regional meet in Chicago last year, walking around the Waldorf with his hat in his hand.

Hal Walsh, St. Louis pilot, arrived with extra lifts on his shoes so that he won't have to look up to his district manager, Leo Blank.

Bob Allen, Chicago salesman, who is a former All-American guard at Ohio State, is now tackling exhibitors.

Joe Vergesslich wants to be remembered to local exhibitors and picks this medium to do it.

Warners Will Have 37 "A" Films—Sears

Warners will have 37 "A" pictures of the 60 announced for next season, Gradwell L. Sears, general sales manager, yesterday told Motion Picture Daily after Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, finished detailing plans for 46 of the new schedule.

The sales policy will be divulged this afternoon, Sears said. There will be at least three color features, he stated. He mentioned "Robin Hood," "Gold Is Where You Find It" and "Valley of the Giants." The fourth may be "Desert Song," provided Warners can get the right cast for the production.

Name Eight Future Stars

Delegates to the Warner sales meeting at the Waldorf yesterday were informed that eight young players on the Warner roster will be groomed for starring roles during the 1937-'38 season. They are Gloria Dickson, Doris Weston, Beverly Roberts, Jane Bryan, Jane Wyman, Kenney Baker, Wayne Morris and John Litel.

Warner 6-Month Net May Hit $3,900,000

Net profit for Warners and its subsidiaries in the domestic and foreign market is expected to total about $3,900,000 for the first six months of the current fiscal year. The second quarter, which ended Feb. 27, is expected to show a profit of more than $1,750,000.

For the same six months last year, the net was slightly less than $2,000,000. Auditors of the company are now completing a checkup and a state-

Because of the absence of Harry M. Warner, now on the coast, it is unlikely that a directors' meeting will be held next week. In the event a session is called only routine matters will be discussed. Warner is expected back from the coast shortly.

Rogers Collection Gains

Kansas City, May 12.—The Will Rogers Memorial Fund collection in the more than 100 Fox Midwest theatres last week produced 20 per cent more revenue than the similar collection a year ago.

Circuit Cooperation Is Asked by Warner

our going forward with bigger and finer pictures," he said.

"You must encourage producers to spend the great sums of money," Warner added, pointing out that the amount of money to be budgeted on six pictures he outlined was equal to the total many companies spent for an entire program several years ago.

"Give the producers a fair shake and don't try to see how you can bargain to buy the product. I am speaking on behalf of the entire industry. Every producer wants to make quality pictures, but you must encourage them.

"This is definitely the day of quality pictures and the public will pay to see good pictures only," he concluded.

Among the theatre executives not associated with Warners who attended were Spyros Skouras, William T. Powers, J. J. Sullivan, Irving Barry, Milton Hossfeld, Edward Zabel and Aubrey Schenck of National Theatres; Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount theatre head; W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Music Hall; Ed Fay of Providence, John Nolan of Comerford Theatres, John J. O'Connor of RKO.

Warner Executives Present

Included in the list of Warner Theatre executives present were Joseph Bernhard, Harry Goldberg, James A. Coston, Hary Kalmine, Ted Schlanger, Moe Silver, John J. Payette, Donald Jacocks, Herbert Copelan, Nat Wolf, I. J. Hoffman, Lou Kaufman and others.

Many home office executives from every department were in the convention to hear Warner speak.

The afternoon session was opened by Jacob Wilk, eastern story head, who was followed by Albert Warner, Bernhard, Robert W. Perkins, Harold S. Bareford, Sam Schneider and various theatre zone heads.

S. Charles Einfeld will open this morning's program and will be followed by Ed Selzer, studio publicity head, Herbert Crooker, Harry Goldberg and Joe Bloom.

The afternoon session will be taken up by Gradwell L. Sears, who will make known details in connection with the sales policy that is to prevail during 1937-38.

A banquet will be held in the evening and officially conclude the sales sessions.

Warner Business in Chicago Off—Coston

Business in Warners' theatres in the Chicago zone fell off 25 per cent during March and April, as compared to the same months last year, because of duals and the loss of Bank Night, according to James A. Coston, Warner Theatres Chicago zone manager, who arrived yesterday at the convention at the Waldorf.

Despite the general use of duals, Warners is retaining singles at the Beverly, Jeffrey, Hamilton, Grove and Highland, Coston said.

He also declared that Harold Mirisch, who resigned recently as Warner Theatres manager in Milwaukee, will not be replaced. His duties will be taken by Alex Halperin, who will do the buying for Chicago and Milwaukee; Ed Valendorf, who will handle Milwaukee booking, and Frank Williams, booking in Chicago.

Radio Does Itself Proud in Broadcasting of Coronation

Radio did itself proud in broadcasting the Coronation. Without benefit of a rehearsal (Great Britain rehearsed the Coronation many times in order to insure a flawless performance) the broadcasting industry brought to listeners throughout the world an accurate, vivid word portrait of the ceremonies, an account of the magnificent state processions which preceded and followed the crowning, and finally, the address of King George VI to the Empire.

Radio's coverage of the Coronation was unquestionably the most extensive hookup ever assembled for a single event. Several hundred stations in the United States and Canada carried the program, and those close to the industry estimate that the worldwide audience tuned in to the program totaled at least 300,000,000.

In addition to the English-speaking nations, 12 other nations were fed the program by the BBC, whose announcers spoke in 30 languages, interpreting the Coronation events in every known tongue except Italian. The broadcast was officially banned in Italy.

NBC opened its Red and Blue networks at 4:45 A. M., Mutual at 5 A. M.; CBS at 5:15, all E. D. S. T.

The three great chains were on the air from London without cessation for about seven hours thereafter, bringing the listeners every phase of the Coronation proceedings—Queen Mary leaving Marlborough House; the ringing of Big Ben; the departure of King George and Queen Mary from Buckingham Palace; the arrival of the King and Queen at Westminster Abbey; the Coronation service, the triumphal procession; the return of the King and Queen to the Palace; the "Homage to the Empire," consisting of talks by the prime ministers of the British possessions, and King George's message to his people.

Local stations which at some time or other during the day carried the coronation are WINS, WNYC, WNEW and WMCA.

Television as well as radio attended a Coronation for the first time. London now has commercial television receiving sets on the market, and the televised program was broadcast over a radius of 25 miles from Westminster Abbey. Only the procession, however, was televised.

Radio Engineers End New York Convention

The "beer mug" transmitter of NBC, designed recently for special short-wave field pickups, was drafted for service at the final session of the Institute of Radio Engineers' convention yesterday.

Delegates had been having difficulty in hearing speakers from the floor, whose remarks were picked up by microphones on the platform and relayed over a public address system. NBC was asked to send over a "beer mug" transmitter, and when installed, the speakers were heard perfectly.

The speakers yesterday included G. W. Kendrick of the University of Puerto Rico; A. M. Braeton, J. General, W. L. Carlson of RCA; L. M. Leeds, General Electric; J. W. Brumbaugh, RCA; W. D. Buckingham, Western Union, and others.

A demonstration of television apparatus by Dr. V. K. Zworykin, RCA, was a highlight of the afternoon's activities.

A banquet last night, attended by more than 1,000 delegates, closed the convention.

To Try "Night Club" Program

Something new in radio, the NBC "Night Club" program, will make its debut over the Blue network, May 20 at 11 P.M., E.D.S.T.

The program will emanate from Chicago, and will feature Morey Amsterdam as em cee. The studio will be cleared for dancing and 50 couples will display their ballroom ability during the musical numbers. The 100 "customers" will be the first 50 couples to write for broadcast tickets.

Mary Livingstone to Para.

Mary Livingstone, wife of Jack Benny, has been signed by Paramount for a featured role in "This Way, Please." Fibber McGee and Molly will also appear in this production.

Group to Travel to Final Pontiac Show

A large party from Pontiac Motors, NBC, and advertising officials will journey to Ithaca, N. Y., to see the final broadcast of Pontiac's "Varsity Show," tomorrow.

Included in the party will be H. J. Klinger, general manager; C. P. Simpson, general sales manager, and F. A. Berend, advertising manager, all of Pontiac Motors; Roy C. Witmer, vice-president of NBC; R. H. White, NBC's Detroit manager; W. A. P. John, president; Edward C. Rothman and R. C. Sackett, all of MacManus, John and Adams, Inc., advertising agency, and Clay Herbst, manager of the Detroit office, American Weekly.

The series will be resumed next season.

Mexican Stations Stir Coast Worry

quency. XELO, Piedras Negras, 10,000-watter, may shift to the Tijuana district. The 50,000-watt XEPN transmitter, also from Piedras Negras, likewise is reported ready to move to the Tijuana valley.

Now operating are: XEMO, 860 kilocycles; XEBG, 820 kilocycles; XEOK, 760 kilocycles; XEC, 1,150 kilocycles, and XEAC, 980 kilocycles.

These transmitters, located within 20 miles of San Diego, will blanket local radio dials with X calls and offer serious competition to Los Angeles stations 125 miles north. Most seriously affected will be CBS. With its only Southern California outlet, KNX, poorly received at night on 1,050 kilocycles due to self-interference, a 150,000-watt local on 1,020 will not improve reception. Below the border stations, not bound by F.C.C. rules, are notorious for broad tuning and dial-covering.

XEPN, at present on 590 kilocycles, is only one channel removed from KFSD, San Diego, on 600. XEBG on 820 covers KOA on 830.

CBS Confirms Deals On Sport Contracts

Official confirmation of the report that CBS had secured the exclusive rights to broadcast eight of the country's outstanding athletic events—the four biggest tennis matches, three golf tournaments and the Kentucky Derby is now at hand from the network. Ted Husing will describe all the events.

The tennis setup gives CBS exclusive microphone rights for the Australian-United States Davis Cup tie at Forest Hills, May 29, 30, 31; the Wightman Cup matches at the same stadium, June 21, 22; and men's and women's doubles at Chestnut Hills, Mass., August 23-28, and the men's and women's singles title play at Forest Hills, Sept. 2-11.

The links program opens June 10, 11, 12 with the broadcast of the United States Open at Birmingham, Mich. The United States amateur, Aug. 23-28, will come from Portland, Ore., and the United States Women's in Memphis, Oct. 4-9.

The 34th running of the Kentucky Derby will come from Churchill Downs early in May.

C. L. Fitzgerald in New Post

Clifford L. Fitzgerald, for the past 10 years president of the Fitzgerald Advertising Agency in New Orleans, has resigned to become associated with Fletcher & Ellis here in an executive capacity. He will take up his new duties June 1.

Sponsor "Lend a Hand" Series

Madison Personal Loan Co. will sponsor "Lend a Hand" on WNEW beginning May 18. The contract, for 52 weeks, was placed through the Klinger Adv. Co.

Wanger, Republic Favor Shop

Hollywood, May 12. — Walter Wanger and Republic are in favor of a union shop and have begun negotiations accordingly, the F. M. P. C. office stated today. Independent studios are said to be next in line for union organization although actual picketing has not yet started.

The executive board of F. M. P. C. was in session until a late hour tonight.

Pickets Discontinue Operations in N. Y.

Los Angeles and New York. Reports from several eastern and midwestern cities, including Philadelphia, substantiated these reports.

Boston Raises Accepted

Boston, May 12.—A new wage scale granted by major distributors here has been accepted unanimously by the Exchange Workers' Union. A meeting last night was addressed by James Burke, business manager; Thad Barrows, president of Operators' Local 182, and John Gately, A. F. of L. representative.

Salary increases range from 10 to 40 per cent. A 44-hour week is established with two weeks' vacation with pay. Head shippers will get $38 per week; assistant shippers, $28; shippers, $23; head inspectresses, $23; inspectresses, $20; head poster clerks, $28; poster clerks, $23.

K. C. Unions Not Picketing

Kansas City, May 12.—Labor here has received no word relative to theatre picketing in sympathy with Hollywood unions now on strike. Albert Brilliant, C. I. O. organizer, was in Chicago Tuesday, and expected to have definite word on the matter when he returned today. A. F. of L. unions have had no word.

The I. A. T. S. E. is holding frequent meetings of the new exchange employes' group, and probably will present demands on wages and hours when conventions are over and managers are in town next month.

The new union is now accepting bookers into membership. Word from headquarters at first was that they were not to be taken in, but this has been changed.

Engineers Quit in Houston

Houston, May 12.—Stationary engineers have walked out of Loew's State and four Horwitz subsequent run houses but the theatres do not recognize the move as a strike. They say they are willing to negotiate but union leaders have refused to talk with the intermediaries named by the theatres. Cooling plants are affected but the theatres' employes are carrying on the work.

The strike has no connection with the Hollywood situation and is believed by some to be instituted to throw a scare into Interstate Theatres, Inc., which has not signed a contract with four downtown and five suburbans. Interstate's theatres are not yet affected.

Expect Opposition To Tax Bill in Pa.

Philadelphia, May 12.—Exhibitors here were heartened late today by a report that the amendment to include film houses in the chain store tax bill will run into a snag in the lower house at Harrisburg. The amendment passed the upper house this afternoon and was sent to the lower house for concurrence. Representative Herbert B. Cohen, York, Pa., Democratic (majority) floor leader, stated that Democrats in the lower chamber were opposed to all Senate changes in the bill including the new levy on theatres.

"Star" Is Holdover In Numerous Spots

"A Star Is Born" has been held over for a second week at the Liberty, Seattle; Capitol, Montreal; Paramount, Salt Lake City; Omaha, Omaha; United Artists, Chicago; Denver, Denver; State, Cleveland, and State, Atlanta.

A third week has been set for the picture at the Aldine, Philadelphia, and United Artists, San Francisco. The opening of the film Sunday at the Victory, Evansville, Ind., was double that of the largest take of any previous picture, United Artists stated yesterday.

House Drops Bank Night

Quitman, Ga., May 12.—The manager of the Ilex here has discontinued Bank Night, following vigorous recommendations concerning that and other games by the Brooks County Grand Jury.

Starts New Theatre Game

Dave Druxerman, advertising man, has formed Movie Critic Service Co. for the purpose of exploiting a game designed for theatre patrons.

Pennsylvania County Bans Games

Philadelphia, May 12.—Delaware County, adjoining Philadelphia, today barred Bank Night and Bingo Games. Theatre operators were warned that arrests would be made if the practice was continued.

Chicago Painters to Meet

Chicago, May 12.—The Painters' Union here will hold a meeting tomorrow night to decide what stand they shall take with regard to the Hollywood strike. Officials indicated a decision whether or not to picket local theatres would be reached at that time.

The union claims a membership of 21,000 and would picket practically all theatres in Chicago if it is decided to support the Hollywood strikers.

Organize in Chicago

Chicago, May 12.—Film inspection and shipping departments are being unionized here this week under the A. F. of L. banner. Exchanges are offering no opposition.

Madison Theatres Unionized

Madison, May 12.—Employes of all Madison theatres not previously affiliated with the A. F. of L., with the exception of the Majestic, have joined the I.A.T.S.E.

RCA Photophone Is Starting Meet Today

Loew's; E. C. Zrenner, chief engineer of the Interstate Circuit; Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A. in New York; Frank Cahill, sound projection supervisor for Warners; Dan D. Halpin, vice-president of Dictograph Products Co., and Herbert Griffin, vice-president of International Projector Corp.

The group will inspect RCA's new plant here. Edwin M. Hartley, head of RCA Photophone, will welcome the men tomorrow morning and serve as convention chairman, with Edward Auger, sales executive, as vice-chairman. Technical discussions will occupy tomorrow's session, and a banquet will be held in the evening. Friday will be spent at the RCA plant for the most part, and Vance C. Woodcox, sales executive, and Dave J. Finn, Photophone advertising manager, will outline the company's advertising and sales promotion plans for the year.

switched to Celebrated Film Players in the same city. In 1920 he joined Merit Film Exchanges as New Jersey manager. Seven years later he entered into partnership with Harry H. Thomas in the formation of First Division which last year was liquidated by Pathe and Grand National. Early this year, Pathe settled Friedlander's contract following which he organized Fortune Films. His first picture was "Robber Symphony."

Several years ago, Friedlander gained recognition for his campaign on "Goona Goona."

Reginald Ford Dies

Amsterdam, May 12.—Reginald Ford, prominent exhibitor in England and France, and president of the Cineac Circuit of news theatres in France, Belgium and Holland, died suddenly here today. He had instituted American exhibitions methods in England and France.

L. B. Back Party Guest

Baltimore, May 12.—Leon B. Back of Associated Theatres was given a bachelor dinner last night at the Lord Baltimore Hotel which was attended by about 60 of his friends and relatives. Mayor Howard W. Jackson dropped in for a few minutes and talked with Back's fiancee over a coast to coast wire and wished her happiness and then she talked with Back who said he would arrive by airplane Friday morning for the wedding. J. Louis Rome and William K. Saxton were toastmasters.

Ketti Gallian, Sandrich Feted

Mark Sandrich, director, and Ketti Gallian, featured player, of "Shall We Dance?," new Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers co-starring musical, were guests of honor at a cocktail party attended by daily, fan and trade press representatives at the Music Hall yesterday. The two came east for the picture's opening at the Music Hall today. Sandrich will return to Hollywood May 19.

ending Aug. 31, 1933; gross of $3,910,746 and expenses and charges of $4,331,123 for the period from Sept. 1, 1933, to Aug. 31, 1934; gross of $3,932,911 and expenses and charges of $4,284,768 for the period from Sept. 1, 1934, to Aug. 31, 1935; gross of $3,918,295 and expenses and charges of $4,284,768 for the period from Sept. 1, 1935, to Aug. 31, 1936, and gross of $2,628,154, with expenses and charges of $2,907,346 for the period from Sept. 1, 1936, to April 30, 1937.

A breakdown of Music Hall expenses and charges for the final eight-month period, given by Russell Downing, treasurer, disclosed that the stage show and orchestra cost $450,000 more than the Music Hall's film rental. Cost of the stage show and orchestra during the period was given as $973,736; film rental, $526,054; advertising and publicity, $249,959; real estate taxes, $136,720, and depreciation and amortization, $192,248.

Center's Figures Listed

During the same five periods cited, the Center reported a gross of $551,571 and expenses and charges of $936,521 in the first period; gross of $449,604 and expenses and charges of $1,088,299 in the second; gross of $73,655 and expenses and charges of $780,474 in the third; gross of $447,454 and expenses and charges of $1,216,855 in the fourth, and gross of $106,538 with expenses of $464,488 in the final period ended April 30 last.

Atlas Corp., proponent of the reorganization plan for RKO, closed its case yesterday with the submission of a number of proposed amendments to the plan. The changes, if approved by the court, will eliminate the opposition of the RKO unsecured creditors' committee, leaving opposition to the plan solely to small class A and common stockholder groups represented by Charles Winkelman, George L. Schein and Charles A. Stover. Alger instructed the opposition to file written briefs by May 20 and be prepared to proceed at the next hearing on May 24.

Amendment Extends New Offer

The proposed amendments to the plan include an offer of one share of new six per cent cumulative convertible $100 par preferred stock and one share of new common for each $100 of unsecured claims instead of the previous offer of three-quarters of a share of preferred and one and one-half shares of common. The new preferred would be convertible into common at the rate of one share of preferred for four of common, instead of three and one-third shares, as proposed originally.

General creditors will be permitted to file claims for defaults which occur after confirmation of the plan if a default is won for which a claim could have been filed had the event occurred prior to confirmation. Provisions for the redemption of new debentures are amended to eliminate the payment of a premium by the new company. No new debentures or preferred stock not reasonably required for the confirmation of the plan may be issued except upon consent of 51 per cent of the preferred stockholders or upon failure of 40 per cent to object.

The RKO board of directors is permitted to enter into contracts with executives or employes of the new company for a five-year option to purchase the common stock of the company, but the price must be at least twice the market value of the present common, or at least equal to the market value of the new common if it is listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange. Not more than 10 per cent of the authorized issue of common stock may be sold under this provision.

The amendments would alter the proposed capitalization of the new company to $13,000,000 of new preferred stock authorized, instead of $11,000,000, of which unsecured creditors will receive $8,000,000, in addition to 80,000 shares of new common, instead of $6,000,000 of preferred and 120,000 shares of common. There will be 2,123,148 shares of common outstanding, or 40,000 shares less than originally proposed.

matters which are none of its business? . . .

If the Hitler government, pursuing its irregular course, should determine to bar "The Road Back" when it is submitted to Berlin for a permit, it would then be functioning well within its privileges, like them or not. But the Gyssling correspondence will fool no one. It it patently designed to checkmate Universal at the source of production and, by very thinly disguised inference, impart the impression that offended German sensibilities might be expected to seek additional redress outside German borders through the force of Nazi persuasion on nations pendulously swinging in the Hitler orbit. This is the whole argument. . . .

Two organizations moved themselves into action when the incident first developed. The Anti-Nazi League of Hollywood wired the State Department insisting upon Gyssling's recall. The Screen Actors' Guild, admitting nothing officially or otherwise, which does not matter since it is the fact, also filed protest with Secretary of State Hull. And there matters so far stand. Now, what of Washington? Soft-treading diplomatic sources, not in the State Department but in a position to be reasonably aware of its reactions, suggest—suggest, mind you—that such attempted interference as Gyssling's in purely internal matters constitutes a breach of diplomatic procedure and, in the past in several countries, has been considered sufficiently grave to warrant the suggestion that the offending foreign representative be recalled by his government. . . .

But State Department officials and perhaps obviously enough refuse to comment on that phase of the incident. Indicative of the possibility that the situation may have growing and more serious implications is the determined silence with which officials there surround the subject. There are "indications" that department heads are somewhat irritated by both the occurrence and its consequent publicity, particularly following the recent protests of the Nazi government against statements by Mayor La Guardia of New York. We would say those "indications" are not quite sufficient. . . .

Berlin is tossing out many American pictures on poorly disguised non-Aryan reasons, when any reasons at all are offered. Berlin theatres not so long ago featured newsreels of American labor union disturbances while German commentators pointed out the "serenity" of workers under the Nazi regime. The disbursement of "kontingents" under the German import laws, The New York Times reported recently, is being handled in a manner deliberately designed to further choke off American pictures within Germany. The Nazi government is interfering in the conduct of the American business in Austria by tripping up the back door through which the Austrian industry, dependent upon German playdates, gets into its essential market. . . .

Yet here in this country, Germany, like all other foreign nations, sends in its product, hampered only by whatever the normal customs imposts may be. Here, the industry takes what it gets and embarks upon no more reprisals than a hush-hush policy falsely predicated on the childish attitude of leaving well enough alone may allow. Leaving well enough alone for how long, it is asked, and with what assurance the squeeze will not become tighter, the demands more demanding, the whole future the more imperiled?

with home office officials of Western Electric and Erpi.

Referring to Parliament's contemplated action on the quota laws, Bach said, "The sincerity of the British authorities relative to the maintenance and development of the industry cannot be doubted and it seems evident that any reenactment of quota legislation will contain a 'quality' provision aimed at the elimination of unsatisfactory financial conditions surrounding production."

Bach will visit in Canada and Hollywood before returning to London on June 5.

Kodak Boosts Dividend

With yesterday's voting of a quarterly dividend of $2, due July 2 to holders of record June 5, Eastman Kodak Co. has raised its annual dividend to an $8 basis. It formerly was $1.50.

Trans-Lux Earnings Gain

First quarter earnings of Trans-Lux Daylight Picture Screen Corp. show an increase over the corresponding period of a year ago, Percy Furber, chairman, declared yesterday. The firm name has been changed to Trans-Lux Corp.

Laemmle Deal Unsigned

Carl Laemmle, Jr., said yesterday that the proposed arrangement whereby he would produce for M-G-M has not been signed yet. In commenting on coast reports concerning his production plans for the new season, he said that his program was necessarily indefinite as a result.

Laemmle plans to leave for a week's vacation in Bermuda early next week, and to return to New York from there.

Mutual Upset As NBC Signs Merrill Trip

Deal Includes Interview At Airport Today

Feelings at Mutual are running as high as Dick Merrill's plane in flight as a result of NBC's action in purchasing the rights to broadcast exclusively the messages issued by Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie in reporting their progress during their return flight to America from England. The deal also grants NBC an exclusive interview with the fliers when they land at Floyd Bennett Field, which is expected some time today.

Additional developments in radio on pages 26-27.

NBC is reported to have paid $2,500 to Ben Smith, backer of the Merrill trans-Atlantic flights, for the rights to the broadcasts.

Mutual's indignation is understandable in that the network had broadcast the progress of the eastward flight, keeping its lines open all night in order to do so, and fully expected

Rogers and Grainger Outline "U" Program

Hollywood, May 13.—Charles R. Rogers and James R. Grainger have completed the Universal convention program and today stated that J. Cheever Cowdin, James Normanly, Richard Miller and Val Paul, in addition to themselves, would head the delegation from the studio to greet 150 delegates arriving Sunday.

Sessions will open Monday with the outlining of new season product by R. H. Cochrane, Cowdin and Rogers, with continuation of product talks by Rogers in the afternoon. Product conferences will end Tuesday and artists, producers and executives will be introduced and will speak briefly. A barbecue is scheduled for the eve-

Approval for Roxy Plan Is Recommended

Special Master in Favor Of 20th-Fox Agreement

Approval of the amended plan of reorganization for the Roxy was recommended with one minor change by Special Master Addison S. Pratt in his report filed in Federal Court yesterday. Special Master Pratt recommended payment in full for general creditors of the equity receiver of the Roxy instead of the 50 per cent proposed in the amended plan.

The report found the plan "fair and equitable." No provisions for the stockholders were made because no equity existed for them. However, 20th Century-Fox in a private agreement outside the plan has agreed to purchase Class A stock for $1.00 per share. Pratt stated "in reality the plan provides for the sale of assets to the new corporation."

The present value of the Roxy was

Biggest Ad Budget, Einfeld Tells Meet

Without mentioning specific figures, S. Charles Einfeld, director of advertising, publicity and exploitation for Warners, yesterday told convention delegates at the Waldorf-Astoria that the company plans the largest advertising budget in its history next season.

Einfeld stated it is impossible to quote a figure because every picture will be given an individual campaign. After his talk, Einfeld introduced the various men in his department, including Ed Selzer, Sid Rechetnick, Gilbert Golden, Herbert Crooker and Joe Bloom, the latter of Blaine-Thompson.

Painters Not Aided In Picketing Drive

The Brotherhood of Painters, District Council 9, New York, said yesterday that to date it has been unable to enlist the aid of any organized labor group in the metropolitan area for the picketing or boycotting of theatres in sympathy with the F. M. P. C. studio strike. The union stated that it would continue its sympathetic demonstrations here alone, but that they would necessarily be restricted to Times Square houses.

"We haven't the men to picket the rest of the city's theatres," an official of the union said candidly.

The New York painters resumed their picketing of 11 Times Square houses between 7:30 and 9:30 P. M. last night for the first time since the 90-minute picketing on Tuesday night. Police limited the picketing to two

Producers Are To Join Talks On Broadcasts

Hope to Work Out Plan For Talent on Air

Eight major companies will send representatives to the M. P. T. O. A. radio committee's meeting which is scheduled for next Tuesday at the Astor, Walter Vincent, committee chairman, said yesterday. The company representatives will comprise a producer-distributor committee for future meetings with the exhibitor committee and representatives of radio broadcasters.

Vincent said that Tuesday's meeting would endeavor to develop a mutually agreeable industry plan to submit to radio officials at a later meeting. The basic aim of the M. P. T. O. A. committee is the establishment of responsible supervision over the scripts used by stars, programs based on new pictures and the hours during which Hollywood programs are broadcast. Any plan adopted by the committee is expected to included provisions for such supervision.

"I believe that the heads of the production and distribution companies are of the same mind as we are on the matter of proper control of radio programs which use their stars or material from their pictures," Vincent said.

Samuel Pinanski of Boston, Lewen Pizor of Philadelphia and Arthur Lockwood of Middletown, Conn., are the other members of the M. P. T. O. A. radio committee.

Hays in Tribute to American Red Cross

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Will H. Hays, president of the M.P.P.D.A., paid tribute to the American Red Cross today at that organization's luncheon at the Hotel Willard here. He paid further tribute to Admiral Cary T. Grayson, executive head of the Red Cross.

"There is an interesting aspect to what I believe is the worthwhile contribution by motion pictures to the Red Cross Service," Hays said. "It is only natural that our sympathy with victims of misfortune should be in direct ratio to the distance we are from them." The work of the newsreel men under pressure in capturing "the need, the work and the results," in inspiring contributions was praised by Hays.

The Red Cross was described by Hays as "a symbol of man's humanity to man."

Hollywood, May 13.

TALES from the Hollywood Hills:

Of this world's many lost causes, consider that poised by The Noblemen's Club with its high-sounding roster, to wit: Baron Giorgio Suriani di Castelnuovo, president; Marquis Bruno Pepe dei Volpicelli, vice-president; Count Joseph Monneret de Villard, treasurer, and Baroness Catherine Henkle-Gebhardi, secretary. It has a beef, a complaint and a protest and about it this letter has gone forward to Will H. Hays, industry clearing house for protests, large, small and otherwise. . . .

The Baron Giorgio Suriani, typewriter in hand:

> "The Noblemen's Club has, in special session, unanimously voted to protest the unfairness of the film industry whenever portraying members of the Nobility [caps, not ours]. Titled persons are always depicted in films as parasites, villains, gigolos and as seeking wealthy American wives. Thus, we find that the work undertaken by this organization to correct these false impressions of Nobility [caps, not ours] generally created by titled imposters would be retarded should we further tolerate this unfavorable propaganda created through the films medium.
> "Undoubtedly, the film industry has damaged us unintentionally, but by refraining from further picturization of Nobility [caps still the Baron's] in degrading and non-authentic roles, the industry would greatly facilitate our enormous tasks. Walter Winchell made himself known at the determining meeting of the Screen Actors' Guild at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, didn't barge in and did his leaning on a doorman for the dope. "There you are. There's a scoop for you," was the doorman's closing out remark. Yet, while Winchell was on the outside, the meeting was free and clear for every newspaper man who set out to cover it on the inside. Which makes this one Hollywood yarn which won't be reported in that well known Broadway column. . . .

Mike Simmons is one of the expatriated New Yorkers who maintains his walking quota. In Beverly Hills and in less august parts, this is considered outlandish, if not peculiar and suspicious. There was a time before the residential flatfoot knew Simmons and, not knowing, stopped him. Quick identification followed, then:

"So you're one of those movie writers? Say, Norman Krasna lives down the street. Confidentially, has he got anything?" . . .

Imagine Joan Crawford or Franchot Tone or Bob Montgomery alighting from an English-drive Rolls to join the Federated Motion Picture Crafts picket line. Then knocking off around lunch time for a snack at the Victor Hugo. Would that have rounded out the Hollywood scene! . . .

The major studio which some time ago inaugurated office door designations with typewritten, rather than painted, names continues the practice. The current strike difficulties with studio painters may persuade other lots to follow suit. Besides, it is a more gracious manner of handling the mortality rate. . . .

Committees of Ampa Are Named by Rolan

Ralph Rolan, new president of the Ampa, yesterday appointed the various committees of the organization at the first meeting of the new regime, held at Sardi's, which is the new luncheon headquarters. An inscribed wrist watch was presented by Rolan to Gordon White, former president, in recognition of his efforts on behalf of the organization.

White offered an amendment to the motion to accept the financial report as read by Herbert Berg, treasurer, asking that the Ampa's auditing committee go over the financial report. The motion was approved as amended.

The committees are as follows:

Entertainment and Program—Rutgers Neilson, chairman; Leon Bamberger, Hortense Schorr, Eli Sugarman, Ruth Weisberg, Tess Michaels, Tom Waller, Arthur Jeffrey, Mort Blumenstock, Irwin Zeltner. Service Bureau—Ray Gallagher, chairman; Barret McCormick, Charles Alicoate. Publicity—Kenneth O'Brien, chairman; Francis Weil, Joseph Schorr, Mel Hyman, Jack Harrower, James Cunningham.

Membership—Ed Finney, chairman; Paul Lazarus, James Cunningham, Ralph Lund. Advisory Council—Howard Dietz, S. Charles Einfeld, Charles E. McCarthy, Rodney Bush, Paul Gulick, Ed Finney, Barret McCormick, Monroe Greenthal, William Ferguson, Robert Gillham, Al Selig, Marvin Kirsch, James Cunningham. A. J. Powers was named national counsellor of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Steedle's Death to Delay Fox Hearings

ATLANTIC CITY, May 13.—The death last night of Federal Referee Robert E. Steedle means a temporary halt in the William Fox bankruptcy litigation.

Steedle had been working under the supervision of U.S. District Judge John Boyd Avis of Camden, who appointed him to preside at hearings in the case. His death leaves Judge Avis in charge. The understanding here is that, under customary procedure, a successor will be appointed jointly by the four Federal judges of the New Jersey District.

In the meantime counsel for Fox, his wife and All-Continent Corp., and for the various creditors are expected to go on with their work of preparing arguments and evidence.

M-G-M to Make Study Of Accessory Rental

M-G-M will make a thorough study of rentals for advertising accessories before making a decision to adopt the plan, William F. Rodgers, general sales manager, stated yesterday upon his arrival from the coast. This will take months, Rodgers added.

Urge Quota on Shorts

LONDON, May 13.—The British Film Institute has sent a resolution endorsing a separate British quota on shorts, as recommended by the Moyne committee, to the Board of Trade and the Board of Education. The group expressed the opinion that the production of British documentary and educational films would be stimulated by the establishment of a separate quota.

THIS IS MY AFFAIR

THE PICTURE THE WORLD WILL BE TALKING ABOUT!

And the talk has already started! The industry's insiders are already saying that 20th Century-Fox . . . concededly today's most successful maker of great pictures . . . has delivered another, a truly momentous production. But read on, and get excited yourself! . . .

IMPORTANT DRAMA THAT AROUSES THE FULL POWER OF ITS GREAT PERSONALITIES!

Again 20th demonstrates its show shrewdness by putting Robert Taylor in a strong virile, he-man role of a young naval officer brave enough to defy disgrace... and by giving Barbara Stanwyck a part that offers full scope to her emotional fire. These real-life sweethearts respond with their most brilliant performances...in this drama of the turn of the century...with all the turbulence, color, glitter and violence of those unruly days ...and of a love proud and courageous!

Whispers from Warners

Homer Hisey, former Grand National manager in New Orleans and now a salesman at the Warner Buffalo exchange, recalls the day he left the south with the temperature at 78 and arrived in Buffalo in a blizzard. Covering Rochester, he made his home there.

Byron Adams, branch manager at Memphis, and William Ben Adams, salesman at Kansas City, are brothers. Byron is better known as "Casanova of the Corn Fields" and William Ben as the "Dust Bowl Kid." And do they like it!

Leo Blank's award in the Sears drive was in the form of a $1,500 check and a three-week ocean voyage. He will sail shortly on the Kungsholm for Sweden instead of taking a cruise.

Grad Sears was missing at the general luncheon gathering yesterday. The story goes that he was rehearsing his speech on the sales policy which he delivered in the afternoon.

Walter Brandt, Cleveland salesman, was among the missing. His wife passed away Monday night, to the sorrow of many co-workers.

"Blackie" Blackman, Oklahoma City salesman, is an expert piano player, but he hasn't had the opportunity to show his wares at the convention.

James Hill, St. Louis salesman, flew home Wednesday night when he learned of the death of his mother.

When some of the boys learned that Rud Lohrenz, Minneapolis manager, walked off with three weeks' additional salary and $1,350 in cash awards, they tried to get him into a game last night. But Lohrenz had already mailed the checks to his bank and the session was called off.

Jack Warner, who has a suite at the Ritz Towers, commuted to the Waldorf for the sessions. He says his voice is throaty after that speech Wednesday morning.

Harry M. Warner is due to return from the coast Monday after visiting his daughter, Mrs. Mervyn LeRoy.

Bryan Foy, who is making some special shots in the East for Warners, was a visitor at the convention hall yesterday afternoon.

Norman Ayer, Albany manager, discussing theatre expansion moves by the Schine circuit and Mike Kallet.

Sam Sax, Vitaphone production head, carried his arm in a sling yesterday as the result of a sprain.

Warners to Build 2 Theatres in Chicago

One of the two theatres Warners will build in Chicago will be located at 111th and Western, James A. Coston, zone manager, stated yesterday. It will seat 1,250. The other site has not yet been selected, he said.

Work has been resumed on the Rhodes, which was halted last winter due to cold weather. It is expected that this house will be ready for opening in September.

Coston will leave for Chicago after attending the Warner sales meetings at the Waldorf and a zone managers' meeting yesterday at the home office.

Individual Meetings Today

Individual meetings among district and branch managers and salesmen from each territory will be held today at Warners' home office, following the conclusion yesterday of the four-day convention at the Waldorf-Astoria. Special emphasis will be placed on the 37 "A" pictures to be released next season.

Plans English Circuit

London, May 13.—Lou Morris has revealed plans for a new circuit, to be known as British Empire Cinemas, with the individual houses named after the various British possessions.

found to be $7,211,329 less depreciation on the building and equipment. The following breakdown of the valuation was given:

Land and leasehold	$2,413,750
Building, less depreciation	4,172,994
Equipment	528,916
Cash on hand	67,576
Accounts receivable	28,091
Liabilities	7,481,592
First mortgage bonds with interest	4,852,588
Second mortgage gold notes	2,121,175
General creditors of the equity receiver	38,026
Administration expenses of the receiver	16,030
U. S. Internal Revenue	7,969
N. Y. State Tax Commission	2,595
Claims filed with the trustee including personal injury claims which are expected to be substantially reduced	227,799
Receiver certificates	125,000
Trustee accounts payable	90,408

The recommendation for 100 per cent payment for general creditors of the equity receiver did not include the $16,454 claim of 20th Century-Fox which has agreed to accept 50 per cent.

The report pointed out that no evidence of the value of the name Roxy was presented but that the special master considered it of some value. Pratt recommended payment in cash of $5.95 for each $1,000 first mortgage bond and $23.79 for each $1,000 second mortgage gold note in addition to the provision made in the plan.

The report will go to Federal Court Judge Francis G. Caffey for a final hearing which is expected to be held on May 21.

Levi was operated on a week ago and failed to rally. He was with Loew's for 32 years, starting as a doorman and working his way up to the post he held at the time of his death. Definite arrangements for the funeral Monday are being completed.

Await Mrs. Friedlander

Funeral arrangements for the late Al Friedlander awaited the arrived of his widow yesterday from the coast by plane.

U. A. Group Leaves For Coast Meeting

Tomorrow Alexander Korda, head of London Films, and Basil Bleck, legal adviser for London Films, will leave on an early plane. On a later plane will be Douglas Fairbanks.

"Old Soak" on Dual Frisco's Lead, $7,200

San Francisco, May 13. — In a week marked by general slackening of business "Good Old Soak," on a dual with "Doctor's Diary," garnered $7,200, over par by $1,200, at the St. Francis for the best comparative showing in town.

"Call It a Day" and "Midnight Taxi" pulled $14,400 at the Warfield. This was $1,400 up. The only other attractions to get into the profit column were "Wake Up and Live" and "Song of the City," in a second week at the Fox, and "Hit Parade" and "That I May Live" at the Paramount.

"Wake Up" on Dual $11,500 at Omaha

Omaha, May 13.—"Wake Up and Live," with "Song of the City," set the pace here last week, grossing $11,500, or $4,300 better than average, at the Orpheum. This is one of the best straight picture bill grosses this theatre has ever had.

"Lost Horizon," playing the Brandeis as a two-a-day roadshow, went to $6,500, or $2,500 over normal.

Backed by a big publicity splash in the local press, "Call it a Day" and "Way Out West" rang the Omaha's bell for $8,100, or $5,500 over average.

Total first run business was: $26,100. Average is $16,700.

A Censor Slip

New Orleans, May 13.—The secret of why the Louisiana film censors have been inactive since their appointment is out. The late Senator Long rushed the censorship bill through the Louisiana legislature at a special session, and in order to make sure that nothing would happen to it had the late Gov. O. K. Allen affix his signature at 1 P. M. For some reason the Governor forgot to sign the commissions.

"Wake Up" Is Twin Cities' Best Grosser

Minneapolis, May 13.—"Wake Up And Live" took first place in the moneymaking class in a dull week with a gross of $12,000 at the Minnesota where par is $10,000. It was held over at the Century.

"Call It a Day," at the Century, was the only other picture in the two towns to top average. It brought in $500 more than an average $3,500. After weeks of dismal weather, the sun broke through and a rainless week made grosses tumble to the lowest figures in months.

Total first run business in Minneapolis was $24,600. Average is $27,000. Total first run business in St. Paul was $10,200. Average is $14,500.

men to a theatre. There was no apparent effect at the box-office. At union headquarters it was stated that if it is decided to continue the picketing it will occur only during the peak evening attendance hours.

No Detroit Picketing

Detroit, May 13.—Although Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, C. I. O. affiliate, yesterday declared that picketing of 11 Detroit houses would begin at 10:30 A. M. today, in support of the coast strike, no pickets were at any of the houses scheduled. Martin was out of the city and his office refused comment on the failure of the pickets to appear.

Hits Guild Settlement

Seattle, May 13.—Hollywood film players were urged to "refrain from appearing on the job" or in any other way helping break the strike of other film workers, by the International Longshoremen's Pacific Coast convention now in session here.

The convention unanimously approved the sending of a message to Robert Montgomery, president of the Screen Actors' Guild, declaring that the guild action in refusing to strike was "another attempt of your employers to split the program of unified union action."

Seattle Union Elects

Seattle, May 13.—The first meeting of the newly-organized union of Film Row employes, including shippers, poster clerks and inspectresses, resulted in the election of the following officers: Phil Haberl, president; Dutch Trammel, vice-president; Edward Briggs, business manager; Ilda Ewing, secretary and treasurer; Mort Endert, sergeant-at-arms; George DeWaite and Maude Richards, trustees.

No Omaha Picketing

Omaha, May 13.—Mace Brown, secretary of the local I.A.T.S.E. union and president of the Omaha Central Labor Union, today said there is little likelihood that he will order picketing of theatres here as a result of the Hollywood strike.

Tri-States Changes Policy in Theatres

Grand Island, Neb., May 13.—Policies for Tri-States Theatre Corp. houses here have been revised with the opening of the 800-seat Grand, in which Tri-States has a partnership interest with Harry Schiller.

Prices for the Grand will be 35 cents evenings, 25 cents matinees. The Capitol, formerly priced at 25 and 35 cents the first three days and 25 cents straight the last four, goes to 15 cents for matinees and 25 cents evenings.

Majestic prices now are 15 cents straight. Formerly they were 15 cents matinees; 20 cents evenings. The Grand and Capitol will change thrice weekly, having single features the first three and last two days, and double features the middle two. The Capitol formerly changed twice weekly. The Majestic, which formerly changed twice and had double features, now will play three double bills weekly. All three houses have Bank Nights Friday and Saturday.

"Fifty Roads" Kansas City's Top, $14,500

Kansas Cijy, May 13. — "Fifty Roads to Town" gave the Fox Tower the biggest week in its history, $14,500, or $7,500 over the line.

"Wake Up and Live," in its second week at the Uptown, took $4,400, over average by $400.

Other first runs felt the weather and failed to make the grade. "Romeo and Juliet" was too rich fare for the hoi polloi and fell $2,800 under to $8,700 at the Midland.

Outside competition was light.

Total first run business was $40,100. Average is $37,500.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending May 6:

"THE WOMAN I LOVE" (RKO)
MAINSTREET—(3,100), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $7,300. (Average, $8,000)

ning at the Uplifters Ranch, Santa Monica, as guests of Hope Hampton.

Grainger will outline the sales policy for 1937-'38 on Wednesday morning and sales executives will address the delegates. This will be the final session for the sales force. A visit to the Universal studios is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, with a dinner-dance at the Trocadero in the evening.

Grainger will hold a special meeting with home office sales executives and district and branch managers Thursday morning. Delegates will depart Thursday night.

Chicago Greets Delegates

Chicago, May 13.—Universal's eastern delegation to the sales convention opening Monday at the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles, arrived here this afternoon for a stopover. R. H. and P. D. Cochrane, company executives, went immediately to the bedside of Witt K. Cochrane, a brother, who is ill.

Universal's local sales staff was on hand to greet the delegates, with a banner and all the trimmings, including Universal Newsreel cameramen. The group, numbering 88, resumed their trip to the coast tonight.

Loew Dates "Star Born"

Playing dates on the Loew Metropolitan circuit for "A Star Is Born" will be greater in number than for any United Artists release in recent years, it was stated yesterday. The picture has just finished a three-week run at the Music Hall. It will open May 20 at Loew's Metropolitan and the circuit's houses in Newark and Jersey City.

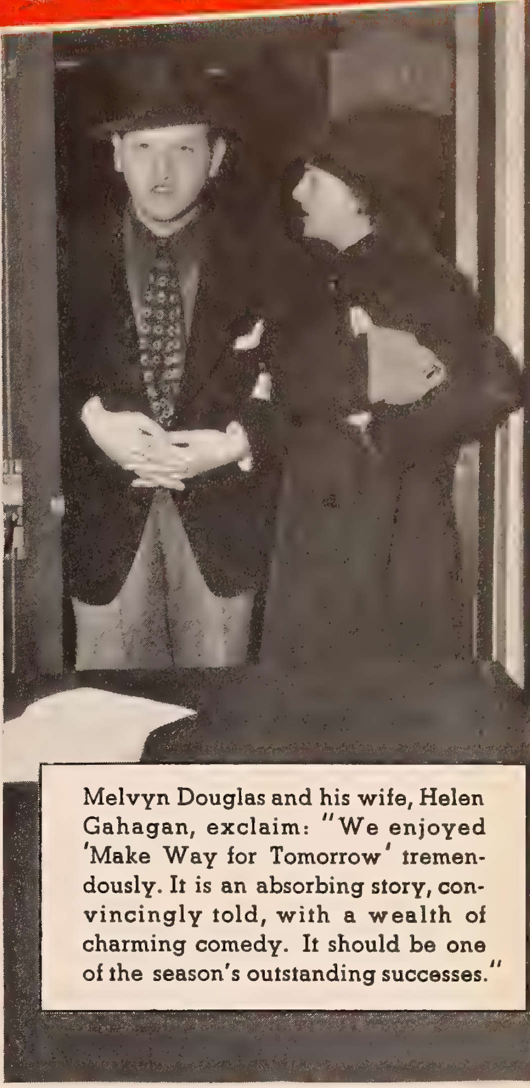
HOLLYWOOD AUDIENCE HANDS OUT LAURELS!

Myrna Loy, attending preview, says: "'Make Way for Tomorrow' is a joyous, touching and at times tragic chapter from the end of life's book. Beautifully acted and directed."

Adolphe Menjou and Mrs. Menjou (Verree Teasdale), after Hollywood showing say: "We think 'Make Way for Tomorrow' one of the most honest, sincere pictures we have ever seen. Congratulations Victor Moore! Congratulations Beulah Bondi!"



Melvyn Douglas and his wife, Helen Gahagan, exclaim: "We enjoyed 'Make Way for Tomorrow' tremendously. It is an absorbing story, convincingly told, with a wealth of charming comedy. It should be one of the season's outstanding successes."

"Another 'Over the Hill' . . . 'Stella Dallas'."
—Los Angeles Times.

"Exquisite comedy...will keep audiences happily balanced between smiles and tears."
—Hollywood Reporter.

"90 minutes of the most soul-stirring drama the screen has seen in a long while!" —Daily Variety.

"Heart-tugging drama . . . so human that it hurts." —Los Angeles Daily News.

FRANKLY, we don't know how to tell you about the picture which is coming to our theatre Saturday. If we had the job of describing Beethoven's Ninth Symphony or any other great emotional experience in this amount of space, we'd be equally at a loss. TIME MAGAZINE PRAISES:

"'Turn Off the Moon,' first effort of cinema's only woman producer, Mrs. Fanchon Simon, was not planned in the grand manner. By all the gauges Hollywood uses to measure a picture's importance, such as cast names, expensive sets, and the fame of writers and directors, it should have remained merely a modest little musical for double bills. By a rare cinematic accident, it successfully refutes its sales bracket. Its gags and tunes are good, its patter fast. Above all it has the unprefigured value which is generated in a musical when most of the participants are young enough to enjoy their opportunities with relish, and the proceedings are not grave enough to numb them with anxiety concerning the results."

DAILY VARIETY RAVES:

"With an excellent farce comedy basis in the story idea, a cast which is on its toes every moment, capital direction and smart exploitation of its production resources, 'Turn Off the Moon' has been fashioned into top-notch entertainment of widespread appeal."

Paramount crashes through with a big all-star swing show that's going to bang right into the money class. Watch the audience re-action to the trailor and you'll see that "Turn Off the Moon" has what it takes.

FILM DAILY APPLAUDS:

"Enjoyable musical show with a grand group of entertainers. Should do well at box-office."

was amended to make its effective date two years following enactment. Originally, and in the form in which it was enacted in North Dakota, the effective date is one year after enactment. The house vote on the measure was about 10 to one.

Four circuits with theatre properties in the state would be affected by the measure if enacted: They are National Theatres (Fox Midwest), Paramount, Warners and RKO.

Labor Control Bill Up in Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 13.—Under the terms of a proposed "Little Wagner Act" now pending before the legislature here, theatre employers would be required to enter into collective bargaining with their employes.

The Philadelphia Exhibitor today re- the Federal Wagner Act, would set up a state Labor Relations Board which would hold hearings designed to establish fair wage scales, prescribe working hours and pass on working conditions in all lines of business, including theatres.

The Philadelphia exhibitor today reported that Senators Dent and Steifel have introduced in the Senate three bills, the first to prevent "blind booking," the second to eliminate compulsory block booking and the third to prohibit preferred playing time.

Plan Sunday Film Vote

ROME, Ga., May 13.—After hearing protests from local ministers, the Rome City Commission decided that a straw vote should be taken to determine public sentiment in regard to Sunday films, which have been operating here for the last two weeks under the provision that the profits go to charity.

Looking 'Em Over

"Guns in the Dark"

(Republic)

Johnny Mack Brown again delivers what the western clientele demands. The picture has its quota of gun fights, fisticuffs, hard riding and romance. The elements are effectively blended with a suitable story.

Brown is made to believe he has killed his pal in a Mexican cafe brawl. He vows never to pack a gun. Shortly after he buries his friend he meets Claire Rochelle and aids her in solving her troubles. This interest on his part leads him to uncover Ted Adams' skullduggery. The story from that point builds up to the kidnapping of Miss Rochelle by Adams. Brown is suspected. He clears himself after a spectacular fight with Adams and his cohorts. But Adams gets away and following a thrilling chase the film closes with the culprits in the hands of the law. Brown is vindicated of his pal's death and there follows the romantic fadeout.

Production Code Seal No. 3,119. Running time, 56 minutes. "G."

"Captains Courageous," which opened at the Astor on Tuesday night, was reviewed by wire from Hollywood on March 25.

"They Gave Him a Gun," opening yesterday at the Capitol, was previewed by wire from Hollywood on May 5.

"Shall We Dance?" previewed by wire from Hollywood on April 28, was yesterday's opener at the Radio City Music Hall.

"Internes Can't Take Money" at the Paramount, "The Prince and the Pauper" at the Strand, "Cafe Metropole" at the Rivoli are holdovers.

and Tuesday, and a final session set for Wednesday morning. Other Grand National pictures will be screened on Monday evening and Wednesday afternoon, while a banquet will be held on Tuesday evening on Stage 3 at the studio, with Conrad Nagel as master of ceremonies. At the final business session on Wednesday sales quotas for the various branches will be revealed.

Form Richards-Lightman

WILMINGTON, May 13.—Richards-Lightman Theatres Corp. has been formed at Dover. Capital is listed at $130,000 and 206 shares of no par value stock. Incorporators are L. H. Herman, B. R. Jones and J. P. Murray of this city.

It was assumed in New York that the Richards-Lightman Theatres Corp. is being formed to take over theatre properties in Mississippi and Arkansas in which E. V. Richards of New Orleans and M. A. Lightman of Memphis have joint interests. However, at Paramount, with which both Richards and Lightman are associated, no official information on the new company was available.

Holdovers for "Dance"

"Shall We Dance," the new Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musical, is getting extra playing time in 50 cities, RKO Radio reported yesterday. The picture opened at the Music Hall to brisk business yesterday.

Two G. B. Films Booked

RKO's metropolitan theatres have booked "You're in the Army Now" for the week of May 30. "Talk of the Devil" will open today at the Roxy. Both are G. B. films.

G. B. Experimenting On "Duosonic" Sound

Technicians at the G. B. laboratories in England have developed a new sound mechanism, known as "duosonic," which is now being installed in theatres in the United Kingdom, according to the company's local office. The device, it is said, enables the actor to "spray" sound to every part of the theatre, thereby eliminating blind spots.

Engineers are continuing experiments with color and sound with progress reported, according to G. B.

Postpone Fox Action

Trial of the $1,250,000 damage suit of the Lexington Ave. and 59th St. Corp. against William Fox was postponed yesterday by N. Y. Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente to Oct. 4 to allow the plaintiff to adjust its claim with Fox's receiver in bankruptcy.

The Fox Theatres Corp. and Milton C. Weisman, as receiver, who were also named as defendants, settled the claims against them on March 31 The action asks damages for alleged breach of an agreement to build a theatre on property owned by the plaintiff.

Orders Hoffman Examination

M. Henry Hoffman was ordered yesterday by N. Y. Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman to submit to a further examination before trial in the $125,000 damage suit brought against him, Liberty Pictures and Consolidated Film Industries by Eleanor Gates, author. Miss Gates claims that Liberty's picture, "Once to Every Bachelor," carried a subtitle stating without authority that it was based upon her story, "The Search for Spring" and that advertising for the picture featured her name prominently.

Photophone's Gain Is Cited by Hartley

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—A 35 per cent increase in the number of high fidelity sound equipments installed in theatres during the first four months of this year, was reported today to the delegates at the opening session of the sales convention of RCA Photophone at the Lincoln Hotel here by Edwin M. Hartley, sales head.

Over 300 back orders are awaiting shipment, despite day and night operation at the company's new plant here. The movement for replacement of outmoded equipment was seen by Hartley as indicative of better business in theatres.

Photophone's foreign business also has shown substantial gains, Hartley said, particularly in England and South and Central America. He estimated that for the rest of the year the company's business will show a better gain than the 35 per cent recorded for the first four months. There is every indication, Hartley said, that the plant here will be caught up on back orders in the near future.

Herbert Griffin, vice-president of the International Projetctor Corp., in an address described the efforts of sound engineers to improve existing devices.

The convention will continue tomorrow at the manufacturing plant here and will be followed by a demonstration of new high fidelity recording with RCA's push-pull and ultraviolet light methods. Frank Cahill, sound supervisor of Warners, and Harry Brandt, president of the International Theatre Owners Ass'n, will speak at a banquet Friday night that concludes the sessions.

The program originates in the cemetery's chapel. Visitors are invited to attend the broadcasts.

Lends Helping Hand

"It won't be news to you to have a radio editor applaud the new radio pages of Motion Picture Daily, but first let me say that, in this day when the presses are grinding out news and views of radioland too fast for a radio editor to get time to do the proper amount of listening and writing himself if he attempts to follow everything everyone else has written about radio, it is indeed a relief to be able to turn to your magazine with the assurance that it will offer a concise report of all the real radio news.

"Radio editors looking for a helping hand in following the current news of the trade can get it through your pages without wading through the usual irrelevant chit-chat and gossip with which too many radio publications are preoccupied." — Dorothy Mattison, radio editor, Worcester (Mass.) Telegram and Gazette and Sunday Washington (D. Nat Brusiloff's orchestra will supply the musical numbers.

Pannill Is Awarded Honor from Belgium

Charles J. Pannill, president of the Radiomarine Corp., received the medal of Chevalier de l'Ordre de Leopold, awarded by the King of Belgium, in an informal ceremony in the RCA Bldg. yesterday. The decoration was presented by Henry Mali, Belgian consul.

The award was made in recognition of Pannill's activities in the promotion of radio communications at sea. A number of RCA directors and department heads were present at the ceremony.

NBC Artists' Head Starts Night Talks

First of a series of monthly night sessions for the NBC artists service was held yesterday, with Daniel Tuthill presiding. As a result of the meeting, the department immediately will begin a concentrated drive to obtain sponsors for Terry Franconi, Jean Sablon, Larry Burke, Carol Weyman, Patricia Ryan and the "Three Marshalls," all vocalists.

The night huddles are in addition to the regular Wednesday morning sales meetings.

Mackay Protests FCC Decision on Circuit

WASHINGTON, May 13. — The Mackay Radio and Telegraph Co. today protested the decision of the F.C.C. denying the company's application for a circuit for radio-telegraph communication between Mackay radio in the U. S. and Norway, by filing an appeal with the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Clarence H. Mackay, in discussing the ruling, said he could not understand how the F.C.C. could take such action, and stated he would fight the case through the highest court.

"The fundamental issue is whether there shall be monopoly or competition in public service radio-telegraph communication," Mackay declared.

to broadcast the accounting of the return hop.

A spokesman at Mutual who preferred to be kept nameless stated he considered NBC's action unsportsmanlike, in view of Mutual's action in covering the first half of the flight. He also spoke scathingly of Smith, who, he said, accepted NBC's offer without acquainting Mutual with news of it.

NBC, it is understood, had planned to insert messages from the plane in the Maxwell House "Showboat" program Thursday evening. This plan, of course, was changed by the postponement of the return trip. It is now planned to feature the flyers' messages in the Cities Service Concert tonight.

Meanwhile, Mutual has made arrangements with Eastern Airlines to broadcast bulletins from the plane as they are received at the Newark airport.

Merrill En Route Without Films

SOUTHPORT, ENGLAND, May 13.—The plans of Dick Merrill and Harold Lambie to fly Coronation newsreels to the United States received a setback today when a film company did not supply the prints. It was understood prior to their departure from the United States that they had an agreement with Hearst, but this proved not to be the case.

The pair took off today with stills. They are due in New York late Friday. They missed by only five minutes the necessary authorization for release of the actual films.

To Dramatize Flood Relief

CINCINNATI, May 11.—One of the features of the annual Red Cross convention at Washington this week will be a sketch, "When Disaster Comes," on the stage of Constitution Hall, at the close of the first session. Scenes of how the WLW newsroom operated during the January flood will be reenacted and dramatized by members of the WLW staff, which includes Peter Grant, chief announcer; Paul Sullivan, newscaster, and Bob Kennett, engineer, in charge of the mobile unit during the catastrophe.

Noxzema Gets "Hollywood News"

"Hollywood News" is the title of a new program starting today on WABC, New York, and WCAU, Philadelphia, under the sponsorship of the Noxzema Chemical Co. It will be broadcast Mondays and Fridays thereafter from 7:30 to 7:45 P. M., E. D. S. T. Ruthrauff & Ryan is the agency.

Television Clear

London, May 13.—Television pictures of the Coronation are reported to be clear, but not brilliant because of the dull weather yesterday.

All television dealers are loudly acclaiming a television triumph for the pictures.

BUT DID YOU KNOW THAT—

There are 95,500,000 family-hours of radio listening taking place each day in the United States.

Between January, 1936 and January, 1937, 1,631,000 more U. S. families joined the radio audience. (And over 1,500,000 new home radios have been bought by new and old listeners since the first day of 1937.)

Radios "on the road" will pass the 5,000,000 mark this summer; automobile radio sets have more than tripled their number since July, 1934.

People high UP the income scale have much the same listening habits as everybody else. See "RADIO IN 1937" for the exact data by incomes.*

*These facts are from "RADIO IN 1937", a new audience study, just issued by Columbia. It has already been called "required reading" for all executives who use or may use radio. The book carries complete credentials for (and checks on) the reliability of the figures above—as well as on all the other data in its 56 pages, which cover the radio homes in all U. S. communities of 2,500 population and over.

G. N's. Coast Session Gets Going Sunday

Lunch, Tour, Screening On Day's Schedule

Los Angeles, May 14.—With the field forces due Sunday, Edward J. Peskay, general sales manager, has completed the program for the four-day Grand National convention at the Ambassador here.

Following the arrival of the men Sunday, luncheon will be served in the Moderne Room. A tour of Hollywood, Beverly Hills and surrounding beaches will follow and in the evening there will be a screening of "The Girl Said No" and "Sing, Cowboy, Sing."

On Monday, Peskay will call the first business meeting to order at 9 A. M. in the Moderne Room of the hotel. Recess for lunch will be called at 12:30 P. M. and the men will reconvene an hour later until 6:30, when a formal dinner is scheduled. This will be followed by a preview of "Small Town Boy" at the Grand National studio theatre.

On Tuesday, the morning session will be called to order at 9 A. M. in the same room as before. In the afternoon Peskay will discuss the product lineup of 65 features for next season. At 8 P. M. production

"Prince and Pauper" At $38,000 1st Week

"The Prince and the Pauper" garnered $38,000 in the first week at the Strand. This is regarded as good business, considering the fair takes along Broadway.

The third week of "A Star Is Born" at the Music Hall wound up with $81,000. The Capitol tallied about $12,800 on "Call It A Day." For the third week of "Wake Up and Live," the Roxy took in $35,500.

NBC Centers Coast Heads at Hollywood

Los Angeles, May 14.—Hollywood will be the chief executive headquarters for NBC, it has been announced here by Don Gilman, vice-president in charge of west coast operations. The shift in bases will take place next week.

Gilman stated the network would not acquire a new NBC site here

Merrill Lands Minus Reels And Editors Breathe Again

When Henry T. (Dick) Merrill and Jack Lambie came down out of the fog at Floyd Bennett Field yesterday afternoon there were a lot of nervous newsreel editors and assistant editors around New York. They had an agreement among themselves that there were to be no newsreel films on the plane, BUT—

Competition is competition. Gentlemen's agreements are gentlemen's agreements, and all that. In spite of the high prices charged for every camera location along the Coronation procession route it was just possible a free lance cameraman had grabbed off enough footage to make things exciting, and also it was just possible that Merrill had some of this footage on board. Things like that have happened.

The only films Merrill had, it developed, were stills for I. N. S., and the reports last night indicated that Times Wide World and the A. P. were—to put it mildly—burned up.

Weeks before the Coronation reports were current that Movietonews had made a deal with Captain Mollison to fly film over. About that time Ben F. Smith burst into the situation with the statement that he had Merrill and Lambie under contract to fly a twin-motored Lockheed Vega plane with space enough for film. He named a figure generally understood to be $30,000.

All the editors conferred and agreed this was too much. They also agreed that it would be unwise to have the industry saddled with the responsibility for the loss of a pilot's life. The agreement was unanimous, but it was

All 20th-Fox Units To Attend Sessions

Every branch of the 20th Century-Fox organization will be represented at the annual sales meetings which get under way at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, starting May 30.

Sidney R. Kent, president; John D. Clark, general sales manager, and Charles E. McCarthy, publicity and advertising head, leave Monday for Hollywood to begin pre-convention talks with Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board; Darryl F. Zanuck, production head, and Harry Brand, studio publicity chief.

Arriving Tuesday from Europe will be Stanley S. Crick, Australian sales head; R. Sutton Dawes, British sales director; T. Isdahl, manager in Norway; A. Paucker, manager in Roumania, and Luigi Giordana, sales head in Egypt. In addition the foreign department will be represented at the sales sessions by Charles Munro, managing director of Hoyts, Australia; Gus Mohme, in charge of Mexico; W. W. Sullivan, Central American

Allied Sees Over 250 at Milwaukee

Washington, May 14.—More than 250 exhibitors from Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey and this state will attend the Allied convention at the Pfister Hotel in Milwaukee, May 26-28.

More than 100 from Wisconsin have pledged their support, it was stated at the Allied headquarters here. About 50 are expected from Illinois, 25 from Minnesota, 20 from Indiana, 20 from Michigan and 15 from New Jersey.

The following directors are scheduled to attend a board meeting on the first day of the convention: Abram F. Myers, chairman; Nathan Yamins, president; J. B. Fishman, Herman A. Blum, Lee W. Newbury, C. H. Olive, Fred J. Herrington, Aaron Saperstein, P. J. Wood, E. F. Maertz, Fred DeLodder, R. R. Blair, E. L. Peaslee, Frank Wetzstein, John Griffin, Harry A. Cole, Henry Lazarus and H. Waters. Each director will bring a limited number of consultants and observers.

Warner Men Starting For Home After Meet

Warner delegates began checking out of the Waldorf-Astoria last night following a series of individual meetings between branch and district managers and salesmen. A number of the men will leave today and tomorrow.

Theatre zone heads, after attending some of the sales sessions and a meeting on operations at Joseph Bernhard's office, left yesterday for their various territories.

FMPC Strike Seen Dying as Groups Return

Actors' Guild, Producers Also Near Peace

Hollywood, May 14.—The backbone of the strike instituted by the Federated M. P. Crafts bore all the earmarks of being completely broken today when it was learned that the machinists, who settled their differences with the producers late last night, had returned to their studio jobs in sizeable numbers today and that both draughtsmen and costumers likewise were understood to have resumed their old posts as well. Indications are that the culinary workers will be the next group to call quits. This would leave but a mere shell of the F. M. P. C. remaining.

Progress was reported today on the drafting of the Screen Actors' Guild contracts with the producers. Lawyers for both sides are tussling over the phraseology of the documents and there is no indication apparent at the moment of when the pacts will be completed. However, there seems to be little doubt here that the agreement reached last Sunday night between the producers and the Guild will be consummated by the present discussions.

Showers Interrupt Picketing Locally

Spring showers interrupted the picketing last night of Times Square houses by the Brotherhood of Painters, District 9, in sympathy with the F.M.P.C. strike in Hollywood. Queried during the day as to whether the picketing would be resumed, a painters' union official said, "It looks like the weather would interfere. We can't ask the boys to go out if it's raining tonight."

It was still raining during the 7:30 to 9:30 picketing hours which the "boys" observe. Picketing of the Times Square houses occurred on Tuesday and Thursday night for a total of less than three hours. Rain

Coast Plans Dinner For Weber & Fields

Hollywood, May 14.—Joe Weber and Lew Fields—the old-time comedy team of Weber & Fields—will be tendered a dinner at the Trocadero here on Monday evening. George Jessel will be toastmaster, Al Jolson the master of ceremonies and the guest entertainers will include Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, George Burns, Amos 'n' Andy, Sophie Tucker, Ray Bolger, the Yacht Club Boys and Buck and Bubbles.

The executive committee in charge of arrangements comprises Louis B. Mayer, Joseph M. Schenck, Adolph Zukor, Sam H. Harris, Douglas Fairbanks, Max Gordon and Al Woods.

House Closed; Re-leased

New Orleans, May 14.—The Newman interests, operators of the Strand here, closed the house without prior notice last night on account of poor business after a run of six months.

Three hours after closing the house was leased by the Joy Houck circuit, the officials of which stated that reopening would take place today with a 10-cent admission for a double feature show of first run westerns. The reopening today aroused little enthusiasm.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 14.

THE bankers of the nation are in a panic over the national epidemic of stickups. The Government's law and order forces admit they are at their wits' end. The President steps in quietly and names his own emissary to track the gang to its lair.

It all happens in the allotted footage, but not before there are thrills and suspense and love interest to round out the proper and usual melodramatic formula.

"This Is My Affair" could be dismissed as briefly as this, yet it has much more. As modern as any member of the gangster cycle, the background and treatment given to that background supply considerable difference. . . .

It is at the turn of the century; the President is William McKinley and the Vice-President is Theodore Roosevelt. The emissary, who ultimately discovers that the man behind the crime wave is a bank examiner of the United States, is a young naval officer played by Robert Taylor. The love interest is Barbara Stanwyck and two front men for the criminal de luxe are Victor McLaglen and Brian Donlevy. Here was a chance for a colorful and nostalgic incident and the story and screenplay by Allan Rivkin and Lamar Trotti went to it with a bang, with full play to a line of girls in Watson beef trust manner, huge schooners of beer and handle bar mustaches. . . .

Very astute is the major suspense construction wherein Taylor, who is deliberately arrested as one of the safe crackers, eventually discovers from McLaglen who the higher up is and then finds his own life endangered because of the assassination of McKinley. There is a nick of time finish aided by Miss Stanwyck.

Taylor does a very good job as the hero and Miss Stanwyck is a satisfactory foil, although we wish Darryl F. Zanuck would take her for a walk and explain she is not necessarily embarking upon heavy dramatic acting when she persists in sending her voice into yells. . . .

McLaglen is his rough and ready self and Donlevy is forceful and effective as the operating head of the gang. There is Frank Conroy quietly interesting as McKinley and Sidney Blackmer noisily persistent as Roosevelt. A swell cast takes this out of the ordinary gangster yarn classification. Directed by William A. Seiter, it is a rousing and commercial melodrama well poised for substantial box-office by 20th Century-Fox. . . .

Newsreels Increase Coronation Footage

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 14.—As a result of the protests in the press over the short length of the newsreel sequences on the Coronation here, Movietonews today promised a sequence running 45 minutes by the middle of next week.

Movietone also will show 1,000 feet in Technicolor tomorrow, and plans to release a color sequence on the ceremony in the United States which will run for about 30 minutes.

Paramount is rushing preparations for a long trade-showing of the reel tomorrow. Laboratories here are swamped by demands for prints. The enormous public interest in the reels is indicated by the fact that newsreel theatres showing the Coronation sequences were crowded until 5 A. M. today.

U. A. Meeting Monday

Hollywood, May 14.—The United Artists' stockholders' meeting, scheduled for Monday here, will concern only routine matters, Dr. A. H. Giannini, president, stated today.

Alexander Korda, Douglas Fairbanks and George J. Schaefer are expected to arrive from New York on Sunday.

manager, who will preside at the convention; J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the board; J. P. Normanly, general business manager; Robert W. Allison, comptroller, and a delegation of studio executives.

The southern sales contingent, including delegates from Atlanta, Dallas and New Orleans, will arrive early Saturday, while Canadian, Portland and Seattle delegates are due Saturday night.

The first session of the convention will open Monday morning at 9:30 at the Ambassador.

Complete RKO Meet Plan

Convention plans for RKO, which will be held at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, June 16-20, have been completed, A. A. Schubart, exchange operations head, stated yesterday upon his arrival from Hollywood. He stopped over at Memphis en route east.

Friedlander Rites Set

Funeral services for the late Al Friedlander will be held tomorrow at 7:30 P. M. at Flatbush Memorial Chapel, Brooklyn. Many of his friends and associates will attend.

Circuits Not to Aid Dunnigan Bill Fight

Major circuits have declined to join with legitimate theatre forces in opposing the signing by Governor Lehman of the Dunnigan bill, which was passed by the legislature and provides for the revocation of a theatre's license without a court trial on the submission of proof to the license commissioner that an indecent performance has been given. Any theatre having a stage show could be included under the provisions of the bill.

Legitimate theatre organizations have asked Governor Lehman for a public hearing on the bill before it is signed. They contend that it would set up a one man censorship of all stage productions in New York.

Sirovich Bill Seeks Repeal of Stage Tax

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, May 14.—Partial repeal of the admission tax was sought today by Representative Sirovich of New York in a bill introduced in Congress which would lift the tax so far as the legitimate stage is concerned.

The bill provided specifically that the repeal should not apply to films, radio, television, stock or vaudeville performances.

In introducing the measure, Representative Sirovich explained that "the legitimate theatre is being ruined on account of the tax on theatre tickets and it is hoped by this legislation to help the legitimate speaking stage."

File Divorce Bill in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—A theatre "divorce" bill similar to those sponsored in other states by Allied States Ass'n was filed in the Illinois legislature here today by Rep. Schaeffer O'Neill of Alton. The measure was referred to the Committee on License and miscellany.

Producers-distributors having theatre interests in Illinois are Paramount, Warners, RKO and National (Fox).

Suggest Phila. Admission Tax

Philadelphia, May 14.—A measure which calls for a tax on each 25 cents of admission price to places of amusement is being considered by the City Council here. The measure, which was introduced by Dr. Arthur P. Keegan, councilman, would replace the state tax which will expire June 1. Keegan estimates that the new levy should yield $5,000,000 yearly.

If Keegan's proposal becomes law it will probably supercede the idea advanced two weeks ago for a city footage tax on film shown by local exhibitors.

Games Ban Extended

Philadelphia, May 14.—Ray Kaplan, chief of detectives of Delaware County today rescinded his order outlawing Bank Night and Bingo. Following conferences with exhibitors he suspended his order until Judge McDevitt hands down a decision on a case now pending here. He will be guided by the court's ruling.

Sunday Shows Defeated

Monticello, Fla., May 14.—The citizens of this county seat of Jefferson County, in a special referendum voted 173 against Sunday films and 165 for the proposal.

executives will tender the delegates a banquet on Stage No. 3 of the Grand National studio with the company's stars, producers and directors present. Conrad Nagel will be master of ceremonies.

On Wednesday morning there will be a recapitulation of the selling program and an announcement of sales quotas. This is to be followed by winners of the recent sales drive and the promotion of several leaders. An inspection of the Grand National studio is scheduled for the afternoon, to be followed by a screening at the studio theatre of takes from new pictures in work.

The first release on the 1937-38 program will be "The Shadow." It is the first of a series of stories to be based on the magazine and radio character.

Bernadene Hayes, who appeared with Wayne King and his band, will appear in "Sweetheart of the Navy" in support of Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker. This will be her second picture, the first having been "Great Guy."

Assets of Olympia Transferred June 4

Boston, May 14.—The five-year old receivership of Olympia Theatres will be wound up here on June 4, the date set by the court for the formal transfer of the company's assets to New England Theatres, headed by Martin Mullin and Samuel Pinanski.

New England's bid of $4,000,000 cash for the Olympia assets, consisting of 30 leaseholds and fee properties, was accepted by Olympia creditors and approved by the court several weeks ago.

Redmond Wins Action

Jack Redmond, golfer, yesterday was granted a permanent injunction and a six-cent verdict against Columbia by Justice Ferdinand Pecora in N. Y. Supreme Court after a two-day trial. Redmond claimed a violation of the civil rights law because a series of shots for which he posed for the Fox Movietone News was included in the short "Golfing Rhythm," produced by Columbia.

Court Permits Borrowing

The International Mutoscope Reel Co., now in reorganization, yesterday was permitted by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey to borrow $7,000 from the Linde Factors Corp. for the purpose of paying a 10 per cent dividend due their creditors today. A chattel mortgage on machinery and fixtures is to be given to the factors as security.

campaign failed to halt the start of eight new films during the week as six finished and went to the cutting rooms. A total of 39 features were in production which was up two over the preceding week. Sixteen features will go before cameras within the next two weeks, according to studio schedules, while a total of 71 are now being edited.

Short subject production was quiet in all majors, although four were in preparation and 13 cutting.

The new pictures starting during the week were "General Hospital" at M-G-M, "Meet the Boy Friend" and "Range of Defenders" at Republic, "Take the Heir" at RKO, "Lancer Spy" and "Thin Ice" at 20th Century-Fox," "Reported Missing" at Universal and "First Lady" at Warners. Paramount still led for heavy production with seven in work. Warners and M-G-M were second with six each.

Columbia had two features shooting, two preparing and seven editing. Samuel Goldwyn had three, zero and zero; M-G-M, six, one and three; Paramount, seven, four and 10; Republic, two, one and five; RKO, three, two and six; Roach, one, zero and two; Selznick International, one, zero and zero; 20th Century-Fox, four, four and eight; Universal, three, one and two; Walter Wanger, one, zero and zero; Warners, six, one and 28.

In the short subject division Columbia had two preparing and four cutting. M-G-M had one and three; RKO, one and four; Roach, zero and one; Warners, zero and one.

Promotion Talk Ends Photophone Meeting

Indianapolis, May 14.—The new season's sales promotion and advertising plans for RCA Photophone were outlined today at the final business session of the company's sales convention at the Hotel Lincoln here. The delegates also visited RCA Photophone's new plant here and heard technical discussions of the mechanical features of the RCA high fidelity sound head, conducted by Max Batsel and Carl Reifsteck of the engineering executive staff.

Dave J. Finn, advertising manager of the company, outlined the advertising program for the year, stressing the importance of trade papers.

The convention officially will close today, with individual conferences among district managers, sound supervisors and the home office executives occupying the final day.

until the four-year lease on the present property had been disposed of. Negotiations for this is now under way.

Although plans are not yet drawn up, the new studios will be similar to film studios, with large stages. Meanwhile, NBC's big problem, Gilman said, is to find room for the heavy summer and fall schedule from Hollywood.

just a gentleman's agreement, as stated above.

They conferred again and decided to hire enough passenger accommodations on the Hindenburg to get the films back. After the Hindenburg disaster Smith came forward again. This time, it is said, the price was $35,000.

All the newsreel editors did a lot of telephoning and dickering and a group of them were down at Floyd Bennett field when Merrill took off last Sunday. They even had newsreel pictures of the Hindenburg crash with them to ship if Smith's price should come down. The price didn't come down and the films didn't go up. They were brought back to Manhattan.

After Merrill had landed in London Smith's price went up again, but Merrill was there waiting and the films were in the laboratories. Every editor in New York lost sleep worrying whether one of their number would prove not to be a gentleman. It was a chance for the scoop of the year.

Merrill saw the Coronation with Lambie. It was a nice jaunt—Sunday to Friday round trip to England. He was feted in England. He was also feted over here last night.

Estimates vary on what it cost Smith.

Frim Girls on WLW

Selected during the recent WLW talent-scouting jaunt here, the "Three Frim Sisters" start on WLW, May 17, for a three-month session. The girls, a vocal combination, have been heard on the "Hit Parade," "Shell Chateau," and other network programs.

also cut short Thursday night's picketing. The first drops sent the "boys" scurrying for the cover of theatre marquees and lobbies, but when police insisted on enforcing the "keep moving" order, the pickets soon disappeared.

Union officials said yesterday that the Brooklyn Painters Council would picket first run houses in that Borough on Saturday night.

No Picketing in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 14.—Although the local Painters' union today voted to comply with the request of the international union to picket and boycott theatres here in sympathy with the studio strike in Hollywood, A. W. Wallace, an official of the union, said that no picketing could be started for at least two days.

The painters will endeavor to enlist the aid of the electrical workers' and projectionists' unions here and until they have conferred with these groups, which will require from two days to two weeks, it was said, no picketing plans can be completed.

Push N. Y. Unionization

Organizing of theatre employes in the metropolitan area by the I. A. T. S. E. was reported yesterday to be in "a well advanced stage," one union estimate placing those already organized at approximately half of the total of eligible employes.

From present indications the organizing movement appears to be aimed at assistant managers, cashiers, doormen and janitors. Little emphasis is being placed on the organizing of ushers, it appears. From the union's viewpoint, frequent changes of employment among ushers acts as a handicap both to their organizing and to maintaining membership following organization.

Asks Union Suit Dismissal

Joseph Basson, president of Local 306, the projectionists' union, yesterday filed a motion in the N. Y. Supreme Court to dismiss the complaint of the Gotham Amusement Corp. and six other independent exhibitors against Local 306, the Allied M. P. Operators' Union and the I. T. O. A. because of failure to state a cause of action. It will be heard by Justice Isidore Wasservogel on Monday.

Harry Glover, president of Allied, filed a similar action. In their complaint, the plaintiffs ask for a judgment, declaring that the contract executed between Allied and the I. T. O. A. in August, 1933 be permitted to run to its date of termination in June, 1943. The complaint also asks that an agreement made between Local 306 and the I. T. O. A. in January of this year be held invalid because it was not ratified by the I. T. O. A. board of directors.

Houston Engineers Resume Work

HOUSTON, May 14.—The strike of stationary engineers at Loew's and Horwitz theatres was dissolved today when representatives of the theatres and the Labor Trades Council and Building Trades Council of the A. F. of L. agreed to negotiate May 31. R. J. O'Donnel, Interstate Theatres executive, will represent Loew's and Interstate.

A statement signed by labor council heads, A. L. Mugnier of the Stationary Engineers Local No. 707 and Charles Young, international representative of the International Union of Operating Engineers, declared that similar peaceful round table discussions and settlements will be the policy pursued in future for matters of like nature.

Portland Workers Are Signed

PORTLAND, May 14.—Shippers, inspectresses and accessories cleerks of all local exchanges are signed up 100 per cent. union organizers claimed today. An A. F. of L. charter is expected by the group prior to its next meeting.

Charter Washington Union

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The Film Exchange Employes' Union here, formed under the sponsorship of the local projectionists, yesterday received an I. A. T. S. E. charter as Local B 13. The officers are James W. Burns, president; George Sullivan, vice-president; Donald McCann, secretary; Buddy Turner, financial secretary; Jules Share, treasurer, and DeForest Ormes, business agent. The charter followed several previous attempts to organize without the aid of the I. A.

There has been no attempt thus far to picket any local houses in connection with the coast strike.

CBS Completes Plans For New Coast Plant

HOLLYWOOD, May 14.—Donald W. Thornburgh, CBS vice-president in charge of Pacific coast operations, today revealed completed plans of the new CBS studios and offices, which will be located in the Palace Hotel Bldg., San Francisco.

The plans were drawn by Bliss and Fairweather, with William Lescaze, who designed the new KNX building in Hollywood, as consultant adviser.

The project will include two stories. Five broadcasting studios, each with its own control room, and each including an observers' balcony, are planned.

The estimated cost of the plant will be approximately $350,000, Thornburgh revealed, affording CBS and KSFO one of the finest broadcasting centers in America.

Plans call for entirely new construction work for the entire project. The first floor will include the entire executive offices for CBS and station operations, a program planning department, and an announcers' lounge.

The second floor will contain the music library, traffic, publicity and news departments, a transcription library, engineering department and two clients' rooms.

All technical installation will be under the supervision of James Middlebrooks, CBS construction engineer, who is also directing the erection of the new KSFO transmitter now under construction.

Weed to Open at Detroit

Joe and Neal Weed, of Weed & Co., station representatives, left yesterday for Detroit to attend the opening of the company's new offices in that city. The new headquarters will make the third office for the firm, currently operating in New York and Chicago.

M. J. Thomas, now of the Chicago staff, will manage the Detroit office.

J. O. Van Keuren Leaves KSFD

SAN DIEGO, May 14.—J. O. Van Keuren today announced his resignation as commercial and assistant manager of KSFD, local NBC-Blue outlet. His resignation becomes effective May 15.

Seek to Unionize Bookers

KANSAS CITY, May 14.—The Film Exchange Employes' Union, affiliated with the I. A. T. S. E., according to union officials is proceeding now with efforts to organize exchange bookers and employes of poster firms outside regular film branches. Approximately 116 inspectresses, shippers and poster clerks are claimed as members.

Drive Collects $17,293

The film division of Catholic Charities, headed by Frank C. Walker of the Comerford Circuit, has received $17,293 toward the 1937 appeal, it was stated yesterday by John A. Coleman of Adler-Coleman & Co., chairman of the special gifts committee.

"U" Expected To Keep List At About 42

Provision Will Be Made For Later Changes

Los Angeles, May 16.—Universal will announce approximately the same number of pictures for new season production as were listed last year, it was indicated here today with the arrival of the company's national sales force for its annual convention which opens at the Ambassador on Monday.

The schedule is expected to list 42 pictures, including six westerns, the same number announced for this season. Provision is expected to be made, however, for the addition to the list of special properties or outside productions which may be acquired during the year. Since the reorganization of the Universal studio under Charles R. Rogers the company on several occasions has considered increasing its schedule to a release a week. The flexibility of the new season's plans would make such an

Executives of U. A. Arrive in Hollywood

Hollywood, May 16.—With the arrival from New York today of George J. Schaefer, Maurice Silverstone and James Mulvey by train and Alexander Korda, Basil Bleck and Douglas Fairbanks by plane, the United Artists partners are scheduled to hold the first of a series of meetings tomorrow.

Mary Pickford, who had been touring Europe, returned here Tuesday. David O. Selznick and John Hay Whitney of Selznick International are still in the east with indications that the former may arrive late this week.

WOR Gets a Part of Merrill's Air Talk

Although NBC paid $2,500 for the exclusive interview rights with Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, WOR succeeded in getting a lot of NBC's thunder in reporting the return flight.

Through the cooperation of Eastern Airline officials, WOR installed microphones in the airline at Newark Airport, picking up and broadcasting the messages while they were coming in from the plane. Merrill and Lambie,

Peskay Will Announce 12 GN "A" Films

No Shorts in Lineup of 65 Pictures Planned

Los Angeles, May 16.—Edward Peskay, general sales manager of Grand National, is expected to announce 12 "A" pictures in the lineup of 65 planned next season. He will make known plans on these features on Tuesday afternoon. Included in this group will be the two James Cagney pictures, one of which will be "Dynamite," and "Gorgeous," starring Anna Sten. The company will have no short subjects.

Meeting the arriving salesmen and branch managers this morning were Edward L. Alperson, president; Peskay, James Winn, western and southern sales manager; Sol Edwards, eastern and Canadian sales manager; Sidney M. Biddell, story head; Philip Krasne, legal head here, and a number of producers and directors. About 70 men comprised the arriving party.

Following their arrival and registra-

Moses Quits Century Group After 5 Years

Charles Moses, for the past five years film buyer, supervisor of theatre operations and executive assistant to A. H. Schwartz of Century Circuit, resigned Saturday. Moses is well known in local exhibition circles, having been in various branches of the field during the past 25 years.

Operating the Palace, Port Richmond and the Victory, Tompkinsville, S. I., it is reported that Moses will expand with several sites under consideration for immediate building. This, however, could not be confirmed Saturday.

Flying Price

London, May 16.—When Dick Merrill left New York on that Coronation flight, the price he asked to bring back newsreel pictures was considered too high by the American newsreel editors. But when he made the first leg of the flight without batting an eye, the price ascended.

The inside story here is that Merrill wanted £2,000 each from the five reels, which would be a total of $50,000 U. S. So the reels agreed to disagree with Merrill—and the prints will arrive in New York on the Normandie, which left England Thursday and is due here Tuesday.

Final Strike Test Due This Morning

Hollywood, May 16.—Opening of the studios this Monday will demonstrate how much life, if any, is left in the strike of the Federated M. P. Crafts following week end conferences between producer representatives headed by Joseph M. Schenck, and Charles Lessing, leader of the striking groups.

It is believed that the refusal of the Federated M. P. Crafts on Friday to accept the producer proposal for peace, with arbitration scheduled to be undertaken within five days, merely amounted to a temporary delay in the conclusion of a settlement.

There was every indication of an early settlement following the return of a large number of machinists to their jobs, after the successful negotiation of terms, and the return also of draughtsmen and costumers. With the imminent return to work of culinary employes, there appears little left of the organization which instituted the strike under the banner of the Federated M. P. Crafts.

Color Pictures of Coronation Are Termed Brilliant Success

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 16.—The color reels of the Coronation produced by Movietonews and Pathe, the former in Technicolor and the latter in Dufaycolor, both are brilliantly successful.

The Movietonews reel includes preliminary color shots of the regalia of the peers, closeup details of the royal coach and the like.

The picturing of the activity in Westminster Abbey, in the black and white reels takes in the full ceremony and provides a wonderful record of the complete event. Both sound and photography are excellent considering the difficulties.

Score Charge Agreement to Be Fulfilled

M-G-M, Columbia and "U" Will Stick to Pact

Despite the suspension for an indefinite period of the M.P.T.O.A.'s trade practice program the major distributors who agreed to discontinue the levying of a separate score charge will fulfill that concession during the new selling season, it was revealed through a survey of distribution companies completed on Saturday.

National distributors who agreed to abolish the separate score charge are M-G-M,Columbia, United Artists and Universal. The other three companies which acknowledged the exhibitor trade practice program, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox and RKO Radio, declined to eliminate the separate score charge and, by all present indications, will not alter their sales policies for 1937-'38 in line with that decision.

Six of the seven major distributors who acknowledged the program conceded a 10 per cent cancellation and will carry out that provision in new season's sales policies.

The other major proposals compris-

Warner Cosmopolitan Setup Will Continue

Although no mention of Cosmopolitan or Marion Davies was made by Warners in the product announcement last week, it was stated Saturday that the arrangement between the Hearst organization and Warners will continue indefinitely.

"Ever Since Eve," which will be released in August, is the last Marion Davies picture on the current schedule. She will probably appear in two of the six planned by Cosmopolitan for 1937-38.

Ohio Passes Only 2 Of 21 Picture Bills

Columbus, May 16.—A legislative record of some sort was established during the recent session of the Ohio state legislature which saw the introduction of 21 different measures directly or indirectly affecting the industry. Of the 21 measures, 18 were defeated, two were passed and one was left tabled. The two which were passed were a civil rights measure prohibiting racial discrimination and a bill extending Ohio's three per cent admission tax to March, 1938.

Cocalis to Build in Three Jersey Spots

Having acquired Matty Kutinsky's one-third interest in six Bronx and White Plains theatres, Sam D. Cocalis plans to build three theatres at New Jersey shore sites. Negotiations are practically set for the latter deals, it was stated Saturday.

Cocalis has had a one-third interest in the six houses and with the acquisition of Kutinsky's share now controls operation of the Allerton, Yorke, Pelham, Laconia, Wakefield and Burke. Plans for New Jersey sites include two in Asbury Park and one in Long Branch.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 16.

MUCH of the table talk in Hollywood's eateries these warmish days goes to "Wake Up and Live" and "A Star Is Born" and to it this typewriter strikes its caps in full agreement. They rate praise words and, goodness and we know, they are getting them. One of these minutes, on the other hand, the scattered enthusiasms over a picture called "Make Way For Tomorrow" will join their currently loose threads and the film colony will begin to give Beulah Bondi and Victor Moore, as well as Leo McCarey's direction, the recognition all three so thoroughly rate. . . .

It appears there were a couple of previews the night "Make Way For Tomorrow" was put on by Paramount. We elected the other, whatever it may have been, and it appears further we embarked upon a decision lacking sadly in judgment; the only defense we can muster is to remind this is frequently a habit with us. Eventually, when words dropped here and there began to gain in some volume, a later decision dictated that we should take a look. Here was Sidney Skolsky feeling identically about the matter and there was Chris Dunphy making way in the projection room an hour later. . . .

"The Years Are So Long," a prize-winning novel by Josephine Lawrence, and a play by Helen and Nolan Leary, based on the book, are the foundation for this tender, wistful and heart-touching story of an ageing mother and father in the winter of their full lives with their children grown to adult age and past anything more than a superficial interest in their parents. No villains stalk this attraction, in any accepted sense, unless the villainy of the selfish offspring might be approached in such a light. No thrills in the usual manner have a place in the story, yet the full and rather magnificent closing sequence wherein Miss Bondi and Moore return to the scene of their honeymoon of fifty years ago and re-live their past in terms of a faster and more modern day is as thrilling emotionally as anything that Hollywood has turned its hand to in recent months. And perhaps beyond. . . .

No young love plays out its accustomed plot, yet the staunch and sterling fidelity, born out of love and understanding of each of the principal characters for the other, is easily and in their manner as rapt and enthalling as any impassioned embraces in the Garbo-Taylor style. Because the theme could not properly tie in that which did not belong, the average in-the-trade reaction at once will conclude "Make Way For Tomorrow" will be a tough baby to sell. Probably and if precedent in a changing market stands by its colors, this is so. But, since it is true any theatre operator can sell a "Maytime" or a "Shall We Dance?" it likewise follows showmanship asserts itself in adequately marketing an attraction which calls for something beyond routine advertising and perfunctory handling. . . .

This is one of a type of picture which, we suppose, will find itself off to a slow start. But we rather lean toward a good-sized conviction that it will chart a steadily upward line as its pronounced merit and its irresistible appeal become part of the word-of-mouth endorsements for which the film will head. Something must be said for Miss Bondi's understanding and beautifully keyed performance; for Moore's justification of the conviction that in his pathos, usually turned comic, always has been lurking a very definite capability for a moving and dramatic characterization; and, by no intentional or final dismissal, for McCarey's appreciative and sensitive direction. . . .

Carl Levi Funeral Today

Services for Carl Levi, late Loew district manager, will be held at 1 P. M. today at Riverside Memorial Chapel. Many associates and friends will attend. Interment will be at Mt. Hope Cemetery, Cypress Hills, L. I.

Rites for Friedlander

Funeral services were held last night for Al Friedlander at the Flatbush Memorial Chapel, Brooklyn. He is survived by his widow, Yvonne, and a sister, Gertrude Waterfall.

May File New Game Suit

OMAHA, May 16.—Disappointed at the delay of Affiliated Enterprises, Inc., of Denver in appealing the adverse decision in the Beatrice, Neb., Bank Night case, Attorney General Richard Hunter has revealed here that he hopes to file another test suit against some Omaha theatre. This city, which has 27 theatres holding a $1,000 weekly cooperative Bank Night draw, is the most vulnerable in the state for such a case since city officials have frowned upon Bank Night since its inception.

Kent Confers Today On Australian Deal

Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox, will confer today with Charles Munro, managing director of Hoyts, on a continuation of the Hoyts-Greater Union affiliation in Australia.

Munro is understood to have offered Stuart Doyle, head of Greater Union, a 20-year deal which now needs the ratification of Kent. Walter J Hutchinson, foreign head of 20th Century-Fox, has been in France and England the past few months and is due back on the Normandie tomorrow.

Kent is due to leave for Hollywood late today, Munro on May 25. Accompanying Hutchinson on the Normandie is Stanley S. Crick, head of the company's sales activities in Australia.

Disney to Open Own Office in the East

Walt Disney will open his own office in the east, in the RKO Bldg., shortly after the RKO convention in Los Angeles, Roy Disney said Saturday before leaving for Hollywood. Hal Sloane, who will be in charge, at present is making his headquarters with Kay Kamen.

All Disney releases through U.A. have been delivered, Disney said, and the first two for RKO are now in the hands of the latter company. They are "Pluto's Quin Puplets" with Pluto and Fifi, and "The Clock Cleaners," a Mickey Mouse subject. The first will be released Aug. 1.

Walt Disney will leave for an eastern vacation shortly after Roy arrives on the coast.

Legion Approves 10 Of 11 New Pictures

The National Legion of Decency, in its list of new pictures for the current week, has approved 10 of the 11 new films reviewed and classified. All 10 were cited as unobjectionable for general patronage, while one was called objectionable in part. The new films and their classification follow:

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage—"Criminals of the Air," "Hollywood Cowboy," "It Happened Out West," "Der Kaiser von Kalifornien" (German), "Killers of the Sea," "The King's People," "A Night of Mystery," "Pick a Star," "Ritt in die Freiheit" (German), "Talent Scout." Class B—Objectionable in Part—"They Gave Him a Gun."

Calls Special Meet Of Nebraska's MPTO

OMAHA, May 16.—Charles E. Williams, president of M.P.T.O. of Nebraska and Western Iowa, has called a meeting of all independent exhibitors at the Hotel Loyal here on May 25.

Williams' announcement said that all exhibitors "should consider methods of self-defense" against instructions being given by the various distributors to their selling forces at the annual sales meetings.

Other points coming up for discussion are designated playdates, percentage pictures, short subjects with their numerical requirements and score charge, five cent admissions and other competitive methods and the theatre divorcement bills.

"U" Expected To Keep List At About 42

increase possible if warranted by properties acquired during the year.

The 1937-38 schedule will be made known to the sales force on Tuesday by James R. Grainger, general sales manager, who will preside at the meeting.

The home office, eastern and northern delegations, headed by R. H. Cochrane, president, arrived here today, augmenting by more than 100 men those already on hand for the convention. Southern, north Pacific coast and Canadian delegations arrived yesterday. In addition, Grainger, J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of Universal; Edward Bonns, short subject sales manager, and other Universal home office and studio officials were here earlier. Approximately 200 in all will attend the meeting.

Addresses by Most Executives

Among the convention speakers in addition to Grainger, Cochrane, Cowdin and Rogers will be P. D. Cochrane, director of advertising, publicity and exploitation; F. J. A. McCarthy, eastern sales manager; E. T. Gomersall, western sales manager; Gustave Schaefer, new export manager; Bonns, Charles E. Ford, editor of the newsreel; Joe Weil, exploitation manager, and other studio and sales department officials.

The main delegation arriving today was met at the station by Cowdin, Rogers, Grainger, J. P. Normanly, general business manager; Robert W. Allison, comptroller, and a large group of studio officials. The first convention session will open at 9:30 tomorrow morning, and the meeting will close Thursday evening.

Cuts "Road" for "U" Men

Hollywood, May 16. — Edmund Grainger is producing a four-reel edition of "The Road Back" to show to salesmen at the Universal convention.

The short is for the purpose of pointing up exploitation ideas on the picture for the sales force.

Rawles to Universal

Hollywood, May 16.—Wallace X. Rawles, former bureau manager of International News Service in Los Angeles, today joined Universal as assistant director of publicity under Marc Lachmann.

Selznick Signs Fairbanks

Hollywood, May 16. — Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., has been signed to a one-picture deal by David O. Selznick, the film to be made at a later date.

He has just completed "Prisoner of Zenda" for the company.

Randall Joins Monogram

Hollywood, May 16. — Addison Randall has been signed to a long term contract by Monogram and will appear as a singing cowboy in a series of 12 musical westerns. R. N. Bradbury will be associate producer.

Randall recently appeared in "Blazing Barriers" for the company.

tion at the Ambassador Hotel, luncheon was served, with a subsequent tour of Beverly Hills, Hollywood and surrounding points of interest.

One of the big features of the convention, in addition to the product announcement, is the promotion of four branch managers to district posts and the naming of four new exchange heads to succeed the men giving up these titles. This is expected on Wednesday, the final day of the convention.

Among the features to be shown the sales force during the sessions are "Small Town Boy," "Sing, Cowboy, Sing" and "The Girl Said No."

Eleven Stars Listed

Los Angeles, May 16.—Grand National's talent lineup for next season will include 11 stars, 10 producers and eight directors now under contract. Negotiations are under way to bolster the current setup with several important announcements expected to be made by Edward L. Alperson, president, on Tuesday.

Stars under contract are James Cagney, Anna Sten, Stuart Erwin, Tex Ritter, Ken Maynard, Eric Linden, Cecilia Parker, Conrad Nagel, Eleanor Hunt, Rod La Rocque and Joyce Compton.

Producers include Richard A. Rowland, Victor Schertzinger, B. F. Zeidman, Zion Myers, Andrew L. Stone, Eugene Frenke, Edward Finney, Max Alexander, M. H. Hoffman and Bud Barsky.

Directors on the lot are John G. Blystone, Schertzinger, Duncan Mansfield, Glen Tryon, Lynn Shores, Eugene Frenke, Arthur Rosson and R. N. Bradbury.

Herman to Do G. N. Series

Hollywood, May 16.—Al Herman will produce a series of four action pictures for Grand National next season based on the Laurie York Erskine radio character, "Renfrew of the Mounted," under the terms of a contract just signed.

The company acquired the screen rights to the radio series some months ago.

Stagehands Accept Circuit Wage Rise

Local 4, Brooklyn unit of the Stagehands' Union, has accepted the circuit's offer of three increases of six per cent over a period of 18 months, it was learned yesterday. Local 1, the New York organization, has deferred the matter until September.

Under the plan, the first six per cent wage increase goes into effect immediately, the second on Sept. 1 and the last on Sept. 1, 1938. The New York unit recently rejected the plan and when it was sent back to the membership a second time, action was tabled until the fall.

B. & K. Promotes Lawler

Kansas City, May 16. — Ralph Lawler, former manager of the B. & K. Newman here, has been named manager of the Paramount and Princess, B. & K. houses at Toledo. Lawler succeeds Henry Stickelmaier, who has gone to Chicago as a circuit executive.

RKO to Take Three Houses in Yonkers

Having reached agreements with Sam D. Cocalis and Berman Sussman for the acquisition of the Park Hill, Broadway and Central in Yonkers, RKO has not yet signed the contracts but is expected to within the next 10 days.

Cocalis operates the first two houses while Sussman has the Central. Sussman built the house last year and has three other houses near Yonkers which are not involved in the RKO transaction.

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with Skouras for the pooling of upper Broadway theatres. The deal is expected to be completed before the new season gets under way.

Will Attend RKO Meet

Nate J. Blumberg, in charge of RKO theatre operations, and John J. O'Connor, film buyer, will represent the circuit at the RKO five-day convention at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, starting June 16. They will be among the home office and eastern sales contingent leaving here June 12.

Benchley Picks 4 Titles

Hollywood, May 16. — Robert Benchley has titled four of his new miniatures to go into production at MGM this month.

They are: "How to Figure Income Tax," "How to Wake Up," "How to Make An Impression" and "How to Take Care of Baby."

Roy Rowland has been assigned to direct the series by Jack Chertok.

Purely Personal

RALPH HANBURY, British sales head for RKO, will arrive on the Champlain on June 8. He will attend the annual sales convention on the coast. On the same boat will be William B. Levy and Kay Kamen, also convention bound.

Joseph Friedman, English head for Columbia, Mrs. Nat Ross, Truman Tally and Vyvyan Donner are due on the Normandie tomorrow. J. Robert Rubin of M-G-M is scheduled to return on the same boat.

Harry M. Goetz, who had planned to sail on the Normandie from England last week, has postponed his departure indefinitely.

Charles Skouras and Mike Rosenberg will head for the coast today after conferring here for several weeks with Spyros Skouras.

Jerry Novat, ad sales director for 20th Century-Fox, will leave for the coast in a few days to prepare for the display for the convention.

William J. Corcoran, formerly with Phillips and Nizer, has joined a new law firm, Levy, Galotta and Corcoran.

Sam Burger, traveling M-G-M foreign representative, will leave for the coast in a week or so on a honeymoon.

Ed Selzer will leave today or tomorrow for Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago.

Leo Spitz will leave for Hollywood the end of the week and will remain for the RKO convention.

E. C. Grainger is due back early this week from a tour of Feiber & Shea houses.

D. A. Doran left last night for Hollywood on the Southerner of the American Airlines.

Samuel J. Park, Broadway playwright, is on the coast negotiating for a writing contract.

Harry M. Warner gets back from the coast today.

Bill Robinson is en route from the coast.

Edward G. Robinson returns to the coast tomorrow.

Albany, May 16.—The Buckley Bill extending emergency taxes for unemployment relief in New York City until July 1, 1938, has been approved by Governor Lehman.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Man in Blue"

(Universal)

Hollywood, May 16.—Crime melodrama, romance and character regeneration are the elements of this picture. All are intelligently blended. Situations are well developed to the tune of smart dialogue and exciting action. Hardly strong enough from the standpoint of name value to merit top billing, the production should have no difficulty in strengthening and balancing any usual program.

Remorseful for having killed a man during a holdup, Officer Edward Ellis, adopts his son. In his new environment, Billy Burrud, playing the role, makes good progress. A decade passes and the boy, showing no criminal tendencies, gets a job in a bank where Ellis is a watchman. Romance develops between Herbert Wilcox, who succeeds Burrud, and Nan Grey, contrasts the character drama. An innocent bit of forgetfulness forces the boy to resign his job. Under the influence of Richard Carle, a convict, he participates in a robbery, is caught and sentenced. Double-crossed by Ralph Morgan, another convict, to whom he entrusts a letter to Miss Grey, Wilcox is paroled either to track down Morgan or reveal the hiding place of the loot. Watched by Ellis as he discovers Morgan's whereabouts, Wilcox, with Miss Grey, arrives at the hiding place just as his foster father, Ellis, kills the crook and recovers the bonds. Exonerated, Wilcox resumes his romance with Miss Grey.

A quality of human interest that has been worked into the motivating drama and romance gives the film an engaging appeal. Suitable for family audiences, the show, which is consistently entertainment, also teaches a moral lesson that should impress audiences.

Production Code Seal No. 3,207. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Talk of the Devil"

(G. B.)

A reasonable amount of action and suspense and two American players to offset, for this market, the occasionally unintelligible dialogue of this British & Domonions production serve to make it satisfactory, if not outstanding entertainment.

Ricardo Cortez and Sally Eilers are the two Americans, and both perform acceptably, at the same time providing salable names for exhibitors in this country. Basil Sydney, cast importantly in the support, offers a fine performance and his name should be known here.

Produced by Jack Raymond and directed by Carol Reed, the picture's story recounts the effort of Miss Eilers' guardian to capture a contract for his company to build an ocean liner, and the manner in which an ex-convict, whom he is forced to acknowledge as his brother, gets wind of the closing of the deal, causes the old man's resignation in disgrace.

Cortez, American who had known Miss Eilers in the United States, is unwittingly made the dupe through whom Sydney obtains word of the contract, and when the old man is found dead one night, and Miss Eilers is accused, Cortez seeks to right the situation. He confronts Sydney, almost loses his life, but finally succeeds in forcing Sydney into confession and suicide.

Running time, 76 minutes. "G."

Blank May Drop Theatre

Omaha, May 16.—Report here has it that A. H. Blank has definitely decided to drop the 3,000-seat Paramount and therefore probably will not fight the foreclosure suit filed by the Omaha National bank. The suit alleges Blank is in default on $110,000 of a $200,000 bond issue.

Pat Paterson for Lead

Hollywood, May 16.—Pat Paterson has been signed for the feminine lead in Walter Wanger's forthcoming "52nd Street."

Mrs. Johnson Off in June

Hollywood, May 16. — The new date set for Osa Johnson to leave with a 20th Century-Fox unit for Africa to film "Stanley and Livingstone" is June 10. The studio had announced the company would leave in November.

Mrs. Johnson will arrive in Hollywood to start preparations on June 1.

Hope Hampton to Return

Hollywood, May 16.—Hope Hampton will return to the screen as a singing star in Universal's Technicolor production, "Riviera."

Variety Club

Cincinnati

Cincinnati, May 16.—Harry J. Wessel, chief barker, has appointed Elmer Shard as second assistant to succeed Manny Shure, who has gone to New York to become business manager of Easy Aces of NBC.

Tent No. 3 has donated $50 to the Will Rogers Memorial. A similar amount was given last year.

Hereafter graves of deceased barkers will be decorated with floral wreaths on Memorial Day instead of birthday anniversaries, as has been the previous custom. The memorial roster includes William Gerves, George Schott and George Leighton.

Leo E. Dwyer, operator of the Lake Theatre, Celina, O., and Warren Ray Shafer of the Strand, Irvine, Ky., have been elected to non-resident membership.

Kansas City

Kansas City, May 16.—The Variety Club continued its performance of a new sort of charity here by entertaining 40 elderly women from the Nettleton Home with a screening followed by ice cream and cake at the Club.

Participating as hostesses and hosts were Mrs. L. F. Durland, president of the Variety Club auxiliary; Mrs. Claude Morris, who played for the guests; Mrs. Jack Cameron, Mrs. Ernest Block, Mrs. Frank Bowen, Mrs. Frank Hensler, Mrs. Roscoe Thompson, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Eleanore Walton, city censor; Mrs. June Metcalf, Frank Bowen, Earl Jamison, Finton Jones, George Hartmann, Arthur Cole and Nelson Burrus.

Dancing and Bingo have been introduced for Saturday night affairs.

Quits Fox Position

Denver, May 16.—Gerald Whitney has resigned as district manager of the northern district for Fox Intermountain because it necessitated traveling. Succeeding him is Ray Davis, city manager at Cheyenne, Wyo., for Fox. Whitney will manage two Fox theatres in Denver, the Hiawatha and Webber.

"March of Time No. 10"

(RKO)

Interesting and informative, if not as dramatically entertaining as many previous issues have been, this latest issue of the reel reviews the current internal struggle of President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State to unite his country, points to the complicated problem of the U. S. Postoffice to combat fraudulent contests, and reveals the sharp, organized opposition developed to proposed cuts in Federal relief expenditures.

De Valera, it is shown, has done much for the Irish Free State, giving it a new lease on economic life and a certain unity, but he has yet to bring about the consolidation of his Free State with Northern Ireland, which, remaining loyal to the British crown, exhibits fierce hatred for its brothers in the south.

The reel shows in interesting fashion the development of the current craze for newspaper puzzles, and the maker of the leading one, operated by a tobacco firm, indicates the enormous mail which results, and the efforts made to halt the flood of spurious contests which flood the mails.

The virtual labor organization of the Federal relief workers of the country, under the dynamic leadership of David Lasser, is ably pictured in the final sequence. His Workers' Alliance began sit-down strikes at news of impending retrenchment in relief work, and plans a march on Washington in the event that Congress drastically cuts relief appropriations.

Running time, 19 mins. "G."

"Walt Disney's Academy Awards Revue"

(United Artists)

Here is a real entertainment novelty, which should replace the second feature on a dual bill, or run as an adjunct to a single feature, more than satisfactorily. With a special musical score and commentator are shown, in succession, the five Disney Academy Award winners from 1932 to 1936.

Interesting from a technical point of view is the indication of unmistakable improvement in color quality and animation from the subject which won in 1932 to that which took the 1936 prize. But far more important than that is the sheer entertainment in seeing once again "Flowers and Trees," "Three Little Pigs," "The Tortoise and the Hare," "Three Orphan Kittens" and "The Country Cousins," successive winners in that order.

It should be very much worth the effort of the exhibitor in getting behind this compilation. There is no danger that the audience will tire of two many Silly Symphonies at once. They are all too good.

Running time, 44 mins. "G."

"Bosko and the Pirates"

(Harman-Ising-M-G-M)

Bosko is delivering a bag of cookies to his grandmother. On his way he falls asleep in a tub that is floating in a pond and dreams of pirates. What follows is a hilarious and swingy battle between Bosko and the pirates, who are after the cookies. They battle it out with hot music, dancing and infectious singing. After many famous colored players are caricatured in good natured burlesque the piece comes to an ingenious ending. Production Code Seal No. 3,194. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 38"

(Universal)

Here is another collection of interesting oddities. The items making up the reel include scenes of a pet lion taking its daily automobile ride, a Nevada "Comstock Lode," a penny that has not been removed from a desk for 15 years, a tame deer, and a Cuban native who breaks cocoanuts on his head. Production Code Seal No. 01,466. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Three Smart Boys"

(Roach-M-G-M)

Spanky, Alfalfa and Buckwheat of the Our Gang troupe, conspire to be absent from school for a week by acquiring symptoms of smallpox. They spot their faces with paint and use football bladders to swell their stomachs and experience discomfort at a doctor's office. But finally things work out to their satisfaction. It is entertaining and will be agreeably accepted by the younger audiences. Production Code Seal No. 3,127. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Killers of the Sea"

(Grand National)

The exploits of Capt. Wallace Caswell of Panama City, Fla., as he pursues dangerous fish in the Gulf of Mexico, are reasonably exciting if not taken seriously. This record of his daring utilizes many trick shots that unreel with a measure of novelty. The film should find a spot due to its departure from routine forms of entertainment.

The narrative gets under way with little delay. Caswell is seen soon in the Gulf, where, with little provocation, he dives overboard intent on the destruction of such finny creatures as pygmy whale, turtles, tiger-sharks, octopi and finally an encounter with a saw-fish. It seems he only destroys fish that are harmful to legitimate fishermen. The various battles with each species are realistically presented. The photography catches with fair veracity the struggles of the man and his adversaries. Caswell is injured in his last brush with the saw-fish and the film concludes showing him recovered from his hurts and on his mission once more.

Production Code Seal No. 2,865. Running time, 49 minutes. "G."

Overseas Previews

"Farewell Again"

(London Films-United Artists)

London, May 8.—There is an original idea in this Erich Pommer production, much good camera work, effective pictorial and human backgrounds, comedy character work of quality and speed of incident. Well directed by Tim Whelan, it is very British in atmosphere and detail but that may be outweighed by the fact that practically all the action is placed on a troopship at sea; the human appeal is international.

The central dramatic situation is that, nearing England in a troopship, after five years' fighting service in India, a Lancer regiment is advised by wireless that, instead of enjoying its long-expected spell at home, it is being immediately dispatched for further service in the East. Six hours' leave at Southampton is all that the soldiers will be granted.

This happening, taken from real life, has been made the basis of a series of individual human dramas, arising from the relations between the individuals on board and their other relations with people on shore. There is colonel who must leave his wife in England for treatment of a probably incurable disease, a captain who loves a ship nurse and has to face a shore fiancee, soldiers who have wives and faithful or faithless fiancees. All these dramas are deftly interwoven with the incident of the limited shore leave. Even more realistic are the humors of everyday life on board the troopship.

The acting is on a high level. Particularly good are Leslie Banks as the colonel, Flora Robson as his wife, Sebastian Shaw as the lovelorn captain, with Patricia Hilliard as the pretty nurse.

Where the accents and the Union Jack are not drawbacks this can be exploited very successfully as an unusual picture; it is full of showmanship opportunities.

Running time, 80 minutes. "G." Allan

May 19, before an examiner—Applications of KWTN, Watertown, S. D., for change of frequency to 1,340-kilocycles and increase of power to 250 watts night, 500 watts day; KGDY, Huron, S. D., for change of frequency to 1,210 kilocycles and increase of time, and KROY, Sacramento, for change of frequency to 1,340 kilocycles and increase of time to 250 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

May 20, before an examiner—Application of KQV, Pittsburgh, for increase of power to 1,000 watts.

May 20, before the broadcast division—Applications of Bay County Publishers, Inc., Panama City, Fla., for 1,420-kilocycle, 100-watt station; Falls City Broadcasting Corp., Falls City, Neb., for 1,310-kilocycle, 100-watt station; Radio Enterprises, Lufkin, Tex., vs. Red Lands Broadcasting Ass'n, Lufkin, Tex., for 1,310-kilocycle, 100-watt daytime station.

May 21, before an examiner—Application of Amarillo Broadcasting Co., Amarillo, Tex., for 1,500-kilocycle, 100-watt station.

The F.C.C. has received applications for the construction of new stations from the Times Printing Co., Chattanooga, for a station to operate on 1,120 kilocycles with 500 watts power night and 1,000 watts day, and the Seaboard Broadcasting Corp., Savannah, for a station to operate on 1,310 kilocycles with 100 watts power night and 250 watts day.

The commission also has received an amended application from Gerald A. Travis, La Porte, Ind., for authority to construct a station to operate on 1,420 kilocycles with 250 watts, daytime only.

Plates Are Plates

From Frederick Bates, NBC's London representative, came a wire addressed to NBC officials Thursday evening last: "Merrill carrying two plates addressed to you."

Excitement ran high, of course, as NBC prexies envisioned rare Coronation photographs. When Merrill's plane landed an NBC troupe was there to claim the package. It was rushed back to Radio City and opened.

The plates were dinner plates—from the Coronation banquet.

FCC Grants Applications

WASHINGTON, May 16.—TheF.C.C. has granted the applications of KALB, Alexandria, La., for a change of frequency from 1,420 to 1,210 kylocycles, and WGBI, Scranton, for increase of day power from 500 to 1,000 watts. The applications of the Bayou Broadcasting Co., Houston, and Isadore Goldwasser, Anniston, Ala., for authority to construct new stations were denied.

Pick Cycle Guest Talent

"Ridin' High," NBC-Blue network program sponsored by the Cycle Trades of America Ass'n, will feature the following guest artists the next five weeks:

Morton Bowe and the "Norsemen," May 20; Jane Pickens, May 27; Jean Sablon, June 3; Jane Froman, June 10; Go-Go DeLys and Barry McKinley, June 17, and Countess Albani, June 24.

WHN to Dramatize Books

Dramatizations of the outstanding books of the day will be featured each week over WHN on a new series called "New York University Literary Forum," beginning May 20 from 8:30 to 9 P. M. "Flowering of New England," Pulitzer prize winner, will be the first novel to be aired.

C. E. Mees on Bank Program

Charles Edward Mees, vice-president of the Eastman Kodak Co., will be the guest speaker on the Ass'n of Banks program over CBS, May 21, from 10 to 10:30 P. M., E.D.S.T.

United of Ohio Will Join Mutual Network

The United Broadcasting Co. of Ohio will become a participating member of the Mutual network effective not later than Dec. 1.

The company owns and operates WJAY, Cleveland, 500 watts; WHK, Cleveland, 2,500 watts by day, 1,000 watts at night; and WHKC, Columbus, 500 watts.

WGAR, present Mutual affiliate in Cleveland, will continue to take Mutual programs until the United Broadcasting Co. stations join the network. WGAR thereafter will become a CBS station.

Effective with the new additions, Mutual participating stations will number 56.

WJAY will be a full-time Mutual member, while WHK and WHKC will accept only those programs which they can fit into their schedules. WHK is also an NBC affiliate.

WBT Study Analyzes Charlotte's Market

CHARLOTTE, May 16.—A survey of the primary area daytime audience of WBT here breaks down the market into buying sections, such as automotive, clothing, department store, drugs, food, home and household, and miscellaneous buyers. The survey also analyzes the primary area county by county in the two states of North and South Carolina, showing the buying population of various age and sex groups in each county. The potential daytime primary area listeners to WBT in North Carolina total 372,768 and in South Carolina 226,119, making a grand total of 598,887.

The survey was made for CBS by Buckley-Dement & Co., and gives the radio audience as of 1936.

KFWB to Inaugurate "Play of the Month"

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—KFWB will inaugurate a new feature on Tuesday called the "Play of the Month."

An original story each month will be presented in four half-hour acts. Each month's yarn will be entirely different and will cover all types of entertainment. "Professional Listener," a story of romantic intrigue, will be the first.

"Pick and Pat" Renewed

"Pick and Pat," black-face comedians have been renewed for another cycle of programs by their sponsor, Dills Best and Model smoking tobacco. The program is heard Mondays from 8:30 to 9 P. M., E. D. S. T. on CBS. The renewal is effective May 31. Arthur Kudner, Inc., is the agency.

Golf Tourney on Friday

The second annual radio golf tournament will be held on Friday, May 21, with representatives of CBS, NBC, Mutual, and Inter-City-WMCA competing. The tournament will be held at the River Vale Country Club, Bergen County, N. J.

Takes Argentine Program

The Royal Floor Wax Co. of Buenos Aires, Argentina, has signed to sponsor NBC Thesaurus programs on LR-4, Radio Splendid, subscribers to NBC's transcribed service in that city.

Three-Hour Program From Coast Planned

Three hours of entertainment from California will be carried on the Mutual network tomorrow, beginning at 11 P.M., E.D.S.T.

From 11 P.M. to 12 midnight, the network will broadcast the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce banquet. The entertainment will be provided by Oliver Hardy, Slim Summerville, Charles Henderson, Marion Marsh, Grace Bradley, Frank Jenks, Gus Edwards, Cliff Edwards, Lyda Roberti, Evalyn Knapp and the "Sing Time" cast with Ed Lowry.

From 12 to 12:30, E.D.S.T., Earl Hines' orchestra will be heard in a special dance program, followed by a half-hour satire on Hollywood titled "Devil Grass in Paradise." The satire will emanate from the Don Lee Hollywood Theatre.

West coast dance bands will conclude the three-hour session, broadcasting from 1 to 2 A.M., E.D.S.T.

incidentally, regulated their course by riding WOR's radio beam.

NBC, of course, alone carried the formal interview with the flyers when they arrived from England. The Red network carried the interview. Later Friday evening they were presented on the Blue in hotel room interview with John B. Kennedy. Again last night, on the Jergens-Woodbury "Rippling Rhythm" program, they were heard for the third and final time.

Crosley Asks Building Permit

CINCINNATI, May 16.—The Crosley Radio Corp., operating stations WLW and WSAI, will build a new office, studio and radio television broadcasting building on the site of the present WSAI transmitter, according to Lewis Crosley, vice-president, who has asked the City Planning Commission to approve two ordinances which would permit construction of the new building by amending existing zone ordinances.

A New Coca-Cola Program

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—"Refreshment Time with Singin' Sam," a new program sponsored by Coca-Cola, will be heard over KMOX daily Mondays through Fridays from 11:30 to 11:45 A. M. beginning May 25. The program will follow the familiar Singin' Sam pattern, with bits of homely philosophy interspersed between songs.

World to Have Coast Plant

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—The World Broadcasting Co., radio transcription firm, will establish production facilities here.

P. L. Deutsch has left for New York following conclusion of a deal for property at Beverly Boulevard and La Cienega. Actual production is now set for October.

"Parade" Wins Pilot Award

"The Hit Parade," Mark Warnow conducting, has been named the winner of the latest Pilot Radio Award. Previous winners include Jack Benny, Kate Smith, Gladys Swarthout, and the Philharmonic.

New Shows On the Air

"Hollywood News"

"Hollywood News" which made its debut Friday evening on WABC, New York and WCAU, Philadelphia, features screen gossip, Del Casino's vocals and the orchestra of Ray Block. The program stands up well musically, but sags somewhat in its news.

A person identified only as "The Hollywood Observer" offered the usual sort of inconsequential film chatter, and did it in a manner not nearly as interesting as, for instance, Jimmy Fidler or George Fischer.

A highlight was the Hammond organ playing of Milton Hartz, who offered "Organ Grinder's Swing" and several other popular tunes. Del Casino and Ray Block were fine.

"Hollywood News" is sponsored on the two above mentioned CBS stations by the Noxzema Chemical Co. It is heard twice weekly, Monday and Friday, from 7:30 to 7:45 P.M., E.D.S.T.

BANNER

CBS Composer Paper To Be Heard May 23

The first product of the CBS Composers' Commission will be given May 23, in the "Everybody's Music" hour, 3 to 4 P. M., E.D.S.T. The essay is William Grant Still's "Lenox Avenue."

The Composers' Commission was formed by CBS to enable six American composers to explore the musical possibilities of the microphone.

WEAU in Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE, WIS., May 16.—WEAU, operating each week day from 6 A. M. to sundown on a frequency of 1,050 kilocycles and 1,000 watts, is now on the air here. The station is operated by the Head of the Lakes Broadcasting Co. with John Stack, formerly with WEBC, Superior, Wis., heading the staff. Equipment installation for the new station was made by James Persons, chief engineer for Head of the Lakes.

Luncheon Tendered Goodman

CINCINNATI, May 16.—A farewell luncheon was given Timothy S. Goodman, resigned as general manager of WKRC, by members of the staff when he relinquished his duties yesterday. John McCormick is the new general manager.

Renew "Wife Saver" Show

Allan Prescott's "Wife Saver" program has been renewed for 52 weeks by the Manhattan Soap Co., effective immediately. The program is heard Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11:45 A. M. to noon, E.D.S.T. on the NBC-Red. The Peck Adv. agency handles the account.

Strong Made Agency Official

William M. Strong, who has been associated with Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn for the past 16 years, has been elected a vice-president of the agency. He was chosen a director last year.

Academy Studies Use Of Radio by Studios

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—The Academy Research Council committee on short wave radio communication, under the chairmanship of E. H. Hansen, has started a survey to determine the amount of radio transmitting and receiving equipment owned by the major studios and the extent to which radio is now used for communication between studio and locations.

After completing this survey, during which information will also be assembled on the number of location trips to which companies have been sent by each studio during the past year, the committee will formulate plans for obtaining a maximum benefit from the use of radio communication.

The committee comprises John Aalberg, Ellis Gray, Lorin Grignon, John Hilliard, Burton F. Miller, Gordon Sawyer, Stewart Wainwright and Gordon S. Mitchell.

Lee System Plans an Increase of Service

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.—The Don Lee Broadcasting System is increasing its service to listeners by recording many broadcasts that come in at inconvenient hours and re-broadcasting over its local outlet, KHJ.

Highlights of the Coronation, including the speech of King George VI, were handled in this manner and other programs to be handled similarly are "Witch's Tales," a coast favorite two years ago, and Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux's evangelistic program, "Happy Am I," coming from Washington.

Fines for Announcers

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Announceers' boners will boomerang to the good fortune of one WFIL word spieler and brings added headaches, financial and otherwise, to the rest, under the terms of a new "Announcers' Sweepstakes" just devised by WFIL's general manager, Donald Withycomb. Every time a mike man fails to sign his log on commercial announcements or stumbles on a piece of commercial copy, there will be a fine ranging from twenty five cents to a dollar, according to the degree of the misdemeanor. At the end of each month, the announcer with the lowest number of demerits will be awarded the "kitty."

WJBY to Build Studio

GADSDEN, Ala., May 16.—WJBY plans to build new studios here. The station also has applied to the F.C.C. for a permit to increase its day power to 250 watts.

Newcomer to the WJBY staff is Fox Lightfoot, as announcer and program director.

ing the M.P.T.O.A.'s 10-point program were dependent, for the most part, upon the establishment of local conciliation boards. The setting up of the boards has been definitely blocked, hence no other important phases of the program are likely to be achieved or voluntarily conceded by distributors under sales policies for the 1937-'38 season.

The M.P.T.O.A. has suspended further efforts to realize its trade practice program pending the enactment of President Roosevelt's new legislative program for industry. The national exhibitor organization is of the opinion that the new Federal legislation will include provisions covering fair trade practices for industries in interstate commerce which, if enacted, would supersede any industry program which the M.P.T.O.A. might succeed in getting adopted at this time. The organization also expects that the fate of this anticipated legislation will be known prior to the adjournment of the present Congress, which may not be until August. New season selling would be well advanced by that time.

Warner Cosmopolitan Setup Will Continue

politan pictures, it was explained, is due to the fact that designations are not made until films which are to be released under that name are nearly finished.

Miss Davies is due from the coast in three weeks en route to Europe for a vacation. She may appear in "Boy Meets Girl" on next season's program.

Jack McGann Dies

Jack McGann, assistant branch manager for Warners in Boston, suffered a heart attack and died at 6 A. M. Saturday morning at the Waldorf Astoria. His body was shipped to Boston Saturday night and funeral services will be held today or tomorrow. McGann had been with the company many years.

Omaha Bans "Ecstasy"

OMAHA, May 16.—Pending appointment of his new five-man welfare board to censor plays and films, Mayor Dan Butler of Omaha has barred the showing of "Ecstasy" here upon the report of City Welfare Inspector Tom Knapp. Ralph Goldberg of the Goldberg Theatre Corp. had booked "Ecstasy" for his Town theatre, but deemed it advisable to have the mayor pass on the picture in view of recent censorship inflicted here.

Plan Three for Shirley

HOLLYWOOD, May 16. — Shirley Temple will probably be listed in three of the 52 pictures planned by 20th Century-Fox here. Eddie Cantor will be scheduled for two, the first "Ala Baba Goes to Town," will go into production next month.

Cantor will be master of ceremonies at the banquet to be staged June 3 at the Cocoanut Grove.

"Star Born" $17,500 Hit, Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—"A Star Is Born" took a smashing $17,500 for its first week at the Aldine. In spite of rising temperature it looks good for for four weeks.

The only other house in town to top its average was the little Arcadia playing a second run on "Maytime." It grossed $3,500 and was held a second week.

"Captains Courageous" was held a fourth week at the Locust.

Total first run business, including roadshow, was $88,100. Average is $81,960.

Ontario Denies Plea For Censoring Group

TORONTO, May 16.—The Ontario Government has refused an unusual request from the Community Welfare Council of Ontario in the proposal from the organization for a committee to sit with the Provincial Board of Moving Picture Censors at all screenings so that the council can publish classified lists of pictures suitable for adult and family patronage.

The Council, made up of representatives from many community and religious bodies, desires to set up a system of subsidiary censorship. The request was made despite the fact that the Council received a report showing a reduction in "unsuitable pictures" for which credit was given to the Legion of Decency.

"Property" Is Washington's Best in Lull

WASHINGTON, May 16.—"Personal Property" at the Loew, a stage-screen house took $22,000 to exceed average by $1,100. This was the only house to go over par.

Here, as all along the line, the week opened as though it might be good, but the slump hit and theaters never recovered. "Charlie Chan at the Olympics" at Loew's Columbia took $3,500, under par by $100.

Loew's Palace with "Wake Up and Live" was good for but $13,500, or $2,400 below the average.

Rogers Opens 'U' Meet With Product Talk

Cochrane Speech Praises Cowdin and Rogers

Los Angeles, May 17.—Universal has made good its promises, Charles R. Rogers told the opening convention session at the Ambassador here this afternoon. "Last year," said the Universal vice-president, "we had nothing but promises to sell exhibitors. We had words without deeds, without anything much with which to impress exhibitors. This year we have a record of good pictures. This year we meet our customers with a record of having made good our promises of last year. This year's selling should be easier than ever before."

Rogers was the chief speaker of the day. "I've been criticized for taking chances," he said. "I'm going to continue to take chances. I like to take them. Unless chances are taken there is no progress. We've got our shoulders to the wheel out here. You've got yours to the wheel out in the territory. Remember we're all working together as hard as we can."

J. R. Grainger was in the chair

General Electric and Rex Cole, Inc., have leased the Center for the broadcast of the Phil Spitalny "Hour of Charm" program May 24, from 9:30 to 10 P. M., E. D. S. T. on the NBC-Red. In addition to the program, the studio audience will be permitted to see a special showing of the Irving S. Cobb picture, "From Now On."

The theatre was leased to accommodate a Rex Cole dealer meeting that evening. Rex Cole is issuing the "studio" invitations.

G.N. Forces Told of New Sales Setup

Los Angeles, May 17.—Outlining the progress the company has made in the last year, Edward J. Peskay, vice-president in charge of distribution for Grand National, today told the delegates gathered at the Ambassador that 34 exchanges are now operating in the United States and Canada.

In addition, the company has offices in London and Paris and plans are being developed by Jack Barnstyn, foreign sales head, for opening branches and establishing agencies in Brussels, Rome, The Hague and Cairo. Deals have been made for handling Grand National product in Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Santo Domingo and in the Philippines, and negotiations are under way for open-

Technicolor Told Record Footage Set

Stockholders Told Total To Be 55,000,000 Ft.

Technicolor has closed contracts since Jan. 1 for 55,000,000 feet of film in which its color process will be used this year, stockholders of the company were told by George F. Lewis, vice-president and general counsel, at their annual meeting here yesterday. The figure is the highest for any similar period in the company's history. It includes a considerable amount of footage already produced this year.

The company's earnings were $165,000 for the first quarter, as compared with $132,000 for the same period last year. The outlook for the remainder of the year is exceptionally favorable, the meeting was informed.

Four directors whose terms expired were reelected for additional three-year terms and H. K. McCann was elected to the board for a three-year term to fill a vacancy caused by the recent death of William H. Coolidge. The four who were reelected are Alfred Fritzsche, T. W. Slocum, James H. Hayes and A. W. Hawkes. The

FMPC Seeking To Stop Coast Construction

20th Century-Fox Target In New Move

Hollywood, May 17.—The striking F.M.P.C. today started a verbal war with Building Trades Council seeking to tie up all studio construction work, principally at 20th Century-Fox. Strikers claim B.T.C. Secretary C. J. Haggerty ordered the 47 locals here not to pass through picket lines but Haggerty denied this, although stating that many local members refused to pass. Construction of three sound stages at 20th Century-Fox was halted temporarily today when laborers balked at the lines through a misunderstanding but later went through.

The F. M. P. C. received a blow today when cooks and camera machinists deserted, returning to their studio posts, leaving only nine crafts, scenic artists, stationary engineers, plumbers, painters, moulders, sheet metal workers, blacksmiths, laborers and makeup men still out.

A new FMPC move charges that a local public school supplies set designers, hairdresses and makeup strikebreakers to the studios and sent protests to Board of Education. They charge also one university asked for 150 big students to be sworn in as special guards for the studios.

Gypsy Rose Lee's Name Dropped By 20th-Fox for Her Real Name

Hollywood, May 17.—"Twentieth Century-Fox has changed the name of Gypsy Rose Lee to Louise Hovick, which is her real name. She is to be presented on the screen as a dramatic actress, and the company therefore feels it appropriate that she should make her screen debut under her real name. Her stage name, Gypsy Rose Lee, will be from this date dropped entirely," reads a decree from Darryl F. Zanuck.

Miss Lee is now working in "You Can't Have Everything," but unexplained was the story behind the decision. Twentieth Century-Fox has been swamped with hundreds of letters protesting her appearance on the screen. The purpose of the change in name in the light of this circumstance becomes immediately obvious.

during the proceedings. Rogers will outline the new product Tuesday afternoon.

Commenting on the company since it passed to new control last year, Robert H. Cochrane, president, characterized J. Cheever Cowdin and Rogers as new Universal's "Two Rocks of Gibraltar."

Routine matters were discussed during the morning. Telegrams from various prominent exhibitors were read and practically all the studio personnel was introduced to the sales force. Cochrane said in part, "The new Universal is new in every respect. It's new in the respect and the thought of the men in industry, new in its standing in the field, new and growing in prestige and new and high in the regard of exhibitors."

Cowdin's message expressed confidence in the company.

Tuesday night the conventioneers will attend a barbecue at the Uplifters' Ranch and Wednesday will visit the studio and attend a dinner dance at the Trocadero in the evening. Planned for them is an elaborate four-reel trailer highlighting "The Road Back," now in its final production stages.

At the conclusion of today's meeting Rogers announced that John M. Stahl is returning to Universal under a two-and-a-half year contract.

Returns to Studio Shortly

More "Road Back" Scenes

Hollywood, May 17.—Jonathan Hale, Robert Middlemass and John St. Polis have been signed by Universal for additional scenes for "The Road Back," Erich Maria Remarque's sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front."

William Royal and Grace Goodall have been added to the cast of "Reported Missing" and Ed Stanley and Ralph Lewish to "Westbound Limited."

Curtis at Ottawa House

Toronto, May 17.—Famous Players Canadian Corp., has named Gene Curtis, former sales promotion director of the Canadian circuit and also manager of Loew's, the Capitol and the Palace in Montreal, as manager of the Regent in Ottawa.

ing distribution channels in Tokyo and Shanghai, Peskay added.

James Cagney and Anna Sten are each under contract with the company to appear in three more pictures. One of the three Cagney will make is for the current season. Victor Schertzinger will direct Miss Sten's first picture.

Various producers and directors were introduced to the sales force during luncheon today. After dinner "Small Town Boy" was screened at the Grand National studio theatre.

The afternoon session was marked by an open forum when delegates discussed current product. I. Levine of New Haven, won the salesdrive which ended May 6 and got the $1,000 award. Second prize of $750 went to Merritt Davis, Charlotte; third of $500 to Cleve Adams, Albany; fourth of $250 to Jules Lapidus, of Pittsburgh.

Producers, including R. A. Rowland, Zion Meyers, B. F. Zeidman, Max Alexander, Victor Schertzinger and Andrew Stone will talk Tuesday morning. A studio banquet is planned for Tuesday evening with Conrad Nagel master of ceremonies.

Four Editing, Two Shooting, for G.N.

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—Grand National has four features editing and two shooting. Four more will go before the cameras in the next four weeks.

Editing are "Small Town Boy" with Stuart Erwin and Joyce Compton, which Zion and Meyers produced and Glenn Tryon directed; "The Shadow," with Rod La Rocque, produced by Max Alexander and directed by Lynn Shores; "Sweetheart of the Navy," with Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, produced by B. F. Zeidman and directed by Duncan Mansfield, and "Rider of the Rockies," with Tex Ritter and Louise Stanley, produced by Edward Finney and directed by R. N. Bradbury.

Condon Feature Shooting

Shooting are "Love Takes Flight," with Bruce Cabot, a Condor film directed by Conrad Nagel, and "King of the Sierras," a wild horse feature likewise produced by Condor with Arthur Rosson directing.

"Something to Sing About," the next James Cagney to be directed by Victor Schertzinger, starts May 28. Six days ahead of that "Face the Facts," with Stuart Erwin, will get under way. Andrew L. Stone will produce, but no director has been assigned as yet. On June 5, "Frontier Town," another Tex Ritter western, will start, and on June 4, "Maybe It's Love," a Zeidman production for which no cast has been lined up so far. On schedule, but not fixed as to dates are "Grand Canyon," which R. A. Rowland will produce; "Honolulu Honeymoon," which Glenn Tryon will direct, "Gorgeous," starring Anna Sten, which Eugene Franke will produce, and a second Sten, "Love Me Again," which Victor Schertzinger will direct.

Harlan Dixon Joins G. N.

Harlan Dixon, who has just completed staging Ben Marden's new Riviera revue, has been signed by Grand National. He will leave for Hollywood today to assume his new duties.

tionality. The opponents cited a two-to-one decision of the legislature's Constitution Committee against it.

Attorney General Richard Hunter will enforce the act immediately. A fine of $5,000 is provided for any violation.

The bill does not mention Ascap by name but cites "any combinations." It was introduced by Senator Frank Brady.

Fight Planned Here

Ascap will move at once to obtain an injunction to restrain the state from enforcing the measure if it is not vetoed, E. C. Mills, general manager of the society, said. The organization will proceed in Nebraska exactly as it did in Montana, where a similar measure was enacted earlier. Arguments on Ascap's application for an injunction against enforcement of the Montana measure were heard by a special three-judge Federal court several weeks ago and a decision is expected some time next month.

A statement of Ascap's national problems was put before the field representatives from all over the country yesterday. Discussion of the problems will begin today and the meeting is scheduled to close tomorrow.

Colorado Tax Bill Now Law

DENVER, May 17.—The two per cent tax bill on all admissions was signed here today by Governor Teller Ammons. There are no exemptions to the levy. The tax will be collected by means of tokens one-fifth of a cent in value. Theatres cannot absorb the tax. They must collect. The measure is effective at once.

Hear Dog Racing Protest

ALBANY, May 17.—Henry Walters of RKO marshalled the speakers in opposition to the Hall dog racing bill before Governor Lehman today.

Walter Reade, speaking in opposition, declared dog racing to be a bigger racket than slot machines.

Speaking against the bill were Charles W. Tuttle, chairman of the State Racing Commission; Herbert Bayard Swope, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and more than a score of civic organization heads.

Engel to Do "Duchess"

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—Sam Engel, who will handle the production reins for "The Duchess of Reno," Gracie Fields' first for 20th Century-Fox, will sail for England in six weeks to start production. A number of players will be sent to London to appear in the picture to give it an international twist. Monty Banks will direct.

After a week's inactivity, production has been resumed on "Born Reckless." Work was suspended on the picture when Brian Donlevy sustained an injury.

Give First Orphan Show

CLEVELAND, May 17.—The first of a series of semi-weekly free film shows for shut-ins provided by the Cleveland Variety Club with the cooperation of distributors and projectionists, takes place tomorrow at St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum. This will be the first time any films have ever been shown at the institution and will be the first time many of the inmates have ever seen a film.

board will meet in the near future for the annual election of officers.

Lewis presided at the meeting in the absence of Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president, who is en route to England.

Goldwyn "Follies" in Color

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—"The Goldwyn Follies" will be the first film Samuel Goldwyn will place before the cameras following his decision to make all his future product in Technicolor. The elaborate musical is expected to go into work shortly. "The Real Glory" and "You Can Be Beautiful" will follow, the last named starring Gary Cooper and Merle Oberon.

The color technique has taken "vast strides forward" during the past six months, Goldwyn declared yesterday in revealing his plan for all color films in the future. "Color no longer interferes with the telling of the story," he said. "There is no doubt that most of the present important pictures would utilize the new color processes immediately if there were sufficient equipment to care for them."

The inability of Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president of Technicolor, to supply adequate equipment at the present, made it impossible to film "The Adventures of Marco Polo" in color, Goldwyn said. He indicated, however, that plans are being rushed for equipment to supply his color needs and predicted a swing to color by all major studios within a year.

"When I made 'Whoopee' in 1929 with a two-color process, I realized that it had a novelty value only," the producer said, "but in the past six months I have been convinced that the third color now is a vital asset to picture making and the subtlety of color no longer hinders the story. Color pictures will not mean any change in screen technique so far as I am concerned. Instead it will merely join with sound and music as permanent and acceptable aids to screen story telling."

Joice in RKO Post

J. Maxwell Joice, former chief supervisor of amusements for the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition, has joined RKO's public relations' field staff under Leon J. Bamberger. He will handle the midwest which comprises Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines and Sioux Falls.

William J. Healy is in charge of the east central district, Vernon H. Adams, the south and Franklin R. Fielding, the east.

New Unit for Schlesinger

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—Leon Schlesinger is establishing a fourth cartoon unit with Raymond G. Katz, until now assistant executive to Schlesinger. Katz will make his headquarters in Beverly Hills and will produce 10 Looney Tunes in black and white.

In the present Hollywood studio, Schlesinger will make 20 Merrie Melodies in Technicolor and six Looney Tunes in black and white. Distribution continues through Warners.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Behind the Headlines"

(Radio)

Los Angeles, May 17.—They went hog-wild on this far-fetched melodrama of a conflict between newspaper and radio reporters and the consequences turn out to be in direct keeping with the premise.

"Behind the Headlines" is one of those conveniently arranged action yarns where logic figures in little and sense in about the identical proportion. It tells of the tussle between Lee Tracy, knock-'em-dead radio reporter who is always on the scene of the crime, the fire or whatever it is, and Diana Gibson, who might get her yarn but has to trail Tracy while type is set and her paper runs through the presses. They have a time of it, abetted by a raging fire, high-powered motor cars and a fantastic yarn built around the theft of a government armored car conveying gold to the Treasury Dept. new bullion reservoir near Fort Knox, Ky.

Miss Gibson gets mixed up with the bandits and Tracy, you'll be guessing by this time, gets there as machine guns blaze to save the girl and his love in one combination swoop. The grudge battle between the two news-disseminating mediums gives way to heart throbs and the moot point, therefore, is never settled.

The audience at the RKO Hillstreet took this good-naturedly and appeared to enjoy the outlandish goings-on. Decidedly a second feature, "Behind the Headlines" is decidedly just another film. They won't cheer it, but they won't go into the reverse either.

Code-approved. Running time, 57 minutes. "G." KANN

"Hotel Haywire"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, May 17.—That new formula which is doing much to improve Paramount's special and Class A pictures is also proving beneficial when applied to lesser grade efforts. Here the result is fast-paced farce comedy that should appeal to family type audiences and also permit exhibitors to bolster their program by including "Hotel Haywire."

The piece is a gag and situation comedy, moving to the tune of humorous action and dialogue, played by a capable cast and smartly directed by George Archinbaud to keep the spirit of clean, wholesome fun dominant. While doing this, a pseudo-dramatic romantic contrast is also introduced.

Spring Byington's faith in a fake astrologer, Leo Carrillo, makes her husband's, Lynne Overman's, home life a hectic thing. When a bunch of poker-playing pals plant a set of women's undies in Overman's pocket to be discovered by Miss Byington, she is convinced she is a woman wronged. She consults Carrillo. So does Overman. Advising Miss Byington to go out with other men, Carrillo, playing the game for all its worth, furnishes both with squads of dippy detectives to furnish the battling mates with desired evidence. With the major action of these sequences taking place in a hotel, its wild and woolly hilarity is compensated by the efforts of the pair's daughter, Mary Carlisle, to marry John Patterson despite the objections and interferences of his cantankerous father, George Barbier. All problems are solved and peace restored to the household when Carrillo is driven out of town.

Gay, bright and breezy all the way through to make for desirable amusement, the film is based on an original screen play by Preston Sturges. It should more than fill the bill where people like to laugh.

Speaking of the effect of the Supreme Court decision on the film industry, Myers stated that "the Wagner Act applies to the studios." He said, however, that he "is of the opinion that labor relations, wages, hours and working conditions in theatres are beyond the scope of Congress."

Hearing in Fox Case Is Again Postponed

Atlantic City, May 17.—The continuance of the William Fox bankruptcy hearings for examination of witnesses scheduled for today was indefinitely postponed.

Federal Judge John Boyd Avis several days ago signed an order transferring all business in connection with the case to Referee Thomas L. Gaskill in Camden. This followed the recent sudden death of Federal Referee Robert E. Steedle, of this city, who was in charge.

Postpone Fox-Sentry Trial

N. Y. Supreme Court Justice Timothy A. Leary yesterday postponed to May 26 trial of the actions of the Sentry Safety Control Corp. and Joseph E. Cohen against William Fox and the Fox Film Corp. to permit Fox to apply for discharge of the claim in his New Jersey bankruptcy proceedings.

Sentry asks $1,300,000 damages and Cohen seeks $300,000 for an alleged breach of contract made in December, 1937, when Fox agreed to place Sentry safety control devices on all Fox projectors. Fox is charged with falsely representing his authority to bind the Fox Film Corp. Justice Leary ruled that it is a debatable question whether or not the claims are dischargable in bankruptcy.

Ask Song Suit Dismissal

Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. will ask Federal Judge Murray Hulbert on May 21 to dismiss the $1,000,000 plagiarism suit brought by the Foreign and Domestic Music Corp., Samuel Cummins, Societa Anonima Musicale Bixio and Cesare, Andrea Boxio against them, Movietone Music Corp., Sam and Harry Fox, who operated the Sam Fox Publishing Co., Con Conrad, Herb Magidson and Nini Martini. Twentieth Century-Fox claims that the complaint fails to set forth a cause of action and that the court lacks the jurisdiction to hear the suit. The complaint charges infringement of Bixoi's song, "Passa l'amore," in the picture, "Here's to Romance."

Donovan Allowed $50,000

William J. Donovan, solicitor for the Irving Trust Co., trustees of RKO, yesterday was allowed $50,000 for interim fees for the period from July 2, 1936, to March 4, 1937, by Federal Judge William Bondy. Donovan had asked for $85,000. The Irving Trust Co. was allowed $25,000 on their request for $60,000 for the same period. Donovan previously had been granted $140,000 for the period from July, 1934, to July, 1936.

Six Bands for Benefit

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—Six famous bands of radio and screen will participate in a "Jam Session" at the Pan-Pacific auditorium here Sunday, May 23.

The "big-league swing concert" is sponsored by Bing Crosby as a benefit for Joe Sullivan, rated the country's best swing piano stylist, who is seriously ill in the east.

The bands taking part are Jimmy Dorsey's Victor Young's, Georgie Stoll's, Harry Owens', Ted Fiorito's and most likely Glenn Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra.

Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, Ella Logan, Johnny Mercer and Crosby will contribute vocal entertainment.

Radio Finds Plane

Dayton, May 17.—An odd emergency request was successfully fulfilled by WHIO when that station issued a call for an airplane. Within 30 minutes three planes had been offered by listeners.

The plea was broadcast at the request of Albert Pick, owner of a chain of hotels, who had received word from Florida where his wife's condition was reported critical. Prior to contacting the station, Pick had called six airports and three private pilots. None had a plane available.

One hour after the broadcast, Pick took off for Florida.

Add San Antonio Radio News

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The two locally-owned newspapers, the Morning Express and Evening News, are now giving the three other radio stations daily program announcements, which they have omitted for some reason or other. These two sheets have been listing only WOAI and KTSA programs each day, but now include KABC, KMAC and KONO.

Radio comments and local news items are omitted from these two papers, but "The Light" (afternoon Hearst) has the only radio column here. It is written by Renwicke Cary.

Test Radio for Magazines

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—To stimulate newstand sales of magazines radio will be tested by the United News Agency over WFIL. Using a spot announcement each Sunday, for eight weeks, the agency will plug a feature article in the current issue of one of the magazines handled. A different publication will be chosen for each announcement.

Cantor Signed Until 1943 for Air Series

Eddie Cantor has been signed until the spring of 1943 by his present sponsor, the Texaco Co., assuring the comedian's appearance on the Sunday 8:30 to 9 P. M. spot on the CBS network for the next six years. The contract is ironclad, it is said, in that it contains no cancellation clauses.

The monetary value of the contract was not made public, although it is said Cantor has been receiving $13,000 weekly for his Texaco programs this season.

The agency is Buchanan & Co., formerly Hanff-Metzger.

Buick to Sponsor Fight

With all legal obstacles to the fight removed by a recent court decision, the Arthur Kudner agency yesterday officially admitted that the Buick Motor Co. will sponsor the broadcast of the James J. Braddock-Joe Louis fight in Chicago June 22 over NBC, beginning at 11 P. M., E. D. S. T.

The broadcast will be aired over the biggest network ever arranged for such an event—125 stations, comprising every station of the Red and Blue networks.

The cost to the Buick Co. is not known, but the price must be considerable in that NBC is reported to have paid $50,000 to the promoters for the exclusive rights to the broadcast.

Blair to Represent KFEL

DENVER, May 17.—John Blair & Co., station representatives, will act as exclusive national spot representatives for KFEL, Mutual outlet at Denver, effective immediately. The arrangements were completed with Gene O'Fallon and Frank Bishop by Blair when he visited Denver last week.

KFEL continues as an affiliate of Transamerican Broadcasting and Television Corp.

SAN DIEGO, May 17.—John Babcock, formerly of KDB, Santa Barbara, has been named by Glen Litten of KFSD as new sales manager, succeeding J. O. Van Keuren, resigned.

"Dean of Hollywood"

CBS can lay claim to having one of the most satisfying sustaining programs on the air in "Dean of Hollywood," new series starring Hobart Bosworth.

It would be comparatively easy to allow sentiment to get the better of good judgment in assaying the worth to radio of stage and screen veteran Bosworth. Fortunately, however, it is not necessary to be sentimentally dishonest. Bosworth, possessor of a fund of delightful theatrical memories, wove his personal experiences into a script which provided a fascinating flashback into a career more interesting than any make-believe creation of Hollywood's scenarists.

Bosworth, telling his story in a kindly, philosophical manner, related how he ran away from Annapolis in early youth and signed up for an Arctic exploration trip, only to swear upon his return 11 months later never to go to sea again, unless he went as a passenger. Successively he became a coal heaver, a pork wrestler, and prizefighter. His first stage appearance was in 1885, in "The Veteran." Followed appearances in important parts —at $10 a week—with Julia Marlowe, Mrs. Fiske, John Drew and other greats of the stage.

Exacting a promise from a producer that his name would not be included in the cast of characters, Bosworth went into films, receiving $125 a week. This was the first one-reeler ever filmed. He has since appeared in over 500 films.

Particularly effective staging was his opening and closing lines, consisting of excerpts from "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Early in the program, Bosworth said he often wondered what would be a good radio program for himself, and with the help of CBS decided a meaty, casual talk would have its place on the air. He was right.

"Dean of Hollywood" is presented Saturdays from 6:15 to 6:30 P.M., E.D.S.T. on CBS. BANNER upon them in the next month or two. Indications are that the organizing drive will come into the open shortly after Equity's annual membership meeting and election of officers on June 4.

Equity's radio organizing aims have been rumored for many months, but up to a short time ago Equity officials either denied the reports or declined to comment on them. Shortly following the Supreme Court decision on the Wagner Act an official spokesman for Equity gave MOTION PICTURE DAILY the first official confirmation that the organizing drive was in work, as reported in the issue of May 1.

The C. I. O. has launched an organizing drive among radio's technical workers.

May Revise "Good Will Court"

A current report has it that A. L. Alexander, whose "Good Will Court" was barred from the airways by a recent Appellate Division ruling forbidding lawyers and judges from giving legal advice on the air, will be back on the networks this fall with a program similar to the barred "Good Will Court."

Alexander's revised program will air both sides of every case heard on the series, and will offer "decisions" rather than advice. Prominent laymen will offer the "decisions," which will be binding, it is said, in that the litigants will be compelled to sign papers agreeing to abide by the findings of the laymen who are acting as jurists.

"Personal Column" Extended

"The Personal Column of the Air," which is now heard five week-day mornings over the NBC-Blue network, and Monday through Thursday afternoons on the Red, will round its schedule out to a full 10 broadcasts a week when it adds Friday to its Red network beginning June 4, at 4:15 P. M., E.D.S.T. The morning spot over the Blue will continue to be heard at 11:30 A. M., E.D.S.T.

Mutual Gets Exposition

Mutual has completed arrangements to broadcast daily throughout the summer from the Great Lakes Exposition, Cleveland, beginning May 29. The broadcasts will be offered daily exclusive of Sundays at 5 P. M., E. D. S. T., and Mondays twice daily, at 3:30 P. M. and 5 P. M.

Mutual is also completing arrangements to broadcast several times weekly from Billy Rose's "Aquacade" major night club and amusement feature at the exposition.

WHN Men to Meet Sidney

Members of WHN's engineering staff will meet with Louis K. Sidney, managing director of the station, and his assistant, Herbert Pettey, tomorrow, in an effort to reach an agreement with the technical staff. The staff is demanding shorter hours, minimum pay and better working conditions.

A meeting last Saturday resulted in an impasse.

WGN Staff Goes on 40-Hour Week Basis

CHICAGO, May 17.—WGN employes heretofore working 41 hours, six days a week have gone on 40-hour, five-day schedule. The new plan will continue indefinitely if found to be feasible. Difficulties have been overcome by adding some employes and working staggered schedules.

The mechanical division and musical department employes, under contract through their respective unions, have been working a 40-hour week for some time past.

Announcers under contract will work no more than 40 hours a week under the new plan, but may work more than five days a week, because of the fact that many of the announcers are under contract for commercial radio programs and because of seasonal broadcasting such as baseball, news broadcasting and other special events. Some members of the announcing staff may work on a six or seven-day schedule, but only during the contract time made necessary by the commercial programs. Other announcers will work no more than 40 hours per week of six days and this may eventually be changed to five days with the men working on a staggered basis, particularly where an announcer is handling sustaining programs only.

Eight Firms Agree To Discuss Radio

O. A. committee members are Samuel Pinanski, Lewen Pizor and Arthur Lockwood.

Vincent said that no formal program had been prepared and that the meeting would serve primarily as a means for bringing producer-distributor representatives together with the exhibitor committee for a general discussion of the radio problem and for consideration of various regulatory or supervisory plans for Hollywood broadcasts. If such a plan is adopted at the meeting it would be submitted to representatives of the networks later, it was said.

WTMJ Gets Portable Unit

MILWAUKEE, May 17. — WTMJ, Milwaukee Journal station, has purchased a three-quarter ton, panel model truck, built to specifications drawn by Daniel W. Gellerup, chief engineer, to house its portable transmitting and receiving equipment.

Special racks will hold two transmitters, W9XAI and WABH, power for which will be furnished by a 600-watt AC generator. A microphone position will be established in the cab and another at the back of the truck.

offer to negotiate with F.M.P.C. unions. He pointed out that the machinists and culinary workers had returned to work apparently willing to accept his word that negotiations would begin not later than May 24.

Casey reiterated that at no time had producers refused to negotiate the question of a union shop in conjunction with other demands on wages and hours.

Under the terms of a 10-year deal pending between the Screen Actors' Guild and the producers, as revealed to the meeting of actors last night, a strike of actors is ruled out for the period of the agreement. The contract will become effective as of May 15, this year, and already has been accepted verbally by Columbia, M-G-M, Paramount, RKO, 20th Century-Fox, Universal and Warners, among the majors. Samuel Goldwyn and Walter Wanger have accepted for United Artists, and producers releasing through major companies, who have signified acceptance are Major Prod., B. P. Schulberg, Selznick International and Roach.

Agree on Arbitration

At last night's session, the general membership ratified the deal as made by its executive board. All future disputes will be settled by arbitration, according to the agreement. Committees of both parties will meet once each year to discuss modifications affecting all classes of actors. It is provided that arbitration must follow inability to agree on any points. The committee plans immediate attention to clarification of the NRA rules for extras, calls where weather is a factor and rules for stunt men.

Meanwhile, the guild shop goes into immediate effect pending ratification by the directorates of the producing companies. Working conditions specified must be made effective by June 1, with ratification required by June 10.

The agreement as made will be binding on all successor producer companies and subsidiary and controlled companies, and will cover production in this country. The committees will determine rules for production outside the United States, with arbitration resorted to in the event of inability to agree. New York production will be exempt until the guild opens an office there, within a month. When that is done eastern production will come under the general agreement, the contract to be a separate deal between the guild and each producer.

Main Concessions Listed

Commentators for travelogues, newsreels and sports reels are exempted until rules are worked out by the committees. The highlights of the concessions to the actors include: continuous layoffs for contract players for a one-week period, except for retakes; termination for illness only if ill three weeks in year; right to screen name; six holidays annually as to freelance players now; stock players to get $50 minimum weekly; 50-hour week for free lance players and 12-hour rest period, with one-forty-eighth of weekly pay for each overtime hour; day players get $25 daily minimum and travel time to and from location; $35 daily minimum for stunt men; NRA rules for extras and abolition of $3.20 check and $5 daily minimum, also guild access to Central Casting records.

During the first five years of the contract there is provided 100 per cent guild shop for extras, stunt men, day, free lance and stock players, and 90 per cent guild shop for stars and featured players. However, a producer making 40 or more films yearly reserves the right to use three non-guild stars or featured players only in two pictures yearly, and producers making less than 40 films annually have the right to use three non-guild stars or featured players in one picture annually. In the second five-year period 100 per cent guild shop for the entire acting profession is provided. The guild agrees to keep its membership open and not to impose unreasonable dues and initiation fees.

A statement from the guild last night charged the F.M.P.C. had called out the painters contrary to an agreed procedure between the guild and the F.M.P.C. "While we are exceedingly sympathetic with the men involved, we cannot allow our organization to be bound by unauthorized persons," the guild statement concluded.

Directors to Formulate Pact

HOLLYWOOD, May 17.—With the reelection of officers the Screen Directors' Guild with approximately 100 members is drafting plans to negotiate with major producers for a basic agreement covering working conditions.

A committee has been appointed by King Vidor who has been renamed president of the organization to draw up the proposed contract which will be submitted to the entire membership for ratification before it is presented to the producers.

"U" to Have 50 Features Next Season

Will Release 66 Shorts, Up Westerns to 10

Los Angeles, May 18.—Universal will release a total of 50 features, including 10 westerns, during the 1937-'38 season, James R. Grainger, general sales manager, told the delegates attend Universal's sales convention at the Ambassador here today.

Other producers who addressed the delegates at today's session included Buddy De Sylva, Joseph Pasternak, E. M. Asher, Edmund Grainger, Lou Brock, Trem Carr and M. Cheval, who will produce for the company under the Australian quota.

The afternoon session was marked by further talks by producers, including Robert Presnell, Irving Starr and Walter Lantz, cartoon producer.

J. Cheever Cowdin, in an address, said that with the completion of "The Road Back," Universal, for the first time in history, had completed its promised output, adding that

F.M.P.C. Ultimatum Given Independents

Hollywood, May 18.—The executive committee of the Federated M. P. Crafts today gave independent producers 24 hours to sign the union shop agreement for the nine F. M. P. C. unions guaranteeing working conditions and wage scale negotiations. The dictum was accompanied by a walkout threat. The F.M.P.C. claims 3,000 workers at independent studios will strike individually at each lot. The committee's decision was unanimous and instructed Vernon Murdock, secretary, to forward the order to the independents and to set a time limit of 24 hours after delivery.

Ten independent pictures are cur-

U. A. Meet Routine, Says Dr. Giannini

Hollywood, May 18.—The annual stockholders' meeting of United Artists held here today dealt with routine subjects, Dr. A. H. Giannini, president, stated this afternoon.

Conditions in England were described at length by Murray Silverstone, managing director of the British company and George J. Schaefer delivered in detail the status and progress in American sales.

G.N. Details Schedule of 65 Features

New Program to Include 16 Western Films

Los Angeles, May 18.—A total of 65 features will be released by Grand National during the 1937-'38 season, Edward J. Peskay, vice-president in charge of distribution, today told the 60 district and branch managers assembled at the Ambassador Hotel here for the company's annual sales convention.

Aside from the announcement of the new lineup, the second day was largely devoted to individual talks by producers on what they plan. The speakers included Victor Schertzinger, Max Alexander, M. H. Hoffman, representing Condor; Andrew Stone, Zion Myers, Al Herman, Bud Barsky, Eugene Frenke and R. A. Rowland.

The program for the coming season includes 25 feature attractions, 24 program features and 16 westerns. In all 12 producers have been assigned to the Grand National product.

James Cagney will appear in "Something to Sing About," in a singing and dancing role, the film to be produced by Victor Schertzinger. Cagney also will play in two other features, one of

Quins to Broadcast

The Dionne Quintuplets will celebrate their third birthday anniversary with a party May 28, and through the cooperation of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. the three great American networks, NBC, CBS and Mutual, will broadcast the celebration from the Dafoe Hospital in Callandar, Ontario.

George Taggart, CBS announcer, will em cee the proceedings, and will bring the youngsters to the microphone. In all probability, Dr. Dafoe will be heard, also.

20th-Fox Men Say European Gains Are Big

Headed by Walter J. Hutchinson, the 20th Century-Fox foreign sales contingent arrived yesterday on the Normandie, convention-bound. The group will remain in New York until next Wednesday and accompany the domestic sales force to Los Angeles where the annual sales meeting will be held at the Ambassador, May 30-June 3.

Commenting on conditions in England, Hutchinson said that "things are marvelous and better than last year. The spirit of the people is better as they are not so much afraid of war today."

R. Sutton Dawes, managing sales director for the company in England, asserted that theatre building is going on as fast as ever. "The popular sized theatre being constructed will seat about 2,000 compared to houses seating 3,000 and 4,000 built several years ago.

"There are approximately 4,000 theatres operating in England today," he

Hoyts-Greater Union Partnership May End

Termination of the five-year partnership arrangement between Hoyts and Greater Union in Australia was indicated yesterday with the return of Walter J. Hutchinson, foreign head for 20th Century-Fox, on his arrival on the Normandie.

"As far as I know," Hutchinson stated, "the deal is not being renewed." Prior to his departure for France and England to attend the European sales convention of 20th Century-Fox, a

Reels in Race To Ship Films On Coronation

Cooperative Effort Ends As Ship Docks

With the arrival of negatives and first prints of the Coronation on the Normandie yesterday, newsreel companies went into quick action to get special releases to as many cities as possible on all planes leaving Newark Airport in the afternoon and evening. By late afternoon, every theatre on Broadway was showing the pictures.

Only to a limited extent did the newsreel cameramen work cooperatively in photographing the crowning of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Because of the British Government's edict on the number of men permitted in Westminster Abbey, lots were drawn and four cameramen were enclosed in a six-foot-wide glass box. Special lights were set up for the photographers and the shots evenly distributed. In several other locations where only one man was allowed scenes were taken on a cooperative basis.

Some of the newsreel companies had as many as 35 cameramen at different vantage points, and it was estimated that under the cooperative arrangement one or two firms had the benefit of material "shot" by 60 men.

As soon as the Normandie docked

Producers to Aid In Radio Control

Most major producer-distributors will aid the M.P.T.O.A. in devising regulatory measures to prevent radio broadcasts employing Hollywood stars or new picture material from competing unfairly with theatres, the exhibitor committee was advised yesterday at its first meeting with major company representatives, held at the Astor.

The production and distribution

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 18

"IT is quality and quantity the public wants," remarked an unnamed Fox West Coast official in explaining why it was dual bills had been reinstated in ten situations where singles had been tried and business had flopped. We noted this in a recent issue of Motion Picture Daily, our most diligent occupation, and wondered. We reacted to such a curious combination of plus and minus as we might had Sam Goldwyn pulled on us the "Include me out" line for which he gets credit, uttered or not. . . .

It seems more or less routine to remark that the public is getting quantity and, of course, a good deal of quality in the process. Yet, we hold to the illusive and idealistic concept that for quality there can be no replacement and that the average theatre patron would prefer to have more of the better and less of the indifferent in his entertainment whether he is entirely conscious of his own reactions or not. Now that this has been set forth on the typewriter, we realize abruptly the danger in such a sweeping statement in the face of what is going on in the bulk of the nation's theatres. . . .

However, this is our idea and we, and now you for the next couple of minutes anyway, are stuck with it. The great difficulty about the testings made of single versus double features practically everywhere around the country has been the inadequacy of such probings. If an exhibitor on one side of the street decides for singles and his competition persists with doubles, the hardy experimenter will give up in a hurry if his gross drops and his opposition's sticks to whatever its current level with duals has been. Thus, you have a sort of test, but actually you have no test at all. If only through some latter day miracle, all exhibitors in a given city could be induced seriously to check the situation, we don't know the consequences, but the outcome might prove surprising. At least, no one can tell in advance that it won't be. . . .

Double bills are another name for inferiority in product. It begins in the studios with a chiseling in cast strength and budgets enforced upon the producer by the market he serves. Hollywood will dish up in a moment's notice propaganda on behalf of this studio and that and how the effort with B pictures compares favorably with the A. This, of course, is stuff and nonsense, designed for ultimate percolation to the exhibiting body which already knows better than to listen. It represents a studio defense for producing cheap pictures when actually no defense beyond a recognition of market requirements should be required. . . .

A diagnosis of his market should be the theatre operator's job. But the average exhibitor follows the path where the resistance is mildest and has demonstrated himself to be content with letting what he regards as well enough alone. It may be that a sweeping test of twin bills would continue them in vogue. It may not. The point there is that nothing beyond an isolated conclusion ever has been attempted. The conclusion of the point, very patent, is that Hollywood will continue to make a large number of second features which are essentially indifferent or bad features, and the public will get its quantity while it finds its quality when it can. . . .

The men running theatres, therefore, should have a proper realization of the condition before they send their complaints soaring heavenward. Should the prevalence of the double bills reflect accurately what the public desires, the public, then, also will have to be content with a goodly percentage of dud attractions. All of this may help nothing aside from aiding us get off another column, but that's something and we didn't think you'd mind. . . .

Film Group Sails Today

A number of film people will sail today on the Normandie for Europe. They include: Martin and Mrs. Beck, Leon Leonidoff of the Music Hall, and his family; Erik Charell, producer, and his brother, Ludwig; Hal B. Wallis, Warner production executive; Henry Blanke, also of Warners; Mark Sandrich, RKO director, and his family; Pierre Hurel, director of the France Film Co. of Montreal, and his wife.

Hold Bernstein Rites

Funeral services were held yesterday at Riverside Chapel for Ira Bernstein, late purchasing head for National Screen, who died at his desk Monday.

Three Teams Are Tied

The teams of RKO, Columbia and Paramount, with two victories each and no defeats, are leading the M. P. Baseball League of eight games.

Purely Personal

CHARLES KERR, assistant director on "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938," and Winton Hoch, Technicolor expert, will leave by plane today for the coast, having completed the shooting in color of various New York night clubs and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Rosita Diaz, Spanish actress, will leave for the coast tomorrow. She arrived on the Normandie yesterday and said she had a contract to make four pictures for Cantabria Films, which distributes through 20th Century-Fox.

Bill O'Brien and Mildred Lewis, both of M-G-M's publicity and advertising department, have tied the knot. The news leaked out yesterday after the couple had been married for about a week.

Joseph Friedman is aboard the Empress of Britain, which arrives in Montreal shortly. Friedman will visit his family in Canada before coming on to New York.

Col. Jason Joy, who arrived on the Normandie yesterday after attending the 20th Century-Fox European convention in Paris, will leave for Hollywood today.

George E. Quigley is expected here next week from the coast where he has been supervising the launching of new Keller-Dorian Colorfilm work.

Carl Laemmle, Sr., will arrive in New York next week from the coast. He plans to sail for a European vacation early next month.

Mrs. Nat Ross returned from England yesterday on the Normandie and will leave for the coast the end of the week with her husband.

Truman Talley, producer of Movietonews, did not return on the Normandie yesterday, but is due May 24.

Dorothy Mackaill will head for Hollywood in two weeks.

"U" to Have 50 Features Next Season

the company last year sold more contracts than ever in its history. It is understood that accounts domestically on the company books total 8,300.

The production announcement as outlined for next year by Grainger indicated the titles of 27 of the features, with production details on a number of them. The 50 features for next season will exceed by eight the total for the current season.

The company also will release 66 short subjects, in addition to 104 issues of the Universal Newsreel with Graham McNamee continuing as commentator.

Three of the 50 features will star Deanna Durbin, the Universal star who rose so rapidly during the current season. The first will be "100 Men and a Girl," with the same production staff that made "Three Smart Girls." The second will be "Mad About Music," and the third will again bring together the cast of "Three Smart Girls," Miss Durbin, Barbara Reed and Nan Grey, as well as Charles Winninger. "Three Smart Girls Go to Town" is the title. Henry Koster will direct all three.

Two Musicals for De Sylva

One feature will star Danielle Darrieux, French actress recently signed by Universal to a long term contract. "Rage of Paris" will be her vehicle. There will be at least one Hope Hampton and one John Stahl production. Two musicals will be produced by Buddy De Sylva, "A Young Man's Fancy," with Alice Faye, Ken Murray and the Three Diamond Brothers; and "Merry-Go-Round of 1937," which will be directed by Edward Buzzell, and feature Bert Lahr, Jimmy Savo, Mischa Auer, Alice Brady and Dave Apollon and his orchestra.

The company will avoid sophisticated plays and novels, the convention was informed. R. H. Cochrane, president, has indicated that the company is negotiating for five new personalities to play in its most important pictures.

The product schedule calls for an increase in westerns to 10 for next season, with Tex Baker, a new western star, appearing in addition to Buck Jones.

Will Feature Newspaper Characters

The short subject list will include four serials, three from newspaper strips. They are "Flash Gordon's Trip to Mars," "Radio Patrol," "Tim Tyler's Luck" and "Wild West Days," starring Johnny Mack Brown, based on the W. R. Burnett novel, "Saint Johnson."

There will be 13 two-reel musical Mentones, 13 one-reel "Going Places with Lowell Thomas," 13 one-reel "Stranger Than Fiction" with Alois Havrilla as commentator, and 26 Oswald cartoons. A two-reel special, "Ten Seconds to Live," will be produced by Charles E. Ford, newsreel editor.

The titles and production details as set up to now are:

"Adventure's End," by Ben Ames Williams.

"Behind the Mike," by Thomas Ahearn and Walter Butterfield.

"Carnival Queen," by Richard Wormser.

"The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," by Walter Donaldson and Monte Brice.

"Detective Crane," a Crime Novel published under the title of "Headed for a Hearse," by Jonathan Latimer.

"Hell on Ice," in which John Wayne will appear.

"The Lady Fights Back," by Arthur Stringer.

"Let's Be Candid," by Lawrence Pohle and Thomas Ahearn, based on the candid camera craze.

"Mad About Music," by Federick Kohner and Marcella Burke, another Deanna Durbin vehicle.

"Merry-Go-Round of 1937, "another Buddy De Sylva musical.

"Metropolitan Police," a Crime Club novel.

"Midnight Raiders," by Kimball Herrick.

"Mightier Than the Sword," by William Rankin.

"100 Men and a Girl," which will star Deanna Durbin and feature Leopold Stokowski and his symphony orchestra, Adolph Menjou, Mischa Auer and Alma Kruger.

"Prescription for Romance," by John Reinhardt and Robert Neville.

"The Rage of Paris," starring Danielle Darrieux.

"Reported Missing," by Verne Whitehead.

"The Road to Reno," by I. A. R. Wylie.

"The Shannons of Broadway," by James Gleason.

"That's My Story," by Vee Terrys Perlman.

"Three Smart Girls Go to Town," which will reassemble the original three smart girls, Deanna Durbin, Barbara Reed and Nan Grey with Charles Winninger.

"Tonight We Live," a romance of New Orleans by Jean Negulesco.

"Too Clever to Live," by Charles Grayson and Cy Bartlett, and starring Charles Winninger.

"Wanted at Headquarters," by Philip van Cize.

"The Welcome Imposter," by Channing Pollack.

"Yesterday's Kisses," by Luigi Pirandello.

"A Young Man's Fancy," a Buddy De Sylva musical.

What They're Down For

Dave Appollon and Orchestra—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Mischa Auer—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Larry Blake—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Alice Brady—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Danielle Darrieux—Starred in "The Rage of Paris."
Deanna Durbin—Starred in "100 Men and a Girl," "Mad About Music" and "Three Smart Girls Go to Town."
Three Diamond Brothers—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Alice Faye—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Nan Grey—"Three Smart Girls Go to Town."
Billy House—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Bert Lahr—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Ella Logan—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Ken Murray—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Barbara Reed—"Three Smart Girls Go to Town."
Casper Reardon—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Henry Stockwell—"A Young Man's Fancy."
Jimmy Savo—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
John Wayne—"Hell on Ice."
Charles Winninger—Starred in "Too Clever to Live" and also in "Three Smart Girls Go to Town."

Directors

Edward Buzzell—"Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Henry Koster—"100 Men and a Girl."

Producers

Buddy De Sylva—"A Young Man's Fancy" and "Merry-Go-Round of 1937."
Joe Pasternak—"100 Men and a Girl."

rently shooting. Of these, Condor has three while one each are being made by Republic, Crescent, Conn, Schulberg, Lesser, Monogram and Weiss. About six more will start the middle of next week. Republic plans to start four by June 15. Lesser's "Make a Wish," starring Bobby Breen starts Thursday.

Strike Generalissimo Charles Lessing today warned C.I.O. would take over teh industry if the AF.L. executive board fails to discipline the I.A.T.S.E. over the asserted piracy of F.M.P.C. jurisdiction Monday at the Cincinnati A.F.L. meeting.

William Cullen, painters' representative, flew east from here to present the evidence.

A national boycott of the Actors Guild leaders has been asked of the C. I. O. and the A. F. L. by the F. M. P. C. They request a boycott of pictures with Robert Montgomery, Frank Morgan, Franchot Tone, Humphrey Bogart and Edward Arnold. The wired message said "We request this action because, as members of the board of directors of the Screen Actors' Guild, these stars are mainly responsible for bringing the Guild into an alliance with a company union and for bringing their organization to its policy of passing our picket lines."

See "Dance" at $95,000

"Shall We Dance" is expected to garner $95,000 at the Music Hall for the first week, ending tonight. It will be held a second week and possibly a third. The picture is entering a third week in Chicago and Los Angeles.

Royal Family Sees Reel

London, May 18.—King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the Princesses Margaret Rose and Elizabeth on Sunday viewed the Coronation pictures taken by British Paramount News in the Throne Room of Windsor Castle.

Cardinal Approves Bill

Cardinal Hayes yesterday approved a statement by Joseph F. Lamb, chairman of the New York Chapter of the Knights of Columbus, defending the Dunnigan bill and urging Governor Lehman to sign it.

Universal Personals

Los Angeles, May 18.—E. T. Gomersall, western sales manager, was considerably impressed by all those orange groves as the train neared Los Angeles. He tried to compute the number of glasses of orange juice per grove.

There's one fight that probably never will take place. Curt Littmann of Cincinnati challenged Curt Butler of Indianapolis to a fast go in the squared circle—the moment Butler gets down to Littmann's weight in the shower, 144. It won't be long now, since Butler tips the beam at only 288.

Nat Levene of Cincinnati has a double reason for attending the convention. He is seeing his father for the first time in 20 years. The dad runs an advertising agency in San Francisco, and came down here to visit with his son.

R. T. Good of Charlotte is the only conventionite without a nickname because his first is Raleigh.

That bridge game including "Dizzy" Nesbit, St. Louis; E. T. Gomersall, Hank Herbek of Chicago, and Paul Kreiger, Cincinnati, was going so steadily that the boys kept everybody awake bidding in their sleep.

F. J. A. McCarthy, eastern sales manager, was very particular about the preparation of his dishes. They had to be the way he likes them, or he refused to give them the slightest attention.

A. J. Sharick of the home office was responsible for the handling of that train ride west, and by all accounts, he is under option as passenger agent by at least four railroads.

Morris Joseph, New Haven branch manager, is celebrating his 23rd year with Universal. His gang is rushing along with a sales drive while he is away.

A. L. Titus, on the other hand, lost a cold somewhere between New Haven and Los Angeles which had stuck with him all spring.

Speaking of fruit, the avocados had the branch managers from the midwest all in a dither. Somebody is liable to try one anytime now.

It's "Monte Carlo" Brown of Indianapolis now. The way that man kept winning on the train should have been against the law.

The greetings were legion for Gus Schaefer, new foreign sales manager. He nearly wore out his hand shaking those proferred.

Ben Benjamin was married just a few days before he left Kansas City for the convention, which is not fair at all.

Oscar Binder nonplussed the redskins at Albuquerque by asking where he could buy some herring.

THE 14th YEAR of the World's Greatest Amusement Organization

The representatives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have returned from their Annual Convention in California. They are bringing to exhibitors the exciting Production Facts of M-G-M's Season of 1937-38. M-G-M today is BIGGER than ever in personnel and resources, STRONGER than ever before in all its glorious history. It is the One and Only INSURANCE for great Entertainments consistently delivered. Many changes have taken place in many companies and exhibitors have suffered with those changes—but M-G-M with unchallenged aggressiveness and unswerving stability has marched steadily forward. Its only change has been GROWTH! You will be thrilled when you hear about M-G-M's Greatest Year, 1937-38!

yesterday afternoon, all cooperative ties were dropped for a race by the newsreels to ship their releases as fast as planes and trains could get their material to out-of-town key bookings. No special planes were employed, a checkup revealed.

The Technicolor print of Movietonews was not among the material arriving yesterday. A black and white negative of 1,650 feet and two duping prints came over instead. According to the company, the entire footage is being used for all accounts. One of the duping negatives was immediately put on a plane for the coast, where it will be shipped to Tokyo. The second was sent to Canada where prints will be made for servicing of all accounts in the Dominion.

Color Shots to 20th-Fox

Executives of Movietonews stated yesterday that the Technicolor shots will be released as special subject by 20th Century-Fox. Prints of the black and white films were dispatched to all points between New York and Chicago, where it was expected to be shown late last night, and as far south as Atlanta. All theatres west of Chicago will begin showing the Coronation subject this morning, it was stated. Lowell Thomas, commentator, scored the subject in London, and when it arrived yesterday it was in final edited form. It was estimated that the company's cameramen took about 30,000 feet of film which was reduced to a reel and a half.

Jack Connolly, general manager of Pathe News, returned on the ship with approximately 35,000 feet of film. He said it was the first time newsreel photographers had been permitted to shoot scenes in Westminster Abbey. The company had 32 cameramen at various points, he said, and efforts were being made last night to ship the reel to as many spots as possible for immediate screening. These included showings in Greater New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and New England.

Paramount's subject was shown at the Paramount and Embassy yesterday afternoon and shipments were made to Boston, Richmond, Chicago and intermediate points. All theatres on the coast will show the reel this morning, it was stated by executives.

About 10,000 feet of selective shots were taken by Paramount cameramen, including the processional, crowning and return. When the negative arrived yesterday, it had been pre-edited by American editors in London. The remaining 9,000 feet will be edited for subsequent release.

Charles Ford, Universal Newsreel head, flew to the coast last night with three prints of the Coronation, one of which will be shown the company's delegates in convention this morning at the Ambassador, Los Angeles. Prints also were shipped yesterday afternoon to New England, Richmond and Kansas City.

Although 5,400 feet of the Coronation came over, only 900 feet are being used for the special release. The subject was edited yesterday afternoon with Howard Claney handling the narration. The first print was shown at the Roxy at 6:30 P. M. There will be no special or subsequent insertions or releases, Ford stated, and every theatre in the country will be showing the subject this morning.

News of the Day got out a first edition of 1,000 feet of the 25,000 feet Hearst International News men photographed. A super edition was to follow as soon as the country was blanketed with the first edition, an executive said. By this morning all theatres throughout the country will be showing the first edition, it was stated. E. V. H. Emmett, British commentator, described the Coronation. The pictures were shown at the Capitol and Embassy at about 6:30 last night.

companies showed a concern over the possible injurious effects of radio broadcasts equal to that of the exhibitors, members of the M.P.T.O.A. committee stated following the meeting. They agreed to cooperate with the committee in devising means of eliminating the competition about which exhibitors have complained and said that steps are being taken to bring the studios into closer touch with distribution departments to receive and investigate complaints based on specific broadcasts.

The M.P.T.O.A. committee, according to its statement, will, in turn, maintain contact with distribution departments to report exhibitor complaints to them.

Further efforts will be made by the committee in later meetings with producer-distributor representatives to work out a definite plan of control or supervision for Hollywood broadcasts, it was stated. The committee may hold its next meeting in about one week. When a definite plan has been devised it may be submitted, if necessary, to network officials who may be asked to cooperate in applying it.

Those who attended yesterday's meeting were Walter Vincent, Samuel Pinanski and Lewen Pizor, for M.P.T.O.A.; Al Lichtman and Louis K. Sidney for Loew's; Hal Hode, Columbia; Harry Buckley, United Artists; William McKay, Universal; Earl Wingart, 20th Century-Fox, and Russell Holman and Henry Salsbury, Paramount.

To Increase Radio Space

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—The Pittsburgh Press, Scripps-Howard newspaper, will increase its radio space, effective immediately, with a special full-page Wednesday section and added daily space.

Pantages to Start Air Talks

HOLLYWOOD, May 18.—Lloyd Pantages will inaugurate a Wednesday series over KNX and the CBS Pacific network May 26 from 7:30 to 7:45 P.M., P.S.T., under the general title of "Lloyd Pantages Covers Hollywood."

KFJZ, Fort Worth, has renewed the NBC Thesaurus Service for the third successive year through a contract extension effected through station manager R. S. Bishop.

New Shows On the Air

"Day Line Movie Pilot"

Screen fans hereabouts will appreciate the Hudson River Day Line's new program, "Day Line Movie Pilot," which was aired for the first time Monday night at 7:30 P. M., E.D.S.T. on WEAF. The program offers comments on current films playing the Broadway and neighborhood houses, and does it expertly with the aid of guest film critics enlisted from metropolitan dailies.

Regina Crewe of the New York American was the first "pilot," and her film recommendations and reasons therefor included "Shall We Dance," "Captains Courageous," for Broadway audiences, and in the neighborhood houses "Marked Woman," "Cafe Metropole," "Soldier and the Lady," "Personal Property," and "Waikiki Wedding." Parents were advised of the best bets for children, which included "The Prince and the Pauper," "Elephant Boy," "The Plainsman" and "Charley Chan at the Olympics."

As a counter-balance to the expert opinion, the program also airs the opinions of average screen goers. Three were on hand Monday evening, and their opinions coincided in the main with Miss Crewe's.

"The Day Line Movie Pilot" rates a round of applause from film producers. The listeners, we're positive, will not need such a reminder.

The program is heard three times weekly, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays over WEAF, from 7:30 to 7:45 P. M., E.D.S.T. BANNER

It is understood that this is in keeping with a promise made by Nicholas M. Schenck when M-G-M had a deal on with Ford some months ago. The new program will not take the air either Saturday or Sunday, thereby avoiding peak theatre hours. The studio is non-committal, but the plan is definitely taking shape.

Two New Air Series Are Signed by WMCA

WMCA reported two new contracts signed yesterday. The Madison Personal Loan Co., beginning immediately, adds to its present WMCA schedule a new series to be heard Mondays through Fridays from 5:30 to 5:45 P. M. The contract is for 13 weeks, and was placed direct.

Wipe-On Corp., beginning Friday, will share sponsorship in Annis Ives' participating program Fridays from 11:15 to 11:30 A. M., with daily mentions throughout the week. The E. M. Freystadt Associates handled the deal.

O. B. HANSON, NBC chief engineer and audio engineer Chester A. Rachen left for Washington last night, to be gone until Monday. Their mission is believed to be an inspection of the new equipment of NBC's Washington affiliate. . . . Leslie Howard will be the NBC "Hit Parade" guest June 19. . . . Ruth Etting set for the guest spot on the WOR "9 o'clock Revue" this Sunday. . . . Despite the fact he has been replaced on the "Fireside Recital" by "Cheerio," Kel Keech is still drawing announcer's pay on the program. . . . . Spitalny's all-girl orchestra will guest appear on the Heinz "Magazine of the Air" series over CBS May 26. . . . Fats Waller will be the principal guest on the CBS "Saturday Night Swing" this week. . . .

NBC, of all things, now has Milton J. Cross announcing the torrid band rhythms of Chick Webb's orchestra. Cross' specialty is symphony and opera broadcasts. . . . NBC, however, deserves all sorts of praise for attempting to raise the standards of drama in radio by presenting dramatizations such as "Of Mice and Men." . . . CBS, too, for its grand "Workshop" efforts. . . .

Wilmer Walter, who plays "Andy Gump," has returned to the script after a period of illness . . . Nancy Kelly, "March of Time" actress, has been added to the cast of "Myrt and Marge" . . . The late Harry Houdini's exposure of a band of fake spiritualists will be dramatized as Charles Martin's "Thrill of the Week" in the Philip Morris program, May 25, based on material supplied by Rose Mackenberg, Houdini's chief investigator . . . Gabriel Heatter begins his new commercial on WOR tonight . . .

Maurice Evans and Walter O'Keefe will appear as guests in the Vallee program tomorrow night . . . Phil Regan is making a personal appearance in Pittsburgh this week . . . The Gillette "Community Sing" cast is now en route east . . . Mrs. J. Borden Harriman will appear with Mrs. Roosevelt on her program tomorrow . . . Republic Pictures have bought the screen rights to the "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round" air show title . . . Bidu Sayao will be the guest on the Ford "Sunday Evening Hour" this week . . .

"Stuff" Smith's orchestra has been signed for the Walter Wanger picture, "52nd Street." Herman Bernie's office handled the pact. . . . Ann Jamison has been signed as a guest on Rubinoff's program May 23. . . . William A. Brady will portray a scene from "A Free Soul" on Kate Smith's "Bandwagon" program May 27. . . . Vincent Richards will offer the commercials on the "Gangbuster" program next week. . . . Elaine Arden and "The Merrymakers" will appear on "Showboat" Thursday. . . .

KOB Joins NBC June 15

KOB, Albuquerque, whose decision to join NBC was announced recently, will join the network formally June 15. The station will become an optional member of the Pacific Red or Blue networks.

Open . . . Wide Open . . . Every Pocket-Book and Change Purse that Milady Owns . . . Open to NBC Advertisers All Summer Long

Summer is the spicy season of gay romance and high adventure. Milady spends eagerly! Spends for glamorous accessories . . . for trips . . . for Cinderella's glass slippers . . . spends even for food. And the Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters-under-the-skin when it comes to buying . . . artichokes or apples . . . lipstick or liniment . . . caviar or cabbage . . . And as the mercury flirts with the century mark, does she stop listening? A thousand times No! NBC advertisers have discovered this fact. Last Summer they invested 72 per cent more than the previous Summer in NBC week-day daytime programs alone! They are learning that there is no "off season" when NBC programs invite to buy. May we tell you how . . . and why?

Harris, Rudin Plan To Merge 20 Houses

Lederer will be in charge of the physical operation of the houses. Negotiations are under way for the acquisition of 12 additional houses in Manhattan, now operated by two different groups. The names of the houses could not be learned, but it is understood the deals will be closed in three or four weeks.

added, and "the smaller out-moded houses are not shutting down despite the new building." Dawes will spend six weeks in New York and California before returning to London.

T. Isdahl, manager in Norway, said that theatre receipts in that country have increased 30 per cent over last year.

Luigi Giordano, head of the office in Egypt, said one new theatre was built in Cairo last year and another in Alexandria. No others are contemplated. One house is now under construction in Tel Aviv, Palestine, and another in Bagdad. Local producers made 15 pictures last year and a like number will be made this year, he stated.

Armand Paucker of Roumania declared that three new theatres have been constructed in that country in the last three years and none is planned. All together there are about 1,500 in the country. Roumanian producers have been making two features a year and all production plans have been abandon with the exception of newsreels and shorts.

Stanley S. Crick, managing director for 20th Century-Fox in Australia, said the primary purpose of his visit was to attend the coast convention. He stated he was not in touch with the theatre situation, but business conditions in general were good.

Leslie Whelan, foreign publicity head, also returned and will attend the Los Angeles sales meets.

proposal to continue the present arrangement for 20 years had been made to Stuart Doyle, managing director of Greater Union.

Hutchinson added that he will accompany Sidney R. Kent to Australia on a goodwill trip Aug. 11. He said that Kent is anxious to meet the men in the organization and study the situation.

Hoyts operates about 200 theatres in Australia and New Zealand, which are expected to be separated from the General Union combine.

Charles Munro, managing director for Hoyts, will leave for the coast next week, return for a short trip and then sail on the Mariposa June 23 for Sydney.

Jack Warner Attends Warners' Board Meet

Jack L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, yesterday attended the regular meeting of the Warner board. It was the first meeting he has attended in years, due to his presence on the coast most of the time. Routine matters were discussed. Harry M. Warner, president, presided.

The company's six-month financial statement is due "in a few days," it was stated following the meeting. It is expected to show a net profit of approximately $1,750,000 for the second quarter.

Zukor's Pact To Go Before Para. Holders

Increased Stock Issue Also to Be Sought

Paramount stockholders will act on the proposed new contract for Adolph Zukor as head of production at their annual meeting at the company's offices on June 15, according to notices sent to stockholders yesterday.

The new employment contract for Zukor, which the Paramount board already has recommended for approval, would be retroactive to last Aug. 1, the date on which Zukor assumed charge of the studio, and would run to Jan. 1, 1938, with provision for renewal by the board for an additional three years thereafter. It provides for a salary of $3,000 a week and additional compensation equal to 7½ per cent of the first $2,500,000 of consolidated profits from film operations and five per cent of such profits in excess of $2,500,000.

The stockholders also will be asked to authorize an increase of the company's common stock from 4,500,000

Report William Fox Has Become British Chemicolour Executive

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 19.—William Fox has become an executive of British Chemicolour, it is reported here, and will devote all of his time to developing the new English color process in the United States. It is understood in film circles here that Fox was persuaded to sign a contract with the company by Karl Grune of the English firm on a recent visit to the United States.

Capitol Film Corp., Ltd., here also disclosed today Fox's connection with the company, with the indication that the former head of Fox Film would become an "active executive." At the same time Capitol declared that all of its future work will be in color production, presumably using the British Chemicolour process.

The office of Hirsch, Newman, Reass and Becker, personal attorneys for William Fox, yesterday would neither confirm nor deny the report of Fox's connection with British Chemicolour.

Los Angeles, May 19.—William Fox slipped quietly into Hollywood on Monday, it was learned today, on his first visit here in five years. His business is said to concern films, but confirmation is lacking in view of the fact that he could not be reached for a statement.

Loew to Pay Common Holders $3,198,106

Loew's board of directors yesterday declared a common dividend of $3,198,106, payable June 30 to stockholders of record June 12. The total includes the quarterly dividend of 50 cents and $1.50 extra on 1,599,053 shares outstanding as of April 15.

This is the first time the company has given an extra $1.50 since Dec., 1935.

Allied Moves To Seek Taxes Upon Circuits

Stirred by Supreme Court Chain Store Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 19.—An extension of Allied States' legislative campaign against circuit theatres to include bills for state taxation patterned after the Louisiana chain store tax measure which was upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court this week, will be described to Allied members at the organization's national convention in Milwaukee next week, it was stated at Allied headquarters here today.

Allied's statement of its new season legislative objective emphasized that the organization's efforts to obtain enactment of theatre "divorce" measures would not be ended or interrupted by its new efforts on behalf of chain tax legislation and that the "divorce" laws "might be preferred to the new (tax) measures in some territories due to local conditions."

The Allied statement declares that the taxation measures will have vital advantages not now shared by the theatre "divorce" legislation. It numbers among these advantages the fact that the chain tax legislation has been upheld by the nation's highest tribunal and its operation after enactment "cannot be delayed by protracted litigation." In addition, it is pointed out that enactment of the measures by state legislatures should offer fewer difficulties as their revenue producing provisions "will appeal to legislatures

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 19

GAY and carefree, sophisticated and risque in the nice manner, "I Met Him in Paris" is grand and rollicking entertainment that ought to provide escape for the nation, to the profit of the box-office and to Paramount's financial and prestige standing.

This high comedy was designed for fun and it's got it not because of the story which we know and you'll find out is slight enough, but because its characters act like natural, if harum scarum and somewhat moonstruck, human beings and because Claude Binyon's enormously clever screenplay from the story by Helen Meinardi extracts and emphasizes these values to the last possible drop. . . .

It appears that all her life Claudette Colbert, a fashion designer, has wanted to go to Paris. Finally she does and there she meets Robert Young, a romantic and irresponsible playboy, and Melvyn Douglas, a wise-as-an-owl playwright with a defeatist complex. They both rush her with a vengeance and by the time they take off for two weeks of winter sports in Switzerland, all in the cause of "good, clean fun," Young and Douglas are in love and Miss Colbert doesn't know exactly where she stands herself. Douglas understands Young's objectives are not exactly spiritual and besides he's married, about which the very attractive Claudette is kept in the dark. . . .

Eventually, and as it had to be, Mona Barrie, Young's wife, darkens the scene. Miss Colbert is furious at the deception and wreaks her wrath not only on Young but on Douglas as a conspirator. She returns to Paris pursued by both. Young's wife agrees to divorce him. Douglas thinks he has a chance but not much, and then enters Lee Bowman as an aspirant whom Miss Colbert had left in the states. She tells them all off, hoping nevertheless that Douglas will drop his inferiority complex and rush her into the decision she wants to give anyway. He does, and so goes romance and the finish of this madcap picture. . . .

However, Binyon's script is constantly refreshing and full of bounce and laughs. Wesley Ruggles' direction is excellent and the three principals are grand. It is some time since Miss Colbert has had an opportunity to play a light role. She handles her assignment with such competence and such charm it makes it all the more mystifying as to what the studios have been thinking about. The skylarking atmosphere which runs throughout with never a loss of tempo or mood is reflected also in the work of Douglas and Young. Very amusing additionally are the concoction of a French waiter who learned his English from a Japanese houseboy and a typical heel-clicking continental clerk played to its expert hilt by Fritz Held. The comedy quotient against winter backgrounds with ski runs and ice rinks is entrancing as are the beautiful snowscapes caught brilliantly by Lee Tover's camera. . . .

By this time you are supposed to have divined "I Met Him in Paris" is a show. Well, it is and a pip at that! . . .

Herman Starr has been transferred from New Jersey to supervise the Manhattan-Bronx zone and Harry Fuchs, Port Chester manager, is now supervisor of Westchester county, in a realignment of managers and promotions of the Skouras circuit.

Monty Salmon, who has been handling Bergen County, N. J., and Rockland County, N. Y., is now supervisor for Jersey City with Notis Komenos in charge of the two counties formerly handled by Salmon.

Bob McGregor has been transferred from the Nemo to the Bronxville, Bronxville; Ken Henry of the Park Plaza is now at the Scarsdale, Scarsdale. Arnold Childhouse, formerly at the Rivoli, Hempstead, is at the Park Plaza. Jack Squires, Jr., has taken over Fuch's former duties at the Capitol, Port Chester.

William Walsh, assistant at the Riverside, has switched to a similar post at the Riviera. Alfred Simon is now assistant at the Riverside. Hank Lowry, who has been at the State, Jersey City, is now at the Rivoli, Hempstead; Dick Carnegie has moved from the Steinway to the Playhouse in Great Neck with Jack Toomey of the Manhasset now at the Steinway. Livingstone Lanning of the Playhouse has moved to the Manhasset.

Jack Roth has joined the circuit as manager of the Oriental, Hackensack.

Skouras Drive Started

Skouras circuit managers are now conducting a 13-week Better Business drive which will wind up Aug. 1. Bonuses and increases in salaries will be paid to the winning groups.

Approval Indicated For 2 RKO Payments

At a hearing yesterday in Federal Court on the claims of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles and the RKO Proctor Corp. against RKO, Federal Judge William Bondy indicated that he would approve a settlement proposed by the Irving Trust Co., RKO trustees.

The Security bank claim was for $771,000 which is based upon a guarantee by RKO of a supplementary indenture of the Orpheum Theatre in San Diego. It is to be settled for $350,000. Payment in full of the RKO Proctor claim for $10,350 also was recommended. The Proctor claim is based upon a refund made to the parent company on income tax paid for the years 1929 and 1930.

Bondy Authorizes Payments

The Chemical Bank & Trust Co. of New York, as trustees of an RKO collateral note indenture, yesterday was authorized by Federal Judge William Bondy to pay $75,922 out of funds in hand to the Irving Trust Co., as trustee of RKO in reorganization, for the purpose of paying $50,922 to William J. Donovan and $25,000 to itself for interim fees which were allowed last week.

Tricolor Brief Is Entered

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Opening brief in the final arguments of Tricolor's damage suit against Technicolor and producers using Technicolor have been filed in Federal Court by Tricolor. By stipulation, Federal Judge William P. James, who tried the case, will receive all final arguments in written form.

shares to 6,000,000 shares, and to reduce the first and second preferred stock by the number of shares which will have been converted into common stock prior to the meeting. Conversion of Paramount's first preferred into common has reduced the preference shares from 248,000 to 148,739 shares at present. The conversion has increased the outstanding common by approximately 1,000,000 shares.

"The reason for asking the stockholders to increase the authorized common stock at this time," the Paramount statement said, "is to place the corporation in a position to issue such stock in the future for any corporate purpose which the board of directors deems to be for the benefit of the corporation." The company said it is planning no new financing, has had no negotiations relating to the disposal of the additional stock and has no plans for issuing the new shares, if authorized.

The meeting will also elect six directors for one year terms, as reported earlier in Motion Picture Daily.

Gov. Lehman Vetoes Dunnigan's Measure vetoed the measure today on the ground that the bill is "susceptible of abuse in administration."

The Dunnigan bill would permit the license commissioner to revoke a theatre license for indecent performances without a criminal conviction. It was vigorously opposed by the organized theatre from the day of its enactment. New York circuits did not participate in the opposition.

See K.C. Clearance Pact

Kansas City, May 18.—A conference of Kansas City, Kans., officials and exhibitors with Elmer C. Rhoden, president of Fox Midwest Theatres, Inc., "has opened negotiations which indicate a much more satisfactory clearance of pictures will be arranged" for Kansas City, Kan., according to Ray T. Willette, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

K-A-O to Pay Dividend

A dividend of $1.75 on the seven per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock of Keith-Albee-Orpheum was authorized to be paid out of capital surplus on July 1 to stockholders of record on June 15, at a meeting of the company's board of directors yesterday. The dividend is for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1933, and is the second dividend of $1.75 to be authorized by K-A-O this year. The payment will leave dividend arrears at 24,50 a share as of next July 1.

DeMille Signs Writers

Hollywood, May 19.—Cecil B. DeMille has engaged Harold Lamb and C. Gardner Sullivan to assist with "The Buccaneer." Production is due to start in July.

No Joint Statement Due on Moyne Report

London, May 19.—Following council meetings of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n and the Kinematograph Renters' Society, it apeared unlikely that there would be a joint statement of the two trade groups and the Film Group of the F.B.I. for submission to Dr. Leslie Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, on May 26, the date on which the groups will indicate their opinions on the Moyne report recommending revision of the Films Act, which expires next year.

The C.E.A. is understood to be adhering to its demand for a quality clause in the quota regulations, and has prepared a statement with a "take it or leave it" indication to the other groups. It is probable that a joint delegation will confer with Burgin and present three different policies.

The C.E.A. delegates will be: Charles P. Metcalfe, Ken Nyman, Theodore H. Fligelstone, Ralph Bromhead, A. J. Gale, R. E. Richards, Alex King, Arthur Jarratt, Oscar Deutsch, A. S. Moss and W. R. Fuller. For the K.R.S. will be: C. M. Woolf, Sam Eckman, F. W. Baker, D. E. Griffiths, John C. Graham and Frank Hill. The F.B.I. Film Group will be represented by Maurice Ostrer, Basil Dean, J. Arthur Rank, Sam Smith, Arthur Dent, as an alternate for John Maxwell, and Michael N. Kearney.

history. Exhibitors," he added, "are looking forward with keen interest to our announcement of next season's lineup. As for our sales force, it has been geared to meet the increased demand for our films."

Although no dates have been set, Lee indicated that the first of a series of regionals will be held in New York about the middle of June. Others will follow in the middle west and the coast.

Approve New Federation

London, May 19.—The formation of a new production organization in England, as indicated recently, was approved here today at a meeting at the offices of the F.B.I.

It is planned to have virtually twin organizations, the Federation of Film Producers and the Ass'n of Film Producers, Ltd., in order to deal with both labor and trade matters. It is expected that the new organization will absorb the present F.B.I. Film Group.

banned are in production. "Le Grand Illusion" is a story of the escape of French prisoners from Germany during the World War, and "Soeurs D'Armes" tells of the French heroine, Louise de Bettignies, in northern France during the invasion of 1914-18.

Threats are heard here of an attempt by Germany to extend to other countries of Central Europe and probably to Italy a ban on French pictures.

Pratt Explains His Roxy Plan Approval

there had been some objections to the amended plan by minority bondholders and stockholders, approval of the plan by the Pound, Tipton and Adler committees, the three largest bondholders' protective committees indicated that it was fair and equitable. Pratt said that he was satisfied that 20th Century-Fox would not increase its offer for the Roxy.

"In the last analysis," said Pratt, "it is what the buyer is willing to pay that determines the price."

Pratt found that stockholders had no equity in the Roxy and stated that he regarded the offer of 20th Century-Fox to pay $1 per share for Class A stock "very fair." He estimated that the offer would cost 20th Century-Fox at least $100,000. Pratt also stated that the "utmost value" of the Roxy is $7,311,329 and that creditors might insist upon immediate cash payment of liabilities of $7,875,573 with an additional $1,000 in interest daily for each day since April 1. Even if regarded in its most favorable light, the Roxy is insolvent said Pratt and the continued operation by Howard S. Cullman, Roxy trustee, would result in further loss, according to Pratt.

Name Valued at $100,000

Cullman's highest estimate of net operating profit was $500,000 yearly, but interest charges and present debt, depreciation, amortization, etc., would amount to $668,080. Pratt found that the value of the name, Roxy, was $100,000, although his first report failed to place a value upon it. Twentieth Century-Fox is the only available American company to grant the first-run franchise which the Roxy must have, said Pratt. All others are already tied up with the exceptions of Columbia and Universal. Pratt stated that these latter two companies, even if added to Gaumont British, could not supply sufficient high grade pictures.

Objections to the Pratt report were filed yesterday by Class A stockholders, the Pound committee and the equity receivership administration expense creditors. The Pound committee, proponents of the plan, objected to 100 per cent payment to general creditors of the equity receiver and to the failure of the special master to find that general creditors of the Roxy before bankruptcy had no equity, also that their consent to the plan is unnecessary. Stockholders objected to the valuation placed on the Roxy by Pratt and his failure to value the name, Roxy, in his report. They also objected to finding the Roxy insolvent and the lack of provision in the plan for stockholders' participation. Equity receivership administration expense creditors who were not mentioned in the Pratt report objected on the ground that the report should have shown a value for the name to be at least $50,000 and that the administration creditors should be paid together with general creditors of the equity receiver.

which are now seeking new forms of taxation."

The Allied statement says the new tax measures "can be made to include certain so-called independent chains now committing depredations comparable with those of the affiliated chains."

The Louisiana measure which was upheld by the Supreme Court establishes a graduated tax schedule on chain store units within the state. The tax scale is based upon the total number of units in the chain nationally. Thus, if applied to theatres, a circuit which operated only one theatre in a state in which the law was in effect, would pay the highest tax rate on the single theatre if its national operations came within the maximum numerical brackets. The Supreme Court held that the amount of the tax imposed was discretionary with state legislatures.

Allied's new legislative plans are expected to highlight the organization's convention which opens May 26.

Amend Wisconsin Measure

Madison, May 19.—An amendment has been adopted to the Hall divorce bill which will give circuit operators until Jan. 1, 1939, to dispose of their stock in Wisconsin theatres. Under the original bill, the act would have become effective 12 months after passage.

Since the passage of the measure by the Assembly, it is possible that the Senate, which has not as yet acted upon its bill, will consider both measures when the Hall bill has a hearing before the Committee on State and Local Government on May 27.

Before the Assembly voted on the bill, proponents of the measure declared that in order to preserve the independent in the picture business, it was important that something be done to control circuit operation in Wisconsin.

Richey Won't Quit Allied

Detroit, May 18.—Following a series of conferences with the board of directors of the organization, H. M. Richey has declared that he has decided to retain his post as general manager of Allied of Michigan "for the time being at least."

ITO Hits Loew Policy

Columbus, May 19.—In its latest bulletin to members, the I. T. O. of Ohio cites Loew's financial gains for the first part of 1937 and asks reports from members who have been informed by Loew's branch managers that adjustments on their contention of being oversold on the 1936-37 product would have to be made in New York. The bulletin contended Al Lichtman, vice-president of Loew's had informed the members that all branch managers had full authority to adjust such contracts.

ways, was the reason for the decision.

The deadline for the strike at independent studios is set for Thursday noon, following delivery of the demands. The labor front today was quiet, with strikers looking to the A.F.L., meeting at Cincinnati, for redress against the alleged piracy of jurisdiction by the I.A.T.S.E.

Producers have recognized the Society of M. P. Art Directors and its affiliates as the collective bargaining agency for several crafts claimed by the F. M. P. C. groups whose strike started April 30. The move, made May 13 in a letter sent by Pat Casey to Felix Cunningham, attorney for the art directors' group, invited conferences over wages, working conditions and hours.

Affiliated with the art director group are the newly formed Society of M. P. Interior Decorators, made up of set dressers, and the Society of M. P. Artists and Illustrators, composed of costume artists, mat men and sketch artists. The territory covered by the the three organizations' rosters is claimed by Scenic Artists' Local 621, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, one of the nine crafts of the F. M. P. C.

Theatre Union Demands Near

Organizing of front-of-the-house employes in New York theatres may be far enough advanced to prepare and present to exhibitors the new union's wage and hour demands within a month, Richard Walsh, I.A.T.S.E. vice-president, who is directing the new organizing work, said yesterday.

A charter has been prepared for the new organization, the membership of which will include cashiers, doormen, ushers, porters and cleaners, Walsh said. Managerial and office employes are being organized by James Brennan, I. A. vice-president, in a separate union.

Form Cincinnati Union

Cincinnati, May 19.—The formation of a film exchange employes' union has been effected here with the signing of bookers, inspectors, shippers and poster men under the I.A.T.S.E. banner, according to Arthur H. Fix, local organizer and business agent of the operators' union.

Republic Men Going To Coast Wednesday

Buffalo and Bernie Mills, Albany, will leave for Los Angeles next Wednesday to attend the Republic sales meeting of franchise holders at the Roosevelt June 1-2.

En route franchise men from the south and midwest will be picked up in Chicago. In Kansas City another group will board the train. The northwest contingent will go directly to Los Angeles.

The company will announce 56 features, 24 of which will be westerns, and four serials for next season.

Following the franchise sessions, four regionals will be held. In San Francisco, managers and salesmen will convene on June 4; Chicago, June 9; New Orleans, June 11; New York, June 14.

policy for the 1937-'38 season. Talks were also delivered by Eddie Bonns and F. J. A. McCarthy, eastern sales manager.

On behalf of the sales staff, L. J. McGinley, Seattle manager, presented Grainger with a wrist watch.

R. H. Cochrane, president, expressed appreciation to the force for the manner in which they stuck to Universal during its dark years.

The convention was told that the company's new singing cowboy star, Tex Baker, will appear under the name of Bob Baker.

After luncheon, studio cars carried the delegates to Universal City, where most of the afternoon was spent. Various production units were visited on the sound stages.

The studio party at the Trocadero tonight, at which practically all the Universal stars were present, concluded the convention.

Most of the delegates will entrain for their headquarters tomorrow morning, with the eastern delegation expected to arrive in New York on Monday.

Miss Morgan Leaves Monday

Claudia Morgan, who is under contract to Universal for one picture a year for the next three years, will leave New York Monday for the coast studio. Her picture for next season will be "The Lady Fights Back," from a novel by Arthur Stringer called "Heather of the High Hand." She will return to New York and stage work in the fall.

Beahan Heads Talent

Charles Beahan, Universal story editor, has been placed in charge of the talent department as well. He will maintain offices at the studio and in New York.

FCC Orders Hearings on New Stations

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The F.C.C. has ordered hearings on a number of applications for new broadcasting stations, as follows:

Chickasha Daily Express, Chickasha, Okla., 1,500 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only; Broadcasters, Inc., Gastonia, N. C., 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; Curtis Radiocasting Corp., Richmond, Ind., 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; United Broadcasting Co., Tulsa, Okla., 1,500 kilocycles, 1,000 watts; Decatur Newspapers, Inc., Decatur, Ill.; 1,550 kilocycles, 1,000 watts; A. L. Beaird, Jasper, Ala., 1,500 kilocycles, 100 watts; Airfan Radio Corp., San Diego, 1,420 kilocycles, 100 watts; Ellwood Warwick Lippincott, Inc., Bend, Ore., 1,310 kilocycles, 100 watts, and Carolinas Radio, Inc., Charlotte, N. C., 880 kilocycles, 1,000 watts.

To Consider Power, Time Jumps

Hearings also were ordered on the applications of WQAR, New York, for increase of power to 5,000 watts; WTAD, Quincy, Ill., for increase of time, and WMSK, Dayton, for increase of power to 250 watts night, 500 watts day.

The commission disclosed that operating licenses had been granted WPRO, Providence, to increase power to 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day; WQAN, Scranton, to increase power to 500 watts, and KMJ, Fresno, Cal., to increase power to 1,000 watts.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division denied or dismissed the applications of WOW, Omaha, for continued use of 5,000 watts night power; KFPM, Greenville, Tex., for change of frequency and increase of power; KWBG, Hutchinson, Kan., for change of frequency and increase of power, and WNRI, Newport, R. I., for extension of time for construction of a new station. It also dismissed applications for new stations at Escanaba, Mich., Pawtucket, R. I., and Detroit.

Grant Texas Building Permit

The division granted the applications of WMBD, Peoria, Ill., for increase of power to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day, and WAAB, Boston, for increase of day power to 1,000 watts, and granted a construction permit to the Hunt Broadcasting Ass'n, Greenville, Tex., for a new station to operate on 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime.

Examiners' reports have been received recommending the granting of applications for the following new stations: Allen T. Simmons, Mansfield, O., 780 kilocycles, 1,000 watts, daytime; Pacific Acceptance Corp., San Diego, 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime; Ashville Daily News, Asheville, N. C., 1,370 kilocycles, 100 watts; Central Broadcasting Corp., Centralia, Wash., 1,440 kilocycles, 500 watts; Okmulgee Broadcasting Corp., Okmulgee, Okla., 1,210 kilocycles, 100 watts, day-time, and Northwestern Publishing Co., Danville, Ill., 1,500 kilocycles, 250 watts daytime. A report recommending approval of the application of WAPO, Chattanooga, Tenn., for increase of day power to 250 watts was received, together with reports recommending denial of applications for a new station at Sharon, Pa., and increases of power sought by WHOM, Jersey City, and WSOC, Charlotte, N. C.

Stiles Wins Paley Award For Amateurs

Walter Stiles, Jr., of Coudersport, Pa., has been selected for the William S. Paley Amateur Radio Award and will receive it from Paley, CBS President, at a presentation luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Monday.

Actual presentation of the trophy will be broadcast over CBS from 2:30 to 2:45 P.M., E.D.S.T.

The selection of Stiles was based on his performance during the March, 1936, flood emergency, when for 130 hours he supplied through his amateur transmitter W8DPY the sole direct means of communication for the 4,000 beleaguered citizens of Renova, Pa., and transmitted more than 1,000 messages on behalf of the various officials agencies operating in the area.

On the awards board were: Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross; C. P. Edwards, director of radio for the Canadian Dep't of Marine; Anning S. Prall, chairman of the F.C.C.; Dr. J. H. Dellinger, chief of the radio section of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, and Professor A. E. Kennelly, professor emeritus of electrical engineering at Harvard.

Shell, incidentally, will fade from the air at the expiration of the present contract . . .

Mutual Offices Are Moved

The Mutual network yesterday moved to the 23rd floor of 1440 Broadway, where the various departments of the network will be housed in larger quarters than those occupied on the 24th floor. Departments affected are traffic, sales, sales promotion and program. Transferred also is the office of Fred Weber, Mutual general manager.

Packard on for Summer

Young and Rubicam announced yesterday that the Packard program would remain on the air throughout the summer, with the series turned into a straight musical program featuring Johnnie Green's orchestra and guest vocalists. Fred Astaire and Charles Butterworth leave the series June 1.

Drop Jessica M. Hill Suits

Two suits of Jessica M. Hill against Sam H. Harris and the Federal Broadcasting Co. for alleged infringement of her copyrighted song, "Good Morning to All," were discontinued yesterday before Federal Judge William Bondy.

New Shows On the Air

"Hobby Lobby"

"Hobby Lobby," a new WOR feature conceived by Dave Elman, former network and agency production man, is a bright little feature, bringing to the microphone folks with unusual hobbies. The series should interest most listeners, and as for those who pursue the usual hobbies—stamp and coin collectors, etc.—a listen-in is guaranteed to bring a blush of envy to their cheeks.

Heard on the opening session was a bank president who has collected more than 2,700 penny banks, each one different; a builder of outdoor toy railroads; a girl who has collected over 4,000 miles of string, each piece associated with an unusual event or personality; a collector of books that aren't books, volumes which when opened reveal spaces for bottles, candies, flowers and the like, and an eight-year-old collector of coat hangers who, through knowledge gained from his hobby, has invented a patented collapsible clothes rack.

The hobby lobbyists will be heard each Tuesday from 10:30 to 11 P.M., E.D.S.T. on WOR. It is a sustaining program.

Staff of WMCA Joins New Guild of AGRA

The announcers and production men of WMCA, 100 per cent strong, have joined the American Guild of Radio Announcers and Producers, union formed recently at CBS, it was learned yesterday. Roy S. Langham of CBS's production staff, heads the union.

Following the WMCA announcers-producers affiliation with the AGRAP, Langham addressed a letter to Donald Flamm, owner of WMCA, asking for recognition of the guild and for collective bargaining. The letter was received by Flamm last Friday, and thus far has not been answered, it is known.

The demands made of WMCA by the AGRAP are basically the same as those made of CBS. They are maximum hours of work, recognition of the union as the bargaining agent for announcers-producers, salary raises, and various other conditions of employment.

Total membership of the WMCA section of the AGRAP is 17.

Formation of the WMCA guild—the organization of the groups took place last week—has been well guarded, and it was not until yesterday that the first intimation of the unionization was given MOTION PICTURE DAILY. Donald Flamm was absent from his office yesterday and could not be queried. Unavailable also was William Weisman, attorney for the station.

Appraisal for New Stock of RKO Is Asked

Objectors File Proposal With Special Master

Asserting that the fairness of the RKO plan of reorganization cannot be determined without an appraisal of the value of the new common stock, which figures in the plan's provisions for payment of all classes of claims, the independent protective committee for RKO common stockholders submitted its objections to the plan yesterday to Special Master George W. Alger.

George L. Schein, attorney for the committee, which represents 133,000 shares of common and 37,000 shares of the old RKO Class A stock, asserted in his brief that the plan was "unfair and discriminatory" to the common shareholders. The independent committee is regarded as the strongest objector to the plan, which has the approval of a majority of the debenture holders, stockholders and general creditors.

"The plan," Schein declared, "purports to ascribe a value to the common stock based solely on earning power and does not appraise the value of

Television Start Far Off—Sarnoff

CHICAGO, May 20.—David Sarnoff, president of RCA, today informed a convention of radio wholesalers here that he did not foresee television this year, and could not predict when it might be commercially possible.

He stated, however, that RCA could build a television receiver now to sell for around $400.

Citing the deterrents that must be overcome before television reception can be assured, Sarnoff enumerated

Smith Resigns As President Of Pathe News

Ned Depinet Is Named as His Successor

Ned E. Depinet, RKO vice-president and head of distribution, was elected president of Pathe News, Inc., succeeding Courtland Smith at a meeting of the board of the newsreel company yesterday. Frederick Ullman was elected vice-president at the same meeting.

Smith tendered his resignation to the board and will engage in television and radio activities, it was stated. He entered the industry as secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America at the time of its organization in 1922. He resigned that post after several years to join Fox Film Corp. where for some time he worked on the development of sound films and in 1926 organized Fox Movitone News. He served as

Exchange Men Talk Union Pacts Here

Home office division managers and exchange operations's heads are negotiating the labor contracts with the newly formed exchange unions, it was learned here yesterday.

Contracts have already been set with the Boston exchange union, and meetings were held yesterday to negotiate a similar pact for Philadelphia. The meeting will be resumed this morning, following which New Haven union representatives will sit down and talk to the distribution executives.

It was indicated yesterday that amicable arrangements will be set up at the sessions now going on. Other eastern exchange unions are expected to hold meetings here as soon as the Philadelphia and New Haven pacts are worked out.

Universal's Staff Entrains for Home

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Universal's sales staff entrained for home today, following a final day devoted to individual meetings among James R. Grainger, general sales manager, and his district and branch managers. The salesmen, with business sessions behind them, spent most of the day before train time at the studio or on the golf links.

Heading the eastern group, due in New York on Monday, are R. H. Cochrane, president; P. D. Cochrane, in charge of advertising; Grainger, Joe Weil, Andrew Sharick, F. J. A. McCarthy, Leo Abrams and Oscar Binder. J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of the board of directors, will remain on the coast probably for two weeks.

Films Better, Seats Last Longer in South America

Pictures are getting better.

John Day, Jr., Paramount general manager for South America, who is in New York on a home office visit, was able to report yesterday that knifing and burning of upholstered theatre seats is on the wane in the capitals below the Equator.

There was a time when the average South American exhibitor was obliged to reckon the cost of that sort of vandalism as a fixed overhead charge. The demonstrative Latin Americans were fond of expressing their dissatisfaction with inferior film offerings by slicing a seat covering or leaving a lighted cigarette behind them on the upholstery at whatever stage of the performance they decided they had had enough. Nowadays, they are becoming as interested as the management in keeping seats intact, certain that they will be back to occupy them again with the next change of program.

The average South American has an insatiable appetite for pictures, Day said. It probably accounts for the spread of double and even triple features throughout most of the principal cities and into many of the first runs. Film tastes are as varied there as they are on this side of the Equator, he reported. Any good story with an outstanding star in the cast will do

Pay Jump and Union Shop to Utility Group

See Settlement of Strike Over Weekend

HOLLYWOOD, May 20.—A union shop, together with a wage increase of 15 cents per hour, was granted by producers here today to members of the International Studio Utilities Workers. Also settled is the dispute which arose from the question of I.A.T.S.E. jurisdiction but the terms of this agreement must be ratified by the local before members may return to work. Such return will be another defection from the ranks of the F.M.P.C.

Joe Marshall, utilities workers' representative; George Browne, president of the I.A.T.S.E., and William Bioff, his aide, in a joint statement declared that the I.A.T.S.E. intervened to obtain the laborers' agreement. On this point the producers were silent.

Today's developments portend a general settlement of the F.M.P.C. strike during the coming weekend. Charles Lessing, secretary of the federation, has adopted a more conciliatory attitude. Producers are being asked to grant a union shop before the men return to work.

Film Laboratory for Government Asked

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The establishment of a film branch in the Government Printing Office to handle production for all branches of the Federal establishment in the same manner as it now handles their printing requirements is proposed in a bill introduced in the House by Congressman Schulte of Indiana.

The measure provides for the creation of the position of director, to carry a salary of $8,000 a year, and for three technicians at $4,800 as the supervisory force.

The proposed division would produce pictures for all branches of the Government at actual cost, in the same manner as it now handles the printing of reports and other documents.

As in the case of the reports and other publications, the Government Printing Office would be authorized to sell to the public prints of any film designated for such disposition by the department or agency in which it originated.

Brent, Worth Married

HOLLYWOOD, May 20.—George Brent and Constance Worth, Australian actress, were married in Mexico on Monday.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 20

SAM GOLDWYN, who has a positive way about him, has determined to produce three forthcoming pictures in color. If for no other reason than to prove this space is aware that the producer wants the facts publicized, no reluctance about naming them prevails. The titles: "The Goldwyn Follies" which the producer proudly hails as his "forthcoming $2,000,000 musical"; a story of the American occupation of the Philippines, called "The Real Glory," and "You Can Be Beautiful," which will have to do with the beauty parlor industry . . .

This, the Goldwyn press department which pyramids to Jock Lawrence at the peak, "indicates" black-and-white films face a "complete disappearance" and further:

> "Goldwyn's announcement was believed to be the forerunner of similar statements from other major producing units, sounding the eventual death knell of the present day non-color films as thoroughly as the advent of sound killed silent films."

Now, in all fairness, that's believing a great deal and seeking to plot the indicated course of an entire industry on the strength of what one producer determines. Goldwyn makes a pleasant luncheon host and his record as a producer of finer attractions needs no praise here, but, after all, the business does go beyond him. So far as this extended research tour of ours has found it out, it is true that there is an upswing toward color, but no deluge. And that is well. For the producing industry, as such, to ponder over color as an eventual something to come is merely to keep astride of progress and futures and is an encouraging sign that the grass will not be permitted to grow . . .

But there is a vast deal of difference between wild enthusiasm and considered judgment. Just about this time last year it was that Walter Wanger produced "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." It was in color, you will remember. Hardly had the preview gone cold when word bounced through from many directions that the day of the black-and-white picture had passed. From that point on, it was to be color and plenty of it. We ask you to match the excitement with the delivery. Better than that, we'll do it for you. It is true, of course, that color was resorted to by the studios, but no wild rush prevailed, no headlong fling developed. A handful of such attractions went before the cameras and thereafter the movement became abortive . . .

Hollywood has a persistent way of arriving at conclusions, quick and inconclusive because they are so rapidly reached. It is notoriously lacking in any genuine appreciation of market absorption content and it rarely stops to contemplate how violently stepping up already staggering negative costs might propel sales departments to a point beyond which the give will not give. It, therefore, becomes patently unfair for producers to launch upon effort which further falters the load without first embarking upon reasonable investigation to demonstrate they know what they are about to undertake . . .

Added to all of this is a circumstance, curious or not, accidental or otherwise. The Goldwyn statement was issued to the press last Saturday afternoon. It was followed immediately by intimations from Dave Selznick in New York that he may go all-color as well. Jock Whitney is one of Selznick's partners. He is also interested heavily in Technicolor. This company, incidentally or not, has just held its annual meeting in the East. It's your party from here . . .

Brian Aherne Returns

Brian Aherne arrived from a Mediterranean cruise yesterday on the Roma. He was accompanied by Robert Edmund Jones. The actor was scheduled to make a film in England, but he said he had cancelled the engagement.

Beery's Father Passes

HOLLYWOOD, May 20.—Noah W. Beery, Sr., father of the actors, died last night following a heart attack. He was 83. Wallace, Noah and a third son, Will, were at their father's bedside when he passed away.

Kuykendall Declines Bid

Ed Kuykendall, M.P.T.O.A. president, will be unable to attend the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n summer meeting in England during August, it was stated at M.P.T.O.A. headquarters here yesterday. Kuykendall had been invited to address the British exhibitors' organization and had tentatively accepted. Pressure of organization affairs here and indications that Congress may not adjourn until late July or August, with the possibility of enactment of legislation affecting the industry, will prevent his accepting the invitation to go abroad, it was said.

So. California ITO Calls Para. Unfair

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—The I.T.O. of Southern California adopted a resolution today terming as "unfair, unethical, unjust and contrary to the implied promises" Paramount's recent announcement that it would not deliver some of the features on its current season's work sheet. Copies of the resolution were sent to Adolph Zukor, production head, and Neil F. Agnew, distribution head. In addition, requests were sent to P. J. Wood, general manager of the Allied States' convention, for action on the matter by the exhibitor organization at its national meeting in Milwaukee next week.

Comment on the California exhibitors' resolution, as well as on a similiar one adopted recently by Cleveland exhibitors, could not be obtained at Paramount yesterday in the absence of Neil F. Agnew, who is expected in from the coast today or tomorrow.

Paramount, Blank Signatures Delayed

Legal details of the new agreement between Paramount and A. H. Blank for operation of the Tri-States Circuit will not be completed for another two or three weeks, thus preventing closing of the agreement prior to that time, it was stated at Paramount yesterday. The current agreement was recently extended to July 6. Blank, who has been here for the past week in connection with the new agreement, returned to Des Moines yesterday but may be back in New York about the middle of June to sign the agreement.

The new pact will eliminate Paramount's option to repurchase Blank's half interest in Tri-States and will give Paramount a half interest in Blank's Central States circuit.

RKO Foreign Heads Start for Meeting

Various foreign sales executives of RKO are already en route from their headquarters to Los Angeles for the company's annual sales convention, which will be held at the Ambassador Hotel in the coast city beginning June 16.

Douglas Lotherington, general sales manager for the company's New Zealand branch, has left Auckland, and Clair E. Hilgers, managing director in France, has sailed from Cherbourg. Reginald Armour, Far Eastern sales manager, who also heads sales in India, will leave Havre on the Normandie May 26, arriving in New York May 31. Ralph Hanbury, managing director in Great Britain, will sail on the Champlain June 2, arriving here June 9. Other foreign executives who will attend the meet are Ben Y. Cammack, general manager in South America; Luis Lezama, general manager in Mexico; Fred S. Gulbransen, general manager in Panama, and Bert Reisman, home office representative with headquarters in Havana.

Mexico Mark for "Girls"

MEXICO CITY, May 20.—With the completion of a run of six weeks at the Cine Regis here, Universal's "Three Smart Girls" has established Mexico's all-time record for a continuous showing at one theatre.

business, and the best money pictures here usually are the best money pictures there, as well.

Despite the Latin's reputed weakness for gaming, Bank Night has made no progress in South America, Day said. It is banned by lottery laws in Brazil, but in localities where it is permitted it has attained very little popularity.

Although American films continue to comprise about 75 per cent of all the product shown in South America, the growth of native production and the increasing popularity of German and French pictures are beginning to be felt, according to Day. The Argentine, which produced 18 pictures last season, will make 20 to 30 during the new season, he said. Brazil may make only three or four. The European product crashes the money class with increasing frequency.

Day reported that taxation and legislation affecting films is without discrimination or unfairness, but stated that local censorship is becoming increasingly worrisome. He received word yesterday that Coronation newsreels, which were flown to Paris, thence to Africa and across the South Atlantic were being shown in Rio de Janeiro theatres Monday night, more than 24 hours ahead of New York.

Day may attend the Paramount sales convention in Hollywood and return here for conferences with John Hicks, Jr., Paramount foreign head, who will arrive from Europe with Barney Balaban on the Queen Mary, June 7. He plans to leave for Rio, his headquarters, June 19.

editor of that reel until 1928, when he became associated with Pathe News as editor, and soon after was elected to the presidency of Pathe News, Inc. RKO acquired control of the company with its purchase of Pathe assets in 1932. Smith opened the Embassy, reputedly the first newsreel theatre, in November, 1929.

Depinet headed Pathe's distribution prior to its acquisition by RKO and thereafter was a member of the board of RKO Radio Pictures and RKO Pathe. In 1934 he was elected president of RKO Distributing Corp. but with the dissolution of that company in RKO's program of corporate simplification several months ago he became a vice-president of RKO Radio Pictures in charge of distribution.

Standard Chartered; Has Plans for Eight

Hollywood, May 20.—Standard Pictures Corp., production company, and Standard Pictures Distributing Corp., have been formed. Eight pictures are planned for 1937-'38.

Officers of both corporations are B. W. Richards, president; Lou O'Brasky, vice-president; A. Butler, secretary-treasurer; S. J. Tilden, assistant, and Charles B. Taylor, counsel. Jack Lamont will handle advertising and exploitation for the distributing company, and Nancy Smith for the producing side. O'Brasky is in charge of distribution. Emil DeRulle is production manager.

Titles of the eight are: "Deerslayer," "The First Woman," "Daughter of Ramona," "Big Business," "Argentine Takeoff," "Night School," "Lone Star" and "Bet a Million."

Contracts Are Extended

Hollywood, May 20.—Paramount has extended Dorothy Lamour's contract and also pacts with Leif Erikson, Fay Holden and Betty Grable.

M-G-M has given a term pact to Roger Converse, New York stage actor.

Contracts of June Storey and Jayne Regan, 20th Century-Fox stock players, have been extended.

in Omaha during last night's drawing, and other investigators a week ago. Points on which he will base his suit include: (1) The winner of Bank Night on May 12 was not announced in the lobby of one downtown theatre, so that only patrons who had purchased tickets had a chance to win. (2) Several houses charge a nickle more for Bank Nights. (3) Trailers advertising Bank Night have been recorded to prove consideration because of matinee arrangement whereby patrons purchasing matinee tickets are eligible for the evening's drawing.

Sues on Sweepstakes

Middletown, O., May 20.—The first suit involving theatre games in this territory has been filed in Common Pleas Court here by Sarah Stein against Southio Theatre Corp., operating the Paramount, and Roy Pefley, manager, to recover $500 exemplary damages and $2.10 for admissions paid.

Sunday Show Vote Is Aim of Penna. Bill

Harrisburg, May 20.—By the action of the Pennsylvania Senate late last night the way was paved for any municipality of the state which has voted down Sunday film shows under the terms of the Local Option Act of 1935 to vote again on the question at the 1937 primaries next September.

The Senate, by a vote of 26 to 18, approved an amendment to the act, already approved by the House, and the new measure now awaits acceptance or rejection by Governor Earle. The act of 1935 provided that after a vote had been taken on Sunday film shows in state, township, borough or city, the question could not be called up for a referendum vote again in such a municipality until after a period of five years.

Under the terms of the amendment just passed by the legislature the five-year clause would be set aside this year only to permit a special election in such municipalities in September.

season's schedule will be mapped out on his return to Hollywood and that the new list will be distributed through United Artists. He said that there is no liklihood of any discussion of new distribution arrangements for product beyond the coming season's schedule for at least five months.

The uncertainty of Selznick's distribution plans for "Gone with the Wind," together with its casting problem, encouraged the report that M-G-M might distribute the picture and that new arrangements would be entered into with United Artists for another distributor to handle the balance of his product.

scheduled as yet, it was stated, but the company hopes to have as many as it can produce. Plans are expected to be completed shortly for the roadshowing of "Souls at Sea" and "High, Wide and Handsome." The former is expected to be shown at two-a-day on Broadway about the middle of next month. However, no dates will be set until both pictures have been completed.

Following the annual sales meetings at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, June 10-13, there will be a series of regionals with Charles Reagan, western division sales head, and J. J. Unger, eastern and Canadian division manager, conducting them in various key cities. These dates are expected to be set within the next week or two.

Major Signs Bercovici

Hollywood, May 20.—Konrad Bercovici has been signed to do his first screen play, joining Major Pictures to script his own untitled original on the life of Sir Richard Burton of Arabia. Tammy Cotter will collaborate.

the equity of the common stockholders."

The committee attacks the proposed payment to Rockefeller Center of 500,000 shares of the new RKO common in settlement of a $9,100,000 claim, asserting that without a valuation of the new common a proper appraisal of the settlement is impossible. Asserting, however, that the new stock will have a value "in excess of $18.30 a share," Schein says that Rockefeller Center will receive more than the face value of its claim under the proposed settlement.

He asserts also that the future earnings of the Music Hall and Center will be inadequate for RKO and that the provision for the management of the theatres, which purportedly gives RKO three of seven representatives, "is unfair and may render it impossible to inaugurate plans of management from the RKO standpoint."

The committee charges that "the value of RKO's assets as shown on the balance sheet in the plan are inaccurate and arbitrary and do not fairly reflect the value of the assets for the purposes of reorganization." It asserts that "those consenting to the plan have not shown what claims or stock they purchased in contemplation of the reorganization proceedings and the circumstances of their purchase, as required under Section 77-B of the Bankruptcy Law."

Called "Discriminatory"

The objectors assert that the plan's provisions for debenture holders "is discriminatory because the allotment of two shares of new common, in addition to a new debenture for each $100 of debenture claims, represents more than the face value of the claims." It is also charged that debenture holders are not entitled to sinking fund provisions "which further enhances the value of the debentures." Declaring next that the value of the new RKO common "will exceed $20 per share," the committee asserts that the provisions for the exchange of a $100 debenture for five shares of common "is unfair." It is also alleged that the conversion of the new RKO preferred at the rate of one share for four shares of common "is unfair." The plan's amended provisions for the treatment of general creditors, which eliminated that group's objections to the plan recently, were also criticized.

The brief asserts that the common shareholders are entitled to receive more than one-half share of new stock for each share of the old; it declares that the Atlas Corp., proponent of the plan, should be paid for its reorganization services in cash rather than in new stock as proposed, and concludes with the assertion that "there is insufficient description of the various issues of securities which the plan proposes to enable the holders to evaluate the new common stock."

William Morris Sued

Los Angeles, May 20.—Freeman Bernstein has filed suit for $5,000 in Superior Court against the William Morris Agency, and William Morris, Jr., John Hyde and Abe Lastfogel, directors, charging that amount is due him for influencing Rex Beach to sign a contract with the agency for theatrical and radio presentation.

Looking 'Em Over

"Gun Lords of Stirrup Basin"

(Republic)

The western fans should be reasonably satisfied with this western. Bob Steele is featured. The story concerns a feud over the building of a dam. A cattle-raising family and a group of farmers are the warring factions.

Steele is in love with the enemy's daughter, Louise Stanley. Their marriage causes their families to renounce the pair. Steele is called back to his home to find his father dying. He has been shot by the hated Dawsons. Steele is skeptical of the murder. He sets out to uncover the source of the trouble. His investigation uncovers the deviltry of Karl Hackett, a crooked lawyer, who has been buying up homesteading claims. The affair comes to its climax when Hackett and his cohorts battle the Dawson clan. Steele arrives with incriminating proof and the sheriff. The difficulties are settled. Hackett gets away, but he is soon done away with by Steele and the outlook is peaceful.

Miss Stanley is attractive and capable. The support includes Ernie Adams, Frank LaRue, Frank Ball, Steve Clark and Frank Ellis. The camera work by Bert Longenecker is a treat. Sam Newfield directed.

pendent studios' acceptance of the F.M.P.C. demands has been extended and decision in the matter is expected some time tomorrow.

Representatives of F.M.P.C. crafts today claimed that Grand National has acceded to their demands but no confirmation could be obtained from Edward L. Alperson, president.

Broadway Again Picketed

Broadway houses were picketed for the first time last night by Local 829, United Scenic Artists, as a demonstration in sympathy with the Hollywood studio strikers. Pickets marched two to a theatre between 7:30 and 9:30 P. M.

Last night was the first time in a week that the theatres were picketed by Hollywood strike sympathizers and the third time since the F.M.P.C. two weeks ago asked for picketing support from theatres throughout the country.

Writers to Set Up Board

Hollywood, May 20.—Machinery for grievance arbitration by producers and screen writers under the screen playwrights' code will be set up this week when the new board of directors, elected Tuesday night, meets to elect officers.

Also to be appointed will be the three writer representatives to the writer-producer code regulatory board.

The directors elected are: Rupert Hughes, Bert Kalmar, Grover Jones, Walter DeLeon, William Conselman, Patterson McNutt, John Lee Mahin, Waldemar Young, Howard Emmet Rogers, Frank Butler and Bess Meredyth.

Exchanges to Get Demands

Oklahoma City, May 20.—Union contracts asking wage increases and hour adjustments will be presented to eight exchanges here early next week by the recently organized union of exchange employes.

The amount of the wage boost to be sought for 70 members, including shipping clerks, postal clerks and film inspectors is yet to be determined, said George Snodgrass, acting president. Snodgrass said a charter for that unit was expected to arrive shortly from the I.A.T.S.E. Permanent officers will be chosen at a meeting tomorrow night.

Music Groups Parrying

Songwriters' and music publishers' committees adjourned discussion of the proposed plan of the writers to reclaim synchronization and recording rights from publishers until May 27, following a meeting of the committees yesterday at which no decisive action was taken. Spokesmen for the publishers declared, however, that they did not expect any change to be made. Songwriters, however, were equally emphatic in their assertions that they would handle their own synchronizing and recording deals after June 1.

G. E. Has Ad Feature

A five-reel feature commercial film, produced for General Electric under the title "From Now On" will be shown Monday evening at the Center in connection with the regular G. E. broadcast. The film was produced by Tri-States Pictures, Inc., of Cleveland, and features Irvin S. Cobb, Alan Baxter, Louise Stanley, Regis Toomey and Jack Mulhall.

Talent Payroll Is $1,750,000 Weekly

Hollywood, May 20.—The talent payroll at the studios has increased from $1,500,000 weekly this time last year to $1,750,000 this year, writes Edwin Schallert in the Los Angeles Times. "Increases in pay for bigger stars partly account for this," he states, "but the advent of many new people is responsible for a very large balance."

Actors, directors and writers under contract in toto run to 1,196, he adds, speculating at the same time if the peak has been reached. The current figure, according to this source, is "twice as large as at the beginning of the talkies and a 30 per cent increase over 1936 at the same time. It is also more than double the aggregate in the depths of the depression."

With the article, its writer appends a 10-year chart, tracing the curve of contracted talent:

Year	Actors	Directors	Writers	Total
1928	206	95	143	444
1929	270	152	166	588
1930	301	124	196	621

HOLLYWOOD, May 20.—Jerry Cooper finally goes for a blue de luxe coupe . . . Vincent Lopez did it by air. He hopped to Palo Alto for the Stanford prom and hurried back to Hollywood for Grace Moore's last broadcast, then the same night to Santa Cruz for another show and still another at Oakland.

Oppose 5 Programs

Spokane, May 20.—The Federation of Women's Organizations has gone on record as opposed to the presentation of five radio programs. March of Time was called the worst offender; "John's Other Wife" was branded a libel on business men and women. "Twenty Thousand Years at Sing Sing," "Gangbusters" and "Pretty Kitty Kelly" were called offensive.

The federation declared there were other offending programs that will be named later. A committee has been investigating radio programs for two months.

Talks from Shanghai

The first incoming commercial call on the new radio-telephone service between America and China was made yesterday by William B. Benton, founder of Benton & Bowles. Benton, speaking from Shanghai, spoke to Atherton W. Hobler, president of the agency.

The call was received early yesterday noon. Hobler reported the subject discussed was of a business nature, but would not elaborate further.

Two Attorneys Are Accused by the FCC

that the attorneys organized the Palmer Broadcasting Syndicate for the purpose of using it "as a dummy applicant for authorizations from the the commission," and "to hinder or delay other applicants in obtaining or operating under authorizations of this commission." The syndicate filed applications for stations or construction permits at Portland and Lewiston, Me., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

The two attorneys also were charged with other unethical practices, which were set forth in an order issued by the commission calling upon them to make answer and show cause why they should not be suspended from practice before the commission.

Files New Station Request

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Authority to construct a new broadcasting station at Port Angeles, Wash., to operate on 1,420 kilocycles with 100 watts power, has been filed with the F. C. C. by Tom Olsen.

Other applications received by the commission included requests of WJBL, Decatur, Ill., for change of frequency to 1,310 kilocycles; WJAX, Jacksonville, Fla., for experimental increase of power to 5,000 watts; WGRC, New Albany, Ind., for change of frequency to 880 kilocycles; KGNO, Dodge City, Kan., for increase of power to 1,000 watts, and KSEI, Pocatello, Idaho, for increase of day power to 1,000 watts.

FCC Gets Station Pleas

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The F.C.C. has received applications for two new broadcasting stations from the S. I. Slover Corp., Norfolk, Va., for a permit to construct a station to operate on 1,370 kilocycles with 100 watts power at night and 250 watts day, and the Southern Broadcasting Corp., Bogalusa, La., for a station to operate on 1,500 kilocycles with 100 watts at night and 250 watts day.

the lack of coaxial cables for interconnecting transmitters, the problem of developing suitable programs at a reasonable cost, and the limited range of present television transmitters.

The present range of RCA's experimental transmitter in New York, Sarnoff said, has a maximum of about 45 miles. Until that range is increased, or some system of interconnecting transmitters is developed, the television field will remain limited. Advertisers, he said, are interested only in nationwide television.

Observe Swing Anniversary

The CBS "Saturday Night Swing Club" will celebrate its first anniversary on the air June 12, and, marking the event, Columbia plans a full-hour program that date, from 12 midnight to 1 A. M., E. D. S. T. Pickups will be made from all over the country, and swing artists who will be heard include Bunny Berigan, Red Nichols, Red Norvo, Art Shaw, Raymond Scott, Tommy Dorsey, Casper Reardon, Duke Ellington and Fats Waller. A pickup from Paris, France, is also planned.

Sterling Products Renews

Sterling Products has renewed contracts for two of its NBC script programs, "Backstage Wife" and "How to be Charming." Both contracts are effective June 14.

"Backstage Wife," for Dr. Lyons toothpowder, is heard Mondays through Fridays on the Red, at 11:15 A. M., E.D.S.T. "How to be Charming" is broadcast Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11:30 A. M., E.D.S.T. on the Red.

Blackett-Sample-Hummert, Inc., is the agency.

Revise Thesauras Continuity

A new and revised continuity schedule for the NBC Thesaurus service of transcribed service will go into effect June 21. The revision will bring the output of transcribed programs up to 15 different shows weekly.

In addition to the usual variety shows, the new schedule will include novel dance presentations, concert programs, periods of sacred music and choral programs.

Mrs. Herrick to Confer

Mrs. Elinore Herrick, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, will attend today's meeting between officials and technicians of WHN. Prior get-togethers have failed to bring about a settlement. An amicable ending to the negotiations, however, is foreseen with Mrs. Herrick's presence at the meeting today.

McFadden Signs Fidler

Jimmy Fidler, radio film gossiper, has been signed by McFadden publications to write a monthly column of west coast radio chatter for Radio Mirror.

Television to Have Big Appeal—Lubcke

PASADENA, May 20.—Television of the future will combine the more advantageous features of current broadcasting, films, the newspaper, the magazine and the billboard, Harry R. Lubcke, television director of the Don Lee Broadcasting System, told the 600 delegates to the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Electrical Ass'n at the Hotel Huntington here today.

"I envisage," he said, "along with interesting eye-and-ear entertainment, the presentation of the commercial message with a theme picture, a theme song and a single word, rather than the multi-worded commercial announcement in use today. Television programs will be available only a few hours per day, at first. The concept of the 'nightly performance' will follow. Later, following the trend of early broadcasting, more and more programs will be televised, until finally, television will be as continuously available as is radio today."

Grofe Concerts Scheduled

A series of light symphonic music offerings featuring Ferde Grofe's orchestra and the choral group of Ed Smalle will succeed the Philadelphia orchestra on the 10 to 10:30 P. M., E. D. S. T. period on CBS sponsored by the association of banks, effective June 4. The contract is for 10 weeks. The Wessel Co. is the agency.

Maddox on 100th Program

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Dean Maddox will air his 100th amateur broadcast Saturday night over KFRC, with 15 of his outstanding discoveries as guest artists. Maddox conducts the program as "Buddha," a name attached by an amateur during his first program two years ago.

"Cassandra" Once Weekly

HOLLYWOOD, May 20.—Beginning Tuesday, "Cassandra" will be aired to Pacific Coast listeners of CBS in one-half hour period weekly, in place of the three weekly one-quarter periods which have prevailed until now. The new period is 5 to 5:30 P.M. P. S. T.

KYA Starts Transmitter May 27

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—KYA will inaugurate use of its new 5,000 watt transmitter May 27, with a special program directed to five stations of the California Radio System.

Jell-o, Everybody!

Switchboard operators at the various General Foods offices are now greeting telephone callers with the salutation:

"Jell-O—General Foods"

The innovation is at the specific instruction of Arthur C. Unger, vice-president and sales manager, who in his letter to district sales managers stated: "Please instruct each operator to say "Jell-O" distinctly, and then pause slightly before saying "General Foods." This will inspire considerable word of mouth publicity and comment. . . . "

Radio

Programs Shifted in "Gold Medal" Series

The program features of the hour-length "Gold Medal Features" on CBS will be readjusted, effective May 24. The new schedule follows:

Mondays through Thursdays: "Betty and Bob," 10 to 10:15 A. M.; "Hymns of All Churches," 10:15 to 10:33 A. M.; "Betty Crocker," 10:27 to 10:33 A. M.; "Modern Cinderella," 10:33 to 10:48 A. M., and "John K. Watkins," 10:48 to 11 A. M.

Fridays: "Betty and Bob," 10 to 10:15; "Betty Crocker," 10:15 to 10:30, and following a three-minute musical interlude, "John K. Watkins," from 10:48 to 11 A. M.

All times are E.D.S.T. The agency is Blackett-Sample-Hummert, Inc.

Arrange Speedway Coverage

Indianapolis, May 20.—Organization of radio coverage of the 500-mile Speedway race May 31 has begun. Ken Fry, NBC central division special events director, has been making arrangements for his network, and CBS and MBS arrangements are expected soon. Both the locals, WIRE and WFBM, will devote at least five hours on race day to the classic and have begun broadcasts of time trials from the track. Peter De Paolo, who was national racing champion in 1925 and 1927 and winner of the 500 in 1925, will join forces with Len Riley, WFBM sports announcer, on race broadcasts. The two are limbering up by announcing the trials over WFBM this week.

Principal Forms Radio Dept.

Hollywood, May 20. — Principal Prod. has organized a radio department under Louis Hyman. Writers already assembled include Gertrude Berg, author and producer of "The Rise of the Goldbergs"; Forrest Barnes and Clay Osborne. Players under contract to Principal for film work include a number active in radio as well and embrace Bobby Breen, Marion Claire, Smith Ballew and Glenn Morris.

Firestone to Stay on Air

The "Voice of Firestone" will not leave the networks, as has been reported. The program has been renewed for 52 weeks through Sweeney and James, the agency handling the account. Richard Crooks, however, will leave the program for the summer months, with Margaret Speaks, the Firestone Chorus and the Wallenstein orchestra carrying on. Crooks will return to the series in the fall.

"Flags" on Lux Program

Herbert Marshall and Olivia de Havilland will enact the principal roles in a radio version of "Under Two Flags" in the Lux "Radio Theatre" May 24. Others in the cast will include Lupe Velez and Lionel Atwill.

Don Martin Leaves WIP

Philadelphia, May 20. — Don Martin leaves the WIP announcing staff this week. Replacing him will fe Kenneth Miller, of WRAW, Reading, Pa.

Short Wave Station Is Planned by G. E.

San Francisco, May 20.—General Electric Co. has plans for a new 20,000-watt international short wave station, to be located at Belmont, 25 miles south of here. Programs would be designed for Chinese and Japanese dialers in the far east. Native languages will be used, with announcements also in French and English. The site chosen is adjacent to KPO's 50,000-watt transmitter in the salt marshes.

KFRC Signs with Union

Los Angeles, May 20.—Lewis Allen Weiss, general manager of the Don Lee network, says a five-year contract has been signed with the technicians of KFRC, San Francisco, granting them a 40-hour week, two weeks' vacation yearly with pay and other concessions.

Predicts Set Sale Gain

Chicago, May 20.—H. C. Bonfig, RCA Victor general sales manager, predicted a substantial increase in sales of radio receiving sets for 1937 yesterday at the annual convention of RCA radio wholesalers. He stated also that production and advertising plans have been increased 25 per cent in anticipation of the increase in business.

Guizar Has Busy Schedule

Tito Guizar, CBS singer, has been set for a busy summer campaign. Guizar will leave for Mexico City next week to begin work on a Mexican film, then on to South America for a concert and radio tour, and thence to California where he will appear in Paramount's "Big Broadcast of 1938."

"Fiesta" Switches to Tuesday

Hollywood, May 20.—"Fiesta," formerly broadcast over KNX and the Pacific network of CBS on Wednesday, moves to a Tuesday night period beginning tonight and will hit the air waves from the CBS Vine St. Theatre instead of the studio. This is a half hour show starting at 10 P.M., P.S.T.

Postpone "ABC of NBC"

The Saturday broadcast of the "ABC of NBC" featuring Roy Witmer's address on the function of the sales department in radio, has been postponed one week, to enable the network to carry a broadcast from the eclipse expedition now in South America.

Fay Wray Fischer's Guest

Hollywood, May 20.—Fay Wray will be guest on George Fischer's "Hollywood Whiskers" show tomorrow. The program runs 15 minutes beginning 6:15 P.M., P.S.T., and is heard over the national Mutual web. The local outlet is KHJ.

Harry Horlock, recently returned from a world cruise, has been signed under exclusive management of the Rockwell-O'Keefe Office.

Film Leaders to Be At the AIC Banquet

Hollywood, May 20.—The studios will be well represented at the fourth annual banquet of the American Institute of Cinematography, affiliated with the University of Southern California, next Friday in the foyer of Town and Gown on the Trojan campus. Speakers will include Adolph Zukor, Cecil B. De Mille, Boris Morros, Howard Estabrook, Dr. Lee de Forest and Slavko Vorkapich. Estabrook will be master of ceremonies and Coningsby Dawson, novelist, will talk on "Hollywood, a Post-Graduate Course for Novelists."

Patrons and patronesses of the Institute include Jack Warner, Sam Wood, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Giannini, William Dieterle, Walt Disney, Albert E. Smith, Frances Marion, Max Factor, Harry Cohn, Paul Kohner, Jesse L. Lasky, Darryl F. Zanuck and Walter Wanger.

Writers See "Galahad"

Warners played hosts yesterday at the home office to a group of New York sports writers and boxing personalities at a screening of "Kid Galahad." Included in the group were Jimmy Johnston, boxing promoter; Benny Leonard, Frank Graham, sports editor, New York Sun; Sid Mercer, American; Harold Conrad, Eagle; Ned Brown, formerly with the New York World; Frank Wallace, sports writer and author of the film's story; Arthur Mann, Graeme Lorimer and Dan Morgan.

Weiss Starts 4 Serials

Hollywood, May 20.—Louis Weiss, Columbia producer, has launched the first of a series of four serials for that company with the start of production on "Frank Buck in the Jungle."

The cast is headed by Buck, Reginald Denny, Esther Ralston, Charlotte Henry, William Bakewell, Clarence Muse, Duncan Renaldo, Snub Pollard, Willie Fung and Sacha Sienel, the latter a noted African explorer.

Dick Merrill Is Signed

Hollywood, May 20.—Dick Merrill, transatlantic flyer, has been signed for pictures by Lou Irwin, agent.

Katherine ("Sugar") Kane has been placed with Major Prod and Eddie Garr, comedian, with Universal for "Scoop" which goes into production Friday. These deals were also closed by Irwin.

To Produce Stamp Short

Captain Tim Healy, creator of the Stamp Club of the Air which is heard over the NBC coast-to-coast hookup, has formed Postage Stamp Movies, Inc. The company will produce a series of shorts to be called "Adventures in Stamp Lands." The first release will be ready shortly.

Next Lloyd Film Ready

Hollywood, May 20. — Harold Lloyd plans to start production within six weeks on his next film for Paramount release, "Professor Beware." The screenplay was written by Jack Cunningham from an original by Francis and Marian Cockrell.

Lang to Marry Orsatti

Hollywood, May 20.—June Lang, performer, and Victor Orsatti, agent, will marry May 29.

Variety Club

Cincinnati

Cincinnati, May 20. — The big event of the current week will be the fourth anual supper dance tomorrow night at the Pavillon Caprice in the Netherland Plaza, for which Arthur M. Frudenfeld, main guy of the entertainment brigade promises some unusual talent. Ralph Kinsler, in change of reservations, predicts a sellout.

New members on the local roster include Paul Sullivan, news commentator of WLW, resident; Edwin W. Sonz, Theatre Poster Supply Co., semi-resident, and Lou Lichenstein, auditor 20th Century-Fox, New York, non-resident.

Harry Donau, formerly assistant steward, who recently went with the local Paramount exchange, is back at the tent as steward, succeeding Clarence Williams, resigned. Ray Sanders remains as assistant.

Joe Goetz, has taken up camera work as pastime.

Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, May 20.—Variety Club is planning a testimonial and farewell dinner in honor of Ben Kalmenson, who has just been made eastern district sales manager for Warners and will shortly move his headquarters from Pittsburgh to New York.

No date has been set for the affair, but it will be announced in a few days by Harry Seed, Warner-First National branch manager here, who is chairman. It will be the second such dinner for Kalmenson here in less than a year. Last July he was similarly honored after quitting as Harry Kalmine's assistant in the theatre department to become sales head in the central division.

Commonwealth Meet Set

Kansas City, May 20.—C. A. Schultz, executive head of Commonwealth Theatres, has set the spring convention for May 25 and 26 at the Blue Hills Country Club. Principal item of discussion will be plans for the circuit's annual King of the Sun contest, which each year starts about June 1 and ends with a fishing and outing trip on the Lake of the Ozarks.

G. N. Adds Sound Stages

Hollywood, May 20.—Two new sound stages are being added to Grand National's current five, now in operation. Five office bungalows to house executives and various departments are also nearing completion.

Glass Production Head

Hollywood, May 20.—Gaston Glass, who was leading man for Victor Schertzinger several years ago, has joined that producer's unit at Grand National as production manager.

Roxy Hearing Put Over Until June 4

A hearing on a motion to confirm the report of Special Master Addison S. Pratt which recommended approval of the amended plan of reorganization for the Roxy with only a minor modification was adjourned yesterday to June 4 by Federal Judge William Bondy. Objectors to the report were instructed to file briefs with the court by May 27.

Indications are that with the adjournment of the hearing, confirmation of the plan will be delayed beyond July 1, the date specified by 20th Century-Fox as a condition of its reorganization offer. It was stated unofficially, however, that the company

Michigan Allied to Battle Censor Bill

DETROIT, May 21.—Several film bills in the State Legislature will be fought by Allied of Michigan during the closing weeks of the session. One calls for state censorship with a board of three to be appointed by the Governor, salaries of the members to be paid out of a charge to be assessed against distributors.

Another provides for closing all theatres in the state which, by Sept. 1 next, do not have concrete floors, wall bases, entrances and stairways.

A third would bar all advertising reels except trailers, and others are a bill providing for dog racing and one calling for a 40-hour week for women workers.

Jack Connolly Leaves Pathe; Ullman Named

More Changes Believed To Be Impending

Jack S. Connolly, general manager of Pathe News and associated with the company in editorial and executive capacities for the past seven years, resigned yesterday. His duties will be taken over by Frederick Ullman, former head of the Pathe News commercial film department, who was elected vice-president and a director of the company on Thursday. Ullman becomes the active management head of the company.

It was reported yesterday in official quarters that several other changes either were imminent or had occurred already on the editorial staff. Details, however, were not diclosed.

Connolly's resignation followes that of Courtland Smith, former Pathe News president, who was succeeded

WIDE INQUIRY OF FILMS IS SOUGHT

I.A.T.S.E. Promises Strike Settlement

HOLLYWOOD, May 21.—The I.A.T.S.E. today delivered an ultimatum to producers and striking units of the F.M.P.C. that the I.A.T.S.E would settle the strike on its own terms. As regards the jurisdictional dispute, it warned the studios that it would strike on their lots and in the theatres if the F.M.P.C. were recognized without I.A.T.S.E. approval.

George Browne, I.A.T.S.E. president, issued a long statement hitting Charles Lessing, F.M.P.C. secretary, and "Communist agitators." Browne said company union charges against I.A.T.S.E. are libels. "Neither the local painters nor other misguided labor organizations still clinging to the recklessly-called outlaw strike

Studios Hold Pace In Face of Strike

HOLLYWOOD, May 21.—Production continues to maintain the pace of the last few weeks in the face of strike conditions involving nine crafts. Six new features were started, 40 were shooting, five were completed, 16 preparing and 76 editing. Last week, the comparable figures showed eight under way, 39 shooting, six completed, an identical number in preparation and 71 editing.

Columbia has one shooting, two preparing, nine editing and one completed; Goldwyn Prod. had three, zero and zero; M-G-M, six, two and

Texas Congressman Asks Seven-Man Committee To Conduct Probe

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 21.—An investigation delving into every phase of the film industry is proposed in a resolution introduced in Congress by Representative Dies of Texas.

The inquiry, which would be conducted by a special seven-man House Committee, would investigate particularly whether monopoly or monopolies, unfair trade practices or cutthroat competition exist in the industry and, if so, what individuals, corporation or groups are guilty of such practices.

The committee would also study the activities of members of various organizations of exhibitors, distributors or producers "to monopolize business, to prevent competition, to promote legislation" and would ascertain the

U.S. Ticket Tax Up To $1,589,682 Mark

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Federal admission tax collections in April reached the highest figure touched since last December at $1,589,682, an increase of nearly $50,000 over the March total of $1,539,408 and $323,000 above the April, 1936, collections of $1,266,425, it was reported today by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

For the first four months of the current calendar year, collections amounted to $6,108,119 against $5,386,350 for the same period in 1936, an increase of $721,769, while for the first 10 months of the fiscal year ending on June 30 receipts were $16,328,297 compared with $14,261,221, an increase of $2,067,076, the bureau announced.

Separate Reports on Moyne Plan Expected

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, May 21.—It is seen as possible now that three separate delegations will wait upon Dr. Leslie Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade on May 26, with the opinions relative to the Moyne suggestions for revision of the Films Act of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n, the Kinematograph Renters' Society and the Film Group of the F.B.I. Originally it was intended that a joint delegation should confer with Burgin.

It is rumored that the circuits are dissenting from the C.E.A. policy, threatening to break away, but such an action would not affect the council's decision on the quality clause in the quota act, which was carried by a 10 to one majority. The dominating factor lies in the fear of the independents that the K.R.S. plan for cost reduction on the quota would result in a serious shortage of product for the small exhibitor.

Dog Racing Bill Vetoed

ALBANY, May 21.—The Hall dog racing bill was vetoed by Governor Lehman today on the ground that the pari-mutuel betting the bill seeks to establish is unconstitutional.

Local major and independent circuit interests expressed satisfaction yesterday over the veto by Governor Lehman of the dog racing bill. During the past few weeks, plans were being made to open tracks in White Plains and Long Island, but these will be discarded now that the bill is dead.

Arkansas ITOA Meet To Start Tomorrow

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., May 21.—"The most important convention of the past five years" was the forecast of J. F. Norman, secretary, for the semi-annual convention of the I.T.O.A. of Arkansas to be held at the Hotel Marion here Sunday and Monday.

Uniform utility and power rates for all theatres and election of officers are expected to be the major subjects before the convention. Harry Brandt, president of the I.T.O.A. of New York, and a representative of Allied, are expected to attend.

L. F. Haven, president, will preside. Registration starts Sunday morning and showing of new films will be held at a local theatre. Business meetings will be held Monday morning with election of officers in the afternoon. A banquet and dance will close the convention.

Michigan Men to Attend

DETROIT, May 21.—Allied of Michigan will be well represented at the national Allied convention in Milwaukee on May 26-28. Among the local members who will attend will be Fred Delodder, Sr., H. M. Richey, Fred Delodder, Jr., J. C. Ritter, Tom Eland, P. C. Schram, Ray Branch, Jerry Schneider, William Steffes, Arthur Robinson, Frank A. Wetsman, Alex Schreiber, George Wilber and Joseph Portell.

Most of them will make the trip to Milwaukee by auto, leaving Tuesday morning, although several, including Richey, intend to fly.

Film Inquiry Is Proposed In Congress

total membership of such organizations, the amount of money raised by each and the salaries paid to officers, and the amount expended, if any, "for propaganda purposes to bring about discriminatory legislation."

The probe further would consider whether producer ownership of stock or other interest in exhibitor corporations tends to create monopoly and results in unfair competition, and whether producers should be prohibited from engaging in exhibition.

Also to be probed is whether any of the producers and distributors have adopted the uniform contract, withholding of product from independent houses, allocation of product to controlled theatres, unfair and unreasonable zoning and protection, compulsory block booking and blind selling, forcing out of business and acquisition of independent theatres or other unfair practices and, if so, the appropriate steps that should be taken to correct this condition.

Many Incidental Considerations

Other subjects outlined for investigation are the efforts, if any, of certain theatres to cut the price of admission below what is reasonable and fair in order to eliminate competition and whether such cut-throat competition results in inferior quality of pictures and in lower wages to employes; the efforts of theatre-owning producers to regulate the admission prices of independent exhibitors by limitation of contracts and by withholding films for unreasonable periods from low-admission houses; the relations—corporate, contractual and otherwise — between producer-distributors and the manufacturers of reproducing equipment, the music publishing houses and trailer manufacturers; the effect on the independent exhibitor and the public of percentage playing, compulsory designation of playdates and other conditions imposed on the producer-distributors, and the special favors granted to the producer-owned, controlled and affiliated theatres and the discriminations practiced against independent theatres, together with the activities of independents through their associations and organizations to monopolize the business of exhibition so as to be able to dictate to producers on terms and conditions under which their product shall be run and to promote discriminatory legislation.

Production Also to Be Probed

Also to be studied are whether producers must have some dependable outlet for their product in order to insure continuous production on a high-grade basis and whether the present practices of producers tend to stabilize the entire industry and insure to the independent better pictures, a more dependable supply and fairer admission prices; and what legislation, if any, is needed to correct the abuses in the industry and restore fair-competition conditions if it is found that such conditions do not exist.

The special committee would be authorized to request the cooperation of the Dep't of Justice or other Government agencies in the making of investigation, including access to the department's files. Hearings could be held at such points throughout the country as the committee might find desirable and could be conducted during the recess of Congress.

Seeks Extension of Federal Ticket Tax

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 21.—A two-year extension of the present Federal admission tax is provided in a joint resolution introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Doughton of North Carolina, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

All other "nuisance" taxes also would be continued, as well as the three-cent postage rate for first-class mail other than in the city of mailing.

The introduction of the legislation by the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee gives it the status of an Administration measure. Under the resolution, the admission tax would be continued until 1939.

Congressman Told of Kansas City Protest

KANSAS CITY, May 21.—The Kansas City, Kan., Chamber of Commerce has forwarded a seven-page brief to Congressman U. S. Guyer reviewing the city's complaint against the clearance which deprives it of first runs day and date with Kansas City, Mo. The chamber is urging Congress to pass a law to prevent discrimination by distributors. The chamber in the brief asks Congressman Guyer to appear personally before the proper Congressional committee to plead the city's cause, promising him, if he wants it, a committee to testify in any investigation.

The protest to Washington followed a letter from Guyer requesting from the chamber a report on the clearance situation.

Pass Missouri Tax Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 21.—The state Senate has passed Governor Stark's two per cent sales tax bill which is designed to raise more than $36,700,000 for unemployment relief, old age pensions and other emergency purposes during the next 19 months. The measure now goes back to the House for concurrence with the Senate amendments.

Two Tax Bills in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 21.—Two amusement tax bills were introduced in the Florida House today. The first proposes a tax of 1½ cents on each 10 cents or fraction paid for admittance to theatres. The second measure levies a tax of 10 per cent on the gross receipts of night clubs, theatres and circuses.

Expect Sunday Film Test

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 21.—A court test of the Sunday film ban here is expected following the opening of his house last Sunday by Nat Williams. A recent referendum resulted in a vote of 358 for Sunday films out of 399 cast, but opponents declared that the rest of the 2,300 registered voters who refrained from voting on the request of local church groups, should be considered to have opposed the measure.

three; Paramount, eight, five and 10. On that lot, at the same time "This Way, Please" and "Let's Talk of Love" went before the cameras. Republic had one, one and seven; RKO, four, two and five; Roach, one, zero and one; Selznick International, zero, one and one; 20th Century-Fox, seven, one and one; Universal, two, zero and three; Warners, six, and one and 29.

In short subjects, 12 were being edited, seven preparing and two shooting while two more started. Columbia started one, had one in work, two preparing and four editing; M-G-M, zero, zero, two and four; RKO, one, one, two and three; Roach, zero, zero, one and one; and Warners, nothing in any group.

New features launched were "This Way, Please" and "Let's Talk of Love" at Paramount; "A House in the Country" at RKO; "Haidi," "Too Much Limelight" and "Wild and Woolly" at 20th Century-Fox.

Finish Discussions With Phila. Union

Home office distribution executives yesterday concluded negotiations with representatives of the I.A.T.S.E. and the Philadelphia Exchange employes' union.

Every major company was represented at the union sessions which were continued from Thursday. Representing the I.A.T.S.E. were Louis Krouse, vice-president, and M. Gatley, in addition to a committee for the Philadelphia local.

Talks with representatives for New Haven, slated for yesterday, were put over until Monday.

Form Seattle Theatre Union

SEATTLE, May 21.—Three hundred ushers, doormen and cashiers in local theatres have affiliated with the I.A.T.S.E., according to Basil Gray, business agent of the Stage Employees' Union, Local 15. O. M. Jacobsen, international representative of the I.A., conducted the organization campaign here. Frank P. Hood, theatre executive, was elected president of the new group.

Seek Omaha Exchange Union

OMAHA, May 21.—Two members of the local operators' union have been calling on branch managers here informing them that steps will be taken toward unionizing employes. Actual enrollment and presentation of demands is not expected before next week.

Start Atlanta Union Drive

ATLANTA, May 21.—The I. A. T. S. E. invaded this city this week, calling a meeting of exchange shippers and poster clerks as the opening move in an organization drive.

Plan English Wage Talks

LONDON, May 13.—Laboratory companies will meet a delegation of the Ass'n of Cine-Technicians shortly to discuss wages and working conditions. The conference was arranged by M. Neville Kearney, secretary of the Film Group of the F.B.I., after a strike threat had been made by the A.C.T. on the question of recognition.

by Ned E. Depinet, by one day. Connolly has been associated with Smith for many years. The two were in early newspaper work together and when Smith became the first secretary of the M. P. P. D. A., Connolly also entered the industry as Washington representative for that organization. When Smith became associated with Fox Film Corp. in 1926, and organized Fox Movietone News subsequently, Connolly also became associated with the company and in 1929 was made European representative for the reel. Later, he was made general manager of Pathe News when Smith became president of the company.

Connolly returned from London on the Normandie last Tuesday with Pathe's newsreel footage on the Coronation. It was assumed that he would join Smith in a new endeavor, reported to be either in the television or radio field.

I.A.T.S.E. Promises Strike Settlement

will ever receive the slightest recognition in industry until purged of Comrade Charles Lessing and the inner circle of Communist trouble makers. The I.A.T.S.E, standing on its own proved jurisdictional rights, against the F.M.P.C. ringleader, claims as unsubstantiated the F.M. P. C. rumors and reports of expected support Monday from the A.F.L. These are outright lies issued in an attempt to trick members and the public," the Browne statement concluded.

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the Producer Negotiations Committee, also hit Lessing, calling him the chief obstacle to an immediate end of the walkout and claiming that all crafts are deserting him except the painters, scenic artists and makeup men, "whose total number 475." Schenck states that producers have no control over the strike situation now as the issue is primarily one of A.F.L. jurisdiction.

The deadline for the independents' signing of the F.M.P.C. agreement has been extended indefinitely by the strikers, their reason being that the producers asked more time. It is understood that pressure from the majors on the independents' laborers today started a return to work subject to call at 75 cents per hour.

Union Rivalry in France

PARIS, May 13.—Rivalry is seen here as developing between the Film Workers' Syndicate and the Technicians' Syndicate, separate units within the French Trade Unions. There were 80 delegates of the first group at a recent meeting here, said to represent 6,000 workers.

The Technicians, who refused to participate, will hold their own meeting on May 25. The rivalry is believed of political origin.

Radio

CIO and Colonial at Odds Over a Program

BOSTON, May 21.—The C.I.O. and John Shephard, owner of the Colonial network, were at odds today as a result of the network's action in insisting on preceding and following an hour C.I.O. broadcast here with a repudiation of the C.I.O. and its methods.

Because of this action John L. Lewis and other C.I.O. leaders, who had paid for an hour's time on the network, cancelled the broadcast.

In a complaint to be filed with the F.C.C., the C.I.O., it is announced, will test whether radio owners may interject personal opinions into paid radio programs.

The Textile Workers' Organization Committee, C.I.O. affiliate, had contracted for the broadcast with the Colonial network at a mass meeting in Lawrence, Mass., at regular commercial rates. Those who had been scheduled to speak included Lewis, C.I.O. chairman and Sidney Hillman.

Theatre Men to Broadcast

Brock Pemberton, producer, and Lawrence Langner of the Theatre Guild will speak over CBS in connection with the first anniversary of the National Convention of the American Theatre, May 24, from 6:15 to 6:30 P. M., E.D.S.T. Both speakers are members of the advisory board of the American Theatre Council, which is sponsoring the convention.

Hollingshead Joins Morner

Melvin A. Hollingshead, an executive with Campbell-Ewald for the past 15 years, and for the past two years vice-president in charge of radio in the New York office, has resigned to become a partner and vice-president of Morner Prod., local radio production film.

"Plainsman" on Lux Hour

Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur will re-enact scenes from their recent picture, "The Plainsman," on the Lux "Radio Theatre" over CBS May 31. Sidney Skolsky, Hollywood columnist, will speak between acts.

In addition, stations in the Great Lakes area will offer presentations. The list includes: CFRB, Toronto; WLW, Cincinnati; George Heid's KDKA unit from Pittsburgh, and Joe Ferte's WBNS show from Columbus. Cleveland's stations, WTAM, TGAR, WHK and WJAY, also plan programs.

Ask Two New Stations

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Applications for two new broadcasting stations today were submitted to the F.C.C.

The applications cover the proposed construction of stations at Phoenix, Ariz., by Earl A. Nielson, to operate on 1,210 kilocycles with 100 watts power, and at Los Angeles, by the Hebrew Evangelization Society, to operate on 1,570 kilocycles, with 1,000 watts power.

An application of Martin R. O'Brien for a new station at Aurora, Ill., to operate on 1,500 kilocycles, with 250 watts, daytime, has been amended to provide for a frequency of 1,240 kilocycles.

Waring on Bridge Program

Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians will be heard on CBS in a special program May 26, from 6 to 6:30 P. M., E.D.S.T., to commemorate the opening of the new Golden Gate bridge in California. The broadcast will originate in the studios of KNX, Hollywood.

evening's program at that studio, when the complete mechanics of producing a picture, from story selection to final cutting and scoring, will be demonstrated by the various staff department heads.

Officers and members of the board of directors will be the guests of the officers of the Technicians' Branch of the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences Monday night at the Hollywood Plaza Hotel. Officers of the Academy and chairmen of other sections also will attend and later the group will view "The Prince and the Pauper" at Warners' Hollywood.

W. C. Kunzmann is convention vice-president; J. I. Crabtree, editorial vice-president; G. F. Rackett, executive vice-president; K. F. Morgan, chairman of the Pacific Coast Section; G. E. Matthews, chairman of the papers committee, and Peter Mole, chairman of the arrangements committee.

The society's semi-annual banquet will be held at the Roosevelt on Wednesday evening, at which addresses will be delivered by several industry figures. A program of entertainment for women visitors has been arranged.

Wolf to Be in Chair

S. K. Wolf will open the convention following the registration of delegates Monday morning. The reports of the membership, papers, progress and historical committees will be heard thereafter. Industry executives will speak at the informal luncheon following the first morning session. The afternoon will be devoted to papers on studio technique and the evening will be spent at the Universal studio, where the delegates will be welcomed by Charles R. Rogers, vice-president in charge of production, and attend a demonstration of production procedure.

Tuesday morning's meeting will be a color session, and the afternoon will feature an instrument session, with a special demonstration at the M-G-M studio in the evening. Wednesday morning will be featured by the acoustics and sound session, and the 20th Century-Fox studio will be visited in the afternoon. The banquet will be held that evening.

Thursday morning will be open for studio visits, and the laboratory and projection session will occupy the afternoon. In the evening members and guests will attend a meeting of the Research Council and the Technicians' Branch of the Academy. Friday, the final day, will feature the apparatus symposium and manufacturers' announcements in the morning, the sound equipment symposium in the afternoon and the television session in the evening.

Blaze Destroys House

WEISER, Idaho, May 21.—The Wheaton here was completely destroyed by fire today. The loss was estimated at $75,000. The blaze, thought to have been caused by defective wiring, was fought by the fire departments of three towns.

would consent to an extension of the time if necessary. Aug. 1 is regarded as the earliest possible date by which the plan can be confirmed now.

Objections to Pratt's report were voiced yesterday by virtually all groups, although most of the objections were minor ones with the exception of those of the Class A stockholders for whom no provision is made in the plan. A voluntary offer to stockholders of $1 per share, however, was made by 20th Century-Fox. The stockholders contended yesterday that they invested $4,500,000 of an original $10,000,000 Roxy capital and that they would receive only two per cent on their investment. They contended that the Roxy is solvent, that there should be an equity for the shareholders and asked that the trusteeship be continued.

Payment was also asked for the claims of the receivership administration creditors, who were allowed nothing by Pratt. Objections were voiced to Pratt's allowance in full for the claims of equity general creditors whom, it was contended, should receive only 50 per cent.

season's short subject schedule, and prizes will be awarded in the S. R. Kent drive.

The second day will be devoted to production, with addresses by Col. Jason Joy, public relations director, and Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production. Clark, Joseph M. Schenck, board chairman, and Sidney R. Kent, president, will speak to the men on Wednesday, which will be occupied with distribution matters. Harry Brand and Charles E. McCarthy will address the delegates on advertising, publicity and exploitation. The group will visit the studio on Thursday, the final day.

Australia Is Firm on Quota Stipulations

N. S. W. Premier Insists Law to Be Enforced

By CLIFF HOLT

SYDNEY, May 2 (By Air Mail Via London).—The determination of the Government of New South Wales to force American distributors into production in Australia, in order to effect actual compliance with the quota regulations there, is clearly expressed in a statement from the Premier of the state.

"In introducing the quota legislation in 1935 the Government desired to encourage the film industry," he said, "and certain obligations were placed upon the distributors and exhibitors of imported films. Apparently some doubt existed in the minds of a number of distributors, and for this reason exemptions were granted in 1935. The granting of exemptions for 1936 is not to be construed as a precedent.

"The Government looks to the distributors to see that for this year and subsequent years the requisite number

20th-Fox Close to Half Possibilities

Approximately half of the possibilities for 1937-'38 will be sold before the 20th Century-Fox sales convention opens at the Ambassador, Los Angeles, May 31. Several exchanges are said to have reached the halfway mark with Pittsburgh understood ready to chalk up 62 per cent of its quota. Ira Cohen, branch manager, stated he hopes to increase this figure to 70 per cent by the time he arrives in California.

At least 12 exchanges are expected to report to John D. Clark that salesmen have marked up more than 50 per cent of the possibilities as sold. These territories will embrace situations

"U" and G. N. Forces Are Due Back Today

Home office and eastern branch managers and salesmen of Universal and Grand National will return today from the coast after attending sales conventions last week at the Ambassador, Los Angeles.

In both instances, sales forces will immediately begin selling the new lineups.

First Triple Role

Hollywood, May 23.—What is believed to be the screen's first triple role goes to Leo G. Carroll, veteran character actor. He draws the title role in M-G-M's film version of the Will Scott play, "The Umbrella Man," playing an old man, a young male secretary and an unscrupulous thief.

SMPE Opens Its Convention Today

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—With approximately 150 delegates on deck from the east, and a number of studio technical men invited, the annual spring convention of the Society of M. P. Engineers will get under way tomorrow morning at the Hotel Roosevelt, with an important series of papers on various technical phases of industry operation on the agenda.

The convention will run from tomorrow through Friday, and a lengthy list of papers are on the schedule for delivery at morning, afternoon and some evening sessions. An important phase of this year's meeting will be the visits to be paid to several of the major studios, for demonstration and lectures on the technical phases in the production of pictures.

S. K. Wolf of Erpi, president, will preside and deliver the opening address of welcome tomorrow morning, immediately after the registration of the delegates. Other speakers of the morning will be W. C. Kunzman, convention vice-president; G. E. Matthews, chairman of the papers committee; J. G. Frayne, chairman of the progress committee; E. Theisen, chairman of the historical committee.

Wolf will read a paper on "Educational Film Progress and Problems," and H. F. Sherwood of the Kodak

IATSE-FMPC Row Delays Strike End

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—The intervention of the I.A.T.S.E. in the studio strike here, condemning the F.M.P.C. and threatening a walkout if the F.M.P.C. is recognized, dashes the Federation's and producers' hopes of ending the strike this weekend. Charles Lessing, secretary of the F.M.P.C., disclosed today that the producers' spokesman phoned him Friday to the effect that the studios were ready to grant a union shop and negotiate further demands for all crafts and that the I.A.T.S.E. intervened before the written proposition could be made to the F.M.P.C.

Majors May Select Wage Scales Group

Major distributors are considering the appointment of a labor negotiating committee which would meet in various parts of the country to negotiate wage and hour agreements with employee committees designated to represent the new exchange workers' unions it was stated Saturday.

The initial negotiations which resulted in agreements being set with Boston and Philadelphia exchange unions were held here. The meeting with New Haven employee representatives will also be held here starting today. The new Cleveland exchange union is the only additional one which has requested a parley with the home office officials up to now, but a date for this meeting is not expected to be set until home offices decide on the procedure to be followed in conducting negotiations with exchange unions situated farther afield. Some believe it would be more practicable to send a small negotiating committee into centrally located cities than to bring the employe delegations in to New York

Little Chance to Escape Penalties Foreseen

City officials yesterday estimated the liability of local distributors on the two per cent municipal sales tax on film rentals for the two years ending Jan. 1, 1937, at $1,650,000. The figure is based on completed audits of the books of half of the major distributors in the city and does not include interest and penalties for nonpayment of the tax while its application to film rentals was being litigated.

A city official stated that distributors had conferred with the city comptroller's office on a waiver of the penalties, but that two such applications had been refused and there was only "a very slim chance" that the decision would be changed at any time. It was stated that the Court of Appeals decision against United Artists, which held that the tax applied to film rentals originating within the city, included a judgment for penalties as well as the tax itself.

"In this way," it was said, "the court's decision practically 'froze' the tax and penalties into a single assessment. If that is to apply to United Artists it must also apply to every other local distributor. The chances of the city waiving the penalties are very slim."

It is estimated, however, that dis-

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 23.

IT might have looked well in its story form. The script might have been funny enough to make them laugh in gales around the RKO lot, but somewhere between intent and execution "Meet the Missus" found itself on a siding, engine cold and its steam run out. The idea here, as we sense it, was to do a farce drawing on contests, the Great American pastime, as a source for fun on celluloid. . . .

In this there is a competition conducted by the Happy Noodle Co. and in it Helen Broderick enters for fame and $10,000. The power behind her broom is Victor Moore, who is a barber by profession and a sorely beset husband by night. Whatever Miss Broderick knows about cleanliness of home and kitchen she owes to him and his indulgence. Anyway, she wins in the semi-finals and earns a chance to participate in a national melee at Atlantic City. As the wives go completely Babbitt the husbands go into revolt. . . .

Finally Miss Broderick wins after much effort and little success at rib-tickling in the sledgehammer manner. You might imagine that with two such established comics as Miss Broderick and Moore much might come of it. They try, but the one situation given them to play out is too meager for them to continually keep them and their antics going.

It may have been the treatment by Jack Townley, Bert Granet and Joel Sayre. It may have been the direction by Joseph Santley. Our idea is that both are to blame. But regardless of any success in exactly probing where the fault may rest, the sad report to render is that "Meet the Missus" simply hasn't got it. . . .

Legion Approves 21 Of 23 New Pictures

The National Legion of Decency, in its list of new pictures for the current week, approved 21 of 23 new pictures either for general patronage or adults, and classed two as objectionable in part. Thirteen were approved for general patronage and eight for adults. The new pictures and their classification follow.

Class A-1, Unobjectionable for General Patronage — "Angel's Holiday," "Behind the Headlines," "The Go Getter," "Die Grobe Adele," " Gun Lords of Stirrup Basin," "Hotel Haywire," "Kirschen in Nachbars Garten," "League of Frightened Men," "Marry the Girl," "Slim," "Speed to Spare," "Think Fast, Mr. Moto," "Venus Makes Trouble." Class A-2, Unobjectionable for Adults — "Damaged Goods," "Doctor Knock," "Episode," "Forever Yours," "I Met Him in Paris," "The Man in the Mirror," "Woman Chases Man," "The World's in Love." Class B, Objectionable in Part—"Dreaming Lips," "Golem."

Fox Wisconsin Men Get Drive Bonuses

MILWAUKEE, May 23. — Several thousand dollars in bonuses was handed out by H J. Fitzgerald, general manager of the Fox-Wisconsin circuit to approximately 40 employes who led in a 13-week business drive.

Circuit shifts, as announced by Fitzgerald, place C. R. Reich, formerly of the Uptown, Chicago, in charge of the Strand, and Charles Conway, treasurer of the Palace, manager of the Miller. They succeed A. H. R. Miller. Floyd Bunker, chief of service at the Palace, has been promoted to treasurer; Elmer Kruke, service captain, has been made chief of service, and Ed Derwin, usher, advanced to captain.

Eschmann Joins 20th-Fox

Edward Eschmann, well known in distribution circles, has joined the 20th Century-Fox sales force in Boston under Edward Callahan, branch manager. Eschmann starts his new duties this morning. He will be among the Hub group attending the company's sales conventions in Los Angeles.

Monogram Drive Now On

Des Moines led Monogram's 30 exchanges at the end of the first week of the company's national sales drive, which will close July 10. Kansas City, Milwaukee, Dallas, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh followed in that order. The drive is expected to net $1,500,000 of the company's $4,333,000 total sales quota for the year.

S. M. Biddell to Produce

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Sidney M. Biddell, Grand National story editor and assistant to Edward L. Alperson, will resign May 29. He is working out a plan for independent production and is dickering with Grand National for a releasing arrangement.

Alperson Satisfied With Unit Producing

After a three-month study of production methods, Edward L. Alperson, president, stated that Grand National will continue to produce on the unit system. This plan, he added, makes for a greater diversification of product.

Alperson said that it is his belief that the unit system provides a greater variety of pictures and helps to eliminate a repetition of cut and dried formulas. He added that producers' names on pictures are becoming as important to exhibitors as those of stars, and in time will be well known to the public.

Finney Delays Return

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Edward Finney will remain here for another week setting the advertising program for Grand National's next season product. W. J. Neary, another Grand National conventionist, will also remain to work out budgets and financial matters in his post as comptroller.

Grand National Men Promoted

Pat Pinnell, Oklahoma salesman, has been promoted to branch manager of the Grand National exchange in Salt Lake City, and A. H. Day, St. Louis salesman, is now head of the Memphis branch.

Edward J. Peskay, general sales manager for Grand National, announced the promotions before leaving the coast last week. He returns today with the homecoming delegates.

Erwin to Start Second

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—Stuart Erwin will start production on May 25 on his second starring vehicle for Grand National, "Face the Facts," with Andrew L. Stone producing. Alexis Thurn-Taxis has joined Stone's staff, as assistant director on the Erwin film.

tributors collected from exhibitors more than half of the film tax due while the test case was being litigated, and that virtually all of the balance can be collected, as well. This would mean that the distributors' portion of the assessment would be limited to the interest and penalties. These will vary in amount according to the business of each exchange.

The city's audits in connection with the assessments are understood to have been completed at United Artists, Columbia, RKO and several other companies, with the work not expected to be finally completed at other exchanges for several weeks yet.

Theatres outside the city limits were exempt from the levy and most distributors have refunded payments collected from such theatres while the application of the tax was being determined in the courts.

from all parts of the country for conferences here.

Sales conventions during June probably will delay further negotiations until mid-summer. At the present time, however, it is estimated that not more than a half dozen exchange centers are sufficiently advanced in their organizing to desire immediate negotiations. All of these could be handled in New York, it is said. Organizing is believed to be either completed or under way in about half of the 32 principal exchange cities throughout the country.

The meeting today will be held at the Warner home office. Sessions last week with the Philadelphia union representatives were held at the M-G-M headquarters.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Girl Said No"

(Stone-Grand National)

Hollywood, May 23.—Here's a novel idea possessed of the potentialities promising a surprise hit. Audience stuff every foot of the way in the manner in which it tells a dramatic romantic story and introduces Gilbert and Sullivan music, it is also a showman's show, full of exploitation material. Colorful and lively, moving with an intriguing plot, good situations, clever dialogue and action, with the entire cast giving good performances and Irene Hervey outstanding, the film need fear none but the most sensational competition.

Fleeced by Irene Hervey, taxi dancer, Bookmaker Robert Armstrong plots a cruel revenge on the girl who has trifled with his love. Convincing her that she has the makings of a musical comedy star, he rounds up a group of old Gilbert and Sullivan performers who live in the hope that the great days of the stage will return. Playing the pal of a big shot producer, Richard Tucker, Armstrong, with money wheedled from Miss Hervey plus some garnered from the troupe, plans to present "The Mikado" with Miss Hervey in the leading role. The show goes on, and as the old timers relive the halcyon days, a sudden burst of contrition for his supposed vengeful double dealing overcomes Armstrong. Mounting the stage, he confesses his plot, but the public thinks the show is a success and their reaction means happiness all around.

As 10 or 12 Gilbert and Sullivan numbers are revived in the development of the piece, older members of audiences should be glad to see veteran members of the light opera troupes, William Danforth, Vera Ross, Vivian Hart and Frank Moulan again in character. With Miss Hervey's performance being particularly appealing, Armstrong also is above par. Comedy contrast is effected by Ed Brophy and Harry Tyler and Paula Stone appears to good advantage as Miss Hervey's chum.

Andrew Stone directed his own story, which was adapted by Betty Laidlaw and Robert Lively.

"There Goes My Girl"

(RKO)

Hollywood, May 23.—Newspaper reporters who contrive to get themselves into reportorial and romantic difficulties pending the inevitable triumph of love and professional honor, apparently are the current rage of the producers. This latest cannot be termed the best, but it has its laughable moments, exciting moments and murder and attempted murder to add up to a generally satisfactory slice of entertainment merchandise.

Harry Segal's screenplay from the story by George Beck is composed of approximately 50 per cent hokum, and it is extremely doubtful if any editor ever raved and ranted quite in the fashion of the film's character, but it does induce plot excitement, under the head of dramatic license.

The simple story has Gene Raymond and Ann Sothern, ace reporters on rival sheets, and about to be married. But Miss Sothern's editor thinks so much of her ability that he will stop at nothing to prevent her marriage and loss to the paper. He stages a fake murder at the altar, Raymond walks out on her when she goes after the story, and she pursues him and a murder case to another town. There enters drama and mystery. Trailing a clue, Miss Sothern is shot, a suspect killed, Raymond gets the yarn and writes it for her, but her boss sends it to Raymond's paper, losing a scoop to get Raymond in bad. But the truth comes out and Raymond sees that the editor passes out, while romance wins.

Short Subjects

"Trailer Thrills"

(Universal)

Outside of some rather interesting invention this Oswald cartoon is average stuff. The lively rabbit decides to take his car and trailer to the mountains and he runs into many difficulties. Arriving at his destination, he finds the place not to be what the travel circular advertised. Production Code Seal No. 3,107. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Paramount Pictorial P6-10

(Paramount)

A good combination of sport and music. The reel is composed of scenes of sailboating activities, beautiful Technicolor shots of outdoor settings for the rendition of "Twilight on the Trail," and the effects produced by a new magnetic organ. Production Code Seal No. 01,573. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Bars and Stripes"

(M-G-M)

Light and snappy entertainment is offered in this Tabloid Musical. The slight story concerns the efforts of a band to land a radio spot. Their ambition is slowed down somewhat because various musicians land in jail. Eventually they are signed for a series of broadcasts from durance vile. It is cleverly handled and youthful stuff. Production Code Seal No. 2,937. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Pudgy Picks a Fight"

(Fleisher-Paramount)

Betty Boop's pup gets highly indignant over the intrusion of a furpiece in the household. He tussles with it and then has his conscience to answer. Finally he learns it is only a pelt and he wreaks his vengeance on it. It is well done. Production Code Seal No. 01,345. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

word arrives Monday from Cincinnati on the A.F.L. action demanded by the Painters' Brotherhood and the Los Angeles Central Labor Council concerning I.A.T.S.E. activities in alleged proselyting. Feeling among strikers is that should the A.F.L. executive board fail to discipline the I.A.T.S.E., they will join the C.I.O.

Lessing states that the I.A.T.S.E. intervention places that group in the position of dictating the producers' running of the entire industry whereas the F.M.P.C. strike was called for the purpose of forcing a closed shop in crafts not under the basic agreement. Lessing also stated that he regrets the Schenck-I.A.T.S.E. attacks on him, saying that this is not a fight of personalities but one of principles.

William Dalrymple, C.I.O. representative on the coast, said that in the event that A.F.L. rules against the strike request, a C.I.O. organization in the film industry is highly probable.

Dismiss Gotham Case Against Unions Here

The complaint of the Gotham Amusement Corp. and several other independent exhibitors against Harry Golver as president of the Allied M. P. Operators' Union, Joseph Bassoon as president of Local 306, and others was ordered dismissed on technical grounds by Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy on Saturday.

Justice Levy refused to consider other grounds for dismissal because the ruling on technical phases compelled him to dismiss the suit. He granted the plaintiff 10 days to file an amended complaint. The suit is based upon a contract made between the I.T.O.A. and Local 306 on Jan. 30 which the independents claim was not properly ratified by the board of directors of the I.T.O.A. They ask that the 10-year contract between the I.T.O.A. and Allied made in 1933 be declared valid and that the new contract be voided. An injunction was also asked to restrain the breach of the earlier agreement.

Warner Suit Is Settled

Settlement of the action of Mary Louise Esmonde McFadden, executrix of the estate of Elmer Ellsworth McFadden, who was known professionally as Edward Esmonde, against Warner Bros. Pictures, First National, the Vitagraph Corp. and the Vitaphone Corp. was revealed in Federal Court on Saturday when Federal Judge Murray Hulbert vacated a bond filed by the defendant. The suit charged infringement of the title, "Girl Trouble," in the Warner picture of the same name and asked for an injunction and $15,000 damages. The amount of the settlement was not given.

20th-Fox Wins Legal Point

Federal Judge John W. Clancy on Saturday ordered Morgan Wallace and Lawrence Shubert Lawrence to answer 11 interrogatories propounded by 20th Century-Fox in the suit of Wallace and Lawrence against them which charges piracy of the plaintiffs' play, "Congratulations," also known as "On Missouri Shores and How" in "Thanks a Million." An injunction, damages and an accounting of the profits is asked.

Belwin-Harms Suit Ended

The copyright infringement suit for $50,000 damages and an injunction by Belwin, Inc., against Harms, Inc., was settled in the U. S. District Court on Saturday. The suit alleged that the plaintiff's song "Rococo" was an infringement on the Harms song, "Twenty-Four Hours a Day," which was used in the picture, "Sweet Surrender." The amount of the settlement was not given.

Australia Is Firm on Quota Stipulations

of Australian-made films is included in his distribution program."

The act provides for a penalty not exceeding £100 for failure to comply with the quota regulations, unless the distributor can prove that the reasons for non-compliance are beyond his control. Under the law the quota goes from five per cent the first year to 15 per cent in the fifth year. Both New South Wales and Victoria have such legislation.

Distributors generally maintain that they did their part in the first year in making an effort to fulfill their requirements, but that there was an insufficient number of local pictures available to enable them to do so. They hold that it is the local producers' job to provide quota footage, not theirs.

Most newspapers declare that the distributors' threats of withdrawal are not taken seriously in official circles, and from Canberra, the seat of Federal Government in Australia, has come the argument that because of the device of making copies from a master film which alone pays duty, American film exporters to Australia are in a much more advantageous position than almost any other foreign manufacturer.

The same source, however, fails to point out that while it is true that distributors pay eight pence a foot duty only on the master negative, the copies from it were made free of duty in order to establish an Australian processing industry, which, since the lifting of the duty from dupes, has flourished where deals were closed with National Theatres' subsidiaries, the Butterfield circuit, Metropolitan Playhouses, RKO, Fabian Theatres and several other independent circuits.

More than 100 home office representatives and eastern branch managers and salesmen will board the special convention special leaving Wednesday night. At Chicago, the midwest group of about 75 will join the coast-bound train. The Southern Pacific will carry southern and southwestern delegates while the men from the west and midwest will board a Union Pacific train. Delegates from Calgary, Vancouver, Seattle and Portland will go direct to Los Angeles. All trains will arrive Sunday with the first business session scheduled to get under way the following day.

English Group in Today

Twelve members of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n., of England, will arrive here today on the Queen Mary for a visit to this country. They are led by Nat Cohen. Remaining in New York until Thursday, the group will go to Washington, then visit Chicago before going on to the coast.

Theatre Council to Convene Here Today

The American Theatre Council, newly formed combine of stage organizations and unions, will open the first national convention of the legitimate theatre at a luncheon meeting at the Astor today.

The convention will run for four days and is designed to explore the possibilities of again popularizing the stage nationally. Opening addresses will be made by Helen Hayes, Frank Gillmore, Actors' Equity president; Sidney Howard, Dramatists' Guild president; Marcus Heiman, president, League of N. Y. Theatres; James J. Brennan, vice-president, I.A.T.S.E., and Fred Marshall, business representative, United Scenic Artists.

General sessions will be given over to the various stage groups represented, in turn. This afternoon's session is for producing managers, who will mull over their problems from 2:30 on with Brock Pemberton presiding. The Tuesday morning session is for the stage unions, technical and equipment crafts, with Brennan as chairman. Frank Crowninshield will preside at a critics' forum at the lunch hour, and the afternoon session goes to the actors, with Gillmore in the chair.

The Wednesday morning session will be given over to discussion of problems and antidotes for the road. The Wednesday luncheon goes to the summer, amateur and university theatres, and the afternoon session to the dramatists. On the final day the playgoer and public will have their innings, at both the morning and luncheon sessions with Representative Emanuel Celler presiding. The final business session will discuss Federal aid for the theatre. The convention will close with a midnight supper and entertainment, Thursday night.

The theatre organizations over the weekend completed arrangements for the formation of a permanent body to be known as the Ass'n. Against Censorship in the Legitimate Theatre.

Miller, Pittsfield, Mass., for a new 930-kilocycle, 250-watt, daytime station; and WELI, New Haven for change of frequency from 900 to 930 kilocycles.

May 28, before an examiner—Applications of Glenn E. Webster, Decatur, Ill., for a new 1,290-kilocycle, 250-watt, daytime station; and WBOW, Terre Haute, Ind., for change of frequency from 1,310 to 1,290 kilocycles and increase of power to 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day.

To Quiz Paley and Luce

William S. Paley of CBS and Henry R. Luce of Time, Inc. were ordered by Supreme Court Justice Phillip J. McCook on Saturday to appear on June 4 for examination before trial in the $100,000 damage suit of Dr. Harold M. Hays against Time, Life and CBS. Books, contracts and records relating to the March of Time broadcast on Feb. 4 were also ordered to be presented for examination. Dr. Hays charges a violation of the civil rights law because an impersonation of him was presented in the radio sketch dealing with the splitting of fees between physicians after he refused permission for such impersonation.

Starts Eighth Air Year

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—The Perole String Quartet inaugurated its eighth consecutive year on the air in a coast-to-coast Mutual program of chamber music today from noon to 1 P.M., P.S.T. Joseph Coleman, first violin, directed.

Cooper, Arthur on Lux Hour

HOLLYWOOD, May 23.—The May 31 Lux program will feature Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in scenes from "The Plainsman," and Cecil B. DeMille interviewing columnist Sidney Skolsky.

Chicago Listeners' Survey Is Finished

CHICAGO, May 23.—The College of Commerce at De Paul University has just completed a survey of a cross section of the Chicago public in order to find out what it thinks about radio. Families interviewed totaled 5,970, and 98 per cent of the answers were from housewives.

Jack Benny's program was found to be the favorite, Wayne King has the best-liked orchestra, Kate Smith is the approved feminine singer and Bing Crosby ranks first among the men. Nelson Eddy took first place among the classical singers, and among the instrumentalists Rubinoff was given the most votes. "Orphan Annie" was approved as first among children's programs, "Homemakers' Hour" among cooking programs and Father Coughlin among religious programs.

Among the conclusions reached were these: Too many stations broadcast the same programs; much orchestra music is too noisy; children's programs should be improved; few know the sponsors of programs; the introduction of a screen star to revive a dead program reacts unfavorably on the listener; not enough people are interested in educational programs.

New Sponsor for Allen

Another sponsor will be added to Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen's list of participating sponsors beginning June 14. Contract has been signed with the Chicago Food Products Co. for 13 weeks. Gotham Advertising Agency, New York, placed the account with WHN.

McHugh Back to Chicago

Ed McHugh, the "Gospel Singer," will shift his broadcasting base from New York to Chicago, effective July 1. McHugh is sponsored by Procter & Gamble for Ivory Soap, and is heard five times weekly, from 11:45 A.M. to 12 noon on the NBC-Blue. The Compton agency handles the account.

In Radiophone Agreement

Radiomarine Corp. of America and the A. T. & T. Co. have entered into agreements for joint participation in providing radiotelephone service with American vessels in the coastal and inland waters of the United States, as well as those in transocean trade.

Form New Savannah Company

SAVANNAH, May 23. — A petition for incorporation as the Colonial Broadcasting Co. has been filed by Dwight Bruce and J. C. Wylly.

CBS Wins Again in Radio Golf Tourney

For the second consecutive season the CBS team won the annual radio golf tournament, played at the Rivervale Country Club, Rivervale, N. J., on Friday. Teams representing WMCA, NBC, WOR-Mutual, and WHN provided the competition.

The CBS team score was 589, with WMCA runners-up with 602. Low scorer for the entire tourney was Ira Herbert, of WMCA, with an 85. The CBS team included Nick Lucas, Freddie Rich, Buddy Clark, Howard Phillip, Andre Baruch, and Walter Pierson.

The WMCA team had Ira Herbert, sales staff; John Littlepaige, station's legal representative in Washington; Phil Fuss and Lew Hyams of sales; Tony Leader, production, and Phil Weisman, station attorney.

WOR-Mutual was represented by John Gambling, Harry Carlson, production manager; Jack Poppele, chief engineer; Rudolph Roscoe, staff pianist; Ted Herbert, sales, and S. Clapham, sales promotion.

The NBC players were Carl Hoff, Lyle Van, announcer, George Frey, sales; Ben Grauer and Phil Duey.

Mort Harris, production head; Joe Bolton, announcer; Harold Stretch, sales, and John Murphy represented WHN.

Added prizes, consisting of a dozen gold golf balls, put up by Alfred McCosker, of WOR-Mutual, were won by Phil Duey of NBC and Howard Phillip of CBS.

'Tis said the boys eyed each other suspiciously when they reported in with their scores. Joe Bolton distinguished himself by tossing his clubs further than he was able to drive a ball.

Teaching Film Gains Told at S.M.P.E. Meet

Wolf Describes Advance During Past Year

HOLLYWOOD, May 24.—Increase of production and sales of educational sound film and sale of projection apparatus for it has more than doubled in this country and Europe during the past year in comparison with any previous year, S. K. Wolf, of Erpi Consultants, Inc., and president of the Society of M. P. Engineers, told the spring S.M.P.E. convention here today at its opening session.

Overcoming a possible crisis in September, 1936, when the International Standards Ass'n adopted and ratified the 16mm. standard, educational films, particularly with sound, have made exceptional progress, Wolf said in his paper, but need the wholehearted support of the entire film industry and most important, of the major producers whose wealth of educational material will give great impetus to educational films.

Despite the advancement made, however, there are many problems confronting educational films, according to Wolf. He listed these as follows:

Need for better mechanical and optical quality; need of a color process,

"Take a Tip" from Films, Stage Told

The stage was pictured to more than 500 of its stoutest adherents by William A. Brady, producer, at the first national convention of the American Theatre Council at the Astor yesterday, as a disorganized institution which has devised no resistance to a "smarter, more modern" Hollywood, where the best things in the theatre eventually go.

Brady urged the producing managers to "take a tip" from Hollywood,

Warners' Net For 26 Weeks $4,040,388

More Than Twice Total For 1936 Period

Warners' 26-week net for the period ending Feb. 27 is more than twice what it was for the same period last year. The total, after deducting all charges, including amortization and depreciation and normal Federal income taxes, was $4,040,388.94. For the same period last year it was $1,976,245.42. The total for this year does not provide for Federal surtaxes on undistributed profits.

The net profit on operations before amortization and depreciation and income taxes, was $7,696,486.27.

The 26-week net for this year is equivalent to $39.18 per share on 103,107 shares of preferred stock outstanding. Dividends in arrears on March 1 totalled $19.25 per share. The earnings, after allowance for current dividend requirements on the preferred, amounted to $1.03 per share on 3,701,090 shares of common outstanding. Shares held in the treasury are deducted from this.

On Aug. 29, 1936, the accumulated deficit was $10,469,148.15. On Feb. 27 this had been reduced to $6,363,301.39.

In the consolidated balance sheet the total assets and liabilities are listed at $174,727,581.18.

Estimate RKO '37 Net at $5,173,174

RKO can expect a net profit for 1937 of $5,173,174, according to testimony presented at a hearing on the company's reorganization plan yesterday before Special Master George W. Alger. The testimony was that of Bernard Bercu of Gottheimer & Co., accountants, who was put on the stand by George L. Schein, attorney for the independent stockholders' protective

Films, Radio Seen Outside Work Bill

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The status the film and broadcasting industries under the hour and wage legislation introduced in Congress today following receipt of a message from President Roosevelt on the subject was tonight still subject to analysis, but it is generally believed they will be little affected.

The bill as introduced is broad in its scope but contains so many exemptions that it is considered probable exhibition and broadcasting may be unaffected as service industries, which are exempted. The measure also carries a provision that it shall not apply to employers of 15 or fewer persons, which would let out most of the film theatres.

No definite hours or wages were written into the bill but will be inserted later. However, there is a provision that no minimum wage shall be set above $1,200 a year or 80 cents an hour, which, it is believed, while high is well under the minimum wages paid by the producers.

Provision is made for the creation

Sales Tax to Affect Deals Outside City

To Fight Circuit Ruling By Comptroller

The city comptroller's office has ruled that film deals closed with national circuits in New York are subject to the two per cent municipal sales tax regardless of how much of the revenue from the contract may be derived from or allocated to the circuit's theatres located outside of New York, it was learned yesterday.

The Court of Appeals decision in the United Artists test case on the applicability of the sales tax to film rentals held that the tax applied only to rentals derived from theatres located within the city limits. A major distributor, however, asked the city comptroller's office for a ruling on deals made with national circuits and was informally advised that that office regarded the entire revenue from a contract closed here as taxable. The comptroller's ruling will be contested, it was stated.

In a second ruling, involving the shelving of pictures bought on a selective contract, the comptroller's office also informally advised a distributor that payments by a theatre made as damages on a rejected picture also are regarded as taxable. Distributors have not regarded such payments as clear rental or revenue, and will also contest the right of the city to levy a sales tax on what is regarded as dam-

Ticket Collections Up Along Broadway

Washington, May 24.—Attendance in the Broadway district increased materially in March, it was disclosed today by the Internal Revenue Bureau in a report on April receipts from the Admission Tax in the third New York district.

Total collections for the month jumped to $587,878 from $511,185 in March, it was stated, straight admissions, including season tickets, accounting for $496,035 against $448,5 .9.

Other collections included free or reduced rate admissions, $11,385 against $2,939; tickets sold by brokers, $27,202 against $13,922; tickets sold by proprietors in excess of the established price, $11, against $2,458; permanent use or lease of boxes and seats, nothing against $29; admissions to roof gardens and cabarets, $53,246 against $43,287.

"Courageous" at $17,200

"Captains Courageous" garnered $17,200 in the second week at the Astor on a two-a-day policy. "Shall We Dance?" is expected to wind up a second week at the Music Hall tomorrow night with approximately $75,000.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

Hollywood, May 24

THE secretariat employed by William Goetz, vice-president of 20th Century-Fox and executive assistant to Darryl F. Zanuck, is busy these days answering protests by the hundreds which have been lodged over the appearance of Louise Hovick, recently Gypsy Rose Lee, recently America's premiere stripteaser, in films. Having had something to say on several occasions about this matter, the employing studio rates a full exposition of its own point of view. Therefore, the text. . . .

In full, now:

> Your communication regarding Gypsy Rose Lee has been very carefully considered.
> I realize the sincerity of your motives in writing. I want to assure you that we are not seeking to exploit her through sensationalism.
> Miss Lee was given screen tests in which she demonstrated definite ability as a dramatic actress. That her origin was the burlesque theatre is an undeniable fact, and we propose to do all we can to counteract the publicity arising from this fact.
> It is the intention of the company to present her solely on her merits as a dramatic actress. We believe that the American public, in the spirit of fair play, will disregard whatever publicity attached to her past, and judge her on her worthiness as an actress in the future.
> Moreover, to make the dissociation from her past complete and unalterable, the name of "Gypsy Rose Lee" has now been dropped entirely from all advertising, exploitation and publicity, and there will be no mention of that name on the screen.
> Were we intending to exploit her and present her to the public in the light of sensationalism, the question of her appearance on the screen would rightly be a matter of protest. I can give you full assurance, however, that her screen roles for this company will in no way be reminiscent of anything in which you would find offense.
> In view of these intentions, to enjoin her from the right to an attempt at a dignified demonstration of her talents as an actress would be less a penalty than a persecution. While giving full credit to your motive in protesting, I also believe you want at the same time to be perfectly fair to Gypsy Rose Lee. I am sure that justice and toleration were as strong as any other factor in the motives for your letter; therefore, in view of the pledge of extreme care to dissociate her screen roles from those of her past we are asking that you judge her worthiness as a screen artist solely in the light of future appearances.

Briskin Eliminating Gradation of Films

Hollywood, May 24. — Samuel J. Briskin today moved to eliminate the gradation of pictures at RKO, giving Executive Producer Lee Marcus, his production assistant, an annual budget for a group of pictures, making for elasticity in setting up cast, story and production values.

Briskin said that the number of pictures forms "a substantial amount of product." There are believed to be about 20. Individual budgeting of group has been entirely eliminated.

CEA Party Arrives For American Visit

Headed by Nat Cohen, 10 members of the C.E.A. of England and their wives who arrived yesterday on the Queen Mary for a vacation, spent the day visiting and shopping. In the party are Mr. and Mrs. Lever, W. and Mrs. Eckart, Mr. and Mrs. Napolsky and daughter and Mrs. King.

Cohen and Eckart visited the Hays organization, Quigley Publications and Erpi. At Erpi arrangements were made for a reception to the visitors at the Trocadero in Hollywood.

This morning the group will go sightseeing and in the afternoon inspect Radio City.

On Thursday the party will leave for Washington and then to Chicago and the coast. It is planned to spend five days in Hollywood during which the English visitors will tour the M-G-M, 20th Century-Fox and Warner studios.

From Hollywood the C.E.A. party will go to San Francisco. It is also planned to visit Toronto, Niagara Falls, Quebec and Buffalo.

ages. The ruling applies to payments received from a theatre which has shelved a picture included in a selective contract. Such payments usually represent the difference between the contract price and what the distributor is able to get for the picture's first run in another theatre.

City officials also have stated that there is very slight chance of the city waiving the two-year interest and penalties on the tax for which distributors are liable. United Artists has until June 13 to appeal from the Court of Appeals decision but decided some time ago not to carry the case farther. A company official said yesterday that the decision has not been altered.

Propose Kansas Tax Handling

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—The Kansas-Missouri Theatres Ass'n, as the result of exhibitor suggestion, has proposed a method by which Kansas exhibitors can collect the two per cent sales tax which becomes effective June 1, without the trouble that goes with handling mills.

Exhibitors, as other retailers, are required to pass on the tax to the public. The K.M.T.A. suggests that exhibitors charge 9.8 cents admission. The tax would bring this to 10 cents. On the 15-cent, 20-cent, 25-cent, 30-cent, and 35-cent admissions, the exhibitor organization suggests the exhibitor change the admission to 15.6 cents, 20.6 cents and so on. Addition of the tax brings these admissions to 16c, 21c, etc. In case of the 40 cent admission, the recommendation is to charge 39.2 cents, the sales tax bringing it to 40 cents.

The method is being recommended to exhibitors as the best method of handling the collection.

Ask Wisconsin Chain Levy

MADISON, WIS., May 24.—John Grobschmidt, Milwaukee Assemblyman, has introduced a chain store tax bill to conform with the Louisiana law, recently declared constitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

The new bill would levy a tax ranging from $10 on stores in chains of from one to 10 to $600 on stores in chains of more than 500 outlets no matter where the stores are located.

Ask 4 Philadelphia Taxes

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Four of the seven taxes recommended by the Finance Committee of the City Council would affect the industry. They are: (1) A tax of one cent on each 25 cents of admissions; (2) a tax on films; (3) a levy on advertising billboard space, and (4) a tax of $5 on each vending machine, at least one of which is in almost every theatre.

New Sunday Bill Filed

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Border Cafe"

(Radio)

HOLLYWOOD, May 24.—This is a B release which makes no pretense at being anything else. In its classification, "Border Cafe" is a satisfactory bit of entertainment.

Hollywood has been rehashing this story for years. John Beal, scion of an old and proud Back Bay family, rebels against the future outlined for him by family tradition and seeks to float off on bottled goods. Fed up, he repairs to a small Texas town near the Mexican border. There, he meets Harry Carey, who turns out to be a Harvard school chum of his father's, and Armida. Plot mutterings are added through the appearance of a group of New York gangsters who organize a cattleman's protective association and give Carey's herd the works when the owner refuses to join up. Comes the final expose, the full regeneration of Beal and his troth with Armida whose ancestry is discovered to contain as much blue blood as Beal's own family.

Performances are standard. Production values good, the pace is occasionally turned into a stroll through song interludes and plot incident arranged in strict accordance with the formula. Lew Landers directed from a screenplay by Lionel Houser under production guidance of Robert F. Sisk. Nicholas Musuraca's photography is commendable.

Code-approved. Running time, 65 minutes. "G." KANN

Disney to Use Depth Device on Cartoons

HOLLYWOOD, May 24.—Walt Disney has developed a device to obtain third dimensional effect in his cartoons, and will use it in his new RKO releases.

The process consists of placing the celluloid strips on which the characters are inked on different, movable planes under the cameras. As the action takes place, the strips move for the different motions, but the planes move together or recede against the stationary background to give the impression of depth on the screen.

Heretofore, cartoons have been shot with the celluloid strips placed directly upon each other.

George R. Canty, former European attache of the Dep't of Commerce, has been named Continental European manager for Universal, and will take up his new duties on June 1. The appointment, reported some time ago, was confirmed by the Universal home office yesterday.

Buck Jones to Quit "U"

HOLLYWOOD, May 24.—Buck Jones will quit his producing-starring contract at Universal after his next three pictures have been completed, due to his unanswered plea for a higher negative cost deal.

Seven on G. N. List Finished—Alperson

Seven of next season's Grand National lineup of 65 have been completed and are now awaiting release, Edward L. Alperson, president, stated yesterday upon his return from the coast. The pictures are "Love Takes Flight," "Sweetheart of the Navy," "Bank Alarm," "Trailing Trouble," "Boots of Destiny," "Frontier Town" and "Small Town Boy."

In production are "Something to Sing About," "Face the Facts," "Gorgeous," "Flash Casey," "Wallaby Jim in the South Seas" and "Renfrew of the Mounted."

Alperson stated that Eric Linden has been signed for four pictures, George Huston, four; Rod LaRocque, four; Conrad Nagel, four; James Cagney, three; Anna Sten, three.

Sam Schumer has been appointed editor, succeeding Sidney M. Biddell, who resigned last week to produce independently. Schumer will make his headquarters at the home office.

A meeting of the board of directors is slated to be held later in the week. Plans are being made to hold a trade showing of "The Girl Said No" on Friday. Alperson will return to Hollywood in about a week.

James Winn, western division manager, is now visiting the northwest. Edward Finney will return in about a week while Ann Rosenthal, counsel, is due June 7 by boat. William Neary, comptroller, is remaining at the studio for a week.

Sales Drive Awards By U. A. Announced

Winners of prizes in the George J. Schaefer Drive which closed May 1 have been selected as follows:

Grand prizes of three radio bars go to Robert Mochrie, southern district manager; Ewen MacLean, Los Angeles manager, and A. J. Jeffery, Montreal.

Four weeks' salary go to the following salesmen: Jack Groves, Dallas; Frank Eisenberg, Minneapolis; Guy Gunderson, Los Angeles; Elmer Donnelly, Indianapolis; T. L. Davis, Philadelphia, and David Burkan, New York. The two last named tied for first place and will split the prize.

Bookers in leading branches who will receive two weeks' pay are E. Schrider, Montreal; Roy Sachs, Dallas; Harry James, Chicago; W. B. Pollard, Los Angeles; L. Dowdell, Cleveland, and Herbert Richeck and Ben Levine, New York.

There also were awards of 13 watches to bookers and managers for increase in Disney product. Joe Johnson of Toronto and E. Zerga of San Francisco won an extra week's pay in the accessory sales contest.

to be district managers, dividing between them the duties handled by the late Carl Levi.

Mayer will supervise the Pitkin, Palace, Premier, Warwick, Willard, Hillside and Valencia, while Seidlitz will have charge of the Commodore, Hollywood, Avenue B, Delancey, Apollo, Canal, Broadway and Gates.

Al Weiss, who has been at the Oriental, Brooklyn, is now at the Pitkin.

"NINE MEN OUT OF TEN ARE EITHER KNAVES OR FOOLS"

So boasted a man who ruled his world of shame and avarice by the sheer force of his dominating will—and who faced his doom at the hands of the woman whose life he had made unbearable. A dramatic story unique in its compelling power!

"Dance" Gets Big $13,400, Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—"Shall We Dance?" was worth $13,400 to the Mainstreet, good by $5,400, and the best in a fair week for first runs.

The weather was good and outside competition was slight. "Midnight Taxi" and Major Bowes' girl unit took $8,700, $1,700 over the line, at the Tower. Other first runs were weak.

Total first run business was $38,300. Average is $36,500.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending May 12:

"CHARLIE CHAN AT THE OLYMPICS" (20th-Fox)
"DAVID HARUM" (20th-Fox)
UPTOWN — (2,000), 25c-40c, 5 days. Gross: $2,200. (Average, $3,000)

Week Ending May 13:

"SHALL WE DANCE?" (RKO)
MAINSTREET—(3,100), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $13,400. (Average, $8,000)

"NIGHT MUST FALL" (M-G-M)
"I PROMISE TO PAY" (Col.)
MIDLAND — (4,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Gross: $10,000. (Average, $11,500)

"MOUNTAIN JUSTICE" (W.B.)

committee, in an attempt to show that forecasts made by proponents of the plan do not represent a fair earnings expectancy for the year.

Bercu, who was the only witness of the day, also testified that, in his opinion, RKO's assets are carried on the company's books at much less than their actual value due to the fact that no revaluation of assets has been made since 1932 when the American Appraisal Co. completed a revaluation which resulted in appreciable write-downs.

Bercu declared that RKO Radio Pictures and Pathe should show a profit for 1937 of $2,543,570 before taxes but after interest; that the theatre operating subsidiaries should show a profit of $2,173,849, and that RKO, the parent corporation, should show a profit of $1,058,116. He estimated taxes at $1,055,000 and adjustments at $350,000, leaving a net of $5,173,482.

Tells Source of Figures

That figure, Bercu said, should leave $3,696,174 available for distribution to common stockholders after providing $1,477,318 for fixed charges. Bercu said he had been working on the RKO books since September, 1935, and that his estimates are based on that study and on figures given by the proponents of the reorganization plan.

Schein is expected to complete his objections to the plan on behalf of the independent stockholders at the next hearing before Alger, which was set for Thursday morning. George A. Stover, representing holders of old RKO Class A stock, is expected to follow Schein.

A tentative hearing date on the RKO reorganization which had been scheduled for yesterday before Federal Judge William Bondy was postponed to June 22.

Cocalis Takes House In New Jersey Town

Sam Cocalis has closed a deal for the Parker, Long Branch, N. J. Work on the new theatre had been stopped before completion. Cocalis plans to finish the 1,000-seat house and have it ready for occupancy July 4.

Acquisition of the structure marks the first move by Cocalis to move into Walter Reade territory. Reade recently purchased a site at Hudson, N. Y., following which Cocalis threatened retaliation.

"Born" in Fifth Week

"A Star Is Born" will enter its fifth week at the Aldine, Philadelphia, on Friday, according to the U.A. home office. This will mark a new record, the last having been chalked up by "The House of Rothschild," which ran four weeks at the theatre.

Talley, Thomas Return

Truman Talley, producer of Movietonews, returned yesterday on the Queen Mary after supervising the filming of the Coronation. He stated he was not ready to announce plans for the Technicolor shots of the crowning of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Lowell Thomas, commentator, returned with Talley.

British Group to Ask Import Limit the insistence of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n on the inclusion of a quality clause in the proposed new quota regulations.

Arthur Jarratt and A. S. Moss, circuit representatives on the C.E.A. delegation, are threatening to withdraw. It is believed now that a joint deputation to Burgin will be made on Wednesday, stating the opposing views of the three trade groups. The three separate policies are seen as marking a greater disagreement than before Burgin's call for a joint policy on the Moyne suggestions.

The general opinion is that the Government will accept the industry suggestion for a joint trade committee and arbitration through the Board of Trade in place of an official Government commission. The Government is said also to recognize the fundamental disagreement on the quota and is expected to make its own decision, probably tending in the direction of the producer viewpoint.

N. H. Talks Delayed

Home office distribution executives and representatives of the New Haven union for exchange employes did not meet yesterday, as scheduled, because some of the men had to leave town on other matters. No date has been set when the parties will get together.

Picket Milwaukee Houses

MILWAUKEE, May 24.—Picketing has started at three neighborhood houses operated by George Fischer by the Building Service Employes' union, Local 150, an A. F. of L. affiliate. William Cooper, business agent for the union, charges that Fischer has refused to sign an agreement with the union, which now has agreements with 52 theatres in Milwaukee.

According to R. A. Tesch, business manager of the Independent Theatres Protective Ass'n of Wisconsin, of which Fischer is a member, most of the employes of the three houses belong to the C.I.O. and the management, in accordance with the "majority rule" of the state labor disputes act, plans to deal with that group.

Burkett Heads K. C. Union

KANSAS CITY, May 24.—Frank Burkett, projectionist at the Fox Rockhill, has been elected business agent of operators' union, Local 170, replacing Robert Dillon, who held the position several years. The change accompanied a disagreement between Dillon and some of the members over policies of the local.

Myers will discuss Allied's case on the law and the facts Thursday afternoon. He will be followed by W. A. Steffes on divorcement legislation, E. T. Gomersall, Universal's western sales manager, on the producers' side of selling, and Niles Trammel, vice-president of NBC, on the effect of television upon theatres.

The Thursday night banquet speakers will include Governors Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin, Elmer Benson of Minnesota, William Langer of North Dakota, M. C. Townsend of Indiana, O. S. Loomis, Wisconsin attorney general, and Mayor D. W. Hoan.

The closing business session is scheduled for Friday morning. P. J. Woods, convention chairman, declares that the attendance will surpass that of any previous national meeting of the last 10 years.

Newbury Leaves Today

Lee Newbury, president of Allied of New Jersey, will head the northern and southern New Jersey delegation leaving today for Milwaukee and the national Allied convention which gets under way tomorrow afternoon at the Pfister Hotel. The New York contingent will leave on the Pennsylvania and pick up member exhibitors at Newark, Trenton and Philadelphia. About 20 are expected to be on the train. Sidney E. Samuelson, former president of the local unit, left yesterday for the convention.

Arkansas ITOA Asks Power Rates Survey

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 24.—A survey of current power rates for Arkansas theatres which showed a wide variation today led the annual convention of the Arkansas I.T.O.A. to order a power rate survey. With a view to obtaining a minimum uniform rate, a committee was named to consult with Arkansas power officials. G. Sterling, of Gurdon, is chairman of the committee and is aided by Robert Yancey of Cotter, J. M. Ensor of Little Rock and J. F. Norman of England. The Arkansas Power and Light Company is the biggest utility firm involved.

Representatives of manufacturers of Diesel and other types of individual power generating plants were on hand to demonstrate their equipment. J. F. Norman, secretary of Arkansas I.T.O.A. since its organization was elected president today by acclamation. Other officers elected were: O. W. McCutcheon of Blytheville, vice-president R. V. McGinnis of Hope, secretary-treasurer. Board members elected were: J. M. Ensor and "Hy" Saunders of Little Rock, W. E. Blume, Searcy; G. Carey, Paris; W. E. Malin, Augusta; D. E. Fitton, Harrison; Charles Bonner, Pine Bluff. A drive for full membership in the state was voted.

Approximately 75 delegates attended. The convention ended tonight with a banquet and dance at the Hotel Marion.

NBC Coast Quarters Shift Is Still Anybody's Guess

The slightly bewildering game of affirmation and denial played for the past few weeks by Lenox R. Lohr and Don E. Gilman relative to a transfer of NBC west coast headquarters from San Francisco to Hollywood, was taken up again yesterday in a statement by Lohr.

In effect, the statement said that NBC will, and then again will not, change its base of activities from the Golden Gate City to Hollywood.

The game began about three weeks ago, when Gilman, vice-president in charge of NBC's west coast activities, announced that the transfer from San Francisco to Hollywood would be effected before the summer season expired.

A day or so later, from Chicago, where NBC's president was attending a broadcasters' conference, came a denial of the Gilman story from Lohr. A week or so later followed a re-affirmation of the San Francisco to Hollywood yarn by Gilman, which was capped yesterday by Lohr's "yes, and then again, no" statement.

The fine hand of offended San Franciscans is detected behind all the uncertainty. San Francisco does not relish the prospect of playing second fiddle to Hollywood, and its leading citizens have conveyed this impression to Lohr, which resulted in yesterday's ambiguously worded statement. At least that is the interpretation offered by those close to the situation.

Lohr's statement follows:

"The rise of Hollywood as a source of national network programs and NBC's contemplated building project there have made it necessary that Don E. Gilman, vice-president of NBC's western division, be located at the film capital.

"This does not mean that Mr. Gilman will abandon his San Francisco offices. NBC has no intention of curtailing its San Francisco activities, and Mr. Gilman will continue to spend a considerable portion of his time in that city.

"San Francisco is one of the four cities in the United States in which NBC operates two broadcasting stations, and the major part of our sales and accounting activities for west coast operation is centered there.

"The great increase of radio program production in Hollywood, however, has made it advisable that Mr. Gilman establish his residence there. This will enable him to devote a greater amount of personal attention to the interests of the millions of listeners NBC now serves from Hollywood, and to our plans for providing the finest broadcasting facilities to keep pace with the program production in that city."

From Pittsburgh

Programs of "Time" Recorded for France

The "March of Time" air show is now being transcribed in half-hour recordings for broadcast over Radio Luxembourg, France, it was learned yesterday. The arrangements were handled by Jean Masson, representative of Radio Luxembourg, in cooperation with Time, Inc.

The French transcriptions will be continued permanently if reception warrants it.

Ed Jerome, Dwight Weist and Stephan Schnable are some of the regular "March of Time" actors who are working on the transcriptions. Other radio actors, proficient in the French language, have been drafted for the series.

Merrill to Describe Race

Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie have been signed by NBC to broadcast a description of the running of the Indianapolis race. The fliers will follow the progress of the race from an Eastern Airliner, broadcasting from the plane. They will be heard from 2:30 to 2:45 P. M., E.D.S.T., on the Blue network, May 31.

WHN to Start "Millstream"

A new weekly series called "Millstream" will be broadcast over WHN beginning tonight from 8:45 to 9:15 P. M., E.D.S.T. The program is a sustainer.

NBC Seeks to Sell Opera Group Direct

NBC, it is learned, will stage a concentrated drive to sell direct the commercial rights to the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts for the coming season. Departments cooperating in the drive are program, artists' service and time sales.

Commercial rights to past opera broadcasts have been sold through outside agencies. The agencies are Lambert & Feasley for Listerine, and Lord & Thomas for Lucky Strike cigarettes and RCA.

Colby to Be Guest on CBS

Chester M. Colby, president of General Foods Corp., will be the guest speaker on "Labor and Industry Today," a CBS feature, on Friday, May 28, from 10:45 to 11 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Garbisch Joins Ruthrauff

Edgar W. Garbisch has joined Ruthrauff and Ryan here in an executive capacity. Garbisch was formerly a vice-president of J. Sterling Getchell. He is a son-in-law of Walter P. Chrysler.

H. S. Gardner Finishes Cruise

H. S. Gardner, chairman of the board of the Gardner Advertising Co., arrived here yesterday on the Queen Mary, completing a round-the-world tour begun last January.

CIO Picketing WIP Philadelphia Plant

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—C.I.O. pickets began a parade about the premises of WIP today following the station's refusal to permit William Leader, a union organizer, to broadcast a 15-minute talk scheduled for 10:30 P. M., E.D.S.T., last night.

United Hosiery workers, who are on strike here, had contracted for the address. Station attorneys, however, checked the script today and advised that the speech was too dangerous to broadcast. The cancellation followed.

The union had contracted for the broadcast to present the strikers' side of the walk-out, and had advertised the forthcoming broadcast in paid ads in the newspapers.

The pickets, eight in number, carry signs reading: "WIP is unfair to labor." "WIP won't let labor speak its mind."

The action marks the second time a local station has been picketed by a labor group. During the recent longshoremen's strike WCAU was picketed because of remarks made by Boake Carter on one of his broadcasts.

Speed Network Union

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—C. H. Jordan, organizer for the American Radio Telegraphists Ass'n, C. I. O. affiliate, is here to speed a drive for the organization of independent radio station employes. He will meet tomorrow night with worker representatives of various local stations. It is understood that the drive against the networks will be held in abeyance until the independent station movement is in full swing.

Paley Award Presented

The Paley Amateur Radio Award was presented to Walter Stiles, Jr., at a luncheon yesterday afternoon in the Waldorf-Astoria. Stiles, a 24-year-old railroad employe of Coudersport, Pa., was chosen for the honor for his services during the flood emergency in the Alleghany River valley last year. Among those who paid tribute to Stiles at yesterday's luncheon was Anning S. Prall, chairman of the F. C. C.

Postal to Have WINS Series

A new series of broadcasts sponsored by the Postal Telegraph Co. will be heard daily over WINS and the New York Broadcasting System, starting today.

The series is divided into three different types of programs. "The Meade Family" will be heard Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays from 6:45 to 6:50 P. M. Wednesdays, from 6:45 to 7 P. M., "Melodigrams" will be presented. Fridays, from 6:45 to 7 P. M. the presentation will be "Forward America." Time is E.D.S.T. The contract is for 52 weeks.

Royal Baking Series Set

SALT LAKE CITY, May 24.—The Royal Baking Co. here has arranged for the broadcast of the "Adventures of Jimmie Allen," over KSL. The program will be heard on five 15-minute periods weekly. The account was placed by Ed Broman. It is handled by the Gilham agency.

Russell Baker Back at WOW

OMAHA, May 24.—Russell Baker, who has been in New York the last year doing character parts for various NBC shows, has rejoined WOW as a staff announcer.

of advisory boards, on which employers and labor shall be equally represented, to aid the five-man board which is to administer the bill in dealing with particular industries. Thus it is probable that wages and hours for the producers will be recommended by a film board.

So far as the distributors are concerned, it is possible they may be affected to some extent by the legislation but in general their wages are said to be above any minimum which may be set.

Basic NBC-Red Gets Pimlico

Baltimore, May 24.—WFBR, basic NBC-Red network outlet here, has signed a contract with the Maryland Jockey Club for exclusive air rights for the running of the Preakness and Futurity races at Pimlico.

The past few years the Preakness and Futurity races have been broadcast over the Blue network, but it is expected that next year these two races will be broadcast on the Red. In the past the races have been under the sponsorship of the American Oil Co., using only an Atlantic seaboard hookup, but the Jockey Club is anxious to have a national sponsor so that the races will be carried over the full NBC-Red.

New Announcers Named

Memphis, May 24.—Three new announcers have been added to the roster of local radio stations. Aubrey E. Guys, Jr., formerly with WHBQ in Memphis, is the new announcer at WMC. He replaces Joe DuVal, veteran announcer, who recently departed for the West Coast to enter radio dramatic work. Harold Russey and Eugene Grissom, Jr., are new additions to the WNBR staff.

"Amateur Hour" to Migrate

WHN's "Amateur Hour," which has originated on the stage of Loew's Ziegfeld for the past several years, will visit a different Loew theatre in the metropolitan area each week, effective immediately. Each theatre will exploit the program, and in turn the theatres will be plugged on the air.

Kelly Anthony Back on Job

Los Angeles, May 24.—Kelly Anthony, assistant manager of KFI-KECA, has returned from a Hawaii vacation. This week, he will sail for England on a combination business and pleasure trip.

Switch Don Lee Program

Los Angeles, May 24.—Following listener requests for the shift Mutual-Don Lee switches the "House Undivided" serial from 11:15 A.M., P.S.T. to 10:15 A.M. P.S.T.

Latonia Race to CBS

CBS will broadcast exclusively a description of the running of the Latonia Derby from Covington, Ky., June 12, from 6 to 6:30 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Power, Young in Program

"Hollywood Hotel" will offer Tyrone Power and Loretta Young in scenes from their recent picture, "Cafe Metropole," May 28, over CBS.

No Plagiarism

Joe Glaston, who is Charlie Martin's press agent, recently brought into Martin's office a young man who had some story material to sell. Martin, who is an official at the Biow agency, and author of the dramatizations heard on the Philip Morris programs, listened to a plot outline by the visitor, and hit the ceiling.

"Young man," he shouted, "the one thing we in radio never tolerate is plagiarism! The story you've just outlined is contained in a book I have in my desk at this very moment." Martin opened a desk drawer and removed a volume, authored by a James Street.

"B-but Mr. Martin," stuttered the embarrassed press agent. "This young man is James Street." ▮

"Take a Tip" from Films, Stage Told

to organize as the film industry is organized, to adopt Hollywood's methods and use them to the stage's advantage instead of "sitting back and wondering what Hollywood will do next or complaining when it takes something new from the stage."

The film industry is up to the times and the stage is not, was the gist of Brady's address. He pointed out that Hollywood can obtain the best from the stage or other talent sources because it offers more. Until producers organize and are able to guarantee good actors a decent living and regular employment their complaints against Hollywood will be of no avail, he said.

Paul Hollister, executive vice-president of Macy's, advised the managers to adopt modern merchandising methods in selling their plays to the public. He urged them to be "on the level" with the public and suggested that it might be better to ask only $1.50 or $2 admission to a known "turkey," instead of the Broadway theatre's inevitable $3.

A. Raymond Gallo of Quigley Publications told the managers that "It appears that the stage producer is more concerned with what he can get out of the business than what he puts into it." He declared that "if Hollywood is sending the stage to the dogs, the managers are accessories to the crime for being so short-sighted" that obvious protective measures are never attempted. He urged an apprenticeship in the theatre for the new and the younger managers, many of whom, for lack of opportunity, are turned away from the stage, he said.

Exchanges Surprised At Clearance Drive

Kansas City, May 24.—Some of the distributors here have expressed surprise at the action of the directors of the Kansas City, Kan., Chamber of Commerce in appealing to Congress through Representative U. S. Guyer to remedy the local clearance situation between the two cities so that Kansas City, Kan., can have first run pictures. The drive is continuing with unabated vigor.

It is said that no representatives of the Chamber of Commerce had approached the distributors since officials and civic leaders launched what amounts to a community drive for first run releases. Exhibitors, members of the T.O.A. there, talked with individual exchange managers, but, it is said, they presented no formal plan, and confined themselves to telling what city officials have asked for in the way of clearance. In brief this is day and date first run with Kansas City, Mo., first runs for the Electric and Fox Granada, and second instead of the present third run for the remaining Kansas City, Kan., houses.

Apparently distributors could do nothing about the matter until present season contracts expire.

thus far not available; better lighting resources for projection; simplification of projection equipment, especially to reduce noise; more adequate systems of distribution.

Wolf was the principal speaker of the opening session at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, which also heard W. C. Kunzmann, convention vice-president; E. R. Geib, chairman of the membership committee; G. E. Matthews, chairman of the papers committee, and E. Theisen, chairman of the historical committee, read reports and H. F. Sherwood, of Kodak Research Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y., and J. G. Frayne, chairman of the progress committee, deliver papers.

Frayne reported that in the last year, the industry had further renovated obsolete sound and picture equipment, and continued expansion of studio floor space and facilities. Push-pull recording has made great inroads against previously employed systems, and the Fletcher two-way horn development is in widespread use. The three color subtractive process, he said, has aroused new interest in color. In the process, a multi-layer emulsion contains components in the three separate layers which react with the developing solution to produce dye images in the layers. A move to use less general illumination and more effect, or spot, lighting also was reported.

X-ray Images Described

Sherwood told of the use of soft X-ray images on films by use of a special emulsion having a high sensitivity to the soft X-rays.

The afternoon session was devoted to papers on studio improvements, with L. Fermaud, of London Film; F. W. Jackman; Guitano Gaudio, Walter Strohm, E. C. Richardson and L. D. Grignon presenting papers on the various lighting, portable recording, and intramural engineering equipment.

Tomorrow's program will be featured by the session on color in the morning, including the report of the color committee by J. A. Ball, chairman, an instruments session and a symposium on transmission meters in the afternoon and a visit to the Universal studio for a demonstration of the making of a picture in the evening.

activity there at present with the exception of dubbing and newsreel work. As last year, the stages will be rented to independent French producers. It was explained that the lease was renewed in anticipation of a possible Government decree which would make production here necessary in exchange for the importation of American films.

The Paramount Theatre here will remain in the hands of the company, but an agreement for film programs has been made with the Siritski Circuit, which operates 25 first run houses in leading French cities. The Paramount will head the Siritski Circuit for French and Paramount films, beginning May 27. The Paramount will drop its permanent orchestra and stage staff, and they will be replaced by bands and various acts booked for each change of program.

20th-Fox Men Leave Tonight For Sessions

Arrive on Coast Sunday For 4-Day Meeting

Approximately 105 20th Century-Fox home office executives, branch managers and salesmen from the east will leave at midnight tonight for the coast en route to the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, and the four-day convention. There will be 44 men from the home office and the rest will comprise representatives from New York, Boston, Albany, New Haven, Washington, Philadelphia and St. John, Canada.

One special train will go directly from New York to Chicago, which will carry all the delegates from eastern United States and the eastern part of Canada. The men from the southern area will travel directly to the coast, as will the delegates from western Canada. The groups from the midwest will join the special train at Chicago, which will travel from there to the coast on the Santa Fe.

CEA Members Back Quality Clause Stand

Meeting Indicates Split On Quota Issue

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 25.—The action of the council of the Cinematograph Exhibitor's Ass'n in pressing for a quality clause in the proposed revision of the British Films Act quota was unanimously endorsed today at the semi-annual meeting of the London and Home Counties Branch of the C.E.A. The decision came after an outspoken discussion which clearly indicated the split within the trade organization on the quota question.

A. J. Gale and Theodore Fligelstone in long speeches explained their withdrawal with Arthur Jarratt of G. B., A. S. Moss of A.B.P., Oscar Deutsch

Allied Meet Opens Today in Milwaukee

Milwaukee, May 25.—The national convention of Allied opens here tomorrow morning at the Hotel Pfister and will continue until May 28.

The first session will start at 2 P.M. tomorrow with a meeting of the national board. This will have followed the registration of members which will take place in the morning.

Aaron Saperstein, president of Allied of Illinois, will head a delegation of 50 arriving tomorrow morning. A large group from Milwaukee is expected at the same time.

Delegates will hear addresses by Nathan Yamins, Abram F. Myers, A. W. Steffes, E. T. Gomersall, western sales manager of Universal and Niles Trammel, vice-president of N.B.C.

The Thursday night banquet will be attended by the governors of Wis-

Theatres Need Something, Council Agrees, But What?

Delegates to the first national convention of the American Theatre Council in session at the Astor yesterday agreed that the stage is in dire need of a hypodermic. Discussion of the prescription and the manner in which it should be administered will occupy the clinic for another two days, however.

The convention will take no action on any of the proposals which may be advanced during the business sessions. Suggestions which are regarded as practical, however, may be acted upon later if either the council or some other theatre organization is established on a permanent basis with the participation of all stage elements. At present, the American Theatre Council is without officers and the projected constitution has been rejected by several important stage groups.

Yesterday's three business sessions were given over to stage labor organizations, dramatic critics and actors. James J. Brennan, I.A.T.S.E. vice-president presided at the first session, which included technical addresses by Herman Seid of Carrier Engineering Co., who spoke on theatre air conditioning, and J. T. Stanton of Erpi, who discussed the advantages of sound amplification for legitimate theatres.

Theresa Helburn of the Theatre Guild, speaking at the actors' afternoon session, urged an endowed or subsidized theatre in small as well as larger communities, declaring that the maintenance of the stage deserved civic backing equally as much as opera companies and civic orchestras. She advocated repertory for cities outside New York.

"If the theatre is to live," Miss Helburn concluded, "some way must be found to make acting in the theatre as stable, if not as lucrative a profession, as it is in the pictures."

Reorganizing Bill Backed By President

SEC Suggested Measure After Para. Study

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, May 25.—The full support of the Administration today was thrown by President Roosevelt behind the legislation, recommended by the Securities and Exchange Commission on the basis of its investigation of the Paramount and other receiverships now pending in Congress, to take the racket out of corporate reorganizations.

In letters to the heads of Senate and House committees interested in the legislation, the President expressed the belief that consideration of the pending measures is "appropriate" at this time.

The action of the President automatically adds the bankruptcy legislation to the list of "must" measures, which also includes the Supreme Court reorganization, extension of the admission and other nuisance taxes and the labor bills introduced yesterday.

In a report to Congress on May 10 the S. E. C. recommended legislation requiring that control of reorganizations be placed with bona fide security holders and their direct representatives: that emphasis be placed upon the fiduciary responsibilities of the Nearing completion after two years is "Snow White," which probably will be ready in Technicolor the latter part of the year. Disney is not discussing the other two features, but is is understood they will supplement the regular program of 18 miscellaneous shorts.

Selznick to Make Eight

Hollywood, May 25.—David O. Selznick, back from New York, declared yesterday that he will make eight instead of 12 films, at a total cost of $12,000,000. Five of the eight will be "Nothing Sacred," "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," "Of Great Riches," "Earl of Chicago" and "Gone With the Wind."

Warners Win Third

The Warner home office baseball team won its third straight victory Monday when it beat the Coty team, 7-6.

Hearings Next Week On Wage, Hour Bill

Washington, May 25.—The effect of the proposed new wage and hour legislation introduced in Congress yesterday by Senator Black of Alabama and Representative Connery of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate and House Labor Committees, is expected to be more thoroughly explored during hearings which will be held by the two committees next week, it was said here today.

While many who have studied the measure believe that exhibition is exempt as a local service industry, there are indications that an effort will be made to bring theatres within the scope of the act. These efforts, it is said, may come from members of Congress who have in the past attempted to "bait" the integrated companies, and who will contend that theatres owned or operated by producers should be considered an integral part of the latter's organization and thus engaged in interstate commerce.

Every effort is to be made to put the measure through Congress with a minimum of delay, but there is some doubt as to the attitude of organized labor, both of A. F. L. and C. I. O. Many labor leaders in the past have disapproved of minimum wage legislation for industry on the ground that the minimum tends to become the maximum. They are, however, in favor of Congressional control of working hours.

Schaefer Says U. A. to Spend $26,000,000

Will Have 20 Features Outside Korda List

Hollywood, May 26.—United Artists' production budget for the 1937-'38 season will total $26,000,000, George J. Schaefer, vice-president, said today after the close of the stockholders' meeting.

The list will include 20 American films in addition to the London Films output of Alexander Korda.

Dr. A. H. Giannini, chairman of the board, presided at the sessions and they were attended by Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, Korda and Samuel Goldwyn.

Two regional sales conventions will be held, Schaefer said, one early in June in New York and the other in Chicago.

Goldwyn's list will include "Dead End," "Stella Dallas," "The Hurricane," "The Adventures of Marco Polo," "Goldwyn Follies" and others. The first three from Selznick International will be "Prisoner of Zenda," "Nothing Sacred" and "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Walter Wanger will have "Vogues of 1938" in Technicolor, "52nd Street," "Carelessly," "Personal History" and others.

Chaplin will produce one under his name.

Plan Holding Firm On British Plants

London, May 26.—It is reported here that a new holding company is being considered for three studios, Pinewood, Denham and Amalgamated, which would have the effect of standardizing service charges and providin for the exchange of staffs, equipment and the like. Economy is the obvious explanation of such a move.

H. George, secretary of London Films, of which Alexander Korda is the head, and which produces at Denham, has admitted discussions with the operators of Pinewood looking to the possibility of cooperation as a means of reducing operating expenses, and declaring that Amalgamated is involved.

However, R. Norton, managing director of Pinewood, has declared the discussions have been limited to Denham and Pinewood, and has disclaimed any knowledge of a plan which also would involve the Amalgamated

Buffalo News Stirs Stage Clinic Pulse

A ripple of excitement ran through the convention of legitimate theatre diagnosticians yesterday, the third day of their deliberations at the Hotel Astor clinic over what brought the pallor to the stage's cheek. The excitement originated with a report, which arrived via Buffalo, where the Scripps-Howard Times got out a theatre convention extra on the subject, that 2,000 Buffalonians had clamored for tickets to a legitimate roadshow at $2.00 per.

The diagnosticians read the news avidly, if a little skeptically, and reported at the end of the convention's luncheon session that the patient had "eaten a hearty meal" and its pulse had quickened by two throbs per

Halts Reports of Trust Actions on Films

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, May 26.—Department of Justice officials today put a period to repeated rumors that immediate action was to be taken against film companies on anti-trust charges with the flat statement that neither civil nor criminal suits are contemplated at this time.

Discussing the subject at his weekly press conference, Attorney General Homer Cummings expressed ignorance of reports from New York that cases against Loew's and RKO were to be laid before a Brooklyn grand jury, and said that no such intent had been brought to his attention.

Allied Is Told Majors Asking Higher Rental

Indicated in Exhibitor Study, Says Richey

By RED KANN

Milwaukee, May 26.—Eighty per cent of the exhibitors replying to Allied States' national buying survey reported that distributors were asking increased rentals this season, H. M. Richey, director of the survey, told the independent exhibitors' organization at its opening session in the Hotel Pfister here this afternoon. A good attendance heard him.

The convention opened immediately following a meeting of the national directors of Allied at which reports were received from regional officers. A special executive conference scheduled for today to discuss labor organizing of theatre employes was postponed until Thursday in order to permit Richey to report on the buying survey which, he said, covered all distribution centers but Chicago where he said a special situation existed. Describing this Allied convention as a buyer's convention and appealing to exhibitors to delay their film deals, Richey declared:

"There isn't such a thing as a national sales policy. Every deal is different. Eighty percent of exhibitors report increased rentals being asked this year. The greatest single weakness is in the competitive situation. This is the biggest factor playing into the hands of the distributors. Other elements of weakness are lack of bargaining skill, the inability to hold off and to say "No" and lack of efficient

Lutherans Study Films

Church use of films for publicity and other purposes is to be studied for the National Lutheran Council by Theodore Stump of Absarokee, Mont., who has been named director of motion pictures by Dr. Ralph H. Long, executive director of the council.

Stump will make a collection of 16mm films of Lutheran activities and institutions for showing in churches. Outstanding films will be evaluated for Lutheran church members. Stump will remain in Montana for the present.

Gold's Division Leads

United Artist's eastern sales division headed by Harry Gold shaded Jack Schlaifer's western exchanges at the close of the George Schaefer Sales Drive, it was announced by A. W. Smith, Jr., general sales manager.

Both groups exceeded their quotas by a considerable margin and it was not until the last stage of the campaign that Gold's forces intrenched themselves in first place.

Hal Grady Passes

Lubbock, Tex., May 26.—Hal Grady, manager of the Lubbock here, died suddenly following tonsil operation. Grady was the winner of the Quigley Silver Award for January.

Insiders' Outlook

Hollywood, May 26

TALES from the receding Hollywood Hills:

"Good morning, Mr. Moskowitz," greeted the arrival as a Beverly Wilshire bellhop picked up the bags. Three minutes later, the same bellboy:

"Your laundry, Mr. Moskowitz."

The situation is well in hand now. Joe Mankiewicz has moved to another hostelry. . . .

'Maytime' Champion Grosser for April

"Maytime" heads the list of outstanding films as compiled in the Box-Office Champions for April in Motion Picture Herald, out today.

"Marked Woman" is second and "Wake Up and Live" is third. The other successful films in the listing are "Waikiki Wedding," "Internes Can't Take Money," "A Star Is Born," "History Is Made at Night" and "The King and the Chorus Girl," in that order.

Name Technicolor Slate

All officers of Technicolor Corp. were reelected at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the company here yesterday. Officers are Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president; J. A. Ball, George F. Lewis, F. R. Oates and G. F. Rackett, vice-presidents; F. F. Bryant, treasurer-secretary.

Establish Writers' Fund

The Dramatists' Guild will establish a fund to finance needy playwrights in an effort to encourage new talent for the stage, Sidney Howard, guild president, said yesterday. The fund will be available to about 15 or 18 playwrights annually, who qualify.

Fred Schwartz Made Buyer for Century

Fred Schwartz, son of A. H., operating head of Century Circuit, has been appointed buyer for the local string of theatres, and Joe Springer and Sam Goodman will handle operation of the houses, it was stated yesterday. The appointments follow the resignation of Charles Moses and Edward Hyman.

Up to the time Moses resigned, Fred Schwartz assisted in the buying of film for the Century group.

Warns of Collectors

Foreign publicity heads of major companies have sent out warnings to be on the lookout for two imposters seeking funds, one of whom claims to be a cousin of Alexander Korda.

Dave Blum of M-G-M was the first visited by the pair and gave the men $5. He signed his name in an album which the men carried with them. The following day, Albert Deane of Paramount was approached and called the matter to Blum's attention. It was learned then that the men had changed Blum's donation from $5 to $15. When Deane advised the men he would call Korda on the phone and tell him his relatives were in town, the visitors became panicky and left.

Little Chance For Giveaway End Foreseen

Despite elimination of games by major circuits, independent theatres continue the practice and show no signs of an intention to drop the policy.

Several independent circuit heads were contacted yesterday. They expressed a willingness to oust games, but contended that numerous efforts had been made to get competitive houses to do away with them without result.

Theatre owners holding to the policy asserted that games mean a certain amount of business and that the stimulant is necessary at this time. In some instances, it was pointed out, theatres have game night seven evenings a week with the result that competing houses will not drop the practice unless all exhibitors agree to do likewise.

Distribution of dishes and other chinaware at local theatres is again coming back with many small exhibitors planning to give away crockery on nights when there are no games on the program.

Buffalo Legalizes B. N.

Buffalo, May 26.—In a rather odd opinion, Corporation Counsel Gregory U. Harmon ruled Bank Nights in Buffalo legal if customers sign a register book. He wrote a letter to Police Commissioner James Higgins today expressing the opinion and based it on two recent Court of Appeals decisions. Judges handing down the first decision said that customers putting their names in a book did not pay for the privilege. Therefore, when the drawing is made it is absolutely free and is no lottery.

The second decision involved tickets handed out along with admission ducats. The customer kept one half, the theatre the other. Prizes were awarded according to a spin of a wheel. The judges ruled this a game of chance, hence illegal.

Higgins ordered copies of the letter sent to all precinct captains. Apparently this throws doors open to the unlimited use of Bank Nights, since most houses use the registration book method.

"Road" Ready for Globe

Hollywood, May 26.—With "The Road Back" dated into the Globe, New York, on a roadshow basis starting June 17, replacing "Lost Horizon," Universal's studios here are putting the finishing touches on the film which is a picturization of Erich Maria Remarque's novel of Germany's reconstruction days following the Armistice in 1918.

Rabbis to See "Golem"

"The Golem," French film, which recently finished a run at the 55th St. Playhouse, will be screened for 250 rabbis at the convention of the Reformed Rabbis of America at Columbus today. Martin J. Lewis, general manager of Metropolis Pictures, the distributor, will be present at the screening.

K.C. Dual, Giveaway Problem Off to Fall

Kansas City, May 26.—With summer coming on and failure of the I.T.O. to get together a united front in opposition, little hope is held for a reduction in money and merchandise giveaways here before fall. Also, doubling goes on unabated in Kansas City, with practically every theatre using two features for every change, and four or five independent subsequent houses tripling regularly one change a week.

Most independents would like to see a reduction in such promotions, accompanied by a raise in admission prices. If crop prospects, now threatened by a plague of grasshoppers, materialize on the basis of present conditions, or anything like them, business should show an improvement next fall, and independents are expected to renew their efforts to cut down on giveaways and multiple features and to raise admissions.

Doubling has increased among Kansas theatres due to the ban on money giveaways by the attorney general, which followed the recent decision of the Kansas Supreme Court holding Bank Night to be a lottery. Some Kansas theatres have turned to doubling on weekend changes, after having found that doubles during the midweek sag, when they used to give their money away, did not stimulate attendance.

Warner Men to Meet

Pittsburgh, May 26. — The first convention of all Warner theatre managers in Harry Kalmine's Pittsburgh zone will be held here at the William Penn hotel June 2 when more than 60 house operators will come into town for a discussion of the new season product.

Among those coming on from New York for the meeting will be Joseph Bernhard, S. Charles Einfeld, Roy Haines and Robert Smeltzer.

Kalmenson Party June 4

Pittsburgh, May 26.—June 4 and the William Penn Hotel have been set as the time and place for Film Row's testimonial dinner to Ben Kalmenson, who was recently made Warners' central district sales manager.

Guild Eyes Publicists

Los Angeles, May 26.—The Los Angeles Newspaper Guild will present at the guild's national convention in June at St. Louis a resolution which would create a division of the guild for publicity men. The move followed numerous requests of studio press agents here to be included in the organization's setup.

M. P. League Showings

RKO and Columbia, respectively, lead the current team standings of the M. P. Baseball League. Skouras, Paramount and Consolidated follow. The field is trailed by M-G-M, NBC and Apeda Studios, in that order. Friday night's game between Skouras and RKO resulted in victory for the latter with a score of 6 to 5.

Koerner Is on Coast

Boston, May 26.—Charles W. Koerner, RKO division manager, will be on the coast for the next five weeks. Mrs. Koerner accompanied him.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"It Happened Out West"

(20th Century-Fox)

Hollywood, May 26.—Based on a Harold Bell Wright story, "It Happened Out West" is a novel action romance drama. It is compact and fast moving with plenty of humor to amplify the love interest and hokum-tinged melodrama. The story was cleverly adapted by Earl Snell and Robert Brooks and directed by Howard Bretherton to permit Paul Kelly, Judith Allen, Johnny Arthur and LeRoy Mason to present pleasing performances.

In the yarn, Kelly, big business engineer, is sent west to get control of a dairy ranch, which, under the management of Miss Allen, is not a successful enterprise. Knowing little about the milk business, he hires Arthur, whose knowledge of the game is also sketchy as an expert adviser. With Kelly and Arthur, overtly doing everything possible to make the ranch a failure so it can be bought at a low price, complications ensue. Aware that his employers are trying to bamboozle Miss Allen out of the ranch, he further learns that local interests headed by Mason are after the ranch for the valuable ore deposits located on it. Falling in love with the girl, he thwarts the plot of his bosses and in an exciting action climax in which the hero and heavy alternately chase each other, he frustrates Mason's plan. With everything straightened out, Kelly decides to stay in the west and marry Miss Allen.

The kind of picture that generally satisfies in the outlying and secondary houses, it seems to be sufficiently strong to be worthy of a spot as a sustaining feature on many urban theatre programs.

Production Code Seal No. 3,308. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Mahin Playwright Head

Hollywood, May 26.—John Lee Mahin has been elected president of the Screen Playwrights, Inc., which recently negotiated a code governing writers' working conditions with the producers. He succeeds Grover Jones. Other officers are: William Conselman and Bess Meredyth, vice-presidents; Bert Kalmar, secretary, and Walter DeLeon, treasurer. The three writer representatives on the producer-playwright code regulatory board are Jones, Howard Emmett Rogers, and Waldemar Young.

Mike Marco Goes to "U"

Mike Marco of Fanchon & Marco has been signed by Universal as a producer. His first picture will be "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady" with Pat Rooney, Sr., his son and Herman Timberg in the leading roles. Deanna Durbin also may be cast.

Fanchon Simon, the first member of F. & M., is a producer for Paramount, having recently completed "Turn Off the Moon."

New Credits Listing Out

Hollywood, May 26.—The eighth quarterly issue of the Academy Technical Credits Bulletin, just issued, will contain individual credits for 530 technicians for the 140 productions completed between Jan. 1 and April 30 this year. The technicians listed are for art direction, camera, film editing, special photographic effects and sound recording.

To Operate for Summer

Pittsburgh, May 26.—For the first time since it was launched as a Mort Shea house several years ago, the Fulton plans to remain open all summer this season, despite the fact that it is the only first run house downtown without a cooling plant.

Open Winnipeg Office

Toronto, May 26.—The establishment of a complete Western headquarters for Famous Players Canadian Corp., at Winnipeg has been concluded with the appointment of Sylvester Gunn, formerly manager of the Royal, Fort William, Ont., as chief booker at Winnipeg. With the exception of the Alberta district, which will continue to be supervised by John Hazza at Calgary, western theatre activities will be directed from Winnipeg under the direction of Frank Kershaw who has been brought back from Vancouver.

To Show "Girl Said No"

Grand National will hold a special trade show tomorrow at the Astor of "The Girl Said No." This will be one of the "A" pictures on next season's program. All local exhibitors have been invited to attend.

Tarbox Gets Imperial

Charles Tarbox has acquired a five-year franchise for Imperial pictures for Albany and Buffalo. The exchanges operating in those cities will be known as Imperial Pictures Exchanges.

Shift Houston Manager

Houston, May 26.—Raymond Hay, former manager of the Metropolitan, has been made manager of the Tower, Interstate suburban theatre, succeeding Lloyd Finlay, who died recently.

"Horizon" in 13 More

Columbia has set 13 additional dates for "Lost Horizon." The film is now in its 12th week at the Globe here.

Carl Goe to New Haven

Carl Goe, G.B. Albany branch manager, has been transferred to the New Haven office.

Variety Club

Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 26.—More than a few out-of-town barkers are expected for the Indianapolis tent's annual Speedway party in the club home Saturday night. Barkers in town for the annual Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race usually swell the crowd.

A floor show is planned, with an elaborate musical program. General admission tickets to the race will be given as door prizes. Carl Niesse, chief barker, and Marc J. Wolf, chief barker emeritus, are heading the committee on arrangements.

Kansas City

Kansas City, May 26. — Sister Mary Remigia and Sister Maria Theresa and 35 of their young charges from St. John's Orphanage, Kansas City, Kan., saw "Penrod & Sam" and a Popeye at the Paramount screening room here and then had ice cream and cake at Variety Clubrooms. The children, from four to 14 years, had a grand time, as did their hosts, Frank Bowen, Finton Jones, Arthur Cole, George Baker, R. R. Biechele, and their hostess, June Metcalf.

One of the lads who enjoyed the picture most was a blind boy, about 14, who followed story by the sound.

Pathegrams Revived For Home Use Films

Pathe has revived Pathegrams after a number of years and is back in the non-theatrical field with 16mm and 8mm films for home consumption. The idea, according to O. Henry Briggs, president of Pathe, is to get out as many important special news events for home projectors as possible.

"Hindenberg Explodes" is the first subject and is now being sold over the counters of every big store in New York City, it was stated yesterday. The subject is available on both silent and sound prints. The second is "England's Coronation" and it also is now being released.

Briggs plans to sail for Europe next month on several deals. There are no definite number of releases scheduled for Pathegrams, but it is planned to make special features of all unusual news events, as well as regular releases of short subjects.

Penser Joins Monogram

Charles Penser has been added to the local Monogram sales staff under Joe Felder, manager. He will cover Manhattan. Jerry Wilson is handling Long Island; Sid Kulick, New Jersey, and William E. Raynor, Brooklyn.

R. A. Kissack on Coast

Hollywood, May 26.—Robert A. Kissack, Jr., director of visual education at the University of Minnesota, and his aide, P. G. Went, have arrived here on a survey of the industry sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Waverly Plans Approved

Plans for the new Waverly, to be located at 323 Sixth Ave., have been approved. Luxor Bleecker Amusement Co. will build from plans by Harrison G. Wiseman.

"Dance" Hits $15,000, Top In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, May 26.—The town's leader last week was "Shall We Dance?" at the Penn with $15,000. This bettered par by $4,000. It was the first time one of the Astaire-Rogers musicals failed to get a second week.

"Wake Up and Live" continued its fast pace at the Alvin, doing around $8,000 on the second week and holding for a third, the first time a film has stayed that long at this house. Phil Regan and Benny Meroff's orchestra on the stage bolstered "The Woman I Love" at the Stanley to $18,500.

Total first run grosses were $49,200. Average is $44,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending May 20:

"WAKE UP AND LIVE" (20th-Fox)

Republicans Name Harris

PITTSBURGH, May 26. — Former State Senator Frank J. Harris, president of the Harris Amusement Co., has been named Republican chairman for Allegheny County. Harris was defeated in his race for reelection in the Roosevelt landslide last November after serving in the state Senate for more than 10 years.

"Star" Second Week Leader, Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—"A Star Is Born" finished its third week with $11,500 at the Aldine and was held a fourth, best record of the season at this house.

"Cafe Metropole" built to a good $16,000 at the Fox, normally enough to hold, but because the stage show policy has been abandoned for the summer, Warners feared to risk a second week. They shot it for a second run at the Karlton and booked "They Gave Him a Gun" at the Fox.

"The Prince and the Pauper" grabbed $15,500 at the Boyd, topping average and winning a second week.

Total first run business was $82,850. Average is $81,960.

Labor Bill Hearings To Be Begun Tuesday

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Hearings on the Administration's new wage and hour legislation will begin next Tuesday before a joint Senate and House committee, it was announced today by Representative Connery, chairman of the House Labor Committee.

Efforts will be made to conclude the hearings within two weeks, in order that an early vote on the measure may be sought in the House and Senate. The first witness will be Robert Jackson, assistant Attorney General, who will discuss the legal phases of the legislation and explain its provisions. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is expected to follow, after which representatives of industry and labor will be heard.

Georgia Theatre Tax Is Declared Invalid

ATLANTA, May 26.—A Georgia county may not levy an occupational tax against a motion picture theatre, according to a ruling made by the Georgia Supreme Court.

The high court held that the county has the right to levy a license tax to operate a theatre, but as the state already levies an occupational tax against amusement houses, the county cannot levy a similar tax.

The court did not point out the distinction between a license tax and an occupational tax.

The ruling was in answer to questions certified to the Supreme Court by the Court of Appeals in the case of Brooks County, against the Llex at Quitman.

Tax Sunday Shows $5

NEWPORT, Ark., May 26.—Declaring the exhibition of motion pictures in Newport on Sunday a privilege, City Council has adopted an ordinance levying a tax of $5 per Sunday.

Monogram Plans Party

Joe Felder, manager of the New York Monogram exchange, will hold an all-day house warming next Thursday at the opening of the office. Charles Penser, formerly with G.B., has joined Felder's sales staff. A number of home office executives and local circuit heads will attend the party.

Plan a Golf Rodeo

CLEVELAND, May 26.—Cleveland Variety Club will hold a golf rodeo—first tournament of the season—to take place at the Beechmont Country Club June 21. Arrangements are in the hands of Henry Greenberger, chairman, and Jack Shulman, Eddie Johnson and P. E. Essick.

International Has Loss

An operating profit of $4,039.82 with a net loss of $15,500.68 following deduction of interest, discount and financial expenses for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28 is reflected in the balance sheet of International Cinema, Inc.

Pathe Meeting Delayed

Pathe's board of directors' meeting, slated for yesterday, was postponed until this afternoon because several members of the board attended a directors' session of Bright Water Paper Co.

"Star Born" $18,000 2nd Chicago Week

CHICAGO, May 26.—Continuing at a fast pace, "A Star Is Born" in its second week grossed $18,000, well over average at the United Artists.

At the Palace "Shall We Dance?" was most satisfactory for a third week and grossed $19,800.

"Wake Up And Live" at the Garrick and "The 13th Chair" at the Oriental did good business in what was generally a bad week. The Chicago with "Turn Off the Moon" was way below average and with several other Loop theatres, found business the poorest in months.

Total first run business was $122,600. Average is $128,000.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending May 20:

"CAFE METROPOLE" (20th-Fox)
APOLLO—(1,400), 35c-55c-75c, 7 days, 2nd Loop week. Gross: $6,400. (Average, $6,500)

Allied Is Told Majors Asking Higher Rental

regional organization to supply needed information, assistance and advice.

"For several years there has been a persistent and determined movement on the part of all distributors to increase their revenues both by enlarging percentage playing and by increasing flat rentals, and while this has been marked by considerable irregularity as between theatres and territories, the results are plainly discernible in the reports. Thus the benefits of a returning prosperity have been diverted entirely to the distributors, the mounting grosses of the exhibitors being more than offset by increased film rentals. Mounting film rentals, increased percentage, compulsory block booking, admission price control, designation of playdates, etc., constitute a real menace to exhibitors. Present tendencies, if prolonged, will result in the complete monopolization of the business by the big eight."

Wood, on Profits

P. J. Wood, Ohio, cited Paramount, Warner and Loew profits and intimated that the major companies' desire to maintain and increase them was behind the demands that exhibitors pay larger rentals for next season. Wood cited a wire to Abram F. Myers from Robert M. Gray of the S.E.C. in answer to a query if Adolph Zukor owned Paramount stock. The wire demonstrated that Zukor did not own a single share of Paramount issues, according to the last available S.E.C. report on file. He urged exhibitors to bear these profits in mind when salesmen came around demanding higher rentals next year.

P. J. Harrison of Harrison's Reports was the next speaker, declaring that circuits were buying theatres right and left all over the nation. He went into a variety of subjects, including his analysis that the Paramount contract was so written that the company can deliver only the product it wishes to. He urged Nathan Yamins to name a committee to wait on Paramount and Columbia to seek an explanation why these distributors indulged in this practice.

Suggestive Themes Hit

Harrison also hit the weekly payment of shorts practice and said many smaller exhibitors could not afford to do so and urged that action by taken to eliminate the plan. "Night Must Fall" and "Marked Woman" were named by Harrison as current attractions which stressed need for passage of Neely-Pettengill Bill. Admitting that both were excellent films, Harrison concluded that the effect on the juvenile mind was injurious and pointed out that the enactment on suggested legislation would prove sufficient to rule out the production of such themes.

The score charge and distributors' work sheets were branded as "rackets" by Nathan Yamins, Allied president, in his address at the opening session. He said the defenseless exhibitor pays for both but gets nothing from either. He urged all independent exhibitors to organize into state units, to support their leaders and and contribute to their individual groups.

It was revealed that Neil F. Agnew, general sales manager for Paramount, had wired Wood telling him that Zukor has been asked to explain why "Souls at Sea" was pulled from the company's schedule for roadshow release. Yamins said no reply has been received yet, granting it might arrive before the convention closes.

To Talk Unionization

Worry over unionization entered the last phases of the first convention session. It was determined to hold a special closed session with independent exhibitors only present at 10 A. M. Thursday to discuss the situation. Myers suggested a special labor committee composed of Fred Herrington, Pennsylvania; F. J. McWilliams, Wisconsin; Aaron Saperstein, Illinois; Martin Smith, Ohio, and Frank Wetzman, Michigan, to pore over communications containing suggestions on labor matters which Myers reported in his possession. These will be discussed prior to the Thursday special session.

A committee to act on the Richey survey also was named. It consists of Sidney Samuelson, New Jersey; M. A. Rosenberg, Pittsburgh; Fred De Lodder, Michigan; P. J. Wood, Ohio, and A. Kaplan and will report the findings later in the week.

Cole to Head Committee

A third committee named today will handle resolutions and other business which do not reach the convention floor. H. A. Cole, Texas, is chairman and his running mates are Lee Newberry, New Jersey; E. L. Peuslee, Minnesota and I. R. Holycros, Minnesota.

Myers told Motion Picture Daily he had submitted the Wagner Act decision to careful study from its legal angles and as it pertained to unionizing of theatre personnel. He stated, "Exhibitors must find some way to accommodate themselves to the labor situation." He refused to predict Allied's decision.

Two hundred and fifty exhibitors were registered by late this afternoon. Tonight the delegates held a Monte Carlo Night party at the Pfister.

Thursday A. W. Steffes, Minnesota, will speak on the chain tax situation. He has a draft of a bill here which, with changes, he says could be presented to various state legislatures and fit into their current programs with perhaps minor changes to conform with existing tax statutes.

P. J. Wood of Cleveland will address the meeting on pictures which have been held back from exhibitors by producer-distributors and may ask the convention to adopt resolutions against both Paramount and Columbia in this respect.

The convention opened with indications of being the largest in Allied's history. The Pfister exhausted its accommodations and an overflow of delegates is registered at the Milwaukee Athletic Club. The city is plastered with welcome banners to the delegates and an elaborate entertainment program has been prepared by the local organization.

And Now, Liquor

Philadelphia, May 26.—Exhibitors here are mulling over a clause discovered today in the new Beer and Liquor Control Bill slated for final passage at Harrisburg which will permit the sale of liquor in theatres. The amendment really abolishes the 1881 law which forbade such sales. Film houses are not mentioned since they were not in existence in 1881 but legal experts are of the opinion that the bill will pertain to them.

Localities are wondering if marquees are big enough to advertise "double Scotch and double feature."

Frontier Films, New Company, Is Formed

Frontier Films Corp. has been formed here by a group of writers, directors, playwrights, actors and cameramen, as an "independent, non-profit organization devoted to the production of realistic films of American life." The production facilities of the company will be placed at the disposal of labor unions, educational groups, social welfare units and the like for the making of "progressive pictures" at a cost not exceeding the actual production expense.

There are no stock or bondholders, and any profit will be used for the company's own reel, "The World Today," according to Lionel Berman, executive director and the only paid employe working on full time. Paul Strand, photographer, is president. Ralph Steiner, writer, and Leo Hurwitz are vice-presidents; John H. Lawson, playwright, is secretary, and Bernard J. Reis, accountant, is treasurer.

Garrison Films is handling the distribution on the first issue of "The World Today," which is patterned after "The March of Time," but succeeding issues are to be handled by Frontier. All films produced by the company will be made in 35 mm. and 16 mm.

File Suit Against Atlantic

Atlantic Film Prod., Ltd., of London is named defendant in a $30,000 suit filed in the N. Y. Supreme Court yesterday by George McLeod Baynes. The plaintiff states that on Jan. 15, 1936, he executed a contract with the defendant whereby he was to arrange for distribution of the Atlantic picture, "Thunder Over the City," and for his services get 10 per cent of the gross income derived from the distribution.

Baynes asserts that he arranged for distribution of the picture in this country through Columbia. The amount he is suing for is based on an alleged statement by Columbia officials to the effect that receipts on the picture will exceed $500,000. Baynes not only asks $30,000, but also seeks an accounting of the income of the picture and an attachment on the film until his suit is settled.

Windsor Sues Keller-Dorian

Hollywood, May 26.—Windsor Prod., Inc., a Delaware corporation, and Leo Lipp and S. C. Grimson, color experts, have filed suit against Keller-Dorian, for $7,800, charging breach of contract. The plaintiffs alleged that Keller-Dorian had broken a contract under which Lipp and Grimson were to have each received $300 a week for their services in connection with the use of Keller-Dorian color for two Grand National productions.

Fuller Case Delayed

New Orleans, May 26.—Hearing on the anti-trust injunction action brought by George Fuller, exhibitor, against seven major companies and two Saenger executives, has been put over until the latter part of November. It is anticipated, however, that a compromise settlement will be reached.

New Orleans, May 26.—Trial for June 8 has been set in the action of United circuit which seeks a court order forbidding Columbia to release "Theodora Goes Wild" to any but United houses.

Commonwealth Finishes

Kansas City, May 26.—Economy in theatre operation was stressed at the two-day convention of 27 managers of the Commonwealth circuit, which ended here tonight with a banquet attended by 100 managers and other film and theatre men. British Groups Give Viewpoints on Quota

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 26.—The three leading trade groups, the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n, the Kinematograph Renters' Society and the Film Group of the F.B.I. today submitted their opinions on the Moyne suggestions for the revisions of the Films Act to Dr. Leslie Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade.

An official statement following the conference merely stated that the trade bodies presented their viewpoints, and that Burgin undertook to give consideration to the views expressed. The delegates were reticent concerning the proceedings, on the specific request of Burgin that they make no personal statements to the press.

D. E. Griffiths acted as spokesman for the K.R.S., the deputation including John C. Graham, Sam Eckman, George Archibald, secretary of United Artists, and F. W. Baker. Charles Tennyson, chairman, represented the F.B.I. Film Group, and the C.E.A. delegation included Charles P. Metcalfe, Ken Nyman, R. S. Bromhead and W. R. Fuller, organization secretary.

Delay Tax Bill Action

Hartford, May 26.—Further action of the Finance Committee of the Connecticut legislature on the 10 per cent amusements tax bill and other tax levies has been suspended until the report of the Appropriations Committee is issued, which is expected before June 9. Final action will then be taken.

FCC Grants Licenses for Four Stations

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The F.C.C. yesterday granted operating licenses to KGNC, Amarillo, Tex., 1,410 kilocycles, 1,000 watts night, 2,500 watts day; KPLT, Paris, Tex., 1,500 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only; WBTM, Danville, Va., 1,370 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day, and WSAJ, Grove City, Pa., 1,310 kilocycles, 100 watts.

It also granted authority to KRIS, Corpus Christi, Tex., to increase night power from 250 to 500 watts; KCRJ, Jerome, Ariz., to increase day power to 250 watts, and KPFA, Helena, Mont., to increase power from 100 to 250 watts.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division ordered hearings held on the applications of Meno Schoenbach, Woodward, Okla., for a 1,500-kilocycle, 100-watt station; Evanston Broadcasting Co., Evanston, Ill., for a 1,020-kilocycle, 250-watt daytime station; Ohio Broadcasting Co., Steubenville, O., for a 1,310-kilocycle, 100-watt daytime station, United Theatres, Inc., San Juan, P. R., for a 570-kilocycle, 1,000 watt-station, and Pacific Radio Corp., Grants Pass, Ore., for a 630-kilocycle, 500-watt station, and the requests of KFOR, Lincoln, for change of frequency from 1,210 to 1,450 kilocycles and increase of power to 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day; WDSU, New Orleans, for increase of power to 5,000 watts, and WFIL, Philadelphia, for increase of power to 5,000 watts.

Ask Approval for Two

During the past week, examiners' reports were received recommending the granting of applications for new stations filed by the Troy Broadcasting Co., Inc., Troy, N. Y., for 950 kilocycles, 1,000 watts daytime; Frank M. Stearns, Washington, for a station at Salisbury, Md., 1,200 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only, and recommending denial of applications for new stations sought by the Northern Broadcasting Co., Traverse City, Mich., and J. Leslie Doss at Sarasota, Fla.

Station Applications Filed

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The F.C.C. yesterday reported receipt of applications for new broadcasting stations from the Keystone Broadcasting Co., New Castle, Pa., 1,250 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only, and the Tri-City Broadcasting Co., Schenectady, N. Y., 950 kilocycles, 1,000 watts.

It was also disclosed that amended applications have been filed by the Hampden-Hampshire Corp., for a new station at Holyoke, Mass., 1,240 kilocycles, 500 watts night, 1,000 watts day; Continental Radio Co., Denver, 630 kilocycles, 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day, and the Evening News Press, Port Angeles, Wash,. 1,400 kilocycles, 250 watts.

Other applications received included a request from WXYZ, Detroit, for increase of power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts; WTFI, Athens, Ga., to increase day power from 500 to 1,000 watts, and KTFI, Twin Falls, Idaho, to increase day power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts.

"Very Swell"

"I would like to take this opportunity of saying that I think your new radio section is very swell and I don't think I've ever missed a word in any issue since you started the department."—Murray Arnold, director of public relations, Station WIP, Philadelphia.

NBC Cuts Down Use Of Word "Exclusive"

NBC is a chary user of the word "exclusive."

With the three great networks now fighting each other tooth and nail for special events features, Mutual and CBS are sprinkling their releases about special events broadcasts with the exclusive term. The so-called "exclusives" turn out to be anything but that.

Last week Mutual stated it would broadcast exclusively the opening of the Great Lakes Exposition this Saturday. It now develops that not only NBC, but Mutual also are to broadcast the opening ceremonies.

CBS claimed an exclusive of the Indianapolis speed race broadcasts, stating the start and finish of the race, May 31, would be brought to CBS listeners in an "exclusive broadcast" by that network. Actually, NBC and Mutual, as well as CBS, will describe the race.

NBC merely states the above events will be carried over its networks, and steers clear of tabbing them as "exclusives."

Premature Raves

Recently the Aces, Jane and Goodman, met up with Benny Fields while dining in Lindy's. The conversation turned to a discussion of the Aces' script for the following night, which had a Russian locale. Fields volunteered to appear on the program and sing a Russian lullaby song. His generous offer was accepted, of course.

The day following the broadcast the Aces received a number of telegrams from west coast "listeners," all raving about the "Russian" singer heard on the program.

To all the senders Ace sent the following reply: "That Russian singer you'll hear on my program about three weeks hence is Benny Fields."

It seems that west of Denver the "Easy Aces" programs are heard via recordings, about three weeks after they're heard in the east.

Mexican Contest to Stimulate Radio Use

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, May 26.—To stimulate radio entertainment, a national contest for all Mexican and foreign writers resident in Mexico to produce playlets and other diversion vehicles suitable for broadcasting has been started by the National Revolutionary Party, the political organization that dominates the Federal Government.

Any subject is permitted, provided it does not offend good taste, good manners and religions or religious beliefs. Entries in the contest must be so arranged that their minimum broadcasting time is 15 minutes and the maximum 45 minutes. The contest will close July 15. The judges will be officials of the party and the Ministry of Public Education. Six prizes, ranging in value from 200 ($56) to 25 ($7.25) pesos, will be awarded.

Shift Ford Sunday Hour for Summer

Concluding its regularly scheduled 39-week stay on the air, the Ford "Sunday Evening Hour" will fade for the summer after the June 13 broadcast.

Replacing the "Sunday Evening Hour" will be the "Universal Rhythm" series, also Ford sponsored, which is now heard Saturdays.

"Universal Rhythm," now a half-hour show, will be extended to a full hour. Its cast, which now includes Richard Bonelli, Alex Templeton and Rex Chandler's orchestra, will be augmented by the addition of a choral group and weekly guest artists. The program will continue under the sponsorship of the Ford dealers of America.

The time for "Universal Rhythm" will be the same as for the "Sunday Evening Hour," 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T., on CBS.

NBC Transcription Prices to Be Pared

NBC Transcription Service prices for reference recordings are to be cut, effective June 1.

A graduating scale of discounts will be granted quantity users of the service. The new price lists will be mailed to individual artists and agencies in the near future.

"Rhythm" May Go to Coast

It is practically certain that the "Rippling Rhythm" show sponsored by the Jergens-Woodbury Co. and emanating from the NBC Radio City studios will shift to Hollywood within the next two months, with a change in production from comedy-musical to dramatic-musical. Tyrone Power will be the new star.

Lennen & Mitchell, agency handling the program, is withholding confirmation, but from a reliable source it has been learned that the deal is now nearing completion.

"Rippling Rhythm" currently is featuring Frank Parker, Shep Fields' orchestra and Bob Hope, comedian. None of the three will be retained when the shift is made to Hollywood.

Sign New Texaco Talent

Ella Logan, Pinky Tomlin and Igor Gorin will be the mainstays on the Texaco program for the better part of the summer months. Eddie Cantor, who will leave the series following Sunday's broadcast, has signed the above players to succeed Bobby Breen and Deanna Durbin who will carry on for a few weeks and then follow Cantor's example and take temporary summer leaves.

To Cut "Oakie College"

The "Oakie College" program will be reduced a half-hour beginning June 29, and will feature Benny Goodman's band in a straight musical production, from 9:30 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T. and Tuesdays at the above time thereafter. Oakie will leave the program June 22.

The program will be returned as a full-hour presentation, again with Oakie in the starring role, in the fall. William Esty is the agency.

Last Pierce Program From N. Y. on June 1

Al Pierce and Gang will make their last broadcast from New York June 1. starting immediately afterward on a promotional trip to all important cities. The tour is being made in the interest of local Ford branches.

The itinerary to date includes stopovers in 24 cities, including Detroit, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco. An eight-week stay is planned in Los Angeles.

The program is sponsored by the Ford Motor Co. The agency is N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

The Pierce show will be broadcast en route at its usual time over CBS.

Capt. Reese Joins Grombach

Capt. Murray G. Reese has joined the staff of Grombach Prod., Inc. Capt. Reese is the son of the former A. T. & T. executive, the late Brigadier General Reese.

Since his retirement from the Army Reese has been in business first in Hawaii and more recently in New York.

Simmons Is Promoted

SALT LAKE CITY, May 26.—Dave Simmons, chief announcer at KDYL has been appointed new advertising representative and promotional director for Morning Milk Co., operating in several western states. It is expected that announcing staff KDYL will shift upward, with new faces only in the lower brackets.

Evans Succeeds Hanlon

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Douglas Evans, for five years one of the leading announcers at KFI-KECA, has been made chief announcer. He replaces Tom Hanlon, resigned.

George Gates, latterly with WCAU, fills the post made vacant by Larry Chatterton.

Jack Shelley on "Woman's News"

DES MOINES, May 26. — Jack Shelley, assistant news editor of WHO, will begin a five-minute program "Women's News" Mondays through Fridays at 3 P. M. on May 31. The broadcast is sponsored by the One-Minute Washer Co., Newton, Ia.

To Rebroadcast Murray Show

The Ken Murray show for Campbell's Tomato Juice will be rebroadcast to the west from 11:30 P. M. to 12 midnight, E.D.S.T., starting June 2. The rebroadcast was previously scheduled from 12:30 to 1 A. M. F.

NBC to Air Cup Races

NBC will cover the America's Cup Races, beginning July 31 and carrying over for the seven days of the trials.

Mayo Joins Recording Service

John Mayo has been appointed sales manager of Advertisers' Recording Service, Inc.

Mayo has been in radio in various capacities for the past nine years. He was with CBS for four years, and also has been station manager of WNOX, Knoxville.

Dr. Giannini declared the matter of the proposed new British quota law was discussed in detail at the meeting, and plans were worked out for meeting any requirement of the new law, thus giving United Artists producers the maximum in protection.

Also prepared, according to Giannini, was a plan of cooperation and an exchange of talent between the coast studio and Korda in England. Korda left the coast by plane, en route to New York and London, immediately following the meeting.

members had with Allied M. P. Operators.

Consolidated contended it was a party to the 10-year Allied contract, while Local 306 stated the circuit held no rights under it. Golder held in favor of Consolidated, which is now continuing under its original union agreement.

Local 306 some time ago absorbed Allied M. P. Operators and accepted the contracts by the union with I.T.O.A. members.

Join Fleischer Pickets

Local 802, A. F. of M., joined the picket line at the Fleischer studio yesterday, charging unfair treatment of musicians and synchronizers. The C.A.D.U., cartoonists' union, has been picketing the Fleischer office location since the cartoonists' strike of two weeks ago. Local 806, I.A.T.S.E., also has intervened in the situation and has requested Paramount, distributor of the Fleischer subjects, to use its influence to end the strike or risk having the projectionists' union regard the company as guilty of an "unfriendly act."

Buffalo News Stirs Stage Clinic Pulse

minute—one for Buffalo and one for the producer of the phenomenal roadshow.

One of the leading specialists participating in the four-day consultation, one Robert T. Haines, a member of the council of Actors' Equity Ass'n, offered one of the most startling analyses and remedial prescriptions for the stage that had been placed before the clinic up to yesterday. Haines' diagnosis was that the stage is suffering from an overdose of Broadway and prescribed a strict diet of plays written for a slightly more respectable America than that represented by the Times Square area.

Haines conceded that much of the theatre to which he referred was "O. K. for Broadway," but "the theatre's outlying branches," he reminded, "have become atrophied, if not entirely dead."

"One remedy for this sick patient which we have on our hands," he told his fellow diagnosticians, "is to write plays for America, not just Broadway.

"Even in New York," he continued, "there are thousands who are being driven from the theatre because they refuse to have their eyes and ears and sensibilities offended by a public display of the obscene, the vulgar, the profane and sordid."

The clinic closes tonight with a midnight supper.

extra wage scales should be net to the player. Independents have been obtaining atmosphere players through other agencies and the players have paid 10 per cent commission.

The nine independents are: Walter Wanger, Selznick International, Schulberg, Major, Goldwyn, Grand National, Loew, B. F. Zeidman and Darmour.

The strike situation here is quiet with rumors that I.A.T.S.E. is offering to F.M.P.C. a compromise settlement entailing withdrawal of charges against I.A.T.S.E. lodged with the A.F.L. in Cincinnati. F.M.P.C. will not confirm the reports.

Other developments are the donation of $9,000 by the Longshoremen's Unions and the drive of Screen Actors' Guild for Guild contracts with industrial production firms.

Allied Moves For National Buying Group

Expenses to Be Met By Membership Levy

By RED KANN

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—National Allied, by a vote of 74 affirmative and 60 negative, this afternoon authorized a full study of a plan to develop and organize a national buying combination. Suggested first by H. A. Cole, Texas, reporting as chairman of the Committee on Resolutions and Miscellaneous Business, he outlined the scheme as set up by the committee of five which he stated had voted two for and two against the proposal with the fifth member absent.

Describing the suggested scheme as "very complete," Cole's outline would make it mandatory upon all Allied members to relinquish full control of their film buys to such proposed national combine which would be set up as a separate company controlled by Allied through the election by regional associations affiliated with the national body of directors in such contemplated buying combination. These directors would elect officers of the buying company, the support of which would be guaranteed by payment by each subscribing member of three per cent of his annual film purchase.

Cole made it clear that in theory he viewed this specific plan as "fine"

Zukor Defends Para. Non-Delivery of Six

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—Failure by Paramount to deliver six pictures sold on the 1936-'37 schedule does not constitute "unfair play," Adolph Zukor, chairman of the Paramount board of directors, declared in a communication read to the Allied convention this afternoon.

At the opening session yesterday, Paramount had been criticized for non-delivery of "Souls at Sea," "High, Wide and Handsome," "Angel," "Artists and Models," "What, Ho" and an untitled Harold Lloyd film.

"Our method of selling for years, as you know, has been to deliver pictures according to release year," Zukor

CBS in Pact With Union Ending Tilt

Agreement Covers Wages, Hours in New York

CBS yesterday closed negotiations with representatives of the American Guild of Radio Announcers and Producers for an agreement covering hours, wages and working conditions for announcers and assistant directors employed in its New York studios.

The agreement is the first of its kind written in radio, and represents a complete victory for the announcers—producers' guild, which was formed just seven weeks ago by Roy S. Langham, a CBS production man.

Additional developments in the radio field on pages 10 and 12.

The agreement runs for a period of five years and is based upon a five-day week of 40 hours. The Guild is recognized as exclusive bargaining agency for these employes. The principle of a Guild shop is recognized,

Permanent Theatre Group Is Suggested

Formation of a permanent association comprising all elements of the legitimate theatre to carry ont a program of exploitation, advancement and defense of the theatre was recommended yesterday by the board of the American Theatre Council at a meeting following the final business session of its first national convention at the Astor.

The program, devised from suggestions and criticisms of and for the theatre, contemplates an annual theatre festival, aid for new playwrights and producers of promise, enlarged opportunities for aspiring stage talent, defense of the stage from censorship and legislation and a new deal for the public and the "road" in admission

Pennsylvania Sunday Show Bill Is Vetoed

HARRISBURG, May 27.—Governor Earle today vetoed the bill which would have permitted municipalities which had voted down Sunday shows under the local option act of 1935 to submit the question to voters again next September instead of waiting five years as the original act requires.

The Governor said the bill was "bad sportsmanship" because it did not provide a similar opportunity for special balloting for the repeal of Sunday show authorization in those municipalities which have voted in favor of them during the last two years.

Allied Decides to Steer Clear Of National Policy on Unions

Milwaukee, May 27.—Allied today in a closed session attended only by identified independent exhibitors determined to remain clear of any national policy on theatre unionization but decided the most feasible course was for each exhibitor to follow his own best dictates.

It is understood the Allied leaders held it potentially dangerous even to endeavor to fix a national viewpoint leaning either toward the C. I. O. or I. A. T. S. E. on the ground that a decision either way might imperil the theatre owners by placing them in the middle of the labor jurisdictional struggle. Allied is fully aware that the day of theatre unionization is apparently here, but its members will decide for themselves what kind of deals they will make and with what organization, governed by local conditions.

GOLDWYN-KORDA GET U.A. OPTION

Price $6,000,000 for Fairbanks, Chaplin, Pickford Shares

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—An option to purchase for $6,000,000 the United Artists' partnership franchises of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Charles Chaplin has been granted to Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda. The option may be exercised at any time up to next Dec. 31.

Granting of the option occurred during the recent meeting of the five United Artists partners here, Dr. A. H. Giannini, president, said it does not affect Selznick International or Walter Wanger Prod., whose distributing arrangements with United Artists will be undisturbed by the change in control of the company which would result from the exercise of the option, nor does it alter the company's new season production plans. In addition, any films produced by Pickford, Fairbanks or Chaplin would be released through United Artists under the terms of the option.

According to the best available information on the matter, an exercise of the option would involve an equal participation by Goldwyn and Korda, each contributing $3,000,000. Dr. A. H. Giannini, United Artists president,

Chain Tax Measure Killed in Florida

TALLAHASSE, Fla., May 27.—Indefinite postponement of the "Florida Recovery Act" by the Senate here today had the effect of killing the measure. The vote was 18 to 16.

A new law, similar to the recently enacted bill in Louisiana, will be proposed, Senator Tillman of Tampa declared. It will call for a heavy tax on each unit of every chain and will probably include theatres.

Berle Entertains as Ampa Closes Season

With Milton Berle as master of ceremonies, Ampa yesterday wound up its seasonal activities with a bang. Berle was in rare form with a swift line of gags. He also sang three songs. Mitzi Green, who has been signed by RKO, also appeared on the program with several versions of "The Lady Is A Trampe."

Patsy Kelly, Hal Roach star, was introduced, as was Frederic Ullman, new general manager of Pathe News. Trade advertising awards were made to Moe Kalich and Donald Gibbs of Paramount.

Paul Gulick, head of the auditing committee, reported that the books kept by Herbert Berg, treasurer for the past two years, were "in good order."

Vincent Trotta stated that the organization has a bank balance of $61 and $3,000 outstanding in dues and other commitments and voiced the opinion that an effort should be made to line up the membership on a supporting basis.

Capt. Paul Kimberly, English representative for National Screen, was also introduced.

Paul Lazarus, Jr., vice-president, presided in the absence of Ralph Rolan, who is in Galveston.

Film Record Value Stressed at SMPE

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—The importance of film records, seen as taking on new values for business concerns, libraries, Government agencies and private collectors, was stressed by Capt. J. G. Bradley, National Archives, Washington, in a talk on "Changing Aspects of the Film Storage Problem," before today's session of the annual spring convention of the Society of M. P. Engineers at the Roosevelt Hotel here.

Bradley's was one of a group of talks during the laboratory and projection session this afternoon. There was no business session this morning. The recently-initiated survey of theatres throughout the country to determine existing conditions of projection, and for the purpose of establishing a set of recommendations on construction, was cited by H. Rubin, chairman, in his report of the projection practice committee.

Allied Moves For National Buying Group

but reported to the convention body that differences in the committee vote had developed over the feasibility of selling it to Allied's membership. However, in the 74-60 vote finally taken it was not the plan as outlined which was approved but a general approval of further consideration of the idea which commits national Allied officers to prepare it for submission to the general membership at a date not defined and, for all that may be divined now, in an entirely different operating form.

Many Resolutions Heard

This was Allied's big business day. It was marked by passage of many resolutions. Sidney Samuelson, New Jersey, as chairman of the Committee on Film Buys, delivered a set of five resolutions, all of which were unanimously adopted. One concerned sales. It struck at percentage bookings, compulsory playdates, weekly payment on shorts whether used or not, the practice of distributors in holding out product sold on one season's program as an inducement to sell the following season's and the re-allocation of product at the distributor's discretion with the result that percentage brackets underwent changes and the exhibitor found himself spending more money on film than he had calculated at the outset of the season. In this resolution as well was the condemnation of compulsory block booking and blind selling. Its text likewise called upon all independent exhibitors regardless of association affiliation to help these points by stiffening sales resistance and, by less mutual distrust and more cooperation, to avoid falling into the distributor's hands when the selling season gets actively under way.

Asks Contact with Public

Full publicity for these aims was provided in the final section of this lengthy resolution which called upon participating exhibitors to acquaint the public with their objectives through trailers, programs and public groups. Its complexities also embraced support of the Congressional probe of the industry as well as enlisting support for passage of the Neely-Pettengill bill..

The second of Samuelson's five resolutions provided for the continuation of a sales survey next year such as the one made by H. M. Richey, Michigan, this year. The third resolution condemned Paramount for its "ruthlessness" in holding out for this year's program six pictures sold to exhibitors. Its text endorsed similar condemnatory resolutions passed by the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Ass'n. Samuelson here read and repeated what he deemed high points of letter sent by Adolph Zukor explaining why these pictures were not to be delived. Highlights of the Zukor communication are published elsewhere in this edition.

The fourth resolution again condemned Paramount, this time on its accessories plan. Included by amendment was Vitagraph for a similar plan, while the future was taken care of by a supplementary phrase applying to any other distributors who may adopt identical plans. This resolution at the same time called upon the Allied membership to aid independent poster exchanges and endorsed the action of the Twin Cities exhibitor group along such lines.

While Paramount bore the brunt of Allied's fire, Columbia came in for a drumming as well. In Samuelson's fifth resolution Columbia was scored for withholding "Lost Horizon" from this season's schedule under what Samuelson described as "the tricky roadshow clause." The text went on to say that the chief reason for exhibitor deals with Columbia this year had been the Capra picture which they now will not get. Samuelson urged theatre owners to bear "their Columbia losses" in mind when they made their 1937-'38 deals with that company.

Myers Talks Legislation

Abram F. Myers, chairman of the board, followed Samuelson. He dealt on the Zukor letter and described it as demonstrating its "utter insincerity." His address concerned largely Allied's legislative program. "You are dealing with a deep underlying disease and cannot cut through immediately. You have been dealing with symptoms, a pimple here a boil there, hoping at some time to arrive at a cure for the condition. There is a way but the patient is not very likely to survive it. Allied's policy has been one of dealing with the symptoms. For instance, last year there was little reason to believe that bills seeking to divorce production from exhibition would stand the test of constitutionality. They have. Recent Supreme Court decisions, moreover, have opened up new vistas for us. In territories where exhibitors want to strike lusty blows they now have the support of thousands of other retailers in other fields," said Myers.

Citing the Louisiana chain tax case, Myers told the assemblage he had held conferences in Washington prior to coming to Milwaukee with retail grocers and druggists who told him that they were planning aggressive campaigning for anti-chain legislation. This he described as an additional weapon "in the use of which you can have the support of thousands not in the film business but who have the same objective."

Discusses Federal Probe

At another point Myers said it was "proper to say" that it was as a result of unnamed experiences of Cole last winter which led to the introduction of Bill No. 160 in the House of Representatives calling for a wide probe of the entire industry. This action, he added, "paves way to present to Congress all of these things embalmed for years as exhibitor resolutions and never stimulated into action by Federal bodies which we should have had." The apparent inaction on the Neely-Pettengill Bill, he further stated, was not attributable to flagging interest but was delayed because those directly concerned with its enactment had been occupied by decisions of the Supreme Court. Myers concluded with the statement that unless there is "a wider display of interest and more generous participation, the carrying out of these plans will be unduly delayed."

Among other steps determined upon was passage of a resolution deploring distributor sales drives with enforced participation of the exhibitor. The convention unanimously determined to appoint a Committee on Drives with the personnel secretive and to which it will seek to have the distributor submit applications for the right to conduct such drives in the future. This committee, it is designed, will pass on petitions and endeavor to prevent Allied members from participating unless the committee sanctions it.

"Star Chamber" Meet Held

Beyond stating that he had been requested to hold a closed session on the report of W. A. Steffes, who subsequently presented behind closed doors a draft of the model tax bill aimed at chains, Nathan Yamins failed to explain what source sought to have the afternoon meeting a secret one. However, the convention body voted for a private meeting and, after the room was cleared of all except exhibitors, Steffes delivered his report, tracing the history of theatre divorcement measures. The convention at its conclusion pledged that its future legislative activities along these lines was to continue. Insofar as action to further anti-chain legislation is concerned it was decision of the convention to observe developments and fashion its future course upon those developments.

State leaders are understood to have pledged themselves to meet their quotas for the special defense fund launched last year. No specific quotas were outlined on the floor but were in process of definite fixation late tonight following dinner when the Defense Committee met for that purpose.

The board of directors went into an immediate huddle following the formal closing of the day's sessions.

Governors Address Diners

The dinner tonight was addressed by Governor Langley of North Dakota, Governor Townsend of Indiana and the Attorney General of Wisconsin, representing Governor La Follette who was unable to attend.

An emergency meeting of the board of directors was held tonight following the afternoon session. The directors, taking cognizance of the fact that Allied must expand to carry out the elaborate plans proposed in the session this afternoon, more money will be raised and a larger machine set up to handle the national defense fund and all phases of Allied activities. The defense committee meets late tonight to decide the amount of funds to be raised and to outline plans for expansion of the organization which will be carried out during the coming year.

Allied Sidelights

Milwaukee, May 27.—Henri Elman, Chicago exhibitor-distributor, had a big time at the convention discussing his exhibition troubles and trying to sell a little product at the same time.

The receptionists, pretty girls they, thought Tippy Harrison had the "cutest" name of anyone present.

A prize ring filled the center of the Fern Room at the Pfister. 'Twas for the entertainment but many thought that the device was symbolic of the purpose of the meeting.

Aaron Saperstein, found so many committee meetings needed his attention that he almost had to cover the regular meetings of the convention by proxy.

Roy Bedore, demonstrating the Adcaster and other Golde inventions, was on hand early to extend felicitations to all comers. He said he wanted to see everyone before the free beer was served.

Nathan Yamins was happy to see the big "Welcome Allied" electric sign which decorated the City Hall. Nice gesture, thought he.

Monte Carlo Night, with plenty of paper money about (not the real kind) gave one a good idea what it would be like if inflation became a reality. Alex Manta, after a couple of wins at the roulette table, said he felt like he had won at Bank Night.

Harry K. Smythe was on hand to greet his many exhibitor friends and tell them about his new Trav-L-Sign device. Harry just returned from a honeymoon in New England.

Irving Mack hit out for Mader's German restaurant as soon as the first meeting was over. Many say it's the best restaurant of its kind in the country, according to Irving.

The ever-popular Abram Myers, as usual, was on hand to give the press lads the latest info. He even supplied pencils and scratch pads for the newshounds.

Many were the congratulations handed Pete Woods for the excellent way he handled the arrangements. Everyone found things to his or her liking. Yes, plenty of the exhibitors' wives attended.

The Hotel Pfister was sold out a week in advance of the convention and as a result many of the lads were at the Milwaukee Athletic Club, which was another good place to stay.

Zukor Defends Para. Non-Delivery of Six

wrote. "If the pictures were generally released in a given year they were covered by the contract. If they were not so generally released, the exhibitor had no claim to them. Of this, all exhibitors have been well aware and no one has been fooled about it.

"I know exhibitors throughout the country are appreciative of the insurmountable difficulties which we have had to overcome and of the progress we have made in delivering these fine pictures. We were hopeful, indeed, that we could deliver all of the pictures which we planned to release for the 1936-'37 season, but contingencies arose beyond all human expectations and it is surprising that we obtained the results that we did."

Goldwyn and Korda Given U.A. Option

has no participation in the agreement. He is reported to have opposed the granting of the option.

Indications are that Korda's British financial backers, the Prudential Assurance Co., likewise, is not involved in the deal and that the option price may be advanced by American financial interests in entirety, in the event it is exercised.

The move is understood to have been the culmination of Goldwyn's dissatisfaction with United Artists' corporate setup, under which all five partners participated equally in the company's earnings, and Korda's dissatisfaction with the American reception being given his pictures. Pickford, Fairbanks and Chaplin have been more or less inactive as producers for several years.

David Selznick's situation leaves him with only four more pictures to deliver to United Artists, with no commitment beyond that. He is holding off "Gone with the Wind" for dickering with another company, probably M-G-M.

The Wanger setup is said to be intact for four more years, with eight to be delivered this year.

Renowned Deal Ready

Renowned Artists' deal for U.A. release is ready for signing. Garfield D. Merner, vice-president and treasurer, arrived today. The first will be "Quiet Man," a Frank Walsh story with John Ford directing.

George Schaefer will announce the full United Artists' product schedule June 15.

Alexander Korda, who is in New York on his way back to London, declined to discuss the option granted him and Samuel Goldwyn in Hollywood for the acquisition of the outstanding United Artists franchises. Comment on the deal was also refused at the offices of O'Brien, Driscoll & Raftery, attorneys for Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, and at the offices of Schwartz & Frohlich, attorneys for Goldwyn and Charles Chaplin.

Korda plans to sail from New York on the Normandie next Tuesday.

"Married" Gets $23,000

"As Good as Married" grossed about $23,000 at the Roxy. "Wings Over Honolulu" will open there today. "They Gave Him a Gun" in its second week at the Capitol tallied $14,000.

Complete Arliss Film

"Dr. Syn," new George Arliss picture, has been completed in England, according to word received by the G. B. New York office. This makes the current season's schedule 95 per cent complete.

A. T. & T. Probe June 17

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Hearings by the F.C.C. in the investigation of the A. T. & T will be resumed June 17, it was stated here today at the offices of the commission.

Coast Labor Peace Is Near—Fitzgerald

hinges on the smoothing of jurisdictional disputes between F. M. P. C. and I. A. T. S. E. Fitzgerald said that no action will be taken until the A. F. L. acts on the jurisdictional question.

The promised I. A. T. S. E. statement has been put off until tomorrow after word was received here that the Cincinnati executive council took the request of the Painters Brotherhood for I. A. T. S. E. discipline under advisement until George Browne of the I. A. T. S. E. has been given a chance to tell his side.

Fitzgerald refused the disclosure of the settlement plan, saying that his survey on the strike took in only employer-labor questions and not intramural labor trouble. The latest report here is that William Green has named a special committee to settle the F. M. P. C. and I. A. T. S. E. dispute.

Interunion strife broke out again today when crafts of the F.M.P.C. announced the lodging of charges of obstructing the film strike against J. W. Buzzell, secretary of the Central Labor Council at the session of the council tomorrow night. The crafts charge that Buzzell delayed unnecessarily obeying the instructions of the delegates to the council to forward requests to all councils asking them to demand action against the I.A.T.S.E. by the A.F.L. executive council. Buzzell sent out the statements today, three weeks after the order was given.

Billposters Get Raise

Local circuits yesterday completed negotiations with the billposters' union providing for an increase of $2 and one hour less work a day.

Report Mirisch Will Take 2 in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, May 27.—Current reports have it that Harold Mirisch, who recently resigned as booking manager from the Warner-Saxe Theatres will take over operation of the Tower and Oriental when the present lease expires August 31.

The two neighborhood houses are a part of the Fox circuit, and it is declared that the circuit will drop the theatres. Fox operates the State, located only a few blocks from the Tower, which it plans to renovate. On the east side, its Downer is in the same community as the Oriental.

The Tower and Oriental are owned by the M. L. A. Investment Co.

Tieup Airs Film Score

Warners have arranged a tieup on the film, "The Singing Marine," whereby today from 4:05 to 4:35 P.M., Frank Black will conduct an orchestra in a special broadcast of the complete score from the film over WJZ, a national hookup and shortwave around the world.

McClellan Joins Felco

Ralph McClellan, formerly in charge of the contract division at the Universal studios, has been appointed sales manager for the Telco Corp. McClelllan is now in New York contacting producers in regard to Telco color prints.

Hit Music Snag

Toronto, May 27.—Time-tested Gilbert and Sullivan music will not be heard as the musical background for the film, "The Girl Said No," when it is released in the Dominion because of copyright difficulties, according to information from the Grand National office here. If and when it is screened in Canada the picture will have entirely different music to what is recorded in the United States' prints.

RKO Men Will Leave June 12 for Coast

More than 100 RKO home office representatives and eastern delegates will leave June 12 for Los Angeles, via the southern route, for the company's annual sales convention which will open at the Ambassador June 16. Stopovers will be made at several points where local sales forces will join the convention special.

Harry Cohen, western division manager now in New York discussing a product deal with Fox West Coast executives, will accompany the eastern contingent.

Ned E. Depinet will return Tuesday from Galveston, Tex. Nat Levy, Detroit district manager, is in town and will leave for home in a few days.

Continue RKO Hearing

The hearing of the proposed plan of reorganization of RKO was continued yesterday before Special Master George W. Alger with Bernard Bercu of Gottheimer and Co., attorney for the independent stockholders' committee undergoing cross-examination all day. He was examined by Col. H. C. Rickabee, attorney for Atlas Corp.

Chaplin Suit Shifted

The suit of Films Sonores Tobis Societe Anonyme against Charlie Chaplin and U.A. was yesterday ordered transferred from N. Y. County Supreme Court to the U. S. District Court. The plaintiff claims the defendant infringed in his "Modern Times" on "A Nous La Liberte." The suit seeks an accounting of profits and damages.

Delay Moskowitz Quiz

Examination of Charles C. Moskowitz, Loew executive, in connection with the I.T.O.A. suit regarding the split week policy of Loew's, yesterday was postponed until the middle of next week. Attorneys for Loew's requested the adjournment due to another action coming up yesterday.

To Ignore Italy Exhibit

ROME, May 27.—As a result of Italian restrictions on the sale of American films in Italy, it is reported here that United States producers and distributors will refuse to be represented at the International Film Exhibition to be held in Venice during August and September.

"Camera Thrills" Titled

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—Universal has picked "Camera Thrills of 1937" as the title of its special two-reel subject.

Coronation Stirs Up Row on Quebec's Law

MONTREAL, May 27.—The more or less ancient law of the Province of Quebec prohibiting the attendance of juveniles under 16 years at film theatres has at last proved a boomerang, all because of the Coronation films.

Public sentiment has risen against the statute because children are prevented from seeing the ceremony and the cry has been taken up by leading newspapers who now condemn the blanket prohibition which came into effect 10 years ago because of a fire in a neighborhood theatre in which many children lost their lives through panic. Protests have been made to the Quebec Government against the stringent barrier and demands have been made that children should be permitted to see the Coronation films if nothing more.

The situation has further come to a head by the offer of five first runs to give special free showings of the Coronation reels during the morning hours under the supervision of school authorities. This offer has been made by the Palace, Capitol, Imperial, Princess and His Majesty's, the employes of which would donate their services for such shows, it is stated. No reply has been received from Government officials.

Missouri Sales Tax Bill in Conference

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., May 27.—Governor Stark's two per cent sales tax bill was thrown into the hands of a conference committee after the House of Representatives had rejected in their entirety the various amendments that had been tacked on by the Senate. The measure was sent back to the Senate with the request that the Upper House recede from its position, but was declined.

The principal opposition in the House centers on the Cope amendment which would prohibit cities from levying a municipal sales tax and House members also oppose the amendment to allow merchants three per cent of their tax collections provided they make remittances to the state auditor within a specified period.

Philadelphia Delays Hearing on New Tax

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—A hearing scheduled for today on the new city tax measures was postponed until June 4. The proposed taxes are on admissions and film footage. The first is one cent on each 25 cents or fraction thereof, beginning with 15-cent admissions.

Lewen Pizor, president, and George Aarons, secretary of the U. M. P. T. O., were present to testify.

Thompson Heads Council

Lester Thompson, acting head of the M. P. P. D. A. Advertising Advisory Council since the death of J. J. McCarthy last February, was named head of the council yesterday. He had served as assistant to McCarthy since the organization of the council in 1934. The council is composed of the directors of advertising and publicity of the M. P. P. D. A. member companies and has supervision and administration of the advertising code.

Short Subjects

"Sound Defects"

(Vitaphone)

Good comedy situations are developed by Rufe Davis as an amateur radio station operator. Irene Delroy and Rodney McLennan are forced down en route to their broadcast. They land at Davis' place. He puts them on and the program is picked and re-broadcast. His antics as he does the sound effects are novel comedy. When he visits New York the pair take him on a tour of 52nd St., where diverting musical effects are offered by the Frazee Sisters. Production Code Seal No. 01,482. Running time, 22 mins. "G."

"Tennis Tactics"

(M-G-M)

Here is a Pete Smith film that is just the thing for the approaching warm weather. It features the ability and skill of Fred Perry on the courts. The usual blend of clever description and a little comic horseplay is present in addition to trick slow motion effects and smart cutting. Production Code Seal No. 2,965. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Halt! Who Goes There?"

(Astor)

A mediocre English cartoon based on the supposedly humorous and fictitious Sam, of Lancashire. The trite and naive plot concerns Sam's adventures in the army and his tea with the King. It may find acceptance with radio audiences who have been listening in on the tall tales over the air. Production Code Seal No. 01,585. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Going Places No. 37"

(Universal)

Gathering maple sugar sap in Vermont, a bird sanctuary in Florida and Reginald Denny's airplane model hobby are offered in this number. It has tasteful variety and interesting material. Production Code Seal No. 01,461. Running time, 9½ mins "G."

"Song of the Islands"

(Paramount)

Fine Technicolor camera compositions of Hawaiian scenery serve as background to a good rendition of the well known song. It is a nicely turned musical. Production Code Seal No. 2,400. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"In Shanghai"

(J. H. Hoffberg)

Fairly well filmed scenes of the Chinese city. It takes in the Bund, the race track and the usual stuff about the blending of the old with the new. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 9½ mins. "G."

"Shoes with Rhythm"

(Mentone-Universal)

Business is non-existent at Billy Reed's and Frances Williams' bootery The pair bring in an assortment of acts and immediately the customers pour in. This serves to introduce The Rhythm Boys, The Canadians, Elaine and Barry, and Ethel Shepard, a fair collection of dancing and singing acts. Production Code Seal No. 01,557. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Vitaphone Funsters"

(Vitaphone)

A diverting collection of snappy vaudeville acts. The material is handled well and there is good musical background. The performers include The Three Swifts, a juggling act; Johnny Burke, a monologist; Andy and Louise Carr, eccentric dancers, and The Reddingtons, an acrobatic turn. Production Code Seal No. 01,537. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"She Had to Eat"

(20th Century-Fox)

Hollywood, May 27.—A nonsensical yarn, this inconspicuous little effort has just that nonsense as its strong point. Straight comedy and spotted with a number of laugh situations and lines, the film should be found engaging in the smaller locations, where the patronage is not too much interested in art for art's sake.

Based on a novel by James Edward Grant and Morris Musselman, the film was directed for laughs by Malcolm St. Clair with a fair degree of success. Jack Haley, who scored in "Wake Up and Live," has the lead, with Rochelle Hudson playing opposite. Aiding in the comedy supply are Eugene Pallette, as a goofy millionaire; Arthur Treacher, as his dead pan, and equally unbalanced valet, and Tom Kennedy and John Qualen, as a pair of gangsters.

Haley, owner of a desert gas station, is picked up by Pallette, in his special train and in his cups, because the boy can use a rifle. He wakes up in a large city, remembers nothing and Haley is on the street. Broke, he meets Miss Hudson, out of a job but full of tricks, and she takes him in tow. From that point it is one lively adventure after another, including the mistaking of Haley for a hunted gangster, and new recognition by Pallette every time he takes two drinks. It ends in the expected fashion as the couple head for the gas station, and Pallette for a bar.

Production Code Seal No. 3,223. Running time, 72 minutes. "G."

Out Hollywood Way

Hollywood, May 27.—By June 10 Monogram will have five pictures in work. The titles are: "Paradise Isle," "Luck of Roaring Camp," "Telephone Operator," "Port of Missing Girls," "Circus Lady," and "West of Rainbow's End." . . . "The Hoosier Schoolboy" is shooting now and "Blazing Barriers" and "The Thirteenth Man" are editing. . . . B. F. Zeidman's "So This Is Hollywood" will be his next for Grand National, replacing "They Call It Love." . . . Joan Crawford will star in M-G-M's "The Bride Wore Red," formerly "The Girl from Trieste."

Casting—Claudia Morgan, William Lundigan, Ralph Morgan, Jack Smart, Hobart Cavanaugh in Universal's "That's My Story." . . . George Piltz, former Olympic swimmer from Honolulu, in "Paradise Isle," Monogram.

Directors—Andrew L. Stone has assigned Alexis Thurn-Taxis to direct "Face the Facts," Stuart Erwin Grand National starrer. Stone was to direct his own production as he did "The Girl Said No," on which Thurn-Taxis was assistant director. . . . Ray Taylor signed by Ed Finney to direct "The Mystery Riders."

Writers—Dwight Taylor draws the screenplay of "Man in Evening Clothes," Major.

Title Change—Twentieth Century-Fox's "Chicago Fire," retitled "Chicago," is now "In Old Chicago."

Contracts—Peter Arno given commission by Darryl F. Zanuck to paint original surrealist canvasses for use in "Danger—Love at Work." On the screen, they're to be John Carradine's artistic endeavors. . . . Katherine "Sugar" Kane given term deal by Emanuel Cohen. She will arrive June 1 from New York night club torching and will be built up as a "swingtime flapper." . . . Samuel Goldwyn signs Charles Kullmann, opera tenor, and his first part will be in "The Goldwyn Follies," his American screen debut.

Cigars Department—At M-G-M, Jack Chertok has named his son William Irving; Victor Fleming, his daughter, Susan; Edwin Knopf's arrival is Jonathan Alfred, and Jack Gertzman's, David Steven.

Publicity Phooey—From Universal: "A rattlesnake with screen ambitions caused a near panic and broke up an important story conference when it wandered into B. G. (Buddy) DeSylva's bungalow-office at Universal. . . . The reptile was finally subdued by a barrage of scenarios, music rolls and reference books. DeSylva is having the snake treated by a taxidermist. It will later hang in his office as visible evidence that there really was a snake."

Variety Club

Washington

Washington, May 27.—The recent club smoker was interrupted for a general business meeting of Tent No. 11, with Chief Barker Carter T. Barron presiding. Reports from committee chairmen were read.

Chairman Rudolph Berger of the welfare committee reviewed the tent's charitable activities, with special reference to the children's parties that have been given weekly for the past month.

Chairman A. E. Lichtman of the house committee brought various matters to the members' attention.

Treasurer Samuel A. Galanty briefly outlined the status of the Club's exchequer.

Following the session, which lasted less than an hour, the evening's festivities were resumed, with beer and sandwiches. About 60 barkers and friends attended. The smoker was under the auspices of Charles Kranz's social activities committee.

Detail Program for CEA Summer Meet

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, May 18.—The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n has set preliminary details of the program of the summer conference of the association at Harrogate, from June 21 to June 25.

The business sessions will begin June 22, with a general council meeting, a branch secretaries' conference and, in the evening, an official conference banquet at the Majestic Hotel. On the following day papers will be read in the morning and afternoon, a luncheon tendered by the four Yorkshire branches of the C.E.A. and a film gala organized by Arthur Dent of Associated British Pictures, at midnight. On Thursday there will be other papers in the morning and another midnight party, this time under the auspices of C. M. Woolf of General Film Distributors. Friday will be devoted to trips and will conclude with a film star ball.

Signs Corporation Bill

Albany, May 27.—Governor Lehman has approved the Kleinfeld bill prohibiting the formation of a membership corporation including the name of a political party without consent of the chairman of the county committee of such party, or the use as a corporate title of the name of any living person without permission of such person.

This new law would prohibit the formation of a "Jean Harlow" or "Mae West" club or association without the written permission of the persons whose names are to be used.

Drama for FitzPatrick

Hollywood, May 27.—James F. FitzPatrick will dramatize all future FitzPatrick Traveltalks for M-G-M, using folklore and music of the localities filmed.

Improving Theatres

Omaha, May 27.—Ralph Goldberg of the Goldberg Theatre Corp. is spending approximately $80,000 for improvements on his string of downtown and suburban houses here.

CBS Will Put Shakespeare's Plays on Air

The most ambitious series of dramatic productions in the history of radio drama (an often misused phrase, but in this instance a true one) was disclosed yesterday by CBS. The series is to be the first major radio production of Shakespearean plays, to be produced during the months of July and August. Ranking artists of stage and screen are to be featured in the productions.

The plays will be offered weekly in a series of eight full-hour productions on a night time schedule as yet to be announced.

Brewster Morgan, Shakespearean director and formerly of England's Oxford Theatre, will produce the series. The dramas will include radioized versions of "Hamlet," "Macbeth," "King Lear," "Twelfth Night," "As You Like It," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Henry IV" and "Much Ado About Nothing."

The network is now negotiating with stage and screen players for the productions. It is understood that several already have been signed, but until the full complement of actors has been secured for the series, CBS prefers not to make public their identity.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Greet WPA

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will greet traveling units of WPA Actors June 1, from 11:15 to 11:30 P.M., E.D.S.T., over CBS. June 1 marks the opening of WPA troupe tours throughout the land. The trucks in which the companies will tour will be equipped with special loud speakers to enable the audiences which have witnessed the plays to hear Mrs. Roosevelt's address. Her talk will be titled "The Curbstone Theatre."

Buccaneers Start Series

The Buccaneers Quartet have started production on a series of 50 recordings to be heard over Canadian stations under the sponsorship of the Imperial Tobacco Co. The recordings are being made by the NBC transcription department. The talent was booked by the network's artists service.

Starr Assigned by WMCA

WMCA has assigned Martin Starr, the station's screen reviewer and assistant dramatic critic, to the job of covering openings of leading summer stock companies in the New York area.

LaGuardia Mediates On Moses' NBC Deal

The special events rumpus current in radio has now embroiled NBC in an argument with the city administration, with Mayor LaGuardia stepping in yesterday as mediator between Park Commissioner Moses and Frederick J. H. Kracke, Commissioner of Plants and Structures.

The debate has been brought about through the granting of exclusive broadcasting rights to the Randalls Island track meet to NBC. Commissioner Moses authorized the granting of the rights to NBC. The meet, that of the I.A.A.A., is to be held today and tomorrow.

Commissioner Kracke has complained that this automatically bars the municipal station, WNYC, from the field, and violates an agreement made by Moses a year ago.

Mayor LaGuardia announced he would confer with all commercial broadcasting companies and propose that whenever they handle a contract with a city department that WNYC should be automatically included.

Whether or not WNYC will carry the broadcast along with NBC is not known at the moment. Neither is it known exactly how much money the network paid for the exclusive rights to the event.

NBC Library Adds Clients

New subscribers who have contracted for the NBC Thesaurus Library Service include: WIS, Columbia, N. C.; WCSU, Charlotte, N. C.; KICA, Clovis, N. M., and KMJ, Fresno, Cal. WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va., has renewed the service for the second year.

Alkine Takes Program

Alkine Laboratories have contracted for the "Make Believe Ballroom" on WNEW, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, from 7:15 to 7:30 P.M. The contract, for 16 weeks, was placed through the Schillin Adv. Corp.

WCKY Seeks Talent

Cincinnati, May 27. — WCKY will conduct a talent search over a period of 10 weeks, starting June 8. The awards will total $350 for the best acts.

The contest will be held in cooperation with the Liberty Theatre, Covington, Ky., which will give a prize of $200 for the best act, $100 for the second, and $50 for the third.

Big Hookup Set on Preview of Picture

Detroit, May 27. — The largest combination of stations in the state's history has been arranged for the special half-hour radio preview of the picture, "I Met Him in Paris," to be presented this Sunday at 12:30 P.M. A special cast will do the re-enactments.

Every station in Detroit, plus the seven outside stations of the Michigan network, will broadcast the program. WXYZ, key station of the network, will feed the show in Detroit to stations WWJ, WJR, WJBK and WMBC. Stations of the network will be WBCM, Bay City; WFDF, Flint; WIBM, Jackson; WELL, Battle Creek; WJIM, Lansing; WKZO, Kalamazoo, and WOOD-WASH, Grand Rapids.

Plan Memorial Day Program

Chicago, May 27.—"Today's Children," one of the oldest shows in radio, will have a special Memorial Day program, starring Joan Blaine, the former Mary Marlin. Miss Blaine is making a special trip back from New York for the program. This is the first time this feature has ever picked for its use a starring name from the outside.

Radio Personals

FRANK RUSSELL, NBC, vice-president in Washington, D. C., is in New York for a brief stay . . . Jules Seebach, WOR program director, leaves today for a three-week vacation in Georgia. A wag at the station said yesterday that Seebach was going to Georgia to absorb color for a crack at the role of Rhett Butler, of "Gone with the Wind" . . . George Griffin and Jean Ellington will appear as guests on the Hudson River Day Line program for the second time, tonight . . . Margaret Johnson, radio's "Honeychile," has been signed under CBS artists service management. Albert Schneider of the network handled the negotiations . . .

with the Guild agreeing either to accept into membership any employe engaged by CBS or to waive this requirement of membership.

A scale of wages extending over a period of years is provided and immediate salary increases were granted. Additionally, announcers are to receive fees for commercial broadcasts, and pay for vacations and during periods of illness are to be continued in accordance with CBS's existing policy. Arbitration under the rules of the American Arbitration Society is provided for.

Meanwhile, the WMCA chapter of the Guild has not yet been recognized by the company, although negotiations are being carried on. Langham expressed confidence, however, in a similar Guild victory there.

The CBS Guild victory is likely to have far reaching consequences in radio, locally and nationally.

To Drop Two Programs

"Tell Us Your Story," sponsored by the J. B. Ford Co. and heard over a split CBS network Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 2 to 2:15 P. M., E.D.S.T., will not be renewed beyond its present contracted period, which runs out next month. N. W. Ayer & Son is the agency.

Another N. W. Ayer program, "Ma and Pa," sponsored by the Atlantic Refining Co., heard on CBS Mondays through Fridays from 7:15 to 7:30 P. M., E.D.S.T., will also be discontinued next month.

G. M. Off for Summer

The General Motors Concerts, heard Sundays at 8 P.M., E.D.S.T., on the NBC-Blue, will leave the network for the summer period at the conclusion of its present contract period, believed to be next month.

O'Keefe to Replace Allen

Young and Rubicam's official confirmation of the signing of Walter O'Keefe to replace Fred Allen in "Town Hall Tonight" caused no surprise, for the story has been generally accepted for the past few weeks. O'Keefe will take over July 7.

To Reenact "Kid Galahad"

Edward G. Robinson and Bette Davis, featured in "Kid Galahad," will re-enact their celluloid roles on the air June 4, from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T., when they will appear in "Hollywood Hotel" over CBS.

New WXYZ Tower Is Placed in Operation

DETROIT, May 27.—WXYZ's new vertical radiator antenna has been completed and placed in operation.

Designed and constructed under the supervision of Lynne C. Smeby, engineering supervisor of the station, it is the second highest structure in the city, standing 474 feet above the ground. It is located on the roof of the Maccabees Bldg.

Measurements made since the completion of the tower show that the total power of WXYZ has been raised three times due to the increased efficiency over the old tower.

The King-Trendle Corp. owns the station. H. Allan Campbell is general manager.

Gulf Re-Signs Baker For Another Series

The Gulf Gas Co. has signed Phil Baker for a new series of Sunday night sessions over CBS during the 1937-'38 seasons. The contract renewal marks the third successive year Baker has broadcast under the Gulf Gas banner.

The new contract is for 39 weeks, from October, 1937, through June, 1938. It is understood also that Gulf holds options on Baker's services until 1940.

The agency is Young and Rubicam. The Gulf programs are heard Sundays on CBS, from 7:30 to 8 P. M., E.D.S.T. Baker will leave the program shortly for the summer months, with a replacement program carrying on until his return in the fall.

personnel were present, in addition to about 50 executives from various parts of the country. Attending were Ned E. Depinet, RKO president; Joe Weil, Universal exploitation director; Monroe Greenthal, advertising and publicity director of United Artists; Claude Ezell, Republic franchise holder in Texas, and Y. Frank Freeman, vice-president of Paramount in charge of theatre operations.

Considerable attention at the meeting was given to technical problems, including ventilation, sound projection and construction. Hoblitzelle told the men that all employes will receive three weeks' vacation with pay, and expressed the opinion that third dimension projection would follow sound as one of the screen's greatest developments. He praised the great strides made in color films.

Speaker List Complete

The speakers included Jack Knight, general maintenance manager for Paramount; E. J. Solon, Interstate comptroller; Kinney S. Mallory, tax and insurance expert; Lafe Pfeiffer, in charge of concessions, a new department in the organization; Raymond Willie, in charge of small city operations; Besa Short, in charge of short subject booking; Jake Elder, chief maintenance man; Elmer Zrenner, sound projection engineer; Robert Wilby of Birmingham, E. V. Richards of New Orleans and M. A. Lightman of Memphis.

The most important addresses were made by Hoblitzelle, R. J. O'Donnell, vice-president and general manager; Frank O. Starz, circuit publicity and advertising director; John R. Maroney, legal adviser; Porter K. Johnston, head booker, and Jeff J. Strickland, member of the legal staff.

Usually held in Dallas, the convention was changed to Galveston this year in order that managers might attend the theatre opening and also enjoy the diversions of the island resort between sessions.

Film Guests at Opening

"I Met Him in Paris" was selected as the film for the theatre opening. Among those who attended as guests were Freeman, Neil F. Agnew, sales executive, and Bob Gillham, advertising head of Paramount Pictures, Inc.; Gradwell Sears, vice president and general sales director of Warner Bros. and First National; Depinet, Weill, E. V. Richards, head of the Saenger theatre circuit; Vernon Adams of New York and many others connected with various phases of the motion picture business.

Opening festivities tonight were brief. Frank C. Starz, publicity director for the Interstate Circuit, introduced Adrian F. Levy, mayor of Galveston, who in turn introduced Robert J. O'Donnell, vice president and general manager of the Interstate Circuit, Inc. Mr. O'Donnell paid tribute to A. Martini, veteran theatre operator and Galveston city manager, under whose direction the new theatre was built. Mr. Martini responded briefly and Karl Hoblitzelle, president of the circuit, also spoke.

E. M. Asher Re-Signed

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—E. M. Asher, producer, has been given a new two-year contract by Universal. His next will be "Too Clever to Live."

Permanent Theatre Group Is Suggested

scales and the quality of plays sent out.

Despite the fact that the convention was well attended throughout its four days, some directors of the council expressed regret that so little of a tangible nature resulted. The opinion was advanced that if some of the stage's luminaries had devoted more of their time to a consideration of the ills and needs of the legitimate theatre and less to criticism of Hollywood, more might have been accomplished. Hollywood, however, did have its full quota of champions among the legitimate theatre people and not a few suggested that the stage had much to learn from the greater success and popularity of the younger art.

M. H. Aylesworth, former chairman of RKO and now a member of the advisory committee of Scripps-Howard newspapers, added his name to the latter group at yesterday's sessions. Aylesworth advised the stage folk to stop worrying about films and, instead, take a lesson from them when attempting to revive the "road."

"Provide Comfortable Theatres"

"Provide comfortable, well ventilated theatres, as the motion picture industry does, and don't fill them with third-rate merchandise," he advised.

John Golden, producer, declared that the worst enemy of the theatres is the people in it, not Hollywood. Declaring that there was too much discord and short-sightedness among theatre elements he pleaded for better understanding and cooperation. It was announced at the meeting that Golden would cooperate with the Dramatists' Guild in providing scholarships for dependent playwrights by contributing five scholarships of $1,000 each "to keep the playwright from selling his soul back to Hollywood."

Representative William I. Sirovich of New York told the convention that he would ask Congress for a subsidy for the theatre.

The convention closed with a midnight supper last night.

"Fifty Roads" Is Omaha's Best Bet

OMAHA, May 27.—Backed by a strong publicity blast, "Fifty Roads to Town" and Major Bowes' All-Girl Revue rang the bell at the Orpheum last week to the tune of $12,000, or $4,800 better than average.

"A Star Is Born," paired with "Her Husband Lies," was strong at the Omaha on a four-day carryover, grossing $5,100. Seven-day average is $5,500.

"Shall We Dance?" one of the few single feature bills to click in Omaha in years, failed to hold its first week's pace at the Brandeis yet garnered $3,800. Average is $4,000.

Stiffest competition of the week was the one-night stand of "Idiot's Delight," which played a full house at $2.65 top at the Paramount.

Total first run business was: $20,900. Average is $16,700.

Estimated takings:

20th-Fox Men Due Tomorrow At Convention

More Than 300 Expected For Coast Sessions

Los Angeles, May 28.—More than 300 delegates from all over the world will arrive here Sunday on four different trains for the largest convention 20th Century-Fox has ever held. Every department will be represented, including sales, production, purchasing, accounting, legal, ad sales, newsreels, shorts, bookings and theatres.

With the arrival of the out-of-town delegates Sunday, the men will have the day to themselves for golfing and visiting various points of interest. The first business session will start Monday morning at 9:30 promptly when Jack Sichelman, assistant to John D. Clark, general sales manager, will call the meeting to order. Clark will then welcome the conventionites in a short speech and introduce Walter J. Hutchinson, foreign manager, who will address the gathering and present Clarence V. Hake, foreign drive leader, and other personnel from far points of the globe.

Sol Lesser will follow the foreign

Simon Loses Chance

Hollywood, May 28.—Sylvan Simon, test director for Universal, was to appear as himself in Universal's "Going Places" short, "A screen test." Someone on the lot remembered that the Screen Actors' Guild contract specifies that everyone appearing before the cameras must be a guild member, so Charles Brokaw, actor, was signed for the role of Simon.

Two of RKO's Lease Claims Get Big Cuts

Pared from $9,300,000 to $1,250,000

Negotiations for settlement of theatre lease claims which were filed against RKO by Karl Hoblitzelle interests and Walter Reade's Broadway & 47th St. Corp. in an original amount aggregating more than $9,300,000 were concluded yesterday. Stipulations were entered into by the Irving Trust Co., reorganization trustee for RKO, and the claimants for the compromise and allowance of the claims at an aggregate $1,250,000.

A petition asking that a hearing be set on the proposed settlements will be filed with the U. S. District Court here today by Donovan, Leisure, Newton & Lumbard, counsel to the RKO trustee. If approved by the court, the proposed settlements will eliminate the two largest theatre lease claims, exclusive of the Rockefeller Center claim, which were filed against RKO in the company's reorganization proceedings.

The Hoblitzelle claims were brought by the Hoblitzelle Corp., Hoblitzelle Realty Co. and Hoblitzelle Investment

Bondholders' Group Approves Roxy Plan

Daniel W. Blumenthal, counsel for the Adler first mortgage bondholders protective committee yesterday submitted briefs to Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey in which he stated that his committee favored the proposed amended plan of reorganization for the Roxy. Blumenthal declared that the Adler committee had originally opposed the plan, but that provision for an increase in the interest rate and amortization led to approval.

Blumenthal said that 20th Century-

Writers Get Apology

Hollywood, May 28.—First cases of writer-producer difficulties under the new Screen Playwrights', Inc., code were settled when RKO and M-G-M apologized to the playwrights and the individual writers for omitting from trade paper and billboard advertising on pictures the names of the scripters.

The pictures were M-G-M's "Captains Courageous" and RKO's "Shall We Dance?"

The billboards and the advertisements had been made up before the final determination of the writing credits.

Television Talk Ends SMPE Meet

Hollywood, May 28. — Television will borrow from the screen in its early stages, will develop its own technique as it advances, and will pay back to the screen in devices and methods which will lend themselves to adaptation in Hollywood, R. R. Beal. research supervisor for RCA, told delegates to the Society of M.P. Engineers convention at the closing session here tonight.

Beal declared his belief that television, like sound broadcasting, would

Allied Draws New Circuit Tax Measure

Asks Fees from 5 Cents to $5 Per Seat

By RED KANN

Milwaukee, May 28.—The defense committee of Allied States met last night at convention headquarters at the Hotel Pfister and drew up a draft of a chain theatre tax bill. The measure provides for the licensing of theatres and the collection of fees ranging from five cents to $5 per seat, and would levy the tax in direct proportion to the number of seats owned, the greater the number of seats the higher the tax rate.

The bill would affect independent circuits as well as producer-affiliated theatres, but in states where there are few producer-owned houses the tax would be less than in states where the producer circuits had larger theatre holdings.

The defense committee also decided to "carry on" and fight for a Congressional investigation of the industry, passage of House bill No. 160, passage of more theatre divorce bills and chain theatre tax bills.

Al Steffes took the floor at the closing session this morning and advocated a meeting of the Allied defense committee with the producers and "not their hirelings such as Hays, Pettijohn and the like, but with Zukor, Balaban, Schenck, etc." The members gave their unanimous approval to the defense committe plan to get such a conference together at

Sheehans Leave for Coast

With definite plans for engaging in production again next season, Winfield Sheehan, accompanied by his wife, Maria Jeritza, left for the coast yesterday after more than two weeks in New York. Sheehan declined to discuss his plans, asserting that "there is nothing to report at this time." He said that he had acquired several story properties while here and planned to return to New York during the summer.

Music Still Goes 'Round

Negotiations between the Songwriters' Protective Ass'n and the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n over the former's declared intention of reclaiming synchronizing and recording rights to the music of its members were adjourned to Tuesday after an indecisive session yesterday. Various compromise proposals have been advanced by both sides without an agreement having been reached yet.

Just Blasting

Ottawa, May 28.—F. C. Badgley, director of the Canadian Government's Motion Picture Bureau, wondered what offence he had committed in some recent official film when his office was damaged by an explosion. Quick investigation revealed, however, that the bureau was somewhat upset by blasting operations on the nearby site of the new French Legation, rocks being hurled through the windows by the letting off of heavy charges.

Harry Lauder Casts An Eye Over Films

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Sir Harry Lauder, who began making his famous series of "American farewell appearance tours" when the picture industry was in its diapers, is now doing his canny best to crash the films.

Garnering more space in the dailies here than any other visitor locally since President Roosevelt's stay some years ago, Lauder has managed to keep a running barrage of stories in the newspapers, and is getting plenty of art showing him in his kilts. He arrived several days ago and a cocktail party was given for the press. Lauder was there in all his glory, but told everyone he was not paying for it. The press, however, didn't.

He signed a managerial contract with the William Morris agency. Last Sunday he appeared on a 15-minute sponsored program as a guest star.

At present he is visiting the studios, making it quite plain to all who talk to him that he is interested in signing a contract.

Fred Lange Due Monday

Fred Lange, continental European manager for Paramount, will arrive on the Normandie Monday to attend the company's annual sales meeting. After home office conferences next week he will leave for the coast with the company's foreign department contingent, which will include George Weltner, assistant to John W. Hicks, vice-president; John Day, Paramount South American division manager, and Albert Deane, foreign publicity head.

Hicks will arrive from Europe June 7 on the Queen Mary, with Barney Balaban, Paramount president. Neither will attend the company's sales convention which will open in Los Angeles, June 10.

N. S. S. Buys on Coast

HOLLYWOOD, May 28. — National Screen Service has purchased a one-story building and a vacant lot at Sycamore Ave. and Santa Monica Boulevard and will move its plant to the new location after the existing building has been remodeled and a new one built.

Seek End of Seven ITOA Dues Actions

A motion to remove seven actions for back dues brought by the I. T. O. A. against Gotham Amusement Corp., H. M. Amusement Corp., La Salle Amusement Corp., Hancock Theatres Corp., B. B. C. Amusement Corp., Har-Mar Amusement Corp. and the Marvin Amusement Corp. from the Third District Municipal Court to the N. Y. Supreme Court will be heard by Justice Ferdinand Pecora on Tuesday in connection with the Supreme Court suit brought by Gotham and others against the I. T. O. A., Allied M. P. Operators' Union and Local 306.

Gotham is asking that the 1937 contract between Allied, Local 306 and the I. T. O. A. be declared void because of the alleged failure of the board of directors to ratify the agreement and also wishes that the question of the $967 back dues be decided in the same suit. Supreme Court Justice Isidore Wasservogel on the same day will hear the motion of Joseph D. Basson, president of Local 306, to dismiss Gotham's complaint. A similar motion made by Harry Glover, president of Allied, was granted last week, but permission was given to serve an amended complaint.

G. N. Signs "Lab" Pact

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—Grand National has signed a contract with International Cinema Laboratories giving it all laboratory work over which Grand National has control. With 65 pictures scheduled for 1937-'38, the contract will amount to a sizable figure. Consolidated had been doing most of the work heretofore.

Fulton Wins Contest

DES MOINES, May 28.—Robert K. Fulton, manager of Tri-States theatres in Waterloo, Ia., and acting manager of the Paramount there, has been awarded a week's stay in Hollywood as the guest of Adolph Zukor for winning first prize of the Tri-States theatre managers' 17-week Adolph Zukor drive.

once, but advocated continuing with the present plans for legislation without cessation.

The group also adopted a resolution vigorously protesting unfair radio competition, such as the appearances of picture stars on radio broadcasts.

Nathan Yamins, president, in closing declared this had been the largest Allied convention and that more had been done for the good of the members than at any other meeting.

Steffes said the chain theatre bill would be proposed in the Minnesota legislature within two weeks and that other state legislatures probably would get similar measures soon.

The board of directors of Columbia Pictures yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents per share on the common stock and voting trust certificates, payable June 22 to holders of record at the close of business on June 11.

Pathe Declares Dividend

Pathe Film Corp. has declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the $7 convertible preferred stock. It is payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 22.

Two of RKO's Lease Claims Get Big Cuts

Co. They were based on defaulted leases made by RKO Southern and guaranteed by the parent corporation. Special Master Thomas D. Thacher allowed the claims for an aggregate $492,417, exclusive of any treatment for the disallowed balance of the claims which might be obtained under an RKO reorganization plan.

Under the provisions of Section 77-B of the Bankruptcy Laws which permit claims for three years' rent on defaulted leases, the Hoblitzelle claims would have amounted to $1,393,036. The proposed settlement of the claims is for $750,000.

The Broadway & 47th St. claim was filed originally for $1,893,983 for a default on the RKO lease on the Mayfair. It was allowed by Thacher at $400,000, likewise exclusive of any treatment for the disallowed balance which might be obtained under a reorganization plan. The claimant had indicated that it would appeal from the court allowance. Under the three-year 77-B limitation the claim would have amounted to approximately $890,000. The proposed settlement is for $500,000.

If approved by the court, both claims would be treated as those of general creditors under the RKO reorganization plan. The plan proposes to offer such creditors one share of new RKO preferred stock and one share of common for each $100 of claims. Thus, under the settlement, Hoblitzelle would receive 7,500 shares of new RKO preferred and a like number of new common, and Reade would receive 5,000 shares of each.

Bondholders' Group Approves Roxy Move

Fox had made an "extra plan provision" of $1 per share for Class A stockholders of Roxy upon the insistence of Special Master Addison S. Pratt. It was also stated that although the committee had desired further changes he became convinced as the hearings progressed that if the 20th Century-Fox offer were withdrawn the result might be detrimental to first mortgage bondholders.

Pollak, Marks Motion Up

Justice Ferdinand Pecora will hear a motion for a bill of particulars in the N. Y. Supreme Court on Tuesday in the suit of Olympic Pictures Corp. against Adolph Pollak and M. A. Marks who operate as Pollak & Marks. Olympic claims $3,792 damages due under a $6,000 contract made in April, 1936, for the exclusive distribution of "Gay Love." The defendants have counterclaimed for the return of $2,328 which they paid on account because of alleged misrepresentation by the plaintiff.

The defendants charge that Olympic told them that "Gay Love" had never been exhibited to the M. P. P. D. A. for a production code seal although such exhibition had allegedly taken place and a seal denied unless considerable deletions were made.

Looking 'Em Over

"Under the Red Robe"

(New World-20th Century-Fox)

The tale of a swashbuckling soldier of fortune in the days of the power of Cardinal Richelieu in France, and of his swift romance while engaged in a dangerous mission for the ruthless Cardinal, this Robert T. Kane production for the 20th Century-Fox English producing subsidiary has a few drawbacks to ready reception in this country, and other features which should more than compensate for them.

Starring are three names which are perhaps not too well known among the run of patrons in this country, but which indicate excellent performances. Conrad Veidt is the adventurer, Annabella the subject of his affection and Raymond Massey the highhanded Cardinal Richelieu. The performance of Romney Brent as Veidt's faithful and amusing servant is noteworthy.

Adapted by Lajos Biro, Philip Lindsay and J. L. Hodson from the novel by Stanley J. Weyman, the story opens with the condemnation to death of Veidt by the Cardinal despite long and valuable service because of dueling, banned by Richelieu. At the last moment he is given his life if he can bring about the arrest of the leader of an incipient rebellion. With Brent, he makes his hazardous way to the rebel duke's castle, mistakes his sister, Annabella, for his wife, and falls in love with her. Completing his mission through active sequences, he frees the duke, and returns to Paris to take the penalty of failure. But with the rebellion ended by the duke's promise to leave, the Cardinal pardons Veidt and the couple are united. Victor Seastrom's direction is of high caliber.

Cullen Awaits Green Statement

HOLLYWOOD, May 28. — William Cullen, president of the F.M.P.C., on his return today from the A.F.L. executive council meeting in Cincinnati, told MOTION PICTURE DAILY that he is expecting word momentarily from William Green and the A.F.L. council which would definitely open the way for the ending of the strike on Tuesday and a return to work Wednesday. Cullen called the executive committee into session upon his arrival for a complete discussion of the position and details.

Academy Actors Quit Code

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—The actors branch of the Academy today formally notified producers that it is signing the Academy free lance actor code, that it is withdrawing from the actor code supervision in favor of the Actors' Guild contract and asked unanimous abrogation of the code. This is believed to be the first of the moves to take the Academy entirely out of the economics field and to retain it as a purely social and technical study organization.

Union Bill Defeated

BOSTON, May 28.—The Massachusetts House has defeated by a roll call vote of 120 to 104 the bill to require labor unions to incorporate, to keep books and to restrain union representatives from coercing workers.

Mulvey, Silverstone East

Rob't Welsh Resigns As General Producer

HOLLYWOOD, May 28. — Robert E. Welsh today resigned as executive producer with General Pictures and settled his three-year contract after a dispute on the grade of pictures planned. Fenn Kimball, president, named Robert Deming to succeed Welsh, under whom one picture, "Three Legionnaires," was made. Deming was formerly with Fox and for the last two years produced and directed in India. His first assignment will be "Night Edition."

It is understood that Welsh held out for higher negative cost films and that General would not meet his demands.

Ask Action on Fox Contempt of Court

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—A request for the speeding up of the contempt proceedings against Eva Fox, wife of William Fox, and Herbert Leitsteen, Fox family bookkeeper, has been filed in U. S. Circuit Court here by John Llyoyd, Jr., counsel for Fox creditors.

The two defendants had refused to testify in the New Jersey bankruptcy proceedings against Fox. They have appealed from the order of Judge John Boyd Avis of Camden, who held them in contempt.

Sharaf Brookline Winner

BOSTON, May 28.—Maurice Sharaf has been given a permit to build a theatre in theatreless Brookline Village, climaxing a long legal and political struggle by some half-dozen film concerns. Sharaf runs the Coolidge Corner in Brookline proper.

leaders prepared to push a joint legal and legislative drive against tax evaders.

Sponsored by President Roosevelt, to whom Administration officials had submitted data which, it was said, demonstrated that the tax evasions of the rich were responsible for the failure of revenues to meet expectations by some $400,000,000. The campaign will include both prosecutions by the Dep't of Justice and legislation designed to bar further use of devices which have been uncovered by Government men.

For the present, it is expected the drive will be confined to personal incomes, since insufficient time has elapsed for the studying of corporation returns filed last March under the new corporation levies. Later, however, it was indicated, practices followed by some of the country's largest corporations to reduce their tax liability will be examined.

Films Act Draft to Trade Units June 8

F.B.I. It is understood the new bill will contain certain provisions which were not suggested by any of the trade groups.

Verbal accounts of Wednesday's conference with the trade bodies' representatives by Dr. Leslie Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, indicate that the suggestion for restrictions on imports definitely was rejected, but significance is seen in Burgin's statement to distributors that their percentage under the quota must be less in the future.

Fourteen "A" Films Among Republic 54

Four of 14 Are Planned For Percentage

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—J. J. Milstein, general sales manager of Republic, tomorrow will announce a minimum of 14 "A" pictures on the company's schedule of 54 features and four serials next season to franchise holders gathered at the Roosevelt Hotel. Four of the 14 will be percentage pictures and the other 10 will be the middle bracket films.

Listed as percentage pictures are Four Anniversary Specials, comprising "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," "Wagons Westward," "Hit Parade of 1938" and "All Hands on Deck." The middle group is classified as the Jubilee 10 and will include "The Racket Buster," "Come On, Leathernecks," "Stormy Weather," "The Return of Raffles," "Navy Bride," "Born to Be Wild," "Hollywood Band Wagon," "Meet the Duchess," "The Smart Guy," and "All American Girl."

It was pointed out today by Milstein that all titles are subject to change, but every effort will be made to retain the original names as sold.

Wednesday's sessions will be in the National's Product Deals Now in Work

Details on RKO and Columbia product deals for next season are expected to be completed this week by National Theatres' film buyers. Harry Cohen, western division manager, is working out deal sheets with J. J. Sullivan for F. W. C. and Lon Cox for Fox Midwest. Jerome Safron, western division sales head for Columbia, is also discussing terms with Sullivan and Cox.

Four Rogers Reissues Set By 20th-Fox

52 of 69 to Be Produced At Coast Studio

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Among the 69 features John D. Clark, vice-president in charge of distribution, will announce to the 20th Century-Fox delegates from all over the world in convention here at the Ambassador tomorrow will be four Will Rogers revivals. They are "Handy Andy," "The County Chairman," "Judge Priest" and "Life Begins at 40."

During the current season a like number of Rogers' films were reissued and grossed more than $1,000,000 for the company. "The Connecticut Yankee" is said to have taken in the most money, estimated at $350,000.

Included in the 65 remaining pictures will be 52 features to be produced at Movietone City, "Borneo," the Martin Johnsons' travel film, four New World films to be supervised by Robert T. Kane in England, two Tarzan specials and four outdoor action pictures from Sol Lesser, independent producer, and two Eddie Cantor specials, one of which will be "Ali Baba Goes to Town." Shirley Temple is expected to be starred in three films.

Warners Increasing New Jersey Circuit

Warners are gradually building up their New Jersey string of theatres, having recently acquired the Rahway, Rahway, and today will assume operation of four I. A. Roth houses. The new group which will come under Warner management are the Madison, Madison; Jersey and Park, Morristown, and Strand, Summit.

All the Roth houses bear his name on the marque. Warners are expected to drop the Roth name for their own.

Signs Ehrlich Bill

Albany, May 31.—Governor Lehman has approved the Ehrlich bill permitting cities and villages outside New York City to adopt ordinances allowing unaccompanied children to attend film theatres, providing they are segregated and a matron is in charge.

Last year the legislature enacted a law permitting the privilege in New York City. The Ehrlich bill extends this privilege to the other cities and villages of the state.

Production Levels Unchanged with 40

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Production activity continues on an even keel in spite of the strike. Forty features were in work at the end of the week, the same as during the previous week.

Six films were started during the week and six finished. Fourteen are about ready to start and 78 are in the cutting rooms.

The new starters during the week were: "She Didn't Want a Sheik," Republic; "Life of the Party," RKO; "Danger—Love at Work," 20th Century-Fox; "That's My Story," Universal; "52nd Street," Wanger, and "Alcatraz Island," Warners.

Columbia had one shooting, three in preparation and nine editing; Goldwyn had three, zero, zero; M-G-M', five, two and four; Paramount, eight, four and 10; Republic, one, one and six; RKO, two, two and six; Roach, one, zero and one; Selznick, zero, zero and one; 20th Century-Fox, eight, one and eight; Universal, two, zero and three; Wanger, two, zero and one; Warners, seven, one and 29.

In the short subject division 13 were being edited, 12 were in preparation and one was shooting. Columbia had one preparing four editing; M-G-M had none shooting, eight preparing and six editing. RKO had one shooting, two preparing and three editing; Roach had one in preparation. Warners had none in work or preparation.

Huge Film Sales in China Coming, Says Morey Marcus

Plans of the Chinese government for opening the vast and populous interior of that country with railroads and electrical service in the future will provide an unpredictable opportunity for the expansion of theatres and films in the Orient, Morey Marcus, M-G-M manager for China, who is in New York on his first visit to the States in four years, said yesterday.

The immense, untapped territory in the interior, with its hundreds of millions of population, is regarded by American film distributors in the

Industry Fair Trade Plan Is Facing Delays

Administration Said to Favor Wage Law Study

There is small prospect of an industry fair trade practice program being realized for another year, in the opinion of industry observers, as a result of weekend advices from Washington that no trade practice legislation will be introduced during the present session of Congress.

The M.P.T.O.A. recently stated that it was abandoning its efforts to obtain the adoption of its 10-point trade practice program in the belief that an Administration program for industry would be introduced and enacted before Congress adjourns. It was explained that local conciliation boards, which are proposed in the M.P.T.O.A. program and on which seven of the exhibitor organization's 10 points are dependent, would be superseded, almost as soon as they could be organized, by Government boards set up to administer new trade practice codes for industry.

Despite the fact that informed Washington opinion now holds that the Administration will not launch trade practice legislation, a draft of which is said to be virtually completed, until the 1938 session of Congress, it is problematical whether the M.P.T.O.A. will again proceed with

Huge Film Sales in China Coming, Says Morey Marcus

Orient as a potentially fertile field for Hollywood's wares, which are now barred by the absence of transportation systems and electrical service.

China's 300 sound theatres are limited to the large coastal cities. They are flourishing at the present time, Marcus said, with admission scales ranging from 20 to 90 cents, American currency. Political conditions are fairly well settled in China at this time, he reported, and business there since the early part of the year is the best it has been in the past four years. Political conditions are an accurate barometer to business conditions in China, Marcus explained. A government crisis will effect an almost complete stoppage of trade, he said, with theatre business among those which are the most sensitive to political disturbances. With a crisis once past, however, the Chinaman will "go to town" with a fervor, by way of celebration, which comes close to making up for his period of depression and caution.

American distributors, despite the fact that Hollywood product is played in Chinese theatres in approximately the same proportion to the films of other nations as is the rule in the United States, are not plagued either by monetary or legislative restrictions, Marcus asserted. Censorship, too, is on a fair basis, he said, with few official objections being raised to anything which is not offensive to nationalism.

Most of the metropolitan theatres, he said, present original versions in English. Theatres in overwhelmingly native sections present the same versions but also project a synopsis in Chinese, authored by the exhibitor, in a smaller frame to one side of the screen.

Marcus plans to remain in the east on a combined business and vacation trip for about three months.

Industry Fair Trade Plan Is Facing Delays

its program, local officials of the organization believe.

Failure to introduce the new trade practices legislation at this session of Congress is attributed to the belief of some Administration officials that the wage and hour measure should be enacted and its operation studied first. When the effects of the wage and hour legislation have become apparent, any defects which may develop could be corrected by provisions added to the trade practice program for industries in interstate commerce, it was pointed out. The latter would follow the same constitutional principles as the pending labor legislation does, and the prior judicial determination of the wage and hour measure would also serve as a guide for the fair trade practice legislation in its final form, it is said.

To Suggest Meeting

The contemplated trade practice program will propose that the Commerce Department meet with representatives of individual industries to draft fair trade codes. Code provisions could not be dictated by the department, but any proposals regarded as being against the public interest could be vetoed by it. The Federal Trade Commission would be empowered to enforce the agreements through the issuance of cease and desist orders.

Separation of the wage and hour measure from the fair trade practice program is also believed to have been decided by an Administration study of NRA experience which is said to have shown that the Recovery Administration suffered from too broad and too diversified a field of operation.

Trans-Lux to Raise Its Total to Twelve

With two new units scheduled to open in the fall, the Trans-Lux expansion program provides for another six houses which will bring the total to 12 by the end of the year. Two houses are being operated in New York, one in Philadelphia and another in Washington at the present. The two fall openings will be at 85th St. and Madison Ave. and in Washington Square.

Negotiations are being completed for two out-of-town sites which are expected to be concluded in a few weeks. Leslie E. Thompson is president and Arthur Mayer, operator of the Rialto on Broadway, is associated with the company.

300 delegates found various places of interest to visit while others played golf and went sightseeing. Four different trains converged here with conventionites from all parts of the country. The foreign contingent accompanied the home office and eastern sales forces.

All delegates assembled in the Fiesta Room at the Ambassador Hotel at 9:30 this morning when the first business session was called to order by Jack Sichelman, assistant to Clark. A welcoming address was made by Clark, who then introduced Walter J. Hutchinson, foreign manager, who discussed conditions abroad and commented on the splendid results of the foreign sales force. Hutchinson recently returned from Paris where he conducted a convention of the European staffs. Clarence V. Hake, foreign drive leader; R. Sutton Dawes, managing director of sales in England; T. Isdahl, in charge of Norway; Luigi Giordano, manager in Egypt and also handling Palestine; Armand Paucker, Roumania; and Stanley S. Crick, Australian managing director, were presented and spoke briefly.

Lesser Talks Product, Drive

Sol Lesser outlined plans for his six features and also thanked the field men for their support in the recent drive for which he contributed special prizes.

The three division managers were next. William Sussman, eastern; William J. Kupper, western, and William C. Gehring, central, took the floor in the order named.

Truman H. Talley, vice-president and producer of Movietonews, and his staff, comprising Lowell Thomas, commentator; Edmund Reek, general manager; Harry Lawrenson, foreign editor; Ed Thorgersen, sports announcer; and Lew Lehr, humorist, discussed every angle in the production of the semi-weekly issues of the newsreel. Talley said that the Technicolor films exclusively taken by Movietonews of the Coronation are the finest pictures he has ever seen. William J. Clark, sales manager for the news and short subjects, talked about the coming season's distribution plans.

Cash Awards Presented

Earle W. Hammons, president, and Jack Skirball, general manager of Educational, concluded the short subject part of the program.

Just before the afternoon session broke up, Gehring and James P. O'Loghlin, Canadian district manager, presented cash awards to the winners of the fourth S. R. Kent drive. O'Loghlin, who is drive leader for next season, outlined what he expected of the sales force in the new campaign. In the evening, two features were shown in the theatre at the hotel.

The second morning, tomorrow, will be turned over to Col. Jason Joy, public relations director, who will go into detail on the 52 films to be produced at Movietone City. Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production, has been alloted the entire afternoon during which he is expected to introduce every personality at the studio. His talk and introductions will be one of the highlights of the meet.

Sales policy and other details in connection with the distribution of next season's product will be taken up by Clark on Wednesday morning. He will be followed by Charles E. McCarthy, publicity and advertising director, who will talk on both subjects. Harry Brand, studio publicity chief, will be next. Herman Wobber, western district manager, will make a short speech and he will be followed by Charles Skouras, F. W. C. operating head, who will represent his brother Spyros, vice-president in charge of operations for National Theatres. Rick Ricketson, Denver; Elmer C. Rhoden, Kansas City; Frank Newman, Jr., Seattle; Harold J. Fitzgerald, Milwaukee; Arch Bowles, San Francisco, and Mike Rosenberg, Portland, will be introduced by Skouras. Many of the sales force are acquainted with the National Theatres' divisional operating heads, having attended previous sales conferences in various parts of the country.

Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board, is then scheduled to deliver his annual address. He will be followed by Sidney R. Kent, president. Their talks will bring to a conclusion the open sessions.

Wednesday afternoon will find divisional and branch managers holding individual meetings on local problems. Sichelman, Martin Moskowitz and Jack Bloom also will hold meetings with various of the exchange personnel. Another screening will be held in the evening.

Thursday will be studio day. Delegates will board buses at the Ambassador Hotel which will take them directly to Movietone City. Luncheon will be at the Cafe de Paris with the stars and leading players in attendance. At night, the delegates will gather at the Cocoanut Grove where Eddie Cantor will act as master of ceremonies. A stellar list of talent has been lined up for the entertainment part of the program.

On Friday morning, delegates will meet at Union Station at 9 P. M. The men will return on the same trains and routes by which they came.

An ad sales exhibit is on display in suite 678-9 at the Ambassador. Home office executives estimated that the number of men attending the convention this year is three times as great as that of any other year.

20th-Fox Flashes

Los Angeles, May 31.—E. C. Grainger, film buyer for the Feiber & Shea circuit, was forced to cancel his plans to attend the sales meeting at the last minute. First, Mort A. Shea decided to take a month's vacation on his farm; second, Grainger is negotiating several important film deals; third, four new air coolers are being installed in the circuit's houses.

Spyros Skouras, National Theatres operating head, is another prospective theatre delegate who had to call off plans for attending the sales meetings. He has been confined to the St. Moritz Hotel, New York, with arthritis. Brother Charles of F. W. C. will do the honors for Spyros.

The only outside theatre man, apparently, who is on hand for the sessions is John L. Poole, Edinburgh exhibitor, who is the guest of R. Sutton Dawes, managing director of British sales for the company. Incidentally there is a story attached to the Poole family. This year the family will celebrate its centenary in theatre business. Dawes and Poole plan to sail for home either on the Queen Mary or Aquitania on June 16. They will arrive in New York about June 13.

Jack Sichelman, who handled arrangements with I. Lincer, says this is his 20th convention, and the third he is attending on the coast. He has done a swell job of routing the men through to the convention. Jack misses the late Dan B. Winkler after developing him for the past 20 years.

Jack J. Sullivan, F. W. C. film buyer, is not among those present. However, before the boys left New York, Jack called in some of them and showed them convention pictures taken 10 years ago in which he appeared. Sullivan was a Fox salesman at Minneapolis many years ago and then graduated to branch manager of the Seattle exchange.

Joe Pincus, who missed Joe Moskowitz on the way out, managed not to miss his bacon and eggs.

Paul Terry of Terrytoons made a number of sketches of the boys during the train ride from the east.

Ely Culbertson has donated a silver cup to the best bridge player among the conventionites. On the way here from New York the following competed: Jack Bloom, William Sussman, Clarence Hill, Al Davis, Edgar Moss, Jack Skirball, Sam Wheeler and Jim O'Loghlin. Jack Sichelman was official score keeper and Culbertson provided a set of new contract laws that ruled the hands.

Harry Mersey and Ted Shaw did not leave New York with the home office crowd, but met them in Chicago and came out with them the rest of the way.

Mrs. Martin Johnson may appear at the meetings provided she can get around on her injured leg. "Borneo," which she made with her husband before his fatal airplane accident, is among the company's 69 releases next season.

Ira Hill, Pittsburgh manager, recounted tales about the flood during the lulls on the train. Ira put some real emotion into the stories and many of the gang were glad they were in other parts of the country at the time.

Stanley S. Crick, managing director for the company in Australia, is here without his sidekick Charles Munro, managing director of Hoyts. Munro has been detained in New York and is due later in the week.

Truman Talley's staff attending the sales meetings include, in addition to Lowell Thomas, Lew Lehr, who panicked the boys with a number of gags en route, Ed Thorgerson, Ed Reek and Harry Lawrenson.

Walter J. Hutchinson's foreign department is represented by 13 men. All but G. Mohme, Mexico, and W. W. Sullivan, Panama, came out on the convention special. Mohme and Sullivan came via the Panama Canal.

William C. Michel, executive vice-president, regards his presence here as the first vacation in seven years. Bill, by the way, has cut out cigar smoking and keeps a good supply of cigarettes handy at all times.

Lowell Thomas, news commentator, flew out over the weekend. Two special rooms at the Ambassador were turned over to Thomas for his regular broadcast tonight.

This is the first convention for William Eadie, comptroller. Ditto for Dan Michalove.

Warners Bookers to Hold Four Regionals

The first of a series of four regional conventions of Warners bookers and advertising accessories salesmen will run for two days at the Leamington Hotel, Oakland, Cal., June 5 and 6. Subsequent meetings will be held during the month in Chicago, New Orleans and New York.

A. W. Schwalberg, Warners' exchange supervisor; Sidney C. Davidson, advertising accessories sales manager, and I. F. Dolid, assistant Vitaphone sales manager, leave here today for the coast session. They will visit the Warner studio before leaving for the second meeting at Chicago. Policies in connection with Warners' recently adopted accessories rental plan and sales angles on forthcoming product will be discussed at the sessions.

Will Resume Talks On Springer Houses

Negotiations will be resumed this week by George Skouras of Skouras Theatres and RKO for taking over the operation of six upper Broadway houses from the Jack W. Springer estate.

A deal for the theatres has been on for some time and includes the Olympia, Stoddard, Symphony, Carlton, Beacon and 77th St. About two weeks ago Skouras was called to the coast suddenly and postponed further talks until his return. He arrived last Wednesday and again put the matter over until this week.

Skouras and RKO have a pooling arrangement on a number of other houses in the area embraced by the Springer houses. The six additional units will be included in the pool, if a deal is consummated.

head for Universal, is due from Los Angeles this week to work out arrangements with National's film buyers. William T. Powers, buyer for National, is sitting in on the conferences.

Negotiations are continuing with United Artists executives. Preliminary talks with Warner sales heads will be resumed shortly.

A one-year pact already has been set with 20th Century-Fox for next season. The circuit has two more years to go on the M-G-M franchise and one year on the Paramount contract signed last season.

Fox Midwest Closes For New Partnership

KANSAS CITY, May 31.—Fox Midwest Theatres, Inc., has entered a partnership arrangement with Ensley Barbour, operator of the Landers at Springfield, Mo., whereby Barbour will become city manager of the Landers and the three Fox Midwest houses — the Gilloiz, Electric and Plaza—and the three Moran & Isely theatres in Springfield.

Allen Carf, city manager for Fox at Springfield, goes to Sedalia, Mo., in the same capacity, succeeding Glen Carroll, who has not been assigned a new spot in the circuit.

This leaves S. E. Wilhoit's Princess outside the group.

Georgia Case Delayed

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 31.—Judge W. E. Thomas of the Superior Court has set June 5 for a hearing on abatement of a nuisance in connection with Sunday shows. At that time it is expected a decision will be made so the case can be carried to the Supreme Court.

Building Is Active Through Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, May 31.—Building of new houses in the smaller towns in the state has been proceeding at a rapid pace, with new houses under construction in Clinton, Fort Atkinson, Galesville, Minocqua, Frederic, Chippewa Falls, and Marshfield.

The Clinton house, a 300-seater, will be the village's only theatre. J. J. Craite, operating the Pastime at Horicon, is building in Fort Atkinson in opposition to Walter Baier, operator of the Fort. Carl McKeeth is contemplating a $35,000 house for Galesville, while Ray Quady, operator of the Isle, is erecting a second house to seat 600. At Frederic, Clinton Norine is replacing his theatre recently razed by fire with a $10,000, 500-seat house, while J. P. Adler, operator of the Adler and Relda a Marshfield is erecting a third house there to cost $60,000.

Miner Amusement Co., operators of the Loop and Rivoli in Chippewa Falls, plan a 900-seat house to cos $20,000, while the circuit also ha under construction a 450-seat house a Phillips. Reports are current of new theatres for Westby and Superior, Wis., the latter to be a $50,000 house John J. Clark is planning a new 700-seat house at Ontonagon, Mich.

K.C. Managers Shifted

KANSAS CITY, May 31.—William Elson, who has supervised the RKO Mainstreet and B. & K. Newman the past three months, has been named managing director of the two first run houses.

Lawrence Lehman, manager of the Mainstreet since it was opened, shifts to the Newman as manager. He succeeds Ralph Lawler, who goes to Toledo to run the Paramount and Princess. Lawler succeeds Henry Stickelmaier, who has been promoted from Toledo to the B. & K. offices at Chicago.

Get 2 at Richmond Hill

Joseph M. Seider of Prudential Theatres, with Frisch & Rinzler, has taken over the Casino and the Garden, both at Richmond Hill.

Prudential also has purchased Philip Hodes' interest in the Roosevelt, Woodhaven. The balance of the ownership is held by Randforce Circuit.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"You Can't Beat Love"

(Radio)

Hollywood, May 31.—Amusement, as offered here, stacks up as wholesome fun. The story material is a comedy-romance told against the background of small-town political skullduggery.

The plot deals with an erratic playboy who becomes the opponent of the girl he loves in a campaign for the election of a mayor. Crooks, grafters and gamblers have their innings to provide pleasant amusement. Virtue, honesty and love triumph in the climax.

Preston Foster turns from serious drama to comedy. Radio's potential star, Joan Fontaine, emerges from the picture as a definite screen personality. The pair, assisted by Berton Churchill, Frank Thomas, Paul Hurst, Barbara Pepper, Bradley Page, William Brisbane, and Paul Guilfoyle, keep things moving snappily. Liberal license has been taken with Olga Moore's original story. Christy Cabanne directed.

Production Code Seal No. 3,315. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Dr. Knock"

(French M. P. Corp.)

The audience patronizing the foreign film house should be fairly well entertained with this film version of Julius Romains' satirical play. The title role is played by Louis Jouvet, of "Carnival in Flanders" fame. There are English titles.

The story is set in St. Maurice, a French town. The local medico deserts his practice to Jouvet. The town is too healthy. Jouvet cleverly works his quackery and fraud on the gullible peasants, his cure-all being an order to all his patients to get into bed and stay there. This is supplemented with long and expensive treatment. His enterprise builds quickly. The final and most pointed sardonic thrust is when the former local doctor returns and Knock orders him to bed in his "Medical Hotel." It starts slowly but perks up later. It should find satisfactory reception.

Pathe-Natan produced.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 74 minutes. "A."

"Come On, Cowboys"

(Republic)

An entertaining and engrossing western. The story is lightly dramatic, the direction excellent and the camera work creditable. The general run of audiences should be pleased.

Robert Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, the Three Mesquiteers, become involved with a gang of counterfeiters who frame Roger Williams. Williams is sent to jail. The boys promise to take care of his young daughter, and collectively they devote their time to uncovering the culprits. They get into many exciting and sometimes humorous situations, but in good time the series of events leads to the capture of the ringleader of the gang. Livingston marries Maxine Doyle, the child's governess. Terhune introduces many comic twists with his ventriloquism and card tricks.

Joseph Kane directed. The original screenplay is by Betty Burbridge. Ernest Miller photographed. The support includes Willie Fung, Anne Bennett, Yakima Canutt, Edward Cassidy and Horace Murphy.

Production Code Seal No. 3,313. Running time, 58 minutes. "G."

No Canada Roadshow

Toronto, May 31.—Regardless of the initial presentation policy in the United States, "Captains Courageous" will not be played as a roadshow in Canadian cities, it is stated here. The picture will be given general relase on a continuous performance policy in Canada in about two months by Regal Films, Ltd., it is intimated. Recent roadshows in Canada have been "The Good Earth" and "Lost Horizon."

William Cullen, F.M.P.C. president, would probably be sought as a painters' representative.

Indications are that Browne has approved Fitzgerald's plans for a settlement attempt.

Press Agents Move To Join News Guild

Hollywood, May 31.—The organization of Hollywood press agents had its inception here Friday night when 50, representing every major and large independent studio, met at the Roosevelt Hotel for the purpose of instituting Wagner Act bargaining. They voted to affiliate with the Newspaper Guild in the event that the Guild's national convention at St. Louis in June approve the resolution creating a division for publicity men.

Friday's meeting was attended and assisted by Guild officials. A committee was appointed to draft by-laws and a constitution.

No Annual IA Meet Planned This Year

No annual convention by I. A. T. S. E. locals will be held this year. The regular get-together in June has been called off until next summer. At the last convention of the union organizations, it was voted that the big conclaves be held bi-annually, instead of every year. The administration of officers automatically holds over.

An announcement is expected today from Local 306, I. A. T. S. E. affiliate, on a complete unionization of major and independent exchange employes in the local territory. Agreements whereby union employes in Boston and Philadelphia exchanges are to be recognized by distributors have been approved. New Haven is next. A meeting of this group may be held this week after several postponements.

Union Spreading in Cincinnati Theatres

Cincinnati, May 31.—Unionization has spread to downtown theatres here, with subordinate employes becoming affiliated with the A. F. of L., including maids, porters and cleaners, as well as cashiers, doormen and ushers.

Organization details were handled by Jack Hawthorne, president, and Arthur H. Fix, business agent of Operators' Local No. 365, and William Elliott, president of the stagehands' union, under the I.A.T.S.E.

Continue New Haven Parleys

New Haven, May 31.—A third organization meeting to unite ushers, doormen and cashiers under the A. F. of L. banner drew an attendance of 75, representing major circuit houses and independents, from New Haven and several small towns nearby. I.A.T.S.E. local officials have scheduled another meeting with John Gatelee, international organizer. Weekly wages of $8 for ushers have been reported as not unusual in the area.

ARE YOU GIVING THEM THE LIGHT THEY MERIT?

The response of theatre patrons is ample justification for securing the best feature pictures obtainable. It proves that the theatre-going public seeks out the best. But the theatre patron is critical and is not satisfied with a good picture, poorly screened. Expensive features merit the best light.

The best projection is provided by a steady, snow-white light of sufficient intensity on the screen for clear definition in the presence of a comfortable level of supplementary illumination. This means High Intensity Projection.

Korda in Deal For Facilities Of Production

Economy Prompted Pact With Basil Dean

London, June 1.—Further concrete evidence of a general movement on the part of the English producing industry toward a consolidation of production facilities, seen by observers here as dictated by the necessity for economies, came today in the official revelation of the conclusion yesterday of a reciprocal agreement between Basil Dean and Alexander Korda.

The agreement between Dean and Korda provides for the interchange of stars and technical facilities between the Korda studios at Denham and the Dean plant at Ealing. Herbert Wilcox is also participating.

Greater significance is attached to the move since it follows by only a few days the report of a new holding company planned for the Denham, Pinewood and Amalgamated studios. The report indicated the holding company plans as designed to standardize service charges among the three studios and provide for an interchange of staffs, equipment and the like. The cooperation was taken as a move to reduce operating expenses.

It is also reported in some quarters

British Expect No Film Measures Now

London. June 1.—No film legislation is expected in the English Parliament during this session, but is likely before the end of the year, Oliver Stanley, new president of the Board of Trade, succeeding Walter Runciman, declared in a letter to Hall Caine Stanley suggested that action could not be expected before the fall.

At an emergency meeting of the council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n, the group received a report of the delegation which attended

Goetz Says England Has "Growing Pains"

England's production industry today is suffering from what may be described as growing pains, Harry M. Goetz, who is associated with Max Gordon in Max Gordon Plays and Pictures Corp., declared yesterday, following his return from a two and one-half months' stay in England. He arrived in town on the Normandie

"Armour" Strong

London, June 1.—"Knight Without Armour," Alexander Korda's latest for London Films and, incidentally, his best from a box-office standpoint since "The Ghost Goes West," has Marlene Dietrich and Robert Donat furnishing excellent performances in a romantic story of a fugitive countess and a British secret service agent told against the vivid background of the Russian revolution.

The technical quality is high, the crowd scenes effective, the comedy amusing and the types excellent. It looks like an American winner.

Wilby-Kincey Pact To Hold for a Year

Paramount will renew for one year the Wilby-Kincey circuit operating agreement, which expires June 26, Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount vice-president and theatre head, said yesterday.

No changes in the operating agreement will be made, it was said. The pact does not involve any stock ownership in the circuit by the operators, such as the A. H. Blank partnership which is also in process of renewal.

Freeman returned yesterday from Galveston, where he attended the meeting of the Hoblitzelle circuit.

Nebraska Theatres Are Dropping Games

President Attacks Personal Companies

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, June 1.—Personal holding companies were today assailed by President Roosevelt as one of a number of "clever little schemes" which have been adopted to avoid income taxes.

In a message to Congress recommending immediate legislation to make the tax structure "evasion-proof" and urging that the Treasury be given authority for a full investigation of the situation, the President indicated his belief that tax avoidance and evasion was a predominating factor causing revenues to fall below anticipations.

The message was accompanied by

Outdoor Sports Bump Early May Grosses in Key Cities

Outdoor sports and spring weather hit key city grosses during the first two weeks of May and shot them down close to Christmas week level. The total for the week ending May 7-8 was $1,506,702. For the week ending May 14-15 the total was $1,590,536.

The total of first run theatres in operation also fell off.

The recovery for the week ending May 14-15 from the low of the previous week was general, 19 of the 28 cities reporting to Motion Picture Daily showing better figures than the previous week. "Shall We Dance?" "A Star Is Born" and "Wake Up and Live" were responsible for the improvement in a number of spots. Comparative grosses will be found on page 13.

20th-Fox to Have 66 for Next Season

Coast to Make 52; 204 Shorts with Newsreel

Los Angeles, June 1.—A total of 66 features will be released by 20th Century-Fox during the 1937-38 season, the delegates to the annual sales convention at the Ambassador Hotel here were told this morning. The outline of the new season's product was made to the meeting by John D. Clark, general manager of distribution. In all, 60 titles for next season were revealed.

The company's program will be supplemented by 204 short subjects, including 104 issues of Movietonews, two one-reel series of six each, and 46 one-reelers and 42 two-reelers from Educational, released through 20th Century-Fox.

Of the feature total, 52 will be produced on the coast, under the supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production. The additional features will include four westerns and two Tarzan pictures produced by Sol Lesser, three features to be produced in London, under the supervision of Robert T. Kane, head of New World Pictures, 20th Century-Fox English subsidiary; four reissues of Will Rogers' pictures, and "Borneo," the last film made by the

S. Z. Poli Funeral Set for Tomorrow

WOODMONT, CONN., June 1.—Funeral services for S. Z. Poli, who died here Monday from a heart attack, will be held Thursday at his summer home, Villa Rosa. A high mass of requiem will be sung at St. John's Church, New Haven, at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at St. Lawrence Cemetery.

Poli was 77 at the time of his death. He had had pneumonia since attending a wedding Friday in Danbury.

He had been a prominent figure in New England exhibition since the earliest days of films. He came to this country from Italy when a boy and was on the staff of the old Eden Musee on 14th St. for several years. In 1888 he began touring with wax figures. This became a vaudeville venture in 1892. Vaudeville developed into a circuit of theatres with houses in New England, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C.

In 1928 Poli sold his circuit to William Fox, but later he foreclosed and the houses were managed by Harry Arthur for a time before being acquired by Loew's, Inc.

Poli is survived by his widow and four daughters, Lillian, the Marchesa Gerini of Italy; Mrs. Adeline Poli-Leonard, Mrs. Walter M. Sheaman and Mrs. Lorina Poli-Nolan.

It's Unusual

Hollywood, June 1.—"Unusual California weather" is doublecrossing Goldwyn executives on outdoor shooting for "The Hurricane" to such an extent that the other day they issued three sets of call sheets headed:

"If Raining."

"If Cloudy and not Raining."

"If Sunshine."

Looking 'Em Over

"The Girl from Scotland Yard"

(Major Prod.-Paramount)

A trite and uninspired yarn of Scotland Yard's effort to scotch the vengeful attacks of a mysterious foreign force bent on destroying England's military power, this film has a few exciting moments of suspense and action, but aside from those, little to recommend it for any but the smaller situations.

The cast makes a valiant effort, especially Karen Morley, in the title role, but the material is a bit too much for it. Robert Baldwin, as the young American newspaper man who falls in love with Miss Morley, nearly spoils her plans and then not only saves her life but with her shoots down the enemy raider during his air attack on Coronation air force maneuvers, appears to have rather more willingness than expertness. Eduardo Ciannelli, as England's menace who turns out to be a scientific genius exiled from his country because of an attempt to sell military secrets to the enemy, is properly sinister.

Robert Vignola directed from a screenplay by Doris Anderson and Dore Schary and a story by Coningsby Dawson.

Production Code Seal No. 3,223. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Jury Disagrees in Ruben Frels' Suit

DALLAS, June 1.—A jury in Federal Court here was discharged without reaching a verdict in a case in which Ruben Frels, Victoria theatre owner, sought to recover damages from the Jefferson Amusement Co. of Beaumont, and several of the major distributing companies on the grounds that they withheld films from his several South Texas theatres. In its verdict the jury found for one of the defendants, B. F. Fordtran, Belleville theatre owner, but stated it could not agree on the others.

U. S. District Attorney John Erhart watched the case with interest, as he has a case now pending in which he is charging the Interstate Circuit with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The damages sought by Frels reached a maximum of $655,000. Other defendants in the case were East Texas Theatres, Paramount Pictures Dist. Co., Columbia M-G-M, Universal, Vitagraph, Sol Gordon, J. C. Clemons and J. G. Long.

Order Messmer Testimony

Julian Messmer, president of the Ray Long and R. R. Smith Corp., was yesterday ordered by Federal Court Judge Murray Hulbert to submit to an examination before trial in connection with the corporation's action against 20th Century-Fox and Irvin S. Cobb. The suit charges infringement of the copyright on the stories "Down Yonder with Judge Priest and Irvin S. Cobb" and "Br'er Rabbit" in the 20th Century-Fox picture, "Judge Priest." The plaintiff claims that it acquired the copyright from Cobb when they published the stories. A permanent injunction, damages and an accounting are asked.

20th-Fox, Famous Sued

TORONTO, June 1.—Francis, Day & Hunter, Ltd., music publishers, have filed suit against 20th Century-Fox and Famous Players Canadian in Ontario Supreme Court, alleging infringement of copyright on the song "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" for which unstated damages are asked. The plaintiff claimed that the title, theme, melody and central idea of the picture having that name and that the feature had been advertised so as to lead the public to believe the musical composition and the photoplay were identical in concept.

Ask Para. Replacements

Los Angeles, June 1.—The I.T.O. here has demanded, in a communication to Paramount, that the company replace the 10 pictures held out of the 1936-37 contract. The letter followed a resolution on the subject adopted recently.

To Coast Sunday

The Paramount convention delegation from New York headquarters and the east leave for Los Angeles Sunday. Robert M. Gillham will precede the delegation by two days.

It's Minimum

New Orleans, June 1.—A price record of some sort has been set by the Joy-Strand here which will admit children on Saturday mornings for one cent. The adult admission is five cents for ordinary seats and 10 cents for de luxe seats.

And that one cent for the youngsters includes a regular program.

Ontario Tax Ends

Toronto, June 1.—For the first time in 20 years theatre patrons in Ontario today entered the film houses of the province without having to dig for that extra few cents. Today marked the end of the provincial admission tax which has been in effect since 1917, when it was passed as a war measure.

The improved state of Government finances led to the abolition of the tax. The saving has been passed on to the public in practically every theatre.

It was decided that a full deputation, including circuit representatives and other dissentients to the quality clause, as well as two extra independents, should attend the Board of Trade conference with the Kinematograph Renters' Society (distributors) and the Film Group of the F.B.I. on June 9.

It is suggested that Burgin's previous rejection of the quality clause may be taken as definite. The C.E.A. is now anxious to present its case to the exhibitors.

on Monday, and may go to the coast later, but he has set no definite departure date as yet.

The first production of the Gordon company will be "The Women," currently playing on Broadway, Goetz said. It will go into work next summer and be ready for release in the 1938-39 season. No other pictures are set as yet, he indicated, but the company's play-producing activities will be largely confined to those plays which will most readily serve for adaptation for the screen. Deals with several major companies for distribution of his company's product are being considered, Goetz declared, but no decision has been reached as yet.

He has no intention of renewing the association with Edward Small, which broke up with the liquidation of Reliance Pictures, which released through United Artists, Goetz said. The plan of Small to produce a picture in England with Robert Donat starred is being held in abeyance, he said, because of the continued illness of Donat.

Intermountain Has Gain

Salt Lake City, June 1.—Increased attendance and generally improved conditions throughout the intermountain territory were reported by managers of the 25 houses comprising the Intermountain Theatres, Inc., here a few days ago. Speakers included Harry David, vice-president and general manager; Ray Hendry, assistant to David; William Borack, booker; F. J. T. Wald, treasurer, and Harry Ungerleider, statistician.

Technicolor Plans Expansion Program

Hollywood, June 1.—Technicolor plans to spend $1,500,000 in an expansion program that will double its laboratory facilities, according to Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus. Work will start when he returns from London.

It is said that the present Hollywood and London plants are booked to capacity.

Laemmle Sails Today

Carl Laemmle, Sr., accompanied by his secretary, Jack Ross, leaves today on the Normandie for visits to Paris, Zurich and Carlsbad, with plans for returning on the Ile de France at the end of July. The trip is solely for pleasure, Laemmle said yesterday, declaring that he would transact no business while abroad.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., has called off a planned trip to Bermuda and will leave for the coast at the end of the week with brief stopovers in Washington and Chicago. He is due at the M-G-M studio June 15 to begin work on his new production contract for the company.

Hamrick on 6-Day Week

Seattle, June 1. — For the first time managers and assistant managers of all Hamrick-Evergreen theatres here are now on a six-day week.

Assistant managers previously were given one afternoon and evening off every two weeks, but managers had no time off, regularly.

Granting of the six-day week to executives has no connection with the recent affiliation of 300 cashiers, usherettes and doormen with the I.A.T.S.E., it was reported.

Gene Antony Passes

New Orleans, June 1. — Gene Antony, manager of the Ideal in Ponchatoula, La., died in Marine Hospital here yesterday after a long illness. He was a former deputy U. S. Marshal in addition to his theatre activity.

Phil Blum, 83, who joined Saenger when he organized his circuit here, also died yesterday. Blum had retired eight years ago.

"The Lady Escapes"—Sophisticated stuff, interesting, amusing, but not particularly well handled.

"Riders of Whistling Skull"—In which The Three Mesquiteers cooperate with a desert scientific expedition.

These films will be reviewed in full in a coming issue of Motion Picture Daily.

Monogram Plans Party

Monogram will hold open houses all day Thursday at its new local office at 630 9th Ave. Hosts will be W. Ray Johnston, president; Edward A. Golden, general sales manager, and J. J. Felder, branch manager.

With respect to personal holding companies, which have been formed by several prominent figures in the film industry, the report pointed out that taxes were reduced last year upon enactment of the undistributed profits tax in the expectation that the combined rates of the two taxes would be sufficient to insure distribution of the entire incomes of such companies and the consequent imposition of surtaxes upon their owners.

Appeal Alabama Case

Birmingham, Ala., June 1. — The Alabama Court of Appeals has taken under advisement a suit testing the legality of theatre Jack-Pots and Bank Night.

The suit came to the Court of Appeals from Tuscaloosa County, where a theatre Jack-Pot was held to be a lottery, and Cecil B. Grimes, operator, was fined $200.

here that the tendency in the direction of joint production activity is the result of a strong hint from the Government preliminary to indirect financial aid in production. It is thought by some that the promise of financial aid may be conditioned by Governmental demands that distribution charges be reduced.

Delay N. H. Sunday Bill

Concord, N. H., June 1.—A measure providing for the opening of New Hampshire theatres at 4 o'clock, instead of 6, on the Sabbath in winter months, is having rough going in the Legislature. Defeated in the Senate after coming from the Judiciary Committee with an unfavorable report, it was decided to reconsider the measure and it was sent back to the Judiciary Committee for further study.

late Martin Johnson and his wife during an expedition to Borneo.

Included among features to be produced at the company's Beverly Hills studio will be several ambitious pictures, such as "In Old Chicago," a dramatic treatment of the city's history, with Henry King as director, and the players including Jean Harlow, Tyrone Power and Don Ameche. Other major efforts will be "Hudson's Bay Company," "Stanley and Livingstone" and "Jesse James." Osa Johnson, widow of Martin Johnson, will leave the coast June 10 at the head of a unit to do location scenes for the first film in Africa, and it is planned to send a unit into northern Canada for "Hudson's Bay Company."

Shirley Temple will be starred in three. The first, "Heidi," is now in production, with Jean Hersholt, Thomas Beck, Mady Christians and Helen Westley importantly cast, and "Susannah of the Mounties" will be the second.

Musicals Listed

The list of musicals will be headed by Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," and includes "Sally, Irene and Mary," starring Loretta Young, Louise Hovick and Fred Allen, and "Pigskin Parade of 1937," two specials with Sonja Henie and others.

The team of Tyrone Power and Loretta Young will appear in "Second Honeymoon" under the direction of Edward H. Griffith; the Ritz Brothers will star in "Moonstruck" and Walter Winchell will be seen with Ben Bernie again in "Love and Hisses."

Eddie Cantor will star in two specials, "Ali Baba Goes to Town" and "Saratoga Chips," based on an original by Damon Runyan and Irving Caesar.

The Dionne Quintuplets will be starred in their third film, "Mother Knows Best," and Jane Withers will appear in four. Warner Oland will make three more "Charlie Chan" pictures, and Peter Lorre will star in a new series featuring the adventures of J. P. Marquand's detective character, "Mr. Moto." The first film will be "Think Fast, Mr. Moto." The Jones Family will continue the current series with four new films.

Fields Film in England

The company plans to send a large group of coast players to England for the cast of Gracie Fields' "He Was Her Man." Annabella, French star, will be starred in "Follow the Sun," with Romney Brent and Paul Lukas, then will come to the coast to star in her first American film, "Jean."

Smith Ballew will star in four westerns, produced by Lesser, including, "Boots and Saddles," "Western Gold" and "Devil's Highway." The two Tarzan films will star Glenn Morris, decathlon champion, and also will be produced by Lesser. The first Rogers reissue set thus far will be "Handy Andy."

Among the short subjects will be six "Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman," in one reel, and six one-reel specials.

Educational's output will include 46 one-reel subjects and 42 two-reelers, among them 27 "Terry Tunes," 10 "Treasure Chest" subjects and 10 "Song Hits."

Following are the 60 titles thus far selected:

"In Old Chicago" which Henry King will direct and which stars Jean Harlow, Tyrone Power and Don Ameche.

"Hudson's Bay Company."

"Stanley and Livingstone."

"Jesse James."

"Heidi," now in production and starring Shirley Temple supported by Jean Hersholt, Arthur Treacher, Thomas Beck, Mady Christians and Helen Westley.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," a musical by Irving Berlin.

"Sally, Irene and Mary," starring Loretta Young, Alice Faye, Louise Hovick and Fred Allen.

"Pigskin Parade of 1937."

"Second Honeymoon," co-starring Tyrone Power and Loretta Young and to be directed by Edward H. Griffith.

"Moonstruck," in which the Ritz Brothers will be starred.

"Love and Hisses," in which Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie will appear.

"Splinter Fleet," story of the navy's activities in the Adriatic during the World War.

"Four Men and a Prayer," on the same dramatic plan as "Beau Geste."

"Mr. Nickelby Sits Down."

"Career in C Major."

"Kidnapped."

"Last Year's Kisses," by Robert Louis Stevenson.

"Dance, Fool, Dance."

"The Giant Swing."

"Meet the Girls."

"Ali Baba Goes to Town," an Eddie Cantor vehicle.

"Saratoga Chips," based on an original story by Damon Runyon and Irving Caesar which will also star Eddie Cantor.

"Mother Knows Best," in which the Dionne Quintuplets will be starred.

"Wild and Wooly," "45 Fathers," "His Master's Voice" and "Little Dynamite," four pictures in which Jane Withers will appear.

"Charlie Chan on Broadway," "Charlie Chan at College" and "Charlie Chan in Radio City," with Warner Oland.

"Think Fast, Mr. Moto," "Thank You, Mr. Moto" and "Mr. Moto's Gamble," a new detective series with Peter Lorre.

"Too Much Limelight," "City Cousins" and "A Trip to New York" in which the Jones Family will continue its serio-comic life. There will be a fourth in this series, yet to be selected.

"You Can't Have Everything," a musical starring Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, and Don Ameche, with Louise Hovick making her debut.

"Lancer Spy," in which Peter Lorre, Virginia Field and George Sanders appear.

"One Mile from Heaven," with Claire Trevor.

"Thin Ice," co-starring Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power.

"Danger, Love at Work," in which Simone Simon and Jack Haley will star.

"Love Under Fire," a Loretta Young and Don Ameche vehicle.

"Wife, Doctor and Nurse," starring Warner Baxter, Barbara Stanwyck and Loretta Young.

"Six Girls and Death," based on a story by Mark Hellinger.

"Shanghai Deadline," with Claire Trevor, Michael Whalen and Alan Dinehart.

"Rings on Her Fingers," with Michael Whalen and Gloria Stuart.

"Island in the Sky," with Brian Donlevy, Rochelle Hudson, J. Edward Bromberg and John Carradine.

"Headline Huntress," with Michael Whalen and Gloria Stuart.

"The Gay Bargain."

"The Bride Steps Out."

"At Your Service."

"Free to Live."

"He Was Her Man," starring Gracie Fields.

"Follow the Sun," starring Annabella and supported by Romney Brent, and Paul Lukas.

"Jean," another Annabella starring vehicle, based on the London stage success of that name.

"Boots and Saddles," based on a Zane Grey story, "Western Gold," "Devil's Highway," with a fourth to be selected starring Smith Ballew.

be revealed in detail to the convention tomorrow, will include 42 two-reel subjects and 46 one-reelers. Among the groups to be produced will be 26 "Terry Tunes," 10 in the "Treasure Chest" series and 10 "Song Hits." Twelve of the two-reelers will be musicals.

Speaking at yesterday's session, Jack Skirball, Educational sales manager, told of the difficulties in keeping the short subject stars, remarking that the major companies take them as soon as audiences like them. The same is true of writers, he said.

E. W. Hammons, Educational president, declared that last week's receipts for Educational constituted a new record, running $11,000 over the previous high mark. Last week was the final week of the company's anniversary drive.

Nat Levine to Form Own Producing Firm

Nat Levine is forming his own production company and will release through a major distribution organization, he stated yesterday. He is now negotiating the distribution arrangements and hopes to conclude them within the next four or five days, he said. He plans to leave for the coast early next week to complete production plans for the new company. Levine arrived here Monday on the Normandie.

High Speed Claimed For Color Printer

Development of a mechanical, electrically-controlled optical printer capable of turning out 1,000,000 or more feet of color film a day is claimed by the Telco Corp. The machines are now being built at the Tickle Engigineering Works, Brooklyn, under the supervision of Robert Hoyt, president of Telco. He predicts they will be in operation in Hollywood by the first of the year.

The new machines are designed to eliminate the necessity for special lenses on projectors for Telco color film and to speed up the delivery of prints so that they can be turned out as fast as regular black and white prints.

Bob Burns Marries

Las Vegas, June 1.—Bob Burns and Harriet Medelia Foster, his secretary, were married here yesterday.

Raye, Westmore, Wed

Las Vegas, June 1.—Martha Raye and Hamilton Westmore were married here following an elopement from Hollywood.

"Woman" Starts June 10

"Woman Chases Man" is scheduled to go into the Music Hall June 10. It has been delayed by the holdover of "This Is My Affair."

"Souls" Set for Astor

Paramount will open "Souls at Sea" at the Astor on a two-a-day basis starting June 30. George Raft and Olympe Bradna will come to New York for the opening, according to Neil F. Agnew.

Canada Group In 1st Place For 20th-Fox

Los Angeles, June 1.—The 20th Century-Fox territory of St. Johns, Canada, the smallest of the company's selling groups, took first prize in the cash awards which totalled $32,000 distributed among 647 employes in 21 exchanges. The St. Johns men, headed by R. G. March, each receive a bonus equal to five weeks' salary.

The New York territory took second place, with everybody from Manager Harry Buxbaum down to the janitor getting an extra three weeks' salary. The awards were announced here yesterday.

Long List of Winners

The employes of the following branches, in the order listed, received prizes of from three weeks' extra pay to 50 per cent of one week's salary: Salt Lake City, Charles E. Walker, manager; Des Moines, St. J. Mayer, manager; Omaha, J. E. Scott, manager; Oklahoma City, Charles Clark, manager; Minneapolis, J. Podoloff, manager; Los Angeles, John Dillon, manager; Pittsburgh, Ira H. Cohn, manager; St. Louis, B. B. Reingold, manager; Dallas, H. R. Beiersdorf, manager; San Francisco, G. W. Ballentine, manager; Cleveland, I. J. Schmertz, manager; Calgary, V. M. Skorey, manager, and Philadelphia, managed by Sam Gross.

Fifth prize for ad sales and third prize for short subjects went to Salt Lake City, while Des Moines took second place in the ad sales division and third for the lesser outdoor revenue. Omaha took third place in both ad sales and Movietonews.

Oklahoma Wins Ad Sales

First place in ad sales and fourth place in outdoor revenue was taken by Oklahoma City while first prize in the Educational division went to Pittsburgh. Calgary occupies sixth position in ad sales and Cleveland seventh place in the outdoor group.

Atlanta, managed by Paul Wilson, took first prize for Movietonews and second place in the outdoor division. Tom Young's Memphis territory took two prizes and New Orleans, Charlotte, Boston and Milwaukee were awarded one each. The checks were presented by William C. Gehring.

Herman Wobber, west coast division manager, got a Buick coupe, the Sidney R. Kent prize as head of the number one district. Kent stated that James P. O'Loghlin will be the leader in the Kent Fifth Anniversary Drive which will extend from August until the end of November.

Plan New Oregon House

Portland, Ore., June 1.—W. H. Leverett, operator of a circuit of four houses in southern Oregon, is planning a 700-seater, costing $50,000, for Ashland.

Calloway in Oregon

Portland, Ore., June 1.—Cal Calloway, Pacific coast manager for Warners, is in this part of the country in company with Vete Stewart, Portland manager.

20th-Fox Flashes

Los Angeles, June 1.—The oldest delegate to attend the convention, in terms of field exchange activity, is I. J. Schmertz, Cleveland manager, who started as an office boy in the original Fox exchange 29 years ago.

Bookers promoted to that post during the past year, and attending a 20th Century-Fox convention for the first time are Fred Eagner of Chicago, Dan Houlihan of Albany, J. O. Mock of Charlotte and T. P. Tidwell of Dallas.

John A. "Jockey Jack" Needham, Cincinnati salesman, achieved something of a record in sartorial ornamentation by wearing a fresh red carnation every morning of the trip west.

For Ben Simon of New Haven the trip to California was a home-coming. He spent Sunday with his folks at San Jose.

Lew Lehr, one of five Movietonenews delegates to the convention, admitted when cornered that he had been brushing up on gags for his address Monday, for two weeks preceding the convention.

Jack Skirball, Educational sales manager, asked Felix A. Jenkins, chief counsel, whether there was any law governing singing on trains. If so, Skirball intended to prosecute Jenkins and Harvey Day.

For the first time in the annals of the Montreal exchange, one of its representatives went to a convention with a record of more than 100 per cent of quota. He is Eddie English, who put his city on 20th Century-Fox's map in larger type than it has ever appeared before. Coincidentally, all Canadian branches went to the convention with an accumulated 22 weeks' delivery score that was in excess of their local quota for that period.

The ad sales department has its own special headquarters at the convention. Ad sales director Lee Balsly, art director Jerry Novat and field representatives Eddie Hollander, Bill Caldwell and Don Reed are holding special meetings with branch ad sales heads, to map the 1937-38 campaign.

First-timers at a 20th-Fox conclave from the home office include Leonard Gaynor of the publicity department, Ted A. Shaw, assistant to Central Division Manager William C. Gehring and Sam Epstein, assistant to Contract Manager Jack Bloom.

Eastern Studio executive Joseph Moskowitz and eastern story editor Frank Underwood preceded the regular convention delegation to the coast by a week.

Representing Europe at the convention are Luigi Giordano of Egypt, A. Paucker of Roumania, T. Isdahl, Jr., of Norway, and R. Sutton Dawes, sales director in London.

Railroad representatives on the convention special were George Stanton of the New York Central and Tom Walcott of the Santa Fe.

Convention Commanders

As the cohorts of 20th Century-Fox rallied to their meeting at the Ambassador in Los Angeles, these men prepared the strategy and described the ammunition. In the accustomed left to right order they are: William Goetz, vice-president and executive assistant to Darryl F. Zanuck; that same Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production; Sidney R. Kent, president; Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board, and John D. Clark, general manager of distribution.

Republic Men Hear Partnership Talk

Hollywood, June 1.—Republic franchise holders today heard at their business session the plan of Arthur Bromberg of Atlanta who placed his salesmen on a partnership basis. Bromberg said the results were gratifying. The consensus of opinion was that others would give the proposition a trial. J. J. Milstein presided.

The morning speakers were William Underwood and Claude Ezell of Dallas, J. T. Sheffield of Seattle, B. Berkowitz of Buffalo and Moe Siegel.

The afternoon speakers in addition to Bromberg, were E. E. Schnitzer, Max Roth, Chicago, and Grover Parsons of San Francisco. Routine business was discussed.

Announcement of product is expected Wednesday.

Painters Agreement Ends Studios Strike

cent. This is somewhat less than the concessions offered by Louis B. Mayer which agreed to the ousting of all strikebreakers and the institution of negotiations for wage scales.

Five crafts affiliated with the F.M.P.C. have already returned to work. Members of the Painters' Brotherhood are expected to resume their jobs immediately.

Academy Asks That Old Pact Be Voided

Hollywood, June 1.—The Academy has asked the producers to abrogate their agreement with the actors' branch of the organization as a result of the signing of a new pact by the producers and Screen Actors' Guild.

Date for the abrogation is June 10.

Advance Labor Law in Mass.

Boston, June 1.—The so-called baby Wagner Act, a duplicate of the Federal enactment designed to cover purely intrastate business, has been passed by both houses of the Legislature, with an amendment declaring sit-down strikes illegal.

An amendment to force labor unions to incorporate was defeated.

Organize in Kansas City

Kansas City, June 1.—The Theatre Employes' local has been organized here by the I. A. T. S. E., with which the new group will be affiliated. Approximately 120 front-of-the-theatre employes from the five first runs and the Fox Plaza attended the organization meeting. The group will meet again June 4 to elect officers. Every one in the theatres except executives, stage hands and projectionists are being included in the local.

Claim Union Gain in N. O.

New Orleans, June 1.—The organizers of the new exchange union here claim that 50 per cent of all eligible exchange employes have joined, and that 80 per cent are expected before a meeting scheduled for Friday. Exchange managers appear undisturbed, and have disclosed that preparations have been made to ship film from other points in the event a strike should tie up the local offices.

NBC Moves to Clear Talent Social Security Problems

In an effort to untangle the uncertainty as to the status of radio artists under the Social Security Act, NBC's legal department has notified all sponsors and advertising agencies with which the network does business that artists engaged on commercial shows through NBC are not to be considered as employes of the network. It is up to the particular sponsor and its agency to decide whether the artist on their program is an independent contractor or an employe of either of them, states NBC. However, the network regards instrumental musicians, the members of the house orchestras and staff conductors as its employes, and assumes the obligation for social security taxes for them.

Conductors and instrumental soloists under NBC management contracts or under contract to others are not included in the above exceptions.

Others who are classified as NBC employes are artists used on programs conceived, directed and produced by the network, and staff announcers, production men, engineers and other personnel in NBC's general employ whose services on commercial programs are covered by the network's facilities charge. Excluded are announcers, producers and script writers under management of the network and furnished at special compensation, the network acting as agent and receiving a commission.

Colbert Gets Silver Series

Claudette Colbert has been signed for a series of guest appearances on the new 1847 Rogers Silverware network program, beginning in the fall. Young & Rubicam is handling the program details.

The program will be a dramatic show. The network and starting date have not been determined as yet. The silverware account formerly was handled by N. W. Ayer & Son. The company's program last season was known as "The Musical Camera," and featured Joseph Cherniovsky's orchestra.

WOR Men Organizing

WOR announcers and production men have been meeting secretly with a view toward organizing themselves in a unit similar to the Announcers and Producers' Guild formed at CBS, a member of the WOR staff admitted yesterday, but thus far no definite action has been taken. There is a strong likelihood, however, that a definite decision will be reached by Thursday of this week, it was intimated.

Babb, Butcher on Tour

Vance Babb, NBC assistant publicity head, and Jesse Butcher, of the network's station relations staff, left New York yesterday for a tour of the network's eastern station points. Their itinerary includes stopovers in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Washington.

Dick Foran to Leave Program

Dick Foran, vocalist on the Burns and Allen network program for General Foods, will leave the series shortly. His successor has not yet been named by the client, but it is believed that Tony Martin will inherit the spot.

10,665 in Day

Tourist traffic at Radio City hit an all time high over the Decoration Day holiday week-end, with 10,665 tourists making the inspection trip. Last Decoration Day the paid admissions were 8,990.

NBC Pays $206,184 To Concert Singers

Concert artists under NBC management have earned $206,184 in radio appearances during the past year, according to a report compiled by George Engles, managing director of the network's artists service bureau.

NBC concert artists have totalled 610 radio appearances this season without impairing their concert activities in any way, Engles said. Rather, the box-office power of most of the artists has been considerably enhanced by their becoming well known to radio audiences, states Engels.

The concert division report shows that Kirsten Flagsted has made six air appearances this season; Gladys Swarthout, 16; Lauritz Melchior, nine; Sussane Fisher, six; Frank Forrest, 14; Elizabeth Rethberg, four; Ezio Pinza, five; Mario Chamlee, four; with two or more appearances for Martinelli, Dussolina Giannini, Marjorie Lawrence, Marion Anderson, Queena Mario, Kerstin Thorborg, and single appearances for a large number of others.

Commercial sponsors who have featured concert artists during the past 12 months include General Motors, Ford, Kraft-Phoenix, RCA, Firestone, Chesterfield, Lucky Strike, Shell, Sealtest, Camel, American Can, Fleischmann, General Electric, Jergens-Woodbury, American Radiator, Ry-Krisp, National Ice and many others.

KGLO to Enter CBS Network

KGLO, Mason City, Ia., will become an outlet of CBS, effective June 27. Weed & Company are national representatives for the station. The station's initial broadcast was on January 17 of this year and the Columbia tie-in is its first network connection.

Lenox R. Lohr Goes West

Lenox R. Lohr, NBC president, left New York last night for California, where he will confer with west coast divisional heads on network business matters. His stay there will be indefinite.

Pickering Opens Agency

Baxter Pickering, until recently president of Kelsey-Pickering & Co., Inc., has started an advertising agency under his own name with offices at 30 Rockefeller Plaza. Gayle Bishop is associated with him.

Jerry Lawrence to Join CBS

Jerry Lawrence, WOR announcer, has resigned to join the CBS announcing staff.

Rural Radio Tastes Studied in Report

The Cooperative Analysis of Broadcasting, known in the trade as the "Crosley Report," will issue several reports per year on rural program popularity, it was announced yesterday simultaneously with its release to subscribers of its first study of program audiences and listening habits of rural people.

The C.A.B. report is based on completed interviews with 9,815 farmers and 10,785 rural small town set owners, and shows that of the 10 leading programs most favored by rural audiences, five were among the most favored by the urban listeners. The report shows the 10 rural favorite evening programs to be: Jack Benny, Major Bowes' Amateur Hour, Lowell Thomas, Lum and Abner, Lux Radio Theatre, Eddie Cantor, Fibber McGee & Molly, Amos 'n' Andy, Phil Baker, and National Barn Dance. Most popular evening programs among city set owners for a comparable period were: Jack Benny, Lux Radio Theatre, Eddie Cantor, Major Bowes' Amateur Hour, Royal Gelatin Hour (Rudy Vallee); Town Hall Tonight, Phil Baker, Hollywood Hotel, Kraft Music Hall (Bing Crosby) and Al Jolson.

An analysis of preferences by program types shows that generally rural listeners favor news and human interest stories, while the smart sophisticated programs do not fare as well.

The work was carried on in 325 communities and towns in the basic area having an average population of less than 760.

WHB Is Celebrating

KANSAS CITY, June 1.—WHB is celebrating its 15th anniversary this week with banners on downtown streets; eight full-page advertisements in the Kansas City Journal-Post over the seven-day period; special programs, including an interview of E. Radio

Records Are Cut for Spot Announcements

With the growing volume of spot announcement business, most standard 15-minute programs, excepting chain programs, are being reduced to 14-minutes, with the station selling the last minute of a quarter-hour program twice, stated Joseph M. Koester, president of Radio Events, Inc., yesterday. Eventually everyone will accept the standard length of a quarter-hour program as 14 minutes, he said.

"It means an increased commercial content of each hour's broadcast time," he stated, "and this is something that radio will have to handle eventually or lose its business."

Selznick Finds Tom Saw

Tommy Kelly, 12-year-old East Bronx schoolboy, has been chosen by Selznick International to play the role of Tom Sawyer in Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Kelly was chosen from among hundreds who were given screen tests for the role during the past nine months.

Illinois Allied Delays

CHICAGO, June 1.—Allied of Illinois will postpone any theatre divorce or chain tax legislative moves until the next session of the Legislature, Aaron Saperstein said today. He said it would be impossible to get bills through at this late date in the session.

Token Troubles on For Kansas Showmen

KANSAS CITY, June 1.—Kansas exhibitors today began collecting the new two per cent sales tax by means of tokens plus the regular admission. At the last minute the Kansas Tax Commission ruled that retailers must charge the regular price and collect the tokens.

The Kansas-Missouri Theatres Ass'n had suggested that to avoid the nuisance of handling the metal two-mill pieces at the box-office, exhibitors should set up a new schedule of admissions: 9.8 cents plus .2 cents tax for the 10-cent admission and the like. On admissions above 10 cents and under 40 cents exhibitors would have collected an extra cent to cover the tax, under the plan. Now they will have to collect mills. The tax must be collected on all sales above four cents: from four cents to 14 cents, two mills (one token); from 15 cents to 24 cents, four mills, (two tokens), etc.

In Missouri the Legislature is moving slowly. A joint conference committee of the House and Senate is ironing out differences over the two per cent sales tax. Some of the Senate amendments are expected to be lost. The House is expected to pass a $44,000,000 old age pension, relief, and children's aid bill.

Songwriters Reject Offer of Publishers

The Songwriters' Protective Ass'n yesterday rejected a new compromise offer from the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n in connection with the S.P.A.'s plan to reclaim recording and synchronization rights from the publishers as of June 1. Another meeting will be called within the next few days to consider alternate proposals, it was said.

The publishers declare that as the matter now stands they will not accept for publication any song to which recording and transcription rights are not granted to the publisher.

MPTOA Radio Moves Await Studio Action

Cooperation of Producers Held Sufficient Now

Having obtained assurances from major companies that efforts will be made to regulate Hollywood radio broadcasts in such a way as to lessen their competition with theatres and to preserve the popularity of stars and film material employed on the air, the M.P.T.O.A. radio committee may take no further action for the time being, at least, Walter Vincent, committee chairman, said yesterday.

Additional developments in radio yesterday on pages 7 and 8

Vincent has addressed the members of his committee with a request for suggestions on what further action, if any, they believe is required now. To date, no replies have been received and, unless some special proposal requiring committee action is

Film Group Offers Reciprocity Plan

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, June 2.—The Film Group of the Federation of British Industries today presented to the Board of Trade its plan for optional reciprocity as a feature of the proposed new Films Act which is designed to replace the law which expires next year.

The significance of the plan, according to observers here, is that its basic principle is understood to be acceptable to the American interests, and provides the basis of a possible agreement looking toward the settlement of that phase of the quota situation in the new act.

The most striking feature of the Pennsylvania Passes Bill Taxing Circuit Theatres

HARRISBURG, June 2.—The Pennsylvania Legislature late yesterday finally passed the bill imposing a tax ranging from $1 to $500 each on chain stores and chain theatres, the size of the tax ranging on a sliding scale according to the number of stores or theatres constituting a chain controlled by one organization. As the bill had Administration backing, it is expected the measure will be approved by Governor Earle.

Under the sliding scale the tax per store or theatre is: One unit under single ownership, $1; up to and including five under one ownership, $5 each; 10 units, $10; 15, $20; 20 units, $30; 30 units, $50; 50, $100; 75, $200; 100, $250; 200, $350; 500, $450, and

Trade Endangered By War, Says Kent

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Stressing the danger to the American industry which would result from a general war in Europe, Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox, told delegates gathered at the company's sales convention here that the conflict in Spain has cost the company $1,500,000 thus far and that it has resulted in even greater losses to some other companies. A general war, said Kent, would necessitate either increased admissions or lowered budgets to permit American distributors to get back the cost of their films.

Also hurting foreign business, Kent added, are the frozen assets of companies where the export of money is forbidden. Despite these impediments,

One-Third of Theatre Firms Had '34 Profit

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Slightly more than one-third of the country's film theatre corporations, less than one-fourth of the producers and about 15 per cent of the legitimate theatre corporations operated "In the Black" in 1934, it was disclosed tonight by the Treasury Dep't.

An analysis of the 1934 corporation returns showed that of 3,668 theatre corporations, 168 of which were inactive during the year, only 1,327 had a net income on which taxes were paid. These concerns showed a gross income of $258,994,000, and net income of $19,804,000, on which they paid income taxes of $2,786,000 and excess profits taxes of $250,000. The 2,173 corporations which had no net income had a gross income of $194,072,000, but after deductions a deficit of $24,473,000.

Returns were filed by 293 produc-

Discussion Halted On Ticket Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Efforts of the House Ways and Means Committee to secure discussion of repeal of the admission and other nuisance taxes and demands that public hearings be held before any action is taken toward their continuance today cut short committee consideration of the Doughton bill to extend the levies.

In view of the smashing defeat yesterday of a revolt against the Administration on the relief bill it is not anticipated that the movement for repeal of the admission tax will make much headway, nor will public hearings be called if Representative Doughton of North Carolina, chairman, can prevent them.

No Final RKO Plan Is Seen Before Autumn

Alger Indicates Details Will Run That Long

Definite indications that RKO's reorganization plan will not be formally approved by the Federal court before next fall were given yesterday by Special Master George W. Alger at the conclusion of the day's hearing on opposition to the plan.

After setting June 10 for the resumption of the hearings on opposition to the plan, Special Master Alger stated that when all of the testimony is in, he would spend seven weeks studying the data and then would ask all interested parties to present arguments and briefs. This would require several additional weeks which would make it impossible for Special Master Alger to make his recommendations on the plan to the Federal court before the end of August, at the earliest. Additional hearings before Federal Judge William Bondy would be likely, thereafter, and as Judge Bondy plans to leave on a European vacation late in the summer, there appears to be

Painters Repudiate Strike Settlement

HOLLYWOOD, June 2.—Strike settlement terms proposed by Joseph Clarke, international vice-president of the painters' union after conferences with Dept. of Labor officials and I.A.T.S.E. men last night were repudiated by the painters by a 640 to 276 vote. Clarke was booed.

The painters refused to accept the proposal that the F.M.P.C. members return to work under the basic I.A.T.S.E. agreement under which they were to receive 10 per cent raises and union recognition. They insisted the guarantee of recognition and the promise of raises should be in writing.

Expect $31,000 Week On "Wings Honolulu"

"Wings Over Honolulu" is expected to wind up a week at the Roxy tonight with approximately $31,000. "Fifty Roads to Town" will be previewed at the theatre tonight.

The second week of "Turn Off the Moon" at the Paramount ended with about $25,000 with a stage show. The third week of "Captains Courageous" at two-a-day at the Astor tallied close to $14,000. "Make Way for Tomorrow" in its fourth week at the Criterion garnered about $7,000. The 14th week of "Lost Horizon" at two-a-day prices at the Globe got about $5,000.

ITOA Discusses Rentals

Increased film rentals were discussed yesterday at the I.T.O.A. meeting at the Astor with no action taken. Harry Brandt presided. The organization will hold an outing at Bear Mountain July 21.

"Girl No" on 2-a-Day

Grand National will open "The Girl Said No" on a two-a-day basis at the Shubert, Boston, at a date to be set soon.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Lady Escapes"

(20th Century-Fox)

Hollywood, June 2.—Even in expert hands sophisticated comedy-romance is a delicate undertaking; when essayed by those not quite so adept the results are not always as satisfactory as may have been anticipated. There's a lot of good material in "The Lady Escapes" that occasionally provoked hearty laughter. Likewise there are some good performances and characterizations. But somehow the whole thing doesn't jell in a manner that might excite audience enthusiasm.

Michael Whalen and Gloria Stuart, abetted by her mother, Cora Witherspoon, start squabbling before they are married. Their wedded life is a hectic affair, given to outbursts of temper and prop tossing. Whalen demands a divorce, but Miss Stuart, won't grant it unless he finds her another husband. Ensues an unsuccessful search. Finally, although Whalen loves Miss Stuart frantically, as she does him, George Sanders who has skipped out on June Brewster becomes involved with Miss Stuart in a Riviera romance. The climax, interluded by a burlesqued exhibition of the French art of self-defense, savette, eliminates Sanders in favor of Miss Brewster as Whalen and Miss Stuart decide that even though they may continue to squabble mightily, they still love each other.

With Gerald Oliver-Smith, Franklin Pangborn and several lesser lights contributing their talents in support of the mentioned principals, the picture is based on a novel by Eugene Heltai. Don Ettlinger did the screenplay and Eugene Forde directed.

Production Code Certificate No. 3,310. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Paris Commune"

(Amkino)

The Soviets in their latest film to reach this country offer a study of revolt in France. Specifically, it treats of the uprising of the Parisian workers in 1871.

In laborious sequences it tells of the troubles of the street-fighting forces in Paris and its suburbs, due to the lack of cohesion between the military and the governing council. The course of revolt is shaky. After a number of battles are fought the revolt is crushed, for the time being. It ends with labored heroics. As in previous pictures the fundamental revolutionary philosophy is revealed with heavy-handed delivery.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 100 minutes. "A."

"I Met Him in Paris," now being shown at the Paramount, was reviewed by wire from Hollywood on May 20.

"Fifty Roads to Town," tonight's preview at the Roxy, was reveiewd by wire from Hollywood on March 26.

"The Go-Getter," previewed by wire from the coast on April 26, opens at the Criterion tonight.

"Kid Galahad," at the Strand, "This Is My Affair," at the Radio City Music Hall, and "The Hit Parade," at the Rivoli, are holdovers.

No Loew Board Meeting

Loew's board meeting, scheduled for yesterday, will not be held this month, the reason being that the last session, called after two postponements, was held May 26.

Morris Schane, formerly with Leff-Meyers circuit, has taken over the Eagle, Brooklyn, and has reopened the house.

Variety Club

Kansas City

Kansas City, June 2. — Senn Lawler, Fox Midwest publicity and advertising director, "emceed" "The Three Short Waves," mimickers of film and radio great currently at the Fox Tower, for Variety Club members. Accompanying the "Waves" were Charley Murray, house manager and producer at the Tower, and Judy Conrad, Tower musical director.

About 60 barkers and guests attended the first meeting at which the Club itself prepared and served the luncheon. Guests included W. J. Cammer, Grand National; Ray Halpern, G. B. manager, guest of Barker Douglas Desch; Art Bowman, Nevada, Mo.; Lee Jones, Commonwealth, Harrisonville and Carrollton, Mo., with his young son; C. D. Struble, former film man now in the oil business, and Harry Hays of Warners in Indianapolis.

No Move Yet on Long Title Registrations

Despite a consensus of opinion among members of the M.P.P.D.A. title registration committee that registered title rights should remain exclusive for either three of four years, instead of the present two years, no formal proposal for altering the existing regulations has been drafted by the committee yet, it was learned yesterday.

As any change must be approved by the M.P.P.D.A. board before it becomes effective, there is no prospect of early action on the matter unless a proposal is drafted immediately for submission to the quarterly meeting of the M.P.P.D.A. later this month, it was stated. The M.P.P.D.A. board is not scheduled to meet thereafter until next fall.

Kusell's Exchange Leads Zukor Drive

Milt Kusell's exchange in New York has finished first in the recent 17-week Zukor Silver Jubilee drive. Boston took second place and New Jersey was third.

Irwin Lesser, New York salesman, scored highest in the 100 Per Centers division. Herbert Kaufman of the same exchange took second place and Bernie Brooks, New Jersey salesman, came in fifth.

Lesser will be among the 100 Per Centers leaving for the coast Sunday with the eastern and home office Paramount personnel to attend the annual sales convention which will get under way at the Ambassador June 10.

Midwest Remodeling Up

Kansas City, June 2.—Activity in theatre remodeling continues. A new building is being erected at Appleton City, Mo., by Crump Taylor to house his Plaza, for opening about June 20.

Frank Morris has opened his new Meade at Meade, Kan. The new 450-seat house cost approximately $20,000. Fred Lambert has set the opening of his new Lambert at Princeton, Mo., for June 23. Fire destroyed the house several months ago.

G. W. Bastin is remodeling his house at Atwood, Kan. The job will require about four weeks.

The 160 producing companies which were "In the Red" had a gross income of $29,753,000 but accumulated a deficit of $3,417,000.

There were 508 legitimate and vaudeville theatre corporations, 161 of which were inactive, the department reported. Taxes were paid by 75 which had a gross income of $6,987,000 and a net of $528,000, income taxes being $73,000 and excess profits taxes $6,000. The remaining 272 had gross income of $9,616,000, but a deficit of $2,971,000.

The department also analyzed the returns of 484 radio broadcasting corporations, 35 of which were inactive, finding that 197 were taxable with an aggregate gross income of $69,275,000 and a net of $8,205,000 on which income taxes amounted to $1,128,000 and excess profits taxes to $170,000. The remaining 252 corporations had a gross income of $11,828,000, but a deficit of $2,138,000.

A Good Idea

Kansas City, June 2. — James Long, manager of the Fox Plaza, reports good results in boosting the usually weak Thursday business. During the evening show, he holds a "question box," with selected patrons on the stage answering—or attempting to answer—questions previously sent in by other patrons.

They seem to enjoy the fun, and the box-office is reported to reflect their enjoyment.

Film Group Offers Reciprocity Plan

reciprocity plan is that it is intended to be optional. Distributors are offered the choice of complying with the quota obligations or of contracting out of them by acquiring foreign rights in British films. In practice this means that, assuming a picture bought for export to be 6,000 feet, the company purchasing it would be free to import, for distribution in England, 24,000 feet of its own product, or four features, free of any obligation to provide quota coverage for that footage in England.

Lincoln Houses Worried

LINCOLN, June 2. — Small exhibitors here are worried about the city's big competitive stunt during the summer. The city has five floodlighted ball parks and promotes city leagues. In 1936 attendance totaled 297,243 and admission is free. This year KFOR, with Harry Johnson at the mike, will further advertise the free games by airing one key game each week.

Chain Theatre Tax Passed in Pennsylvania for circuits of more than 500, $500 for each unit.

The measure carries a penalty of $50 to $100 for every day a store or theatre operates without a license. An appropriation of $151,517 is provided for the Dep't of Revenue to collect the tax. A number of Pennsylvania chain stores have closed on the assumption the Governor will sign the bill.

Governor Earle signed the "Little Wagner Act," applying principles of the Federal Wagner Act regarding relations of employers and employes in Pennsylvania. This law, which applies to theatre employers as well as others, creates a State Labor Relations Board to mediate labor controversies, recognizes the right of workers to bargain collectively and outlaws company-dominated unions. The board will be authorized to hear complaints of "unfair labor practices submitted by workers against employers."

Hearing for Divorce Bill

MILWAUKEE, June 2.—A hearing on the Senate and Assembly theatre divorcement bills was heard this afternoon before the Senate Committee on State and Local Government. No recommendations have been issued as yet.

Columbia Beats RKO

Columbia's baseball team defeated RKO, 9-5, on the Catholic Protectory Oval in the latest game of the M.P.A.L. series. It was the first defeat for RKO. Rocco pitched for Columbia.

Trade Endangered By War, Says Kent

he said, European revenues show a 30 per cent increase over last year.

Kent is optimistic concerning American business, saying that present times in the industry are comparable to 1929 despite the fact that admissions are 10 per cent lower and production costs 40 per cent higher.

A building and expansion program planned by 20th Century-Fox was detailed by Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of directors.

Of eight new sound stages planned on the 110 acres recently acquired adjoining the present studio site, three already are completed and two others are under construction, Schenck said. The other improvements include a new production department building, a second mill, new buildings to house technical departments and a general expansion of permanent exterior sets.

Schenck declared newspapers to be one of the most important factors in the world distribution of films. "There are many mediums through which we advertise our product to the world," he said, "but none has so far proven as far-reaching and effective as the daily newspaper."

John D. Clark stated that trade paper advertising will be greatly increased during the new season.

Addresses were also made to the delegates by Charles E. McCarthy, Harry Brand, Arch Reeve, Earl Wingart and Lee Balsley on publicity and advertising.

The several division managers held distribution sessions with district and branch managers during the afternoon.

France Honors Schenck

Hollywood, June 2. — Joseph M. Schenck yesterday received the rosette and ribbon of the French Legion of Honor from Georges Bonnet, French consul here.

20th-Fox Pact to Brown

Hollywood, June 2.—Harry Joe Brown has been given a long term contract by 20th Century-Fox as associate producer, Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production, stated today.

Percy Kent Services To Be Held Tomorrow

Los Angeles, June 2.—Funeral services will be held at the Pierce Brothers chapel in Los Angeles Friday for Percy R. Kent, 47, brother of Sidney R. Kent, 20th Century-Fox president, who died suddenly of spinal meningitis last weekend in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, following an emergency operation for mastoiditis.

Kent was formerly vice-president in charge of real estate for Fox West Coast, and recently had been doing similar work here for National Theatres. He is survived by his parents, two brothers besides Sidney R. Kent, a sister, two sons and a daughter by a former marriage, and his widow, the former Margaret Germo.

Convention glee was dimmed by the news.

George Skouras, head of Skouras Theatres, is accompanying the body to the coast where it is due today. No successor at National Theatres has been appointed.

20th-Fox Flashes

Los Angeles, June 2.—A. M. Van Dyke, division manager in Chicago, has been with the company for 20 years but this is the first convention held outside of Chicago that he has attended. John D. Clark didn't overlook anyone in his invitation to the field force.

The convention edition of the Los Angeles Times, a four-page and insert on "Slave Ship," carried the complete program of the conclave. It was the idea of Bob Doman. A boy was stationed at the Hotel Ambassador to pass the copies out to the delegates, but many passed it up, thinking that they would have to pay for it, the job was so realistically done.

Norman Manning is one of the busiest men at the convention. He's handling the arrangements for the big dinner of the conventionites and is known as one of the most efficient glad-handers in the business. He's made a specialty of arranging industry and studio gatherings.

The convention's press brigade, working under the supervision of Harry Brand, consisted of Milton Howe, in nominal charge, Dick Pittinger, and photographers Charles Goldie and Bill Winter, and Roger Ferri, of the home office.

Rochelle Hudson broke up her afternoon water painting session to be one of the guests of honor at the Monday meeting. She and Jean Hersholt were guests on Lowell Thomas' NBC program. The broadcast was not released locally, however.

The publicity department passed out a lot of pictures of conventionites to the local papers. But the first batch did not have photographs of Darryl Zanuck and Joe Schenck.

Harry Brand lost his hat and overcoat at the Ambassador. It was the first loss reported.

Hettie Grey Baker of the eastern censorship department is celebrating her 20th year with the organization.

The whole convention staff was thrown into an uproar when Darryl Zanuck couldn't find Lou Schrieber. He got him an hour later.

There was plenty of competition at this convention for the "Beau Brummel" honors. Up to a couple of years ago, "Jockey" Jack Needham of Cincinnati walked away with the honors. This year he received plenty of competition from Herman Beiersdorf, Dallas; Ira Cohn, Pittsburgh; Milton Simon, Chicago; Eddie Bergman, Cleveland; H. B. Kinzer, Kansas City; Jack Dillon, Los Angeles; Moe Levy, district manager; Charlie Clark, Oklahoma City and "Gentleman" Jim Grady, Cincinnati manager.

Lowell Thomas, chief commentator of Movietonews, had a private telephone wire established between here and his office in New York. While attending the convention, he is making his regular broadcast out of the Hollywood NBC station.

With three weddings of contract players during the week, Harry Brand pulled the best gag of the convention, saying: "Now that we have so many marriages, we have to break them up by importance—we have listed 'A' nuptials and 'B' nuptials."

Gordon and Revel have written a special piece dedicated to the sales force titled "We're in the Driver's Seat Now." They will sing and introduce it at the Cocoanut Grove banquet tonight.

For E. W. Hammons the start of the convention meant the celebration of the beginning of his 22nd year as president of Educational. As a matter of fact, May was known as Educational anniversary month.

Smith Ballew, the radio star, and Glenn Morris, two new Sol Lesser stars, were introduced to the boys. Ballew will be starred as the singing cowboy for the new Lesser and outdoor series.

The Buffalo manager, Sidney Sampson, came on ahead, combining business with his annual vacation. He spent his vacation with relatives here in Los Angeles.

Dan Michalove of Kent's New York staff took the opportunity of being here at the convention to renew old acquaintances.

Fred Dodson of Atlanta came to the convention as the No. 1 salesman on the basis of revenue performance since the first of the year.

consist principally of 30 theatres in Massachusetts, was approved by the courts several weeks ago.

The transfer of assets tomorrow formally concludes the five-year receivership of Olympia, one of the important Paramount theatre units and the last affiliate of the company remaining under court jurisdiction. New England Theatres will absorb and operate the Olympia houses. The part interest of Maine & New Hampshire Theatres in Olympia is to be adjusted with New England at a later date.

Para. Holds P. M. Jones

Hollywood, June 2. — Paul M. Jones, for several years assistant to William LeBaron at Paramount and more recently supervisor in the Harold Hurley unit, has been given a new deal by Paramount, signing a year's contract, with options for two more, as associate producer. Jones' first under the new pact will be the W. C. Fields' "A Bag of Tricks."

Para Sets 2 at Astor

Paramount will have two two-a-day attractions in a row at the Astor following "Captains Courageous." The first will be "Souls at Sea." This will be followed by "High, Wide and Handsome."

Educational List Equals This Year

prise 42 two-reel comedies and 46 one-reelers, divided into three series. The two-reel comedies will star Willie Howard, Imogene Coca, Buster West, Tom Patricola, Bert Lahr, Niela Goodelle, Jefferson Machamer, Herman Timberg, Jr., Pat Rooney, Jr., Harry Gribbon and others.

The one-reelers will include 26 Terry-Toons, cartoons produced by Paul Terry; 10 Treasure Chest productions, described as miscellaneous novelties; 10 Song and Comedy Hits, featuring comedians and singers of stage, screen, radio and night clubs.

Willie Howard and Imogene Coca are new additions to Educational's comedy star roster. Jefferson Machamer will continue the "Gags and Gals" series he started for the current season. The dancing team of West and Patricola will make six and Niela Goodelle will star in four musical comedies.

Truman Talley, producer of Movietonews, will be responsible for the 20th Century-Fox series of one-reeles, with Lew Lehr as editor.

Republic Is Seeking Big Starring Names

Los Angeles, June 2.—Republic franchise holders were told at the final session of their meeting here today that the studio is attempting to get bigger names for the new season's product. Moe Siegel stated that among other draw names James Cagney was being sought for at least one picture a year outside of his Grand National pact.

Franchise men were told that the system of unit production now in effect will be retained and that it has worked satisfactorily; that under the unit system producers and directors would be held responsible for cast names and that each man would be placed on his own to get names which, however, would be limited by the budgets of the pictures.

S. S. Milstein declared that the remaining five features on the 1936-37 program would be delivered as per agreements.

A number of franchise men went to Siegel asking that the coast publicity department be put in operation again. Siegel is reported to favor the move.

The meeting reconvened at the Republic lot for a buffet luncheon and a screening which was followed by a formal dinner dance and entertainment tonight at the Roosevelt.

Most of the delegates will leave for home tomorrow.

British Veteran Dies

London, May 25.—A. E. Mainwaring, film veteran died here at the Cinema Trade Benevolent Fund's home, "Glebelends." Starting with the Hepworth Co. in 1909, Mainwaring was manager of Western Import for Harry Aitken before the war. He was originally an actor.

Four Stations Are Licensed By the F.C.C.

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Operating licenses were granted today by the F.C.C. to four broadcasting stations, as follows:

Hearst Radio, Inc., San Francisco, KYA, 1,230 kilocycles, 1,000 watts night, 5,000 watts day; Marshall Electric Co., Marshalltown, Ia., KFJB, 1,200 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; Universal Broadcasting Co., Pine Bluff, Ark., KOYN, 1,500 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime only; and Navarre Broadcasting Ass'n., Corsicana, Tex., KAND, 1,310 kilocycles, 100 watts, daytime only.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division ordered hearings held on the applications for new stations of C. Bruce McConnell, Indianapolis, Ind., 1,500 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; Floyd A. Parton, San Jose, 1,330 kilocycles, 250 watts, daytime only; The Enterprise Co., Beaumont, Tex., 1,350 kilocycles, 250 watts night, 500 watts day; Waterloo Daily Courier, Waterloo, Ia., 1,400 kilocycles, 500 watts, daytime only; Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Salt Lake City, (television) 50,000 watts; and on the applications of Stations KMLB, Monroe, La., for change of frequency to 620 kilocycles and increase of power to 500 watts; KQW, San Jose, for increase of day power to 5,000 watts; WEED, Rocky Mount, N. C., for change of frequency to 1,240 kilocycles and increase of power to 500 watts and KSLM, Salem, Ore., for change of frequency to 1,360 kilocycles and increase of power to 500 watts.

Power Increases Granted

The commission authorized Station WHLB, Virginia, Minn., to increase its day power from 100 to 250 watts, and KSEI, Pocatello, Idaho, to increase day power to 1,000 watts.

On the recommendation of an examiner, construction of a new station at Middlesboro, Ky., by the Lincoln Memorial University was authorized on 1,210 kilocycles, 100 watts night, 250 watts day; and new stations at Sarasota, Fla., and Traverse City, Mich., were denied.

advanced, no further meetings of the committee will be called, Vincent said.

At the last meeting of the committee two weeks ago, representatives of all major companies with the exception of Warners assured the exhibitor group that they were equally desirous of preventing Hollywood broadcasts from competing with or injuring theatre business, and asserted that definite regulatory measures would be adopted covering the use of their stars or material on the air. Pending observation of the manner in which the regulated broadcasts are conducted, the M.P.T.O.A. committee is of the opinion that little more of a definite nature can be accomplished.

Producers of One Mind

Producers' representatives are emphatic, also, in asserting that nothing more than regulated supervision of Hollywood broadcasts is possible, and inasmuch as they have given assurance that this will be attempted, they believe nothing more can be accomplished by further meetings and discussion. All producing companies, it was revealed, are of the same mind as the M.P.T.O.A. radio committee on the potential dangers of unregulated radio broadcasting, but none is willing to substitute the judgment of the exhibitor committee for its own where corrective measures involving the use of its stars or film material on a program is involved.

Complaints from exhibitors will be investigated and dealt with, whenever warranted, it was said, but little hope is held of developing any definite set of rules to govern all Hollywood broadcasts. The exercise of good judgment and common sense in individual cases will achieve whatever regulation is possible or required, according to producers' representatives.

Discuss Richmond Deal Here

Here to confer with NBC about plans for the joining of WRTD, Richmond, Va., to the NBC network are Ovelton Maxey, resident manager of WRTD, and Campbell Arnoux, general manager. Arnoux is also manager of WTAR, Norfolk.

WTRD will begin operation and join NBC June 27.

Canada Gets "Houseboat"

"Houseboat Hannah," a transcribed Procter & Gamble program, has been placed on five Canadian stations by the Compton agency, New York office. The platters are aired in behalf of Chipso.

Stations which will carry the program are: CFRB, Toronto; CJRC, Winnipeg; CFCN, Calgary; CJOR, Vancouver; and CFCF, Montreal.

WOSU to Celebrate

COLUMBUS, June 2.—WOSU. Ohio State University station, will celebrate the 15th anniversary of its entrance into the educational radio field tomorrow. The station originally was established about 25 years ago as a "wireless," and did emergency service during the 1913 flood. It was licensed in 1922 as WEAO.

Slight Error

It happens in Hollywood, but in radio, too.

The Newell - Emmett agency yesterday delivered to NBC the script for the June 12 broadcast of "Snow Village Sketches," sponsored by the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co. "Snow Village Sketches" were formerly known as "Soconyland Sketches," sponsored by the Socony Oil Co. The change in sponsorship and title occurred months ago.

The delivered script was perfect in all but one detail. The title page read: "Soconyland Sketches."

Bidding Begun for Poughkeepsie Race

The special events war between the networks is on again, with the Poughkeepsie regatta as the prize this time.

CBS and NBC are bidding competitively for the rights to the race, with Mutual in the center. Mutual broadcast the regatta exclusively last year, with neither NBC nor CBS able to take the program due to commercial commitments. This year the schedules of all three networks are open for the regatta.

Not known is the amount NBC and CBS are quoting for the race. Mutual at the moment is standing pat on a gratis basis, the same as last year, although this network, too, may unfasten the purse strings any moment and make a cash bid. The word from 1,440 Broadway is that their feelings have been ruffled for the last time without retaliation.

Report Doug Connah To Take a New Post

Although confirmation could not be obtained from Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, it is learned that Doug Connah, who handled the agency's radio publicity, has resigned.

Connah was not available for comment when called at his home yesterday, but it is known that his resignation was tendered last week. It is said he has completed plans to join another agency. The identity of this organization, however, is not known at the moment.

Connah joined B. B. D. & O. several years ago from the CBS press department.

No Final RKO Plan Is Seen Before Autumn

little prospect of the final hearings being undertaken by him before October.

John Stover representing Ernest W. Stern, who had started a stockholders' suit in Maryland prior to the reorganization proceedings, placed several documents in evidence at yesterday's hearing but offered no oral testimony. Stover is objecting to the granting of 500,000 shares of RKO common stock to Rockefeller Center in satisfaction of the claims for breaching leases on the Music Hall and Center. Stover contends that damages should be limited to a maximum period of three years. He also asks that the claims of holders of debentures issued in 1931 be substantially reduced. David Stoneman, counsel for Iva McPherson and three other holders of Class A and common stock, contended that the 1928 transfer of 500,000 shares of Class B stock to RCA was illegal and without consideration. It was conceded by proponents of the plan that the contracts for the sale of equipment by RCA to RKO were to be at the usual market prices but Stoneman's offer to prove that broadcasting privileges were "of no value" was rejected by Special Master Alger on the ground that the proof would be too speculative.

George L. Schein, representing the independent protective committee, requested a three weeks' adjournment in order to complete his case which he has been conducting at the last two hearings, but Special Master Alger limited the request to one week. Schein charged that the proponents' proof was "haphazard" and that no evidence had been presented of the value of the new common stock or of the conversion rights for new debentures and new preferred stock. Carlos Israels, attorney for unsecured creditors, asked a speedy determination in order to allow his clients to receive payments on their claims.

Leo Spitz on Coast For RKO's Meeting

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Leo Spitz, president of RKO, is here to complete arrangements for the company's third international sales convention which opens June 16 at the Hotel Ambassador. He will also confer on new RKO product for 1937-'38.

Delegates from many points, local and foreign, are en route here for the coming meeting. Harry Leasim and Reginald Armour, Continental and Far Eastern manager, respectively, are now in New York and will start west shortly. Latin American General Manager Ben Y. Cammack is in Panama en route here by water; Claire E. Hilgers, with headquarters in Paris, has stopped in Dallas and will be here in a few days while Ralph Hanbury is aboard the Queen Mary due to arrive in New York next Monday.

Change "Taxi War" Title

HOLLYWOOD, June 2.—"A Fight to the Finish" has been chosen by Columbia as the final title for the film originally called "Taxi War."

Hearing Date Fixed On Four RKO Claims

Federal Judge William Bondy yesterday set June 14 for a hearing on the petition of the Irving Trust Co., RKO trustee, to settle upon consent four claims against RKO totaling $9,318,443, for $1,249,998.

The claims are based upon alleged breach of leases of theatres operated by RKO. The claim of the Broadway & 47th St. Corp. for $1,893,983 is to be settled for $500,000, the Hoblitzelle Investment Co. claim for $3,421,940 is to be settled for $211,982. The Hoblitzelle Realty Co. claim for $1,941,929 is to be settled for $168,885 and the claim of the Hoblitzelle Corp. for $2,060,489 is to be settled for $369,131.

Date Fox Brooklyn Hearing

A hearing on applications for fees and expenses in the reorganization proceedings of the Flatbush Ave. and Nevins St. Corp., owners of the Fox Brooklyn, was set for June 21 by Federal Judge William Bondy yesterday.

Moskowitz to Testify

Examination before trial of Charles C. Moskowitz, Loew executive, in connection with the I.T.O.A. suit on the split week booking policy of the major circuit, will be held today at Milton C. Weisman's office. Weisman is representing the independent exhibitor organization. Irving Greenfield, Loew attorney, will represent Moskowitz.

Denies F. W. C. Review

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The U. S. Supreme Court has denied to T. L. Tally and the Corbar Corp. a review of the Circuit Court ruling that it had no jurisdiction to consider the approval of the U. S. District Court of the reorganization of Fox West Coast Theatres under the Federal bankruptcy law.

Gas Strike May Shut Mexico City Houses

By JAMES LOCKHART

MEXICO CITY, June 2.—Closing of many local theatres here may be necessary as a result of the scarcity of gasoline and curtailing of transportation facilities by the petroleum strike which is now in its sixth day.

Neighborhood houses in heavily populated sections are being helped by the situation since patrons must of necessity attend theatres close to home rather than travel to the more distant sections.

Attendance at the large downtown houses consists principally of tourists and hotel guests.

Sign for New Sound

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Golden State Theatres have closed with Western Electric for Mirrophonic sound. Immediate installations will be made in the Central, Dimond and Fairfax, Oakland; State, Auburn; State, Monterey; Merced, Merced; El Camino, San Rafael; the California, Petaluma; Capitol, Sacramento; Uptown, Alexandria; Harding and Irving, San Francisco.

Ralph Seward, Regional Labor Board attorney, addressed the 400 writers who attended, telling them that they were classified as employes and had a right to bargain under the Wagner Act.

Ernest Pascal, retiring president, appointed Lillian Hellman, Dudley Nichols, Dalton Trumbo, Boris Ingster, Tess Schlesinger and Martin Burke as a steering committee.

A nominating committee headed by Wells Root was named.

Ask Wisc. License Bill

MADISON, WIS., June 2.—Labor organizers and business agents of unions would be licensed by the state under provisions of the McIntyre bill introduced in the state Assembly.

The license fee for organizers would be $100 a year and for business agent $25. To obtain a license, the applicant would be required to file with the Secretary of State a verified statement of his residence, citizenship and occupation in the event he engages in any other business. Licenses could be revoked by the Secretary of State either on his own motion or on petition of six residents of the state.

Milwaukee Truce Reached

MILWAUKEE, June 2.—A temporary truce has been agreed to between the Building Service Employes' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, and the Aragon, Milwaukee and National, local neighborhood houses, in the labor dispute which resulted in retaliatory picketing by the United Theatre Workers' union, C.I.O. group, before the Tower, Grace, Savoy, Garfield and Egyptian, all circuit controlled. It is believed that the state labor board will bring about a permanent settlement of the dispute.

K. C. Union Presents Terms

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—The Film Exchange Employes' Local No. 23, recently organized by I.A.T.S.E., has presented to exchange managers demands for recognition as exclusive bargaining agent, 40-hour week, vacations with pay, a closed shop, etc., and the following wages: head shippers, $40 a week; assistant shippers, $32.50; head inspectors, $30; assistant inspector, $25, and poster clerks, $30.

Exchange managers planned to forward the demands immediately to their home offices for action.

The union also asks that any agreement be retroactive to June 1.

Hold Exchange Scale Meetings

Meetings on the unionization of exchange employes were resumed yesterday with home office executives, union delegates and I.A.T.S.E. officials in attendance.

With delegates in town from Buffalo, New Haven, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, distribution representatives yesterday met with the upstate New York group. Today another delegation will meet with sales executives.

Within the past few weeks, distributors have completed arrangements with Boston and Philadelphia delegations.

Doyle Leaves Greater Union Theatre Group

Disposes of Interests, Too, Attorney Says

Stuart F. Doyle, managing director of Greater Union Theatres, Ltd., and 29 subsidiaries which have a total capitalization of $5,000,000, resigned yesterday (Friday) in Australia, after a reported disagreement on policy with the board of directors.

With his resignation, Doyle, through his New York attorneys, M. L. Willson of Walker & Redman, announced he had sold his entire holdings in the companies. The resignation will become effective June 30.

Doyle will concentrate on radio, film production and theatre operations. He has acquired a major interest in Commonwealth Broadcasting, one of the largest group of radio stations in Australia. He is also transferring his film production activities to England where an important British banking group will be associated with him. A number of stories have already been lined up for future production.

Two theatres, the Regent and Rex West End, are now being completed in London and will be operated by

House Unit Votes to Continue Ticket Tax

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 3.—By a strictly party division, the House Ways and Means Committee today voted, 18 to seven, to make a favorable report on the Doughton measure extending the admission and other nuisance taxes for a period of two years.

Prior to voting the report on the bill, the committee rejected proposals to repeal the taxes or to extend them for only one year.

Grosses Off in K. C. But Prospects Good

KANSAS CITY, June 3.—Grosses for theatres in this area are less than they were for the same period of 1936. This is borne out by both circuit and independent reports, and by a check of first run grosses here. The same report is made by Glen W. Dickinson of the Dickinson circuit, which has 25 houses in Kansas, western Missouri and southern Iowa.

Dickinson believes that within 60

Philadelphia Game Ads Put Under Ban

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Philadelphia newspapers were notified today by the local postmaster to eliminate direct or cryptic references in advertising copy to Bank Night and lotteries of all sorts.

Some theatres have been using such phrases as "Tonight's the Night," "It Pays to Go to the Blank Theatre," and the like in advertisements to indicate the nights on which the games are held.

Burkan's Estate Is Placed at $511,258

The late Nathan Burkan, attorney, left a net estate of $511,258, according to an accounting filed in Surrogate's Court by the executors yesterday. The bulk of the estate was left to the widow and six-year-old son, the principal to accrue to the latter on the widow's death.

Burkan's extensive library on copyright was bequeathed to Ascap, for which he was general counsel for many years. His law library was left to Charles Schwartz and Louis D. Frohlich, his partners and successors.

Roxy Plan Is Sanctioned by Judge Caffey

20th-Fox Must File Its Formal Entry in Case

Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey yesterday approved the reorganization plan for the Roxy under which 20th Century-Fox is given a 20-year lease on the house.

In a 30-page opinion, Judge Caffey also approved the report of Special Master Addison S. Pratt, who conducted the hearings on the plan during which 2,659 pages of testimony were taken, and also authorized 100 per cent payment to general creditors of the Roxy's equity receiver, together with full payment for the receiver's administration expenses. The court indicated that before signing a formal order approving the plan, however, 20th Century-Fox would be required to file a formal notice of appearance in the proceedings in order to bring the company within the court's jurisdiction for the purposes of the reorganization. Submission of the proposed new indenture and film franchise will also be required by the court.

Three major questions were treated by Judge Caffey. These were the solvency of the Roxy, the fairness of the proposed plan and the matter of payment to creditors of Harry G. Kosch, original equity receiver of the Roxy.

Judge Caffey held that the Roxy was "clearly proven" to be insolvent and, in consequence, neither unsecured creditors nor stockholders were granted participations in the plan. The

Looking 'Em Over

"Parnell"

(M-G-M)

Your reviewer left the Capitol Theatre last night telling himself M-G-M had added to its already illustrious reputation with the making of "Parnell."

The scene is London and Dublin. The period is the decade between 1880 and 1890 and the drama, the conflict between Charles Stewart Parnell, leader of the Irish Party, and William Gladstone, prime minister to England, over Home Rule for Erin. This is the stirring and historic background, but background largely it is. Implanted and drawing upon it as the motivation is the dominant, but fragilely handled love story of Parnell for Katie O'Shea and how that love drags him to his political and his actual death.

The muddy skirts of politics parade all through the drama. Parnell's adversaries seek to pin upon him forged letters tending to demonstrate he and his followers were guilty of murder. He is cleared, of course, but only at the fortuituous intervention of Mrs. O'Shea, who discovers the key to the truth. When her estranged husband fails to exact political favors from Parnell, his unscrupulous tactics lead to a divorce suit which names the Irish patriot as co-respondent and sounds his deathknell among the bigotries of late Victorian England.

His supporters deserting him, except for a handful, and his lifelong fight for Home Rule rudely and precipitously delayed, Parnell eventually succumbs to his weakened heart. Thus, he dies with his love by his side as he exorts his faithful political allies to fight for Ireland unitedly under whatever leader may follow.

Clark Gable is Parnell. Myrna Loy is Katie, and both are very good indeed. The long cast, including Edna Mae Oliver, Donald Crisp, Edmund Gwenn, Alan Marshall, Montagu Love, Billie Burke and others appear to have caught the spirit of the times and of the play they were enacting under John M. Stahl's sympathetic and well-tempered direction. The direction here is more toward undertones, rather than overtones, and the consequences assert themselves in nicely modulated and well-restrained moods throughout the 118 minutes of running time.

"Parnell" is emphatically worthwhile. Yet it may be that its enactment of periods and events far removed from the American scene perhaps will prove aloof for portions of audiences beyond the larger cities. This is not by way of necessarily stating that it will be, for the box-office, once again, will assert its habit of establishing the point or no.

On a pure approach of merit caught on the celluloid, however, this attraction properly deserves a high place in the current market. It also has Gable and Miss Loy as its two principals and their draw, of course, is not to be discounted.

"Clean Pastures"

(Vitaphone)

An entertaining satire on "Green Pastures." Things are not going so well in "Pair-O-Dice." Saint Peter sends Gabriel down to Harlem to gather converts from their sinful ways. Gabriel has little to attract the sinners. A heavenly council decides to inject rhythm into the sermons. The result empties the fleshpots and even the devil becomes a convert. It is well executed in color and various colored players are burlesqued. Production Code Seal No. 3,265. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"The Cocktail Party"

(Mentone-Universal)

A collection of second rate acts perform in a night club setting. Their turns are not highly original nor are they very entertaining. The talent includes Lucille Page, Iris Dooley, the Six Balabanows and Lew Parker. Production Code Seal No. 01,558. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Floridian Curiosities"

(J. H. Hoffberg)

Scenes of the clear springs in the southern state, the alligators and other natural flora and fauna. It is fairly well filmed. Norman Brokenshire comments. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Swing Stars"

(Rice-Paramount)

Interesting and lively scenes of golf from the manufacture and test- of the "pills" to professional play. Ted Husing comments. Also seen are Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Lawson Little and others. Production Code Seal No. 01,564. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Going Places No. 36"

(Universal)

Interesting and well filmed scenes of Nassau. Lowell Thomas' dialogue is enlightening. The short offers nice diversion. Production Code Seal No. 01,460. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Carmen"

(Astor)

Bizet's opera is condensed into nine minutes. Great liberties are taken with the original. The film, an English production, does not compare in invention, imagination or execution with lesser calibre native efforts. The coloring is flat and unappealing. Production Code Seal No. 01,586. "G."

"Vitaphone Pictorial Revue No. 10"

(Vitaphone)

This number includes scenes of a group of dancers practicing their steps on floats in a lake, preparation of breakfast for the clientele of a hotel, the raising of long-haired rabbits and the processes in the manufacture of Morocco leather. The last sequence is in color. Production Code Seal No. 01,579. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Slave Ship"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—With strong dramatic emphasis this picture tells of a sordid chapter in American maritime history, the slave trade which flourished in the middle of the 19th Century, and with that hard and dangerous practice serving as a background for the romance of a slave ship captain and a young and innocent girl with whom the captain falls in love in Salem, Mass.

Perhaps the film will be found to have somewhat too much of the sordid, in picturing the lashing and chaining of slaves in the hold of the ship, the trick of tossing them overboard, chained to an anchor in order to escape the consequence of the discovery of evidence of slave trading aboard, since the penalty is death.

Warner Baxter is the captain, Elizabeth Allan his wife, Wallace Beery the unscrupulous and hard first mate, Mickey Rooney the cabin boy. To young Rooney must go performance honors, since he comes close to stealing the picture. It may be considered unfortunate that he is made to appear such a young ruffian, the only explanation being the circumstances of his shipboard environment.

Nunnally Johnson, associate producer, and Tay Garnett, director, have given the story punch and pace, made of it strong entertainment, with occasional flashes of comedy, occasional romantic interludes which never become too sentimental. There are sequences of excellent photography at sea. The story came from the pen of William Faulkner, based on a book by George S. King, and the screenplay was prepared by Sam Hellman, Lamar Trotti and Gladys Lehman.

Baxter, in from a successful slave run, accidentally meets and falls in love with Miss Allan. He orders the slave crew discharged, plans to quit the trade, buy a plantation in Jamaica with his wife. But Beery disobeys orders, and only after the ship is at sea does Baxter realize his slave crew is aboard. They take the ship from him, make him agree to sail to Africa on pain of harming his wife.

In Africa, the slaves aboard, they leave Baxter ashore, but he makes the ship and with his wife takes possession of the wheel, the chart house and the guns. Not able to make the United States, he steers for St. Helena, British post, and is arrested as a slaver. Rooney is the ruse by which the men hope to trick Baxter, but the boy remains loyal and a stirring climax finds the ship ablaze, Beery dead, most of the men killed and the slaves freed. Tried, Baxter is acquitted after an impassioned appeal by Miss Allan, and with Rooney they arrive at the Jamaica plantation.

Production Code Seal No. 3,087. Running time, 94 minutes. "G."

"Midnight Madonna"

(Major-Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—Mady Correll, a promising newcomer endowed with good looks, talent and with only some added experience needed to establish her prominently, is here given an auspicious debut. Playing the part of a persecuted mother, she handles herself with the poise and dignity certain to provoke commendation. Second to her, four-year-old Kitty Clancy appears to have the material of which stars are made. Adequately supported by a competent cast in which Warren William and Edward Ellis are outstanding, Miss Correll and Kitty are the central figures in an appealing human interest drama.

The story theme follows the thesis that crime is required to correct a miscarriage of justice.

Miss Correll and her child are cut off from an inheritance at the death of her husband when Robert Baldwin proves, by perjured testimony that she is not a fit person to be the child's custodian. The child is awarded to Baldwin. William, who had previously befriended the poverty stricken mother and child and who is romantically attracted to the woman, kidnaps Judge Ellis, who awarded Kitty to Baldwin. In devious ways he proves that Baldwin's witnesses were perjurers.

Ordering the reopening of the case on condition that William stand accused of the crime he committed to rectify the more heinous crime, Baldwin is jailed and William, Miss Correll and Kitty are sent on the way to new happiness.

The emotion-stirring quality of David Boehm's original has been intelligently adapted by Doris Malloy and Gladys Lehman. James Flood directed with an eye toward arousing the interest of womenhood. The film will fill a worthy spot on any program as it has plenty in addition to the appeal of the new personality to stimulate interest-creating showmanship.

Production Code Seal No. 3,043. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

(N. Y. C. Housing Authority)

The progress of the Housing Authority in converting slum district houses into healthy and livable homes is aptly reported in this documentary film. It may be had without charge on application to the bureau. It deserves widespread playing due to its interest to the entire film-going public. Nationwide distribution plans will be set shortly. No production code seal. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Safety in the Air"

(Paramount)

Enlightening stuff concerning the scientific precautions exercised by airlines. The material illustrates radio beams, blind flying and other principles in actual use. It is well photographed. It should prove of interest to the majority of audiences. Production Code Seal No. 01,569. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Steel Workers"

(Universal)

Meany, Miny and Moe, the animated apes, follow routine in this cartoon. They get jobs as riveters and there follows much exciting tomfoolery. It holds to standard lines but should satisfy. Production Code Seal No. 2,769. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Double Talk"

(Vitaphone)

The recent popularity over the radio of Edgar Bergen and his "Charlie McCarthy" should prove adequate in luring the customers in to see this short. In its way it is entertaining. The situations are cleverly written. The plot concerns the adoption of the dummy by a rich woman. "Charlie" makes himself obnoxious to his own detriment. Production Code Seal No. 0,961. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Hollywood Magic"

(J. H. Hoffberg)

Little known activities in the studios are treated here. The reel shows insect exterminators, jewelry duplication, food faking and the other illusions. It holds interest. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 10½ mins. "G."

"Please Keep Me in Your Dreams"

(Fleisher-Paramount)

A bouncing ball song number. It contains the usual jocular newsreel stuff and features Henry King's band and a solo by Barbara Blake. Production Code Seal No. 01,159. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

Flash Previews

"Grandeur and Decadence"—From France comes this story of a fisherman's rise to commercial success. Plenty of English subtitles.

"Episode"—Set in Vienna in 1922, "little cinemas" should be able to use the Continental flavor of this light production profitably.

These films will be reviewed in full in a coming issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

Roxy Plan Is Sanctioned by Judge Caffey

court pointed out that the special master's findings that the Roxy's assets had a value of $7,200,000 were "most liberal" and a finding of a lesser value would have been sustained, the opinion stated. With liabilities of $7,400,000, insolvency was "clearly proven," Judge Caffey found.

"The tragic outcome for Class A stockholders is most unfortunate," the opinion said. "It appeals to one's sympathy. Nevertheless, there is no escape from the court's attitude to enforce the law which definitely accords priority to the secured creditors."

On the fairness of the plan, Judge Caffey stated, "In my opinion the court would be without a shadow of excuse if it should compel secured creditors to endure further prolonged hazard which would be inevitable if the plan were disapproved. I feel, therefore, that the plan is fair, equitable and feasible. I agree with the applications for the approval of the plan that the proposals of the release of their expectations is as good as they probably ever could negotiate. The opposition which would be inevitable if the plan does not impress me as including any special grounds for refusing approval of it."

Judge Caffey overruled all exceptions to the special master's report.

Reserves ITOA Suit Ruling

Justice Ferdinand Pecora in N. Y. Supreme Court reserved decision yesterday on a motion by the Gotham Amusement Corp. and six other operators of independent houses to transfer from the Municipal Court to the Supreme Court seven actions in which the I.T.O.A. seeks to collect back dues from the theatre operators totaling $967. These actions are related to the suit brought by Gotham and the other operators against the I.T.O.A., the Allied M.P. Operators' Union and Local 306. In this action Gotham seeks to have set aside as invalid contracts between the defendant organizations.

Warners Ask Case Transfer

Casino Prod., Inc., and Yermi Stern have filed suit against Warners for $500,000 damages. The plaintiffs charge the defendants with libel in connection with the picture, "Go Into Your Dance." The suit was revealed when Warners filed a petition in the N. Y. Supreme Court yesterday asking that the case be transferred to the Federal Court.

Delay Moskowitz Hearing

Examination of Charles C. Moskowitz, scheduled for yesterday at Milton C. Weisman's office in connection with an I. T. O. A. suit on the split week policy of the major circuit, has been delayed until next Thursday. Melvin Albert of Weisman's office asked for the postponement.

the operation of a new 1,100-seat theatre now being built at Helsingfors, Finland. The Finland deal is the first of its kind in two years for the company, Lange said, and no other expansion moves are contemplated.

"We are looking forward to the future with optimism and the renewal of our lease of the Joinville studio is another indication of it."

Lange will leave Sunday with other Paramount men for the coast to attend the annual sales meetings.

A sales meeting of European sales forces will be held in the fall. Lange will sail for home the end of the month.

Argentine Sales Drop

WASHINGTON, June 3. — European competition and adverse exchange conditions have retarded sales of American projection equipment in Argentina, according to a report to the Dept. of Commerce from Joe D. Walstrom, assistant trade commissioner in Buenos Aires. Of 550 houses in the country equipped with adequate apparatus, 265 have American equipment.

With the completion of the Buffalo arrangement, this makes the third exchange center in which union employes have been recognized by distributors. Boston and Philadelphia territories have been working under similar deals for the past few weeks.

Union delegations from Pittsburgh and Cleveland are in town and are expected to sit down with distributors' representatives today.

Honor Newsreel Men

Medals of distinction have been awarded by the Italian Government to Herve Missir and Arturo Giordani, newsreel cameramen who covered the Ethiopian war from the Italian side, according to word received by A. J. Richard, newsreel editor.

Allied to Meet June 10

Allied of New Jersey will hold a statewide meeting of New Jersey exhibitors at the Berkeley-Carteret, Asbury Park, June 10. Lee Newbury, president, and Sidney Samuelson will give a report on the recent national convention in Milwaukee.

Grosses Off in K.C., But Prospects Good

days, however, exhibitors should begin to feel the benefits of good crops. Harvesting of wheat begins in Kansas in June, and some marketing will start as soon as the grain is combined. General rains recently have assured many sections a good wheat crop, and have gone a long way toward "making" the corn. Rains in western and southwestern Kansas, the "dust bowl," were heavy and widespread during the week, and will suffice to save part of the crops there, it is said. Some observers predict the best farm year in 10.

Iowa Outlook Promising

DES MOINES, June 2.—The general prospect throughout Iowa for unusually good farm crops this season has encouraged theatre owners to remodel. Dan Smith, at Pella, Ia., has redecorated and air conditioned the Pella, the Princess at Britt has been remodeled, J. A. Meredith has remodeled the Garden at Sigourney, new sound equipment and screen have been installed in the Alta at Alta, Manager Nordhus reopened the Strand at McGregor, and the State at Allison has been reopened.

slate of officers or councillors, the primary object of the opposition tickets being the capture of as many places on the council as possible. E. J. Blunkall, an actor, who is opposing Gillmore, is the only opposition nominee for an officer's post.

The Equity membership also will vote on a proposal for reducing the salaries of the president and secretary-treasurer of Equity, reducing membership dues and inauguration of secret balloting. All three proposals have been disapproved by the council.

Discussion of Equity's plans for organizing radio talent may also occupy the meeting, although no action is called for by the membership on this. All groups within Equity are in favor of the radio organizing move, so it will not be an issue at the meeting.

Songwriters Conferring

Committees representing the Songwriters' Protective Ass'n and the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n conferred again yesterday without reaching an agreement on the writers' proposal to reclaim recording and synchronization rights from the publishers. The latter have offered 50 per cent of the rights on classical music and 40 per cent of the rights on popular music to the S.P.A. Further discussions are scheduled for a meeting of the committees on June 10.

Wanger Picks 'Carelessly'

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—"Carelessly" has been selected by Walter Wanger as the final title of the film previously known as "Summer Lightning." It will go into production shortly.

George Givot Married

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—George Givot and Maryon Dorothy Curtis were married today at Givot's home in the San Fernando Valley.

Doyle Leaves Greater Union Theatre Group

Doyle. He plans to leave shortly on an extended South Seas cruise before assuming his new duties.

Doyle has been with Greater Union for 30 years. No successor has been named by the board, comprised of eight local men, who will continue the management of the company.

Negotiations between Hoyts, 20th Century-Fox subsidiary, and Greater Union, which have been on and off for the past few months, are expected to be resumed following the return of Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox, and Walter J. Hutchinson, foreign manager, from the coast next week. The talks are to be held in the hope of continuing the five-year partnership arrangement between the two Australian circuits.

Kenneth Asprey, Greater Union attorney from Australia, has been discussing the partnership deal here with Charles Munro, managing director of Hoyts. He will accompany Munro when the latter leaves for Sydney on June 25.

Is Sheriff Candidate

LOUISVILLE, June 3. — Sylvester H. Grove, who has operated a string of neighborhood houses for the past 26 years, and is president of the Park-View Amusement Co., has filed with County Clerk John P. Grieb as a candidate for Sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Montreal Youngsters Allowed to See Film

MONTREAL, June 3.—For the first time in approximately 10 years thousands of Montreal school children saw the presentation of a film in a local theatre when the Quebec Government granted special permission for sponsored juveniles to see the Coronation pictures on the screens of five houses, despite the act prohibiting the admission of persons under 16 years.

Following the agitation of press and public that the children of Montreal were not being permitted to view the Coronation films, the Provincial authorities granted the concession. Classes of children trooped to the shows under escort of teachers and police for three days, no charge being made for the brief performances at designated morning hours. The theatres which co-operated were the Palace, Capitol, Princess, Imperial and His Majesty's.

Production Levels Again Hold at 40 seven, two and seven; Universal, two, three and two; Wanger, two zero and one; Warners, six, one and 29.

Pictures finished were: Paramount, two; Columbia, Goldwyn, Roach, 20th Century-Fox and Warners, one each.

Columbia and RKO each started a short, making the total in work three.

RKO to Award Prizes

Prizes will be awarded at RKO's sales convention in Los Angeles to the winners in the company's three sales drives. The contests are: The Jules Levy Fifth Anniversary Billing and Sales Campaign, The March of Time Billing and Sales Drive and the 21-week Accessory Sales Contest.

Berlin to Do RKO Score

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—Irving Berlin, composer of the Astaire-Rogers melodies for "Top Hat" and "Follow the Fleet," will write the complete score for the dancing team's next film which Pandro S. Berman will produce for RKO in the fall.

Briskin Signs Friml

HOLLYWOOD, June 3. — Rudolph Friml has been signed by S. J. Briskin to write the score for "Music for Madame" which Jesse L. Lasky will produce. Nino Martini is to star.

Additionally, Gus Kahn has been engaged to collaborate with Friml.

Marshall in RKO Relations Post

Fred A. Marshall, for many years in press, exploitation and managerial work, has been named by Leon J. Bamberger to the position of RKO western district public relations representative.

"Galahad" Gets $41,000

"Kid Galahad" tallied approximately $41,000 during the first week at the Strand. "Pick a Star" garnered about $13,000 at the Capitol. Alterations at the latter house last week are said to have affected the take.

French Films to Belmont

The Belmont has booked "Maternite," a French production, to follow the current "Grandeur et Decadence." "Under His Spell" is also scheduled for an early showing.

No Time for Dual

Kansas City, June 3.—So surprised was C. E. Esterley by having to turn away customers who came to see "Waikiki Wedding" at the Bijou he took off the other feature and spent money advertising the fact.

"We're sorry we couldn't handle the crowds the last four nights—lots of folks said they wish we would run a big picture like this on a single bill," read the advertisement in the Star. "Guess they wanted to see it twice, instead of sitting thru another feature they weren't interested in, so here it is with a fine program of short subjects added. Let's see if you really want a good single feature program. If so, there will be more to follow."

K. C. Circuit Starts Singles Experiment

KANSAS CITY, June 3. — Mutual Theatres, W. D. Fulton and Stanley Schwartz's independent circuit of seven houses here, has started an experiment with single bills for the entire group.

The Brookside, new southside unit of the group, several weeks ago started a similar experiment, but used only one single bill because it discovered an 18-day combination in "Times Square Lady" and "Jungle Princess." Others of the group here are the Southtown, Tivoli, Colonial, Strand, Mokan and LaSalle. Fulton and Schwartz also operate the State, Kansas City, Kan., and the Howard, Arkansas City, Kan.

Kansas City theatres, including first runs, are doubling more than 90 per cent of the time. Only the Fox Plaza, which now is advertising the fact, shows single features only.

Butte: J. H. Sheffield, J. Rogers.

Portland: Harold Sheffield, Sid Tewksbury.

Labor Organization Hits Theatre Bills

not interested in monopoly as much as in protection for the men employed.

The bills were declared discriminatory by opponents and described as likely to build up barriers between the states. The proponents of the measures argued that when the alleged monopoly which they said is now threatening the independents is complete labor will suffer.

Advertising Not Taxed

KANSAS CITY, June 3.—Newspaper advertising is not taxed under the new two per cent sales levy which went into effect June 1, the State Tax Commission in Kansas has ruled. But sales of newspapers, magazines, periodicals, trade journals, etc., "are tangible personal property and the receipts from retail sales thereof; i.e., sales to purchasers who use the same and do not purchase them for resale, are taxable." However, publishers may make returns for agents or newsboys.

Mass. Film Bills Fail

BOSTON, June 3.—The Massachusetts Legislature has closed a session in which a large number of bills viewed by film leaders as unfavorable to the business failed to pass. Among the bills defeated were ones that would have established a two per cent sales tax, a chain store tax, regulation of billboards by individual cities and towns. Bills to outlaw pari-mutuals and Beano, favored by theatres, were also defeated.

To Ask Nebraska Stay

LINCOLN, June 3.—Members of the Omaha M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n were told today by Assistant Attorney General Robinson that he would ask on Monday for a Supreme Court injunction against Bank Night until the court can pass on the recent Beatrice, Neb., decision by Judge Fred Messmore classifying Bank Night as a lottery.

Louisville's Lead Is Taken by "Moon"

LOUISVILLE, June 3.—"Turn Off the Moon" and "Night of Mystery" at the Rialto made the best showing on an otherwise dull week. The take was $5,500, over the line by $1,000.

"A Star Is Born" and "A Family Affair" did a good $3,100 on the second downtown week at the Brown. This was $600 over normal. The bill was held for an additional seven days.

Takings at other downtown houses were below normal.

Total first run business was $23,000. Average is $23,000.

Film Congress in Paris

PARIS, June 3.—For the first time since its creation two years ago, the International Film Chamber will hold its annual congress in Paris, from July 5 to 10. It is expected that 15 European countries will send delegates. The headquarters of the chamber will remain in Paris until 1939. Neither England nor the United States has participated in the past, but it is anticipated that the move from Berlin to Paris may lead to decisions by those countries to take part.

"Go-Getter," Lombardo Top In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 3. — Summer continued to affect grosses last week. The Earle topped the town, taking $20,500 on "The Go-Getter," to exceed average by $2,100. Guy Lombardo and his orchestra are credited with a generous share of the draw.

"The Good Old Soak," with Paul Whiteman and his orchestra at Loew's Capitol, took $19,400, to drop $1,500 below par. Loew's Columbia did nicely on a return engagement of "Wake Up and Live," taking $4,900.

"Romeo and Juliet" at Loew's Palace took $17,800.

Total first run business was (excluding the National) $75,300. Average is $76,700.

Crosby Gaige's "Kitchen Cavalcade," heard five times weekly on NBC, leaves the network for the summer following today's broadcast. Gaige, however, has been re-signed and will return to the airways Sept. 6. Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc., handles the account.

Albert Crockett Joins Agency

Albert Crockett has joined the Birmingham, Castleman & Pierce agency, where he will act as publicity director. Crockett is a former hotel publicist, and has written several novels.

P. & G. Signs Renewals on Nine Series

The tidiest mass renewal in years was effected yesterday when Procter & Gamble, largest network sponsor in radio, signed one-year renewal contracts for nine programs on NBC. The nine shows represent 68 broadcasts a week over the Red and Blue networks.

The shows renewed are "Ma Perkins" for Oxydol; "Vic and Sade" for Crisco; "Personal Column of the Air" for Chipso; "The O'Neills" for Ivory Soap; "Gospel Singer" for Ivory Soap; "Story of Mary Marlin" for Ivory Snow; "Pepper Young's family" for Camay Soap; Jimmy Fidler for Drene Shampoo; and "Guiding Light" for White Naptha Soap.

All shows but one, which was renewed last March for one-year, will begin their new contract period June 28.

Time Changes Impend

Several cancellations and changes in broadcasting time for additional Procter & Gamble programs are in the offing. Beginning June 28, "The Story of Mary Marlin" moves from its Blue time, 5:15 P. M., E. D. S. T., to 10 A. M., E. D. S. T., Mondays through Fridays, the time now occupied by Captain Tim Healy. The "Woman's Magazine of the Air," an NBC-Pacific coast feature, and Barry Wood's program, a Blue network feature, are to be discontinued. Also cancelled are the Wednesday and Friday Red network programs. This team, however, will continue to be heard at two other periods on the Red and Blue networks.

The Compton agency handles all the above accounts and programs.

"Kitty Keene" Now on KDYL

SALT LAKE CITY, June 3.—"Kitty Keene, Inc.," a five-times-a-week transcribed serial, is now heard on KDYL. The contract, for 52 weeks, is for Procter and Gamble, through the Blackett-Sample-Hummert agency.

Release New Script Series

The Script Library is releasing three summer twosome series—"Oh Jenkins," a comedy; "Murder in the 400," a mystery, and "Love Is a Word," romance. The scripts are especially planned and written for stations curtailing summer budgets, or anticipating smaller staffs due to vacations.

Fourth Dance Exchange June 10

The fourth in a series of dance exchange programs between CBS and BBC will feature Bunny Berrigan's band, June 10, at 6:30 P. M., E.D.S.T. The program will be heard over W2XE only for the first 15-minutes of the half-hour show. It will be heard over the CBS network from 6:45 to 7 P. M.

Biow & Co. to Move

Biow & Co., Inc., now located at 444 Madison Ave., has leased the 25th floor of 9 Rockefeller Plaza, effective July 1. The new space is considerably larger than the agency's present quarters.

CBS Billings Up

CBS billings for the month of May totaled $2,552,374, an increase of 45.9 per cent over the same month last year. The percentage of increase is an unusually high one in CBS revenue totals.

The cumulative total for the first five months of the year is $12,318,505, an increase of 27.2 per cent over the corresponding five months in 1936.

The NBC and Mutual time billings are not yet available.

CBS Sets Schedule For Latin Salutes

CBS has set a schedule of salute programs to Latin-American countries over its short wave station, W2XE. The schedule will begin June 20, and 22 nations in all will be saluted in the feature, to run 13 weeks.

The plan calls for short addresses to be given by Latin-American consuls and ambassadors in this country, and music by Vincent Sorey's orchestra.

The nations to be saluted include Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Cuba, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Mexico, Colombia, Equador, Peru, Panama, Salvador, Nicaragua, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Venezuela, Paraguay and Uruguay.

Joe Penner to Take Rest

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—The Joe Penner show definitely goes off the air for the summer, from June 27 to Oct. 3, with no replacement, according to Ruthrauff & Ryan. When the show resumes, the same supporting cast will be used. The program originally was scheduled to stay on, with Penner vacationing for the summer.

Jack Joy Goes to KHJ

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—Jack Joy, who recently resigned his post as production manager at KFWB after six and a half years there, has joined KHJ as program director. He succeeds Don Bernard who quit two months ago.

To Hold "Story of Industry"

"The Story of Industry," a CBS feature presented by the U. S. Dep't of Commerce, will be continued throughout the summer at the same time, Saturdays from 3:30 to 3:45 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Change Armin-Varidy Name

Armin-Varidy has changed its firm name to Varidy of Vienna. Last Sunday the company's Mutual program added another station to its network, WHKC, Columbus. The program is now heard over 10 stations.

Les Weelans Goes to KDYL

DENVER, June 3.—Les Weelans is leaving KLZ having resigned his position as musical director to go to Salt Lake City where he will join the staff of KDYL.

"Hit Parade" Renewed

The American Tobacco Co.'s "Hit Parade" series on NBC has been renewed for the summer, effective June 30. Lord & Thomas is the agency.

Parker-Alice Faye Go to Chesterfield

Frank Parker and Alice Faye yesterday were signed to replace Lily Pons and Kay Thompson, respectively, on the Chesterfield cigarette programs, both of which are CBS features.

Parker will take over the vocal lead in the Wednesday evening series beginning June 30. His final broadcast on the Jergens-Woodbury "Rippling Rhythm" program will be heard June 27. His contract is for 13 weeks, with options for 26 more.

The price paid for Parker's service has not been made public, although it is known that the Chesterfield assignment marks the biggest money date for Parker yet.

The Friday evening Chesterfield program will shift from New York to Hollywood for the July 2 broadcast, at which date Alice Faye will succeed Kay Thompson. The program will remain in Hollywood indefinitely. Hal Kemp's orchestra will be retained.

Newell-Emmett Co. handles the programs for Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Scophony Has New Home Vision Machine

LONDON, May 25.—In a statement to shareholders, Scophony, Ltd., the television company in which Arthur Levey, Oscar Deutsch and S. Sagall are interested, claims that its technical staff has developed a home receiver giving a picture 24 inches by 22 inches "of a quality comparable with that of the average home cinema" and that its Medium receiver gives a dependable picture, five feet by four feet, for cinema use.

This screen, says the statement, is designed for small cinemas, public viewing halls, schools, hotels, etc.

Scophony has received an order from the Soviet Government for both transmitting and receiving apparatus for the first Soviet television station at Moscow.

Ray Perkins Starts June 20

An important new sustaining period will begin a summer stay on WOR June 20, when Ray Perkins inaugurates a full-hour series, from 9 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T. The series will mark Perkins' first return to radio hereabouts since last year, when he appeared as em cee on the National Amateur Hour.

Perkins will be assisted by Joe Browning, Helene Daniels, a trio, a quartet, Willard Amison, Sid Gary and Nat Brusiloff's orchestra.

Expect Rubinoff Talent to Stay

When Rubinoff returns to New York from Hollywood for the June 20 broadcast, Josephine Antoine and Edward Marshall will be heard in the singing leads. It is believed that Miss Antoine and Marshall will remain on the series permanently, although this could not be confirmed.

The series is a CBS feature, sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Co. through Campbll-Ewald Co.

Renew on NBC Library

Three more stations have renewed their subscriptions to the NBC Thesaurus, recorded program service. KGBX, Springfield, Mo., takes the service for the third year, while KGEL, San Angelo, Tex., and CFRC, Kingston, Ont., have signed for their second.

20th-Fox in Court to Spur Plan on Roxy

Formal Order Awaiting Terms of Franchise

In an effort to speed final confirmation of the Roxy organization plan, 20th Century-Fox, which obtains a 20-year lease on the house under the plan, made a formal appearance in the proceeding yesterday in order to subject itself to the court's jurisdiction, as directed by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey in approving the plan on Thursday.

Judge Caffey asserted that no formal order confirming the plan would be signed until the terms of the 20-year film franchise to be issued by 20th Century-Fox for the Roxy, and the final terms of the new Roxy mortgage indenture had been submitted to him. Otto E. Koegel of Hughes, Schurman & Dwight, attorneys for 20th Century-Fox, reported that the film franchise had been drawn already and assured the court that

Chase Sells 6,048 Shares of 20th-Fox

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Disposition by the Chase National Bank in April of 816 shares of 20th Century-Fox common and 5,232 shares of the $1.50 cumulative preferred held under escrow agreement was reported today by the S.E.C.

At the close of the month, the commission's semi-monthly summary of stock transactions showed, the bank still held 236,991 shares of common and 694,182 shares of the preferred.

The 20th Century-Fox report also showed that John D. Clark, New York, director, sold 200 shares of

Buchanan Will Make Five for This Year

LONDON, May 26.—The program of Jack Buchanan Prod., Ltd., of which J. Arthur Rank is chairman, is to include five features to be made this year at Pinewood for General Film Distributors release, and from eight to 10 in 1938.

The average cost will be about £60,000. Buchanan will star in three of the first pictures, one of which is scheduled to co-star Adele Astaire under the direction of Rene Clair. The biggest feature of the 1938 program will be John Gielgud's "Richard of Bordeaux," in color.

Five More Exchange Cities Agree on Wages and Hours

Tentative agreements were completed this week between home office distributor representatives and exchange union delegations from five key cities—Buffalo, New Haven, Cleveland, Washington and Pittsburgh. This makes a total of seven situations where I.A.T.S.E. unions have been recognized by film companies, the other two, Boston and Philadelphia, having been set several weeks ago.

Under the terms of the temporary contracts, a minimum working schedule of 40 hours a week and wage scales have been agreed upon. All other details are now being worked out with contracts to be signed as soon as lawyers for distributors and union get together on the language to be included.

The percentage of increases vary in each situation and with each company. There has been no uniform wage scale up to now and the larger companies are understood to have been paying employes more than the lesser firms. Under the set wage scale to be adopted with the signing of the

Browne Will Write Strikebreaker Ban

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—What appears to be the final solution to the muddled strike situation here was worked out today when George Browne, I.A.T.S.E. president, agreed to put in writing the guarantee to makeup men that strikebreakers doing makeup work and drafting will be removed from the studios. A high official of the makeup men agreed to present Browne's proposition to the organization with assurances of pushing it through. Under its terms the makeup men go over to the I.A.T.S.E.

If this is effected, the painters and scenic artists, having been already granted a union shop, pay raise and reentry to the basic pact, will have nothing more to strike for.

Strikers are hard hit by lack of funds, many applying for relief. The longshoremen's and sailors' unions are

Study Love Call

Rochester, June 4.—When the 17-year locusts start their love calls next month Harold F. Sherman of Eastman Kodak is going to try to photograph the mechanism of their voices with soft X-Ray machines.

Scientists have figured out that if they could understand what makes a locusts' love call so loud and so effective they might be able to invent a way of silencing it.

A silent locust, they figure, would be practically a bachelor.

G. B. Sales Meet Set For June 25-27 Here

G. B. will hold its sales convention in New York June 25-27 at the St. Moritz, according to Arthur A. Lee, vice-president.

George W. Weeks, general sales manager, is now on his way back from the coast. He will present the company's lineup for the new season.

Oscar Deutsch Gets 12 More in England

LONDON, May 26.—Oscar Deutsch, for Odeon Theatres, has obtained control of London and Southern Super Cinemas' 12 halls, mostly in the South of England and including in London the Bloomsbury Super Cinema in the West Central district and the Ambassadors, Hendon.

LONDON, May 26.—The Piccadilly Theatre, at which "The Singing Fool" was shown, and for many years a regular venue for trade shows, was withdrawn from auction after a best bid of £24,000.

Kansans Expect No Film, Radio Taxes

KANSAS CITY, June 4.—While there has been no ruling from the Kansas Tax Commission as to whether or not the two per cent sales tax, effective June 1, applies to radio or screen advertising, it is being assumed by exhibitors that the tax does not apply, inasmuch as the commission has ruled it is not to be collected on newspaper advertising.

Missouri collects its present one per

Paramount to Put 50-60 on New Schedule

Company Has 125 Story Properties Lined Up

Paramount's sales forces will be told that the company will have between 50 and 60 features next season, it was made known here yesterday on the eve of the departure of home office executives for the coast. The New York delegation will depart Sunday. Convention sessions will start Thursday at the Ambassador, Los Angeles.

The company, it is stated, has 125 story and stage properties from which to select the new season lineup.

Among the features definitely scheduled are: "Souls at Sea," starring Gary Cooper and George Raft, with Frances Dee; "High, Wide and Handsome," starring Irene Dunne with Randolph Scott; "Manana," to be produced by Arthur Hornblow; "Angel," Marlene Dietrich starring vehicle now nearing completion under Ernst Lubitsch's direction; "Artists and Models," Jack Benny starring vehicle.

Equity Salary Cuts Referred to Council

Amendments to the constitution and bylaws of Actors Equity Ass'n which would reduce the salaries of the president and executive secretary and reduce membership dues were referred back to the Equity council for further consideration by the organization's 24th annual meeting, held yesterday at the Astor. The membership's action is regarded as a virtual defeat for the proposed amendments as the council considered them earlier and disapproved them by a large majority.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Talent Scout"

(Warners)

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—Hollywood's penchant for kidding itself and the resulting entertainment should prove satisfactory to general audiences. Quite a bit of novelty has been injected into the latest libel of Hollywood seriousness which the world is prone to consider the fruit of foolishness and brazen luck. The well prepared story is intelligently acted and directed with an easy going flair which concentrates on comedy.

Producers Joseph Crehan and Charles Halton send Donald Woods,press agent, and a crowd of girls on a cross-country exploitation tour. Woods hopes to discover a diamond in the rough who may become a great screen personality. The tour is a failure, but in Jeanne Madden, amateur singer, he believes he has found a good possibility. Flopping in a screen test, Woods palms off the girl as a foreign importation and the producers cannot sign her fast enough. As Miss Madden zooms to fame, Woods' romantic interest in her is sidetracked as she falls in love with Fred Lawrence. But Woods' bitter pill of disappointment turns sweet when Red Pearson, a hayseed, whom he is trying to loose, is discovered by Crehan as a real star. Appointing himself the novice's manager, he bludgeons the studio into a fat contract for the rube's services.

Wholesome fun, presented in a gay, airy manner that precludes the possibility of anyone taking it seriously, the show is apt to prove a more attractive feature than many a more impressively publicized production.

Shippers, porters and ad sales clerks are the only service employes included in the contracts being set. The contracts are retroactive from the date when negotiations are started, and not before, it was stated by a film executive yesterday.

Although there have been minor flareups at the meetings, it was declared that all negotiations have been amicable. A representative of the I.A.T.S.E. has been attending all conferences between the local unions and distributor representatives.

No independent exchanges have been represented at the meetings, it was learned.

Looking 'Em Over

"Grandeur and Decadence"

(French M. P. Corp.)

A simple but strong story theme is the greatest asset in this importation from France, which contains the purely technical fault of strewing its English subtitles all over the frame and occasionally reverting to the ancient order of separately framed subtitles accompanied by a complete absence of musical background.

The film has been well performed, but certainly is not to be compared with the Hollywood output in production values. In general it may be said to be satisfactory for those theatres catering to patrons who understand French but offers little for other houses. Jacques Natanson directed from a screenplay by Henry d'Erlanger.

The story tells of the meteoric rise of the owner of a small cannery to ownership of a huge plant, with the consequent neglect of his wife and children. The son has no desire to follow his father, preferring to be a fisherman. Eventually he is forced out of business because of his insistence on providing for his employes, his wife dies, his daughter leaves, and he returns to his son and the boy's wife for comfort.

No production code seal. Running time, 83 minutes. "G."

"Riders of Whistling Skull"

(Republic)

The plot in this western is nothing that will tax the imagination of audiences. It does, however, develop properly thrilling sequences and should be agreeably received.

The story is one of those routine affairs that has to do with a scientific expedition seeking a lost city in the desert. The Three Mesquiteers—Ray Corrigan, Max Terhune and Bob Livingston—provide plenty of action as they do battle with intruding renegades. It follows a routine course in unfoldment and in denouement.

The photography is exceptionally fine. The use of varied filters by Jack Marta, cameraman, gives the outdoor settings a beautiful and compelling aspect. Mack V. Wright directed. The cast includes Mary Russell, Roger Williams, Yakima Canutt and C. Montague Shaw.

it "would meet with the approval of at least 50 per cent of the attorneys present."

The court instructed proponents of the plan to prepare the terms of the new mortgage indenture immediately and indicated that substantial savings in the cost of servicing the mortgage were to be expected from competitive bidding for the appointment of a trustee under the mortgage.

Spokesmen for the proposals of the plan informed the court that more than the required two-thirds of the first mortgage bondholders would consent to the plan, while representatives of the second mortgage gold note holders protective committee reported that the consents of the required two-thirds of that group were expected by June 16.

Judge Caffey again denied a petition for a participation for Roxy stockholders, made yesterday by Samuel Hirschenstein, attorney, who urged that Class A stockholders be given some equity in the new organization.

The next hearing on the plan was set for June 18, by which time it is expected the film franchise and new mortgage indenture will be submitted.

To Re-Submit RKO Plan

Federal Judge William Bondy yesterday ordered that the recently adopted amendments to the RKO reorganization plan which brought about the withdrawal of unsecured creditors' objections to the plan be submitted for the approval of all creditors who had consented to the plan earlier. Unless such creditors file written objections with Special Master George W. Alger before June 21, they will be regarded as having consented to the amendments, according to Judge Bondy's order.

National Patent in Presto Discs Deal

Under a contract signed yesterday all users of instantaneous recording discs manufactured by the Presto Recording Corp., New York, will be protected by the National Patent Corp. against any damages arising from claims of patent infringement.

A west coast concern has recently sent letters to several hundred radio stations and instantaneous recording studios advising them that the use of coated discs for instantaneous recordings infringes U. S. Patent No. 2,008,092.

After an investigation, James & Franklin, patent attorneys for Presto, advised that in their opinion the manufacture of Presto Green Seal discs did not involve the use of processes covered by the patent. Their opinion has been confirmed by attorneys for the National Patent Corp., which will immediately issue certificates of protection to all users of Presto discs. The certificates are guaranteed by Chicago Lloyds, and offer to assume liabilities which might be claimed in the event of a court decision against Presto or any of its customers.

Ramona Appeal Lost In Contract Action

plaintiff, better known as Ramona, argued that the contract was not binding as it lacked mutuality.

By the terms of this contract, Whiteman was to have the plaintiff's services at a minimum of $125 a week and the privilege of limiting her outside engagements to bookings which he himself arranged. When such outside bookings brought Ramona more than $150 a week, the defendant was to get 20 per cent of the extra income. Ramona said that the contract was lacking in mutuality.

Whiteman asserted that under the contract terms Ramona's income could have been kept down to $4,500 a year, but as a result of the defendant's activities on her behalf her income had been $8,552 in 1934, $16,952 in 1935 and $11,170 in 1936. It would have been greater in 1936, the orchestra leader alleged, had Ramona not refused at intervals to render services for him.

Theatre Sued Again on Game

Middletown, O., June 4.—The third suit against the Paramount, Southio unit, for plaintiff's failure to participate in Sweepstakes, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Ray Williams, who asks $500 exemplary damages in addition to the return of $5.60 for admissions paid over a given period.

The other suits, also filed by local citizens, ask similar amounts plus return of admissions. Plaintiffs in all three cases contend that the game violates an Ohio law, which provides for the arwading of exemplary damages up to $500.

Paramount Enters Denial

Paramount Pictures filed its answer in U. S. District Court yesterday to the copyright infringement suit by the National Police Gazette Corp. The suit charges that Mae West was shown reading a copy of the plaintiff's publication, "Klondike Annie" and asked for an accounting of the profits and an injunction. The answer is a general denial which states that Miss West was shown reading a copy of The Police Gazette and not The National Gazette. Paramount also asked dismissal of the action because of alleged unnecessary delay before starting suit.

20th-Fox May Take the Roxy About Aug. 1st

End of Trusteeship Is Expected Earlier

Operation of the Roxy is expected to be assumed by 20th Century-Fox on Aug. 1, by which time, it is anticipated, Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey will have discharged the trusteeship. Last Thursday Judge Caffey approved the reorganization plan submitted by the first mortgage bondholders and which provides for a 20-year lease to 20th Century-Fox.

Interests identified with the present operation of the theatre estimate it will take about seven weeks to complete the mechanics of the reorganization. No decision has been made about closing the house for alterations which are to be made when the distributor takes control.

W. C. Michel, vice-president of 20th Century-Fox, has been handling negotiations for the Roxy and will

"Bootleg" Theatre Plans Now Disturbing Circuits

Major and independent circuit heads are protesting the recent gains in what they describe as "bootleg" theatres. They claim these are nuisance situations.

One major circuit head has had as many as 25 brokers approach him with offers to take over new theatres planned since Jan. 1, and a leading independent theatre operator estimates as high as 10 proposals along similar lines.

According to the theatre men, brokers who have acquired options on land have plans drawn for new houses, usually located within walking distance of existing theatres. The brokers, it was added, then present the plans to the circuits in an effort to close for a lease. When these efforts fail the brokers in most cases are said to have declared they will go to the opposition theatre owner or circuit.

Theatre men hold that in practically every instance where "bootleg" theatre deals have been presented the sections are overseated and cannot stand another house.

Loew's and RKO, which have been expanding lately, have been discouraging such proposals. Rather than back a new theatre in an over-seated situation, each circuit has been making deals with independent exhibitors where they find the circuit needs representation. Independents also have been showing little or no interest in the schemes. Not only do the new theatres add to the overseating problem, but they also make for unfair competition, it was stated.

No Changes in Poli Theatres Are Expected

No changes in the management or operation of the Poli circuit in New England are expected following the death of S. Z. Poli, founder of the circuit.

Loew's has been operating the theatres for the past two years. The circuit owns a 50 per cent interest in the houses with N. L. Nathanson, president of Famous Players Canadian, holding a 25 per cent interest, and A. C. Blumenthal also owning 25 per cent.

At the time of his death Poli held a large block of five per cent bonds in the circuit bearing his name. When the circuit was reorganized Loew's loaned $600,000 to pay for the expenses for rehabilitation. This money has not been paid back, but the circuit draws interest when due. In addition, Loew's spent about $300,000 for alterations.

Since the management switched to Loew's every unit is reported show-

Film Cost in France Up by 45 Per Cent

By PIERRE AUTRE

Paris, May 29.—Production costs are said by producers in France to have risen as much as 45 per cent as the result of the compulsory 40-hour week in the industry, which has been in operation for about two months.

Studios originally had sought permission to use two shifts of workers, employed for six hours and 40 minutes per day for six consecutive days, from Monday through Saturday. The Workers' Film Syndicate, although admitting that the law gave the employer the right to select any method of complying with the 40-hour week stipulation, refused permission for the method asked by employers.

The group insisted that the 40 hours should be worked out on a basis of eight hours per day for five days, Monday through Friday. That method, the producers complain, allows no more than 25 to 30 shooting hours

More Unions Due Here to Talk Scales

Eight or Nine Will Be Heard During Week

Distributor representatives are expected to meet with exchange union delegations from eight or nine key cities this week, following tentative agreements set up late last week with groups from Buffalo, New Haven, Washington, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Union delegates from the midwest and south have made requests for conferences, but which groups will be invited was not definitely set on Saturday.

Home office distributor executives may establish a special committee to negotiate with unions in the west. During the last week meetings have been going on day and night and weekends in order to expedite matters.

Under the contracts tentatively agreed upon, provision is made for a minimum 40-hour week and basic wage scale for shippers, poster and ad sales clerks. The agreements are retroactive from the date when negotiations started. Although no time limit has been set, it is likely that the contracts may run for two years in each instance.

Independent companies are not included in the arrangements being negotiated. There is a likelihood that a representative from each of the smaller exchanges will negotiate similar pacts with the I.A.T.S.E. and local exchange unions.

Mullin & Pinanski To Operate Olympia

Operations of the former Olympia Theatres circuit are assumed by Martin Mullin and Samuel Pinanski under their management contract with Paramount for New England Theatres, which has until 1940 to run, Y. New England is a wholly owned subsidiary of Paramount. It absorbed the Olympia operations with the formal transfer to it of Olympia's assets for $4,000,000 cash in Boston, last Friday. The principal assets consisted of 28 theatre leaseholds, two fee properties and a 50 per cent interest

Many Honor Kalmenson

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—More than 350 friends and associates attended the testimonial dinner here at the William Penn Friday night to Ben Kalmenson, recently promoted from Pittsburgh to New York by Warners. Joseph Bernhard, S. Charles Einfeld, Roy Haines and Bob Smeltzer, who were in Pittsburgh for a Warner regional on Wednesday and in Cleveland on Thursday, returned to Pittsburgh for the affair on their way east. Harry Seed, manager of the Warner exchange here, was chairman of the dinner.

Six Pictures Approved

The National Legion of Decency this week has approved all of the six new films reviewed, four for general patronage and two for adults. The four included: "The Affairs of Cappy Ricks," "Come On Cowboys," "The Devil Is Driving" and "Meet the Missus." The two approved for adults were "Fly Away Baby" and "Parnell."

Extras Travel

Hollywood, June 6.—M-G-M was the first studio to be nicked heavily under the Screen Actors' Guild contract which calls for the transportation of extras to points 300 miles or less from here. The studio took 350 extras to the Riverside fair grounds for racetrack scenes in "Saratoga." Heretofore, the studios hired local people at the location scenes.

Paramount Patter

En Route to Chicago

There was a motley crew of Paramount conventioneers aboard the Commodore Vanderbilt when it arrived in Chicago. NEIL F. AGNEW, vice-president in charge of distribution, headed the eastern gang and will greet the western crew today.

Talking about sales, both CHARLIE REAGAN, western division manager, and J. J. UNGER, eastern division chief, are just waiting for another crack at any sales drive. While honors in both divisions were about even in the Zukor Jubilee drive, Reagan is willing to cover any amount that his gang will beat the eastern crew in the next drive.

Many of the fellows kidded AGNEW about the fact that he had a checker on board the special—and they referred to G. B. J. FRAWLEY, who has a great deal to say about expense vouchers. But G. B. J. is one grand guy on a train ride.

Most of the delegates on board were from the eastern division so HERMAN LORBER, assistant to J. J. UNGER, was right at home. From Chicago west he'll have to take a back seat and let ARTHUR DUNNE, assistant to CHARLIE REAGAN, do the honors for the western crew.

ALEC MOSS, BOB GILLHAM'S right-hand man, was busy renewing acquaintance with many of the exchange gang.

JACK ROPER and FRED LEROY, working with NEIL AGNEW, both enjoyed the train trip so far. But there are doubts as to how they'll hold up on the last leg of the trip. FRED thought it would be a good idea to stop off somewhere and let the fellows get in a round of golf.

LARRY FLYNN got the glad hand from everyone. He's the fellow who heads Paramount's transportation department and fixed things up for the boys. Any time decent accommodations are wanted on boat or plane, LARRY is the man.

From the looks of things so far, GEORGE WELTNER, assistant to JOHN HICKS, JR., will represent the foreign delegates. And as his traveling companions he has ALBERT DEANE, FRED LANGE from Paris and JOHN L. DAY from Buenos Aires.

While all the fellows were discussing the new lineup, LOU DIAMOND, head of short subject sales, managed to get a few words in about his pets—Popeye, Betty Boop, Grantland Rice, Pictorials, Paragraphics, Screen Songs, etc.

The newsreel was represented by A. J. RICHARDS, editor. A. J. did a grand job on that dirigible crash and this was the first time many of the fellows had the opportunity to tell him about it.

It's a maiden trip for BOB MORIARITY, of the press sheet department. The slant he'll get on production should be of great help.

Bank Night Frauds Charged; 3 Jailed

Arrest of Jack Brothers, Charles H. Traub and Carl Zingale at the Elmora, Elizabeth, N. J., a Cocalis theatre, last Friday for defrauding Bank Night through a sleight-of-hand trick, revealed that Brothers had defrauded local theatres of more than $12,000, according to the police. Each of the men was fined $100 and given 90 days in jail.

Following the release of Brothers in three months, Edward Goldstein, local agent for Bank Night, will prosecute him in the local courts through his attorney, Jack Keating, Goldstein stated Saturday.

With the aid of an accomplice, usually a woman, a magician's ring is alleged to have been used in drawing the lucky number.

Long List of Victims

Brothers had been suspected by the Bank Night interests for some time and his movements were being investigated at the time he was arrested in New Jersey. Following his arrest, police say he confessed to defrauding the State, Brooklyn, of $100; Loew's Willard, $500; Loew's 86th St., $450; Park Lane, $250; Loew's Metropolitan, $1,000; RKO Bushwick, $650; RKO Greenpoint, $400; Loew's Coney Island, $200; Loew's Gates, $850; the Canarsie, $90; St. George Playhouse, a Ford car which was resold to the management for $400.

Another group had been employing the same methods at the Tilyou, Parthenon and Alba, but in each case the awards had been refused, according to Bank Night representatives. Brothers also confessed to the Parthenon fraud, but refused to divulge the name of his associates to Capt. Winkleman of the Elizabeth police department, Attorney Keating maintains.

Bank Night Convention

All Bank Night agents and distributors will hold an annual two-day convention at the Broadmore Hotel, Colorado Springs, Colo., starting June 25. Edward Goldstein, local agent, will leave for Denver to attend the meeting on June 17.

return from the coast tomorrow after attending the company's annual sales convention there.

National Theatres, subsidiary for the distributor, most likely will be the parent company which will operate the theatre. Negotiations whereby F. & M. will enter into a management contract under a long-term deal are expected to be resumed when Harry C. Arthur arrives from St. Louis. He is expected the latter part of the week.

Howard S. Cullman, who has been in charge of the Roxy as reveiver and trustee for the past four years, most likely will continue in an executive capacity. He is understood to have had several offers but declines to discuss any of them because of his present position as representative of the court.

Artco, an F. & M. subsidiary, has held a management contract with Cullman since he was appointed receiver four years ago. This pact will expire with the windup of the present trusteeship.

Another hearing on the reorganization plan is scheduled for June 18.

ing a profit. In two instances houses had been in the red side of the ledger for 15 years.

Poli had not been active in the operation of the circuit since he sold to Fox New England Theatres several years ago. At the time he disposed of his circuit he was to get $20,000,000. Fox defaulted on payments, following which Harry C. Arthur operated for the bondholders. Loew's came into the picture shortly after and, after experimenting with policies for nine months, finally put the group, as a whole, on a profiatble basis.

Legion Story for "U"

Hollywood, June 6.—Universal is preparing for production "My Buddy," a story based on activities of the American Legion written by Charles R. Rogers' assistant, William A. Pierce. MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Fly Away Baby"

(Warners)

Hollywood, June 6.—Some of this, particularly the comedy and romance, is pretty good entertainment. Other parts, the mystery melodramatic contrast, are quite hackneyed. Only the backgrounds for the dramatic motivation, the China Clipper and a Zeppelin, endow it with a novelty that stimulates interest.

With Glenda Farrell in the character, a redoutable newspaper woman, Torchy Blane, is assigned to a globe-circling by air trip to get a story and incidentally run down a gang of international smugglers. Based on an idea by Dorothy Kilgallen, who only a short time ago made such a trip, the production packs a lot of complications into its comparatively short running time. Racing her rival reporter, Hugh O'Connell, Miss Farrell soon becomes involved with Barton MacLane, a slow-thinking detective, in the solution of a series of crimes. Two or three mysterious killings occur in various parts of the world as the smuggling gang continues its activities, but as direction and story development elects to hew to the comedy line, the continuous bickering between Miss Farrell and MacLane, in which Tom Kennedy also participates, gives the film its entertainment appeal. The finale is as expected, but is brought about in unique fashion, with the smugglers rounded up and Miss Farrell and MacLane left to continue their romance in a future issue of the series.

Produced by Brian Foy and directed by Frank McDonald, this film's spot on programs is as a companion piece to some more impressive attraction.

Production Code Seal No. 3,147. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Armored Car"

(Universal)

Hollywood, June 6.—Combining a touch of education in the interesting technique of the operation of armored cars with fast-paced action of the menace and robber gang school, this lively film should hit the spot in the smaller situations where action is the answer to what the patrons want.

From the original by William Pierce, and a screenplay by Lewis R. Foster and Robert N. Lee, Foster has directed with an eye to action first and drama and romance second.

Robert Wilcox, a personable young man who can act, is in the lead, with Judith Barrett in the romantic role opposite, Irving Pichel and Cesar Romero quite capably handling the gangster assignment, and Tom Kennedy offering a comedy touch as one of Wilcox's armored car buddies.

The armored car company is faced with a series of attempted robberies, and Pichel is indicated—to the audience—as the gang's brains with a love of organ music. When another attempt is made, Wilcox, in love with Miss Barrett, is shown to have an almost forgotten police record, and is discharged. It is only after he has joined the gang, and in a punch climax, saved a car from destruction and captured the gang, that it is disclosed that he has been an undercover man for the company.

Production Code Seal No. 3,301. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Border Phantom"

(Republic)

Bob Steele starts out as a newspaper reporter in this western and winds up as a sleuth who solves a murder. The series of events involved in the transition include the killing of a scientist, smuggling Chinese girls across the border, the problem of an amorous cowhand and plenty of the familiar Steele fisticuffs.

The various twists of the story are exciting enough. The performances are good. It has the appeal of the better type of western and should be satisfactory.

Harley Wood plays the feminine lead. The support includes Don Barclay, Karl Hackett, Horace Murphy, Miki Morita, Perry Murdock and Frank Ball. S. Roy Luby directed.

Production Code Seal No. 2,891. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

(Additional reviews on page 6)

Short Subjects

"Movie Mania"

(Vitaphone)

Dave Apollon applies his talents to a Gregory Ratoff-ish impersonation of a film producer here. The resulting comedy, music and tomfoolery as he does his stuff makes diverting entertainment that should be well received. Production Code Seal No. 01,431. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"Vitaphone Pictorial Revue No. 9"

(Vitaphone)

A tastefully arranged presentation of interesting industries, inventions and women's styles. Included are a bullet-proof suit, processes in the manufacture of hats and feminine beach wear. Production Code Seal No. 01,526. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Gateway to Africa"

(Vitaphone)

Interesting scenes of the varied activities in and around Morocco. There are processions, market scenes and glimpses of the natives' ingenious handicraft with such materials as discarded tires and oil tins. Production Code Seal No. 01,582. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Alpine Grandeur"

(Vitaphone)

A magnificently filmed "Colortour Adventure." It covers the interesting spots in Switzerland and closes with fine shots of mountain climbing. It is well done. Production Code Seal No. 01,552. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

French Film Costs Show 45% Increase

per week. All estimates of the expected increase in production costs resulting from the new law have been exceeded, the producers declare, pointing out that a film which previously would have cost 1,500,000 francs is now costing a minimum of 2,300,000 francs. The producers are seriously disturbed by the mounting costs.

Agree on Missouri Tax

Jefferson City, June 6.—House members of the joint Senate and House committee ironing out differences over the two per cent sales tax have, it is said, agreed to the Senate amendments to the bill which provide exemption of advertising; give retailers, including exhibitors, three per cent for the trouble of collection, and place an expiration date on the measure—May 31, 1939.

British May Help Extras

London, June 1.—An amendment to include performers in the new Factories Bill was moved in the House of Commons Standing Committee by Major Procter, M.P., who stated that extras were not included in the Workmen's Compensation Act and required protection. It was promised by Geoffrey Lloyd, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, that the conditions under which extras were employed would be investigated by the Home Office.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Riding on Air"

(David Loew-Radio)

Hollywood, June 6.—In "Riding on Air," Joe E. Brown's latest and the second of three for Radio release, the comic flies a plane, is the managing editor, reportorial staff and general delivery boy of a country newspaper, as well as correspondent for a metropolitan daily. The story from the Saturday Evening Post yarns by Richard Macauley ought to please at large.

The attraction is unpretentious in production. It rated a big hand with a preview audience at the Pantages which is viewed locally as the hardest house of them all for Friday night previews when high school students are boisterous.

The laugh quota is exceeded in the direction of Edward Sedgwick who also gets production credit. Richard Flournoy's and Macauley's screenplay combines the Elmer Lane stories satisfactorily. Brown supplies his typical hokum.

The story involves Brown winning an essay contest. He invests the prize with a promoter. They form a phoney company that promotes an airplane radio beam, the invention of a friend. Brown demonstrates the plane and while doing so sights a strange craft that is believed to be a perfume smuggler. In a fight with them the invention is used to advantage, guiding the plane while Brown is fixing a bullet-torn strut. The smuggler's ship is disabled with a blast from a shotgun. The criminals are captured and an aviation company buys the invention. All the investors clean up.

The capable supporting cast includes Guy Kibbee, Florence Rice, Vinton Haworth, Anthony Nace, Harlan Briggs and Andrew Tombes. Clem Bevans and Miss Rice supply the romantic interest.

Production Code Seal No. 3,386. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

"The Great Gambini"

(Schulberg-Paramount)

Hollywood, June 6.—Possessing the elements of an excellent comedy-murder drama, this film has the novel twist which places it above the average whodunits, despite the fact that the story is weak in spots. It has exploitation possibilities through the title role, that of a magician who in his night club act predicts a murder, is on the scene of the crime with the police next day, befuddles the issue by drawing in five suspects and finally turns out to be the killer.

Akim Tamiroff, as Gambini, is the cast's standout, in a new type of role in which he draws as many laughs as the hisses he received in his former villainous parts. John Trent and Marian Marsh do well what little they have, supplying the love interest, with Trent unmasking the murderer. William Demarest, as the detective, does a swell job and provides an excellent foil for Gambini's tricks. Others in the cast are Genevieve Tobin, Reginald Denny, Roland Drew, Edward Brophy, Alan Birmingham and Lya Lys. Charles Vidor directed from the Frederick Jackson story scripted by Jackson, Frank Partos and Howard Irving Young.

Production Code Seal No. 3,413. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

"African Holiday"—A worthy addition to the many interesting productions filmed on the Dark Continent. Excellent shots of animal and native life.

This film will be reviewed in full in a coming issue of Motion Picture Daily.

Theatres Restricted In Midtown Section

The Board of Estimate of New York City has voted to establish a "restricted retail district," embracing parts of Park, Madison and 5th Aves., in midtown, wherein theatres of any sort, dance halls, cabarets, bus stations and parking lots would be prohibited. The 5th Ave. Ass'n., and other civic groups had supported the proposal.

Borough President Samuel Levy of Manhattan, sponsor of the plan, declared he wished to protect the highly assessed area involved from degeneration similar to that which he said has overtaken Broadway. The area affected by the new zoning includes: 5th Ave., from 26th to 59th Sts.; Madison Ave., from 23rd to 84th Sts.; Park Ave., from 39th to 59th Sts.; 34th St., between Park Ave. and Broadway; 57th St., between Park Ave. and Broadway, and the side streets between 26th and 59th Sts., from a point 100 feet west of 5th Ave. to a point 100 feet east of Madison Ave.

To Install Seat Phones

Hollywood, June 6.—RCA Photophone will supply RCA Acousticon seat phones, for use by the deaf, to theatres, churches, auditoriums and other assembly places, according to Dan D. Halpin, vice-president of Dictograph Products Co., Inc. Warners have standardized RCA theatre phones for their national circuit already, he said.

RKO Takes the Central

RKO has completed negotiations with Herman Sussman for taking over the Central, Yonkers, on July 15. The same major circuit recently closed with Sam D. Cocalis for the Park Hill and Broadway in the same city. These houses will change management this week.

Raise School Film Aid

London, May 29.—The Board of Education will in future pay 50 per cent of the cost of any film projectors bought for elementary schools. The previous proportion was 20 per cent.

NBC Gains 25.5%

NBC time sale revenue for May totaled $3,214,819, as against $2,561,720 for the same month a year ago, an increase of 25.5 per cent.

The network's revenue chart shows May to be the eighth successive month in which advertisers have spent more than $3,000,000 with NBC, and the 10th such month in the company's history.

The May figures bring the total for the year to $16,944,720, compared to $13,737,636 for the first five months of 1936, a gain of 23.3 per cent. The Red network accounted for $2,261,344, up 37 per cent over May last year; the Blue revenue was $953,475, up 4.6 per cent over May, 1936.

Bristol-Myers Sets 13 Vitalis Programs

The Bristol-Myers Co., for Vitalis, will sponsor 13 half-hour programs, beginning today, featuring Ray Sinatra's orchestra and Joey Nash as vocalist. The program will originate at WHN, and will be piped to WLW, Cincinnati, and WFIL, Philadelphia, over the WLW Line. The contract is through Pedlar & Ryan.

The series will be heard Mondays from 8:30 to 9 P. M., E. D. S. T., and will be titled "For Men Only." Guest artists will be presented on each broadcast. Today's guests include Estelle Taylor, Bert Acosta, Alec Morrison, Paul Sullivan, Patrick Ryan and Bradley Barker. Acosta, it is understood, will reveal his experiences in Spain.

June 11, before an examiner—Application of Fields McCarthy Co., Poplar Bluff, Mo., for new 1,310-kilocycle, 100-watt daytime station.

The F.C.C. also made public applications from WPHR, Petersburg, Va., for an increase of power to 1,000 watts and extension of time from day to unlimited; WMFJ, Daytona Beach, Fla., for change of frequency to 1,240 kilocycles and increase of power to 1,000 watts; WJBY, Gadsden, Ala., for increase of day power to 250 watts, and KPOF, Denver, for increase of power to 1,000 watts.

Also pending before the commission, it was disclosed, is an application from the Burlington Broadcasting Co., Burlington, Ia., for a new station to operate on 1,310 kilocycles with 100 watts power.

NBC Asks W2XDG Shift

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The F.C.C. made public here the application of NBC, for authority to install new equipment, decrease the power from 5,000 to 150 watts and move the transmitter of short wave station W2XDG from 350 Fifth Ave. to 30 Rockefeller Plaza. NBC has also asked for authority to construct a new relay broadcasting station to be operated on 1,606, 2,022, 2,102 and 2,857 kilocycles with 100 watts power.

Opposes Auburn Petition

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Examiner P. W. Steward of the F. C. C. has recommended that the commission deny the application of Roy L. Albertson to transfer control of WMBO, Auburn, N. J., to the Auburn Publishing Co., on the grounds that the proposed sale price is far in excess of the valuation of the property.

Earle Ferris Incorporates

Earl Ferris has formed in California the Earle Ferris Radio Feature Service, Inc., with Ferris as president and treasurer; Irving Parker as vice-president and general manager, and George Lassall as secretary. An office has been functioning in Hollywood for almost a year.

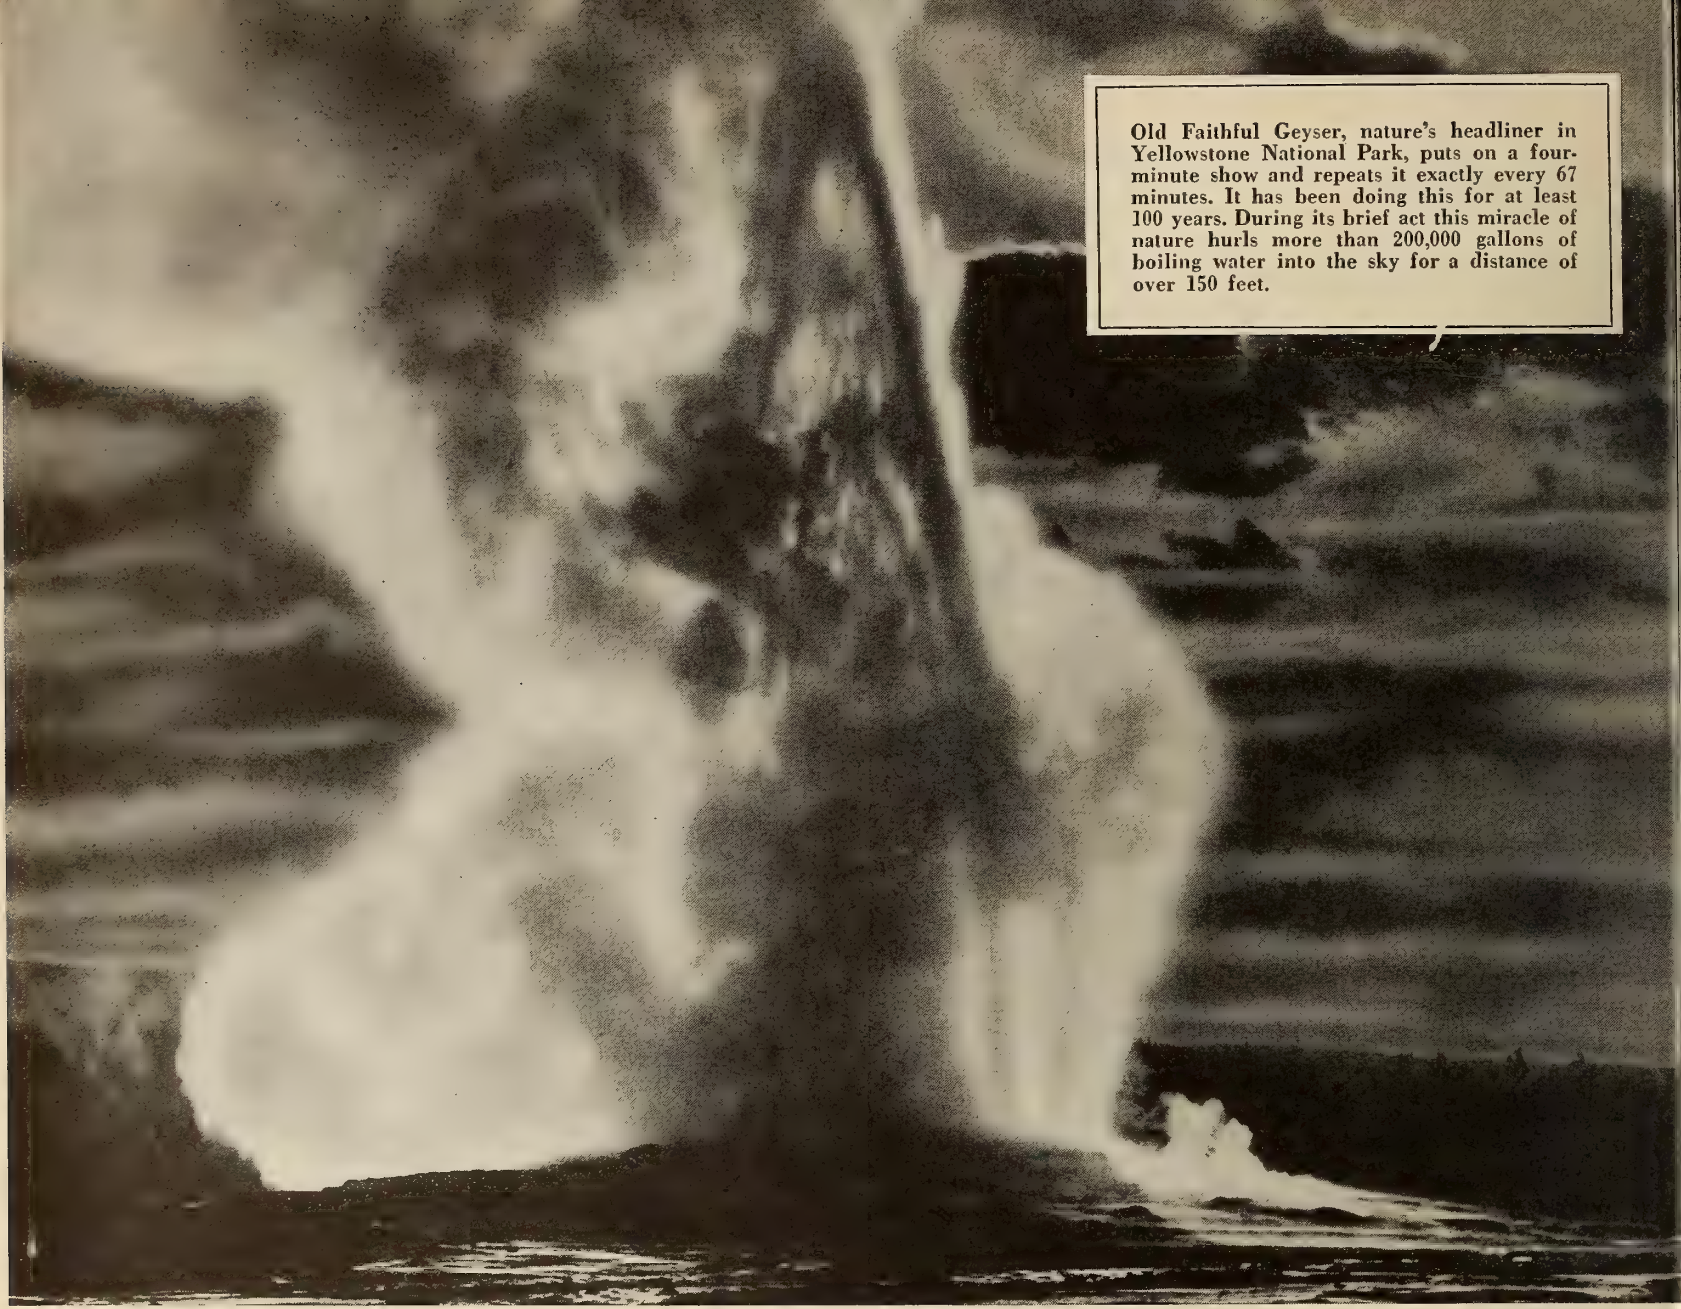
Personnel of the California corporation, in addition to Parker, includes Roberta Woodburn, account executive, and Connie Vance, former publicity director for KNX.

Pierre—He Some Dog

In an address before the Advertising Club of Indianapolis, Harry Mason Smith cited the usual reasons why advertisers should select radio to carry their sales messages to the public. Smith is commercial manager of WBBM, key station in Chicago of CBS.

His most unusual illustration of the power of radio, however, was Smith's tale of the gray Schnauser, Pierre. Said Smith:

"Pierre is owned by Owen Marsh, New York. The dog begins pacing nervously around the apartment after dinner, looking at the clock. Shortly before 8 o'clock he begins to howl, and keeps on howling until somebody tunes in the Philco program on WABC. Pierre then lies down and listens to the clipped British accents of Boake Carter with a smile on his face. When Carter signs off Pierre relaxes and goes quietly to sleep. If you try to turn the radio off while Pierre is listening, he bites you."



Old Faithful Geyser, nature's headliner in Yellowstone National Park, puts on a four-minute show and repeats it exactly every 67 minutes. It has been doing this for at least 100 years. During its brief act this miracle of nature hurls more than 200,000 gallons of boiling water into the sky for a distance of over 150 feet.

MIRACLES DON'T "JUST HAPPEN"

Nature spent centuries on the process of creating the miracle of Old Faithful.

E.R.P.I. spent years in the commercial adaptation of a revolutionary principle of sound reproduction known as MIRROPHONIC. Like Old Faithful, MIRROPHONIC is a product of time—it is a result of long research by Bell Telephone Laboratories and Western Electric in perfecting a reproducing system first conceived in the form of Stereophonic or "third-dimensional" sound.

MIRROPHONIC is the direct commercial outgrowth of the historic Stereophonic principle—first publicly demonstrated four years ago in Philadelphia, later in New York, Hollywood, and recently, in Miami.

MIRROPHONIC is readily adaptable to future advances in the art. If you now have Western Electric, it may be installed on a convenient step-by-step modification plan.

More than a thousand exhibitors, who have installed MIRROPHONIC, used its powerful exploitation campaign, now enjoy increased BOX OFFICE DOLLARS.

Old Faithful and MIRROPHONIC never fail to come through with a good show on time—and with

Jean Harlow Dies on Coast In 27th Year

Sudden Death Caused by Uremic Poisoning

Los Angeles, June 7.—Jean Harlow, whose meteoric rise to stardom was a striking example of the manner in which the world of the screen can bring fame and fortune overnight, and who was one of the most valuable players on the high ranking roster of M-G-M, died here this morning at 10:57 in Good Samaritan Hospital of a complication of intestinal influenza and a gall bladder ailment, which led to uremic poisoning. She was 26 years old.

Miss Harlow was taken ill about two weeks ago, when her illness was diagnosed as gall bladder trouble. Although her condition was considered serious several days ago, she was not thought to be in any danger, and was understood to have been effecting a rapid recovery within the past two days. It was expected that she would return to work soon. Yesterday afternoon, her physician, Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, ordered her taken to Good

Coast ITO Critical Of MPTO Delegates

San Francisco, June 7.—Criticism of the meagre attendance at the M.P.T.O.A. sessions at Miami features the latest bulletin of the I.T.O. of Northern California.

H. V. Harvey, one of the delegates, says that in his opinion the M.P.T.O.A. is "worthwhile, but there was not enough cooperation or interest shown by the units of the M.P.T.O.A. to make the thing a fairly representative group."

He held that delegates sent to the conventions should fairly represent their units and discuss exhibitors' problems.

ITO Asks Raise in Federal Exemption

Columbus, June 7.—The I.T.O. of Ohio has addressed a communication to the House Ways and Means Committee at Washington, over the signature of P. J. Wood, secretary, requesting that the Federal admission tax exemption be changed from 40 cents to 50 cents.

Selznick Reported Refusing U.A. Bid

Hollywood, June 7.—David O. Selznick has been made an offer to become a third owner member of United Artists with Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda. Reports here are to the effect that the producer will not accept.

Selznick would not comment today on the deal to be made following the completion of his final four films for United Artists but it is known here that both 20th Century-Fox and M-G-M have offered releasing deals. Selznick is also considering the establishment of his own releasing system but his plans for the future in this direction are indefinite.

Building in England Booms, Says Hanbury

Theatre construction in England shows that from 200 to 250 de luxe houses are going up every year. Ralph Hanbury for RKO stated yesterday when he arrived on the Queen Mary, convention-bound. He will leave for the coast Saturday with the company's home office delegation. The theatre expansion includes independents as well as major circuits, he said.

Last year was RKO's banner year and by the number of contracts written at the time he sailed from London, Hanbury said that all indications pointed to this record being beaten this year. Last year independent producers made 16 quota pictures for the company. A like number will be financed by RKO this year.

Trade is booming, Hanbury asserted, since the rearmament program commenced. He will sail July 3 on the Berengaria with William Levy of Walt Disney-Mickey Mouse, Ltd., who also was on the ship.

Employe Contracts Valid; Katz Wins 3-Year Battle

The validity of executives' employment contracts in New York state was established yesterday in a unanimous decision by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here upholding Sam Katz's $265,498 action against Paramount, which was based on the unexpired portion of his contract with the company after 1932, when his Paramount association ended.

Katz's claim was filed against Paramount during the company's bankruptcy and reorganization proceedings and has been in litigation for the past three years. The claim was disallowed by Special Master John E. Joyce originally on the grounds that Paramount was relieved of liability under the contract by Section 60 of the N. Y. stock corporation laws which specify that the directors of a corporation may remove a contract employe "at pleasure." The special master's ruling was reversed later by Federal Judge Alfred Coxe, who held that Section 60 did not relieve the corporation of liability for removing a contract employe without cause. Judge Coxe, however, did not allow Katz's claim, but left that to be determined by a subsequent action to show whether or not Katz was wrongfully discharged and, if so, in what amount

Balaban Ready to Give World Distribution

Paramount is opening its doors to producers in England who can make quality pictures with a general appeal for a world-wide market, Barney Balaban, president, told Motion Picture Daily yesterday upon his return on the Queen Mary after a six-weeks tour of Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Rome, Naples and London.

"At the present time, Capt. Richard Norton of B. & D. is making from 15 to 16 a year at Pinewood for distribution in England by Paramount," Balaban said. "These films are being turned out in quantity for quota regulations. Now we are interested in quality productions for world-wide distribution."

Asked whether Paramount would finance production of this kind, Balaban said arrangements for pictures in this category have not been discussed. The indication was, however, that independent producers making quality product would find an available international channel through Paramount.

Balaban said a decision on Paramount's production plans in England would most likely be made as soon as the new quota laws are made public. Present regulations expire next April and it is too early to venture a prediction, he added.

"We have just renewed our lease

Report N. O. Grosses Strong Despite Heat

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—Summer has little effect on theatre business, according to local managers. Cooling systems have been installed in all downtown houses, save one and it is expected that this, the St. Charles, will let a contract in the near future.

The opening of the Joy-Strand with a 10-cent top, with a five-cent minimum, and children one cent on Saturday mornings, has not affected grosses.

Bank Night and other games still hold sway in practically all the New Orleans houses except in the downtown section. Neighborhoods in addition to the awards are getting back to household gifts, the latest being refrigerator sets.

Searching Victory Ruins

CULVER CITY, Cal., June 7.—Although 25 players and studio workers escaped injury in the fire which destroyed the Victory studio, the ruins of the building are still being searched for possible victims. Among those who left the studio safely were Tom Tyle, Bobbie Rey, Jeane Martel, Roger Williams and Robert Hill, director.

Downtown Cleveland Managers Form Unit

CLEVELAND, June 7.—Downtown Theatres Assn., comprised of managers of the first run downtown houses, has been formed. The object of the association is to plan ways to bring more people downtown for their entertainment, to effect through street car transportation from the West Side to the East Side, and to meet whatever unfair competition might arise. Meetings will be held twice a month. Four rotating chairmen were named to preside at the meetings instead of a president.

They are Col. Harry E. Long, Loew division manager; Nat Holt, RKO Great Lakes division manager; Nat Wolf, Warner zone manager, and Bill Blair, manager of the Hanna. Jess Fishman of Warners is secretary. The first formal act of the association was a testimonial dinner at the Carter Hotel in honor of Louis B. Seltzer, recently promoted from editor of The Press to editor-in-chief of 50 Scripps Howard newspapers.

to Pat Casey. The plan is reportedly the same as the former demands, namely, to return to work under a closed shop guarantee and the removal of strikebreakers and retention of identity. The proposal made no mention of I. A. T. S. E. jurisdictional claims.

The Clarke agreement, which would have given the makeup men to the I. A. T. S. E. and return the painters and scenic artists to work under the basic agreement with a pay raise and union shop, met with denunciation both by officers and men on strike.

Charles Lessing is confident that a settlement of the strike will be reached Tuesday. One of Clarke's aims was to have Lessing removed from the picture but the local's action puts Clarke out on a limb with the officers saying they will not consider any further Clarke move to end the walkout.

William Cullen's resignation as head of the Federated M. P. Crafts, was accepted late today at a meeting of the organization's executive committee. The charge that he exceeded his authority in asking Clarke to come here to settle the strike is said to have resulted in the request for his resignation.

Charter Cleveland Union

CLEVELAND, June 7.—Local inspectors, poster clerks and shippers have received their union charter from the A. F. of L. and are now known as Film Exchange Employes, Local B-5 of the I.A.T.S.E.

Officers of the new union organization are: J. K. Johnson, Columbia, president; Miss B. Price, RKO, vice-president; Miss L. Appell, Columbia, recording secretary; Sheldon Levy, RKO, financial secretary. Meeting will be held monthly.

Negotiations for a new wage scale are pending between home office distributor officials and national union representatives, Johnson stated.

Submit New Haven Demands

NEW HAVEN, June 7.—Following conferences with distributor heads in New York, A. F. of L. officials and local exchange representatives have submitted demands for a $28 minimum wage for shippers and $18 for inspectresses, which figures have been authorized to local managers. Exchange employes will meet to consider the schedule.

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—The Exchange Employes' Union now claims 75 per cent of all exchange workers have been enrolled. Weekly meetings are being held. Organization of all theatre employes has been started.

Organize K.C. Theatres

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—I. A. T. S. E. officers here have completed obligation of 110 in its Theatrical Employes' Class "B" Local from the five first runs—Fox Tower, Fox Uptown, Loew's Midland, RKO Mainstreet, and B. & K. Newman—and the Fox Plaza. They are divided into two groups with two sets of officers due to difference in working time at theatres, but a joint executive board will handle common problems.

In one group are ushers, cashiers, box-office men (from the Municipal Auditorium, etc.), and so on.

New Lease on Life For B. N. in Omaha

OMAHA, June 7.—The M. P. Exhibitors Ass'n of Omaha, composed of 29 theatres operating Bank Night, were confident today that the State Supreme Court's action in reserving decision on Attorney General Richard Hunter's petition for a temporary injunction means that gift drawings will not be disturbed until the fall term.

Former Attorney General William Wright, appearing for the Omaha exhibitors, contended that the Supreme Court was without jurisdiction because "adequate remedy" could be obtained in district court. He also argued that the tribunal could not issue an injunction because it has not been determined yet whether Bank Night is a lottery as charged by Hunter.

RKO to Ask Dismissal

RKO Radio Pictures, RKO Dist. Corp and RKO Studio today will ask Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum to dismiss the bill of complaint filed by Samuel Shipman and Clara Lipman on the ground that the complaint failed to state a cause of action. The plaintiffs allege infringement of their play, "Depend on the Woman" in the RKO picture, "I Dream Too Much." They asked for an injunction, damages and an accounting of the profits.

20th-Fox Crowd Due Back in N. Y. Today

Home office and eastern delegates returning from the 20th Century-Fox annual sales convention will arrive in New York this morning. The group, numbering 175, left Los Angeles Friday night.

John D. Clark, sales head, and Charles E. McCarthy, advertising and publicity head, who remained on the coast for several additional days, are due in New York next Monday.

Sidney R. Kent, W. C. Michel, J. H. Moskowitz and Joe Pincus returned yesterday.

Also in the party was George Skouras who took west the body of Percy Kent, brother of S. R., who died here last week.

But in a more modest vein, we'd like to say that Paramount's annual sales convention begins tomorrow in Hollywood, at the source of its production activities . . . where the boys will get an eyeful and an earful of the big pictures that will make selling a pleasure for them in 1937-38 . . . and, what's more to the point, a pleasure for the theatres playing 'em. The big product announcement is coming off the presses, and it tells the whole exciting story of the greatest line-up of entertainment in Paramount history. Wait till you showmen see it!

Samaritan Hospital from her home in Beverly Hills when her condition became critical.

At her bedside were William Powell, to whom she was reported engaged; her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello; her stepfather, Marino Bello; her maid, Blanche Williams; Drs. Fishbaugh and Leland Chapman, and two aunts. No decision relative to funeral services for Miss Harlow had been made at a late hour tonight.

At the time she was taken ill, she was working at the M-G-M studio in "Saratoga" in which she was to co-star with Clark Gable. This film will be rewritten for another feminine star and all Harlow footage will be discarded. The film was within a week of completion.

Among M-G-M's Leaders

Ranked as one of M-G-M's leading stars for the season of 1937-38, she had been scheduled to appear in three pictures, as star in one, and as a co-star in two others. She was to have been starred in "The Best Dressed Woman in Paris," and co-starred in "Spring Tide," with Robert Taylor and Wallace Beery, and in "Tell It to the Marines," with Robert Taylor and Spencer Tracy.

In addition arrangements had been completed whereby she was to have been loaned to 20th Century-Fox during the coming season to co-star in "In Old Chicago," with Don Ameche and Tyrone Power, which was planned by Darryl F. Zanuck as one of the most important pictures on the 1937-38 product lineup for 20th Century-Fox.

Jean Harlow was born Harlean Carpentier in Kansas City, on March 3, 1911. She adopted her mother's maiden name when she made her first picture. She attended private kindergarten and the Barstow School for Girls as a child. When her family moved to California for three years she attended the Hollywood School for Girls, returning to Kansas City and enrolling in the Bigelow School at the age of 13.

Shortly thereafter the family moved to Highland Park, Chicago suburb, where she entered Ferry Hall at Lake Forest. She ran away to get married when she was 16, went to California for her honeymoon, and her parents joined her in Beverly Hills. She was divorced two years later.

Rise Meteoric

Her entrance into pictures came purely by chance. Visiting a friend on the Fox lot, she was seen by an executive and given a letter to the casting director. He registered her at the studio and Central Casting. While working as an extra she was offered a part in one of his comedies by Hal Roach, then given a five-year contract. She obtained her release from that contract, did nothing for a time, then was assigned a role with Clara Bow in "The Saturday Night Kid," and a second lead in a Christie film. At the Christie studio she met Ben Lyon and James Hall, and there followed in quick succession an interview with Howard Hughes, the lead in "Hell's Angels" and a contract with the Caddo Prod. Co.

From that time on, success followed her rapidly. For M-G-M she has appeared in, among others, "Red Dust," with Clark Gable; "Hold Your Man," also with Gable; "Dinner at Eight," in which she scored as Wallace Beery's wife; "Bombshell," "The Girl from Missouri," "China Seas," with Gable; "Riffraff," with Spencer Tracy; "Wife vs. Secretary," with Gable and Myrna Loy, and "Libeled Lady."

Industry Executives in Tributes

Learning of Jean Harlow's sudden death on the coast, Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, said yesterday, "She was a marvelous girl and a great actress, and I feel terribly sorry and sympathize with all her friends of which there were so many and among whom I was proud to be included."

Howard Dietz, director of advertising and publicity, also paid high tribute to Miss Harlow.

Louis B. Mayer, E. J. Mannix and Sam Katz issued eulogies praising the star.

by their owners immediately following passage of the bill.

The theatre tax will take the form of an annual license fee for the fiscal year beginning June 1. Theatres are given 60 days to make application for the license.

Officials of theatre circuits contacted here yesterday stated that no closings in Pennsylvania are contemplated as a result of the enactment of "chain" tax law.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—The industry will be affected by two of the five new taxes approved by the Finance Committee of the City Council. They are: A four per cent amusement tax replacing the state tax which expires July 23; a 10 per cent tax on the proceeds from the leasing of billboards and other display advertising.

Drop Missouri Chain Tax

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 7.—The chain store tax bill in the Missouri house, which would have taxed chain units from $25 to $200, and which was introduced by Robert C. Taylor of St. Louis early in the session, has been dropped.

Expect Conn. Tax Defeat

HARTFORD, June 7.—With the session of the Legislature slated to close on Wednesday, and the Finance Committee allegedy opposed to the passage of any new tax bills, exhibitors are fairly certain of the defeat of the proposed 10 per cent admissions tax measure.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross has served notice on the Legislature that regardless of their merits, he will have to veto nearly all of the special appropriations on the sole ground that the Gerneral Assembly has failed to provide the necessary funds. The perennial two-men-in-a-booth bill was defeated early in the session, while Sunday vaudeville was passed, subject to local option.

Missouri Tax Approved

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—The Missouri House has approved doubling the state's present one per cent sales tax with the following amendments, originally made by the Senate: exemption of newspaper advertising and transportation, and provision of a three per cent discount to retailers (including exhibitors) for their trouble and loss in collecting the tax.

The tax becomes effective immediately on signature by the governor, which is expected within the next two weeks, and runs to Dec. 31, 1939.

states, would enable theatres to increase prices above the 40-cent maximum now existing in most localities, theatre operators would be enabled to show reasonable profits and the Government would benefit from increased income taxes.

MPTOA Hits "Hollywood Hotel"

SPOKANE, June 7.—Opposition to the "Hollywood Hotel" program was voiced here today at the meeting of the M.P.T.O.A. of the Pacific Northwest and Eastern Washington. Delegates charged that the program tells too much concerning the films with which it treats and that it "kills all pictures except invulnerable hits like outstanding musicals." Protests will be sent to producers.

Other objections were registered to the increase of percentage pictures and "active racketeers" who threaten to build competing theatres unless paid off.

Unionization was reported as generally in progress even in the smaller communities.

Degree for Van Schmus

An honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities was conferred by Washington and Jefferson College on W. G. Van Schmus, managing director of the Music Hall, during the school's 136th commencement exercises at Washington, Pa., over the week-end. The degree recognized the recipient's "accomplishments in the cultural world and his leadership in the art of fine entertainment."

Arranges Saturdays Off

CLEVELAND, June 7.—Starting last Saturday and continuing through Sept. 4, M-G-M office force here has been granted every alternate Saturday off. Office manager B. D. Stoner has worked out a policy whereby each member of the force will get seven long weekends. No other local exchange has such a policy.

CBS to Equip Stations with Signal Device

An increase in signal intensity equal to that produced by doubling the power of the transmitters of its stations will be brought about this month on a number of CBS units, the network claimed yesterday in making public its purchase of a new instrument known as the automatic peak volume limiter, an invention of the Bell Laboratories.

The new equipment will be given its first commercial employment at WABC, New York; WBBM, Chicago; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul; WBT, Charlotte; WJSV, Washington; WEEI, Boston; WKRC, Cincinnati, and KNX, Los Angeles. The network's short-wave transmitter, W2XE, will also be equipped with the device.

The automatic peak volume limiter performs the same function for a transmitter that a thermostat performs for an oil burner. It automatically keeps the signal intensity above a pre-determined volume level. The level is slightly below the station's maximum signal capacity, for to go above this level would mean distorted reception in the tone or the destruction of equipment in the transmitter. With the aid of the automatic peak volume limiter engineers can safely boost the average to 50 per cent or more of modulation, it is claimed. To produce this same gain in signal intensity without the help of the new Bell device it would be necessary to double the power of the station.

A. S. Foster Quits WWL

New Orleans, June 7.—A. S. Foster, promotion manager and national representative of WWL, has resigned. He had been associated with the station for the past six years. Foster came to New Orleans from Atlanta. He was manager of WSMB at one time.

Henry Dupree has been made director of special features at WWL, a new job and a new title.

New Shows on the Air

"For Men Only"

Better than a great many network programs whose titles we could mention but won't, is "For Men Only," a new weekly series originating in the studios of WHN and aired over the WLW Line from 8:30 to 9 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Paced and produced nicely, the program's permanent features include Ray Sinatra's orchestra, Joey Nash, vocalist, and Paul Sullivan as em cee. Weekly guest artists back the permanent cast. It takes little foresight to predict a happy stay on the "line" for the series.

Last night's guests include Bert Acosta, who described his experiences in the Spanish warfare; an Irishman with a delicious brogue, Pat Ryan; a $150,000 Sweepstakes winner, Alex Morrison, golf pro; Bradley Barker, animal imitator, and Estelle Taylor in a scene from "A Family Affair."

As for the mainstays, Ray Sinatra's orchestra is one of radio's best; Joey Nash sings beautifully and Paul Sullivan's ability is best attested by his ranking in the commentators' division of Motion Picture Daily's recent popularity poll.

"For Men Only" is sponsored by the Bristol-Myers Co. in behalf of Vitalis.

"Spotlight Revue"

Rated by its debut yesterday, "Spotlight Revue," a new summer sustaining series on WOR, must be labeled a mistake on somebody's part at the station.

The series was designed, according to WOR, to afford microphone opportunities to artists of the club, vaudeville and revue floors, a worthy idea. But the selection of talent was unfortunate. Having previously heard most of yesterday's guests on the stage or in local night clubs, this reviewer knows them to be competent showfolk capable of entertaining stage and night club audiences. Before the mike, however, their talents were lost.

Leo Fuld and Beatrice Joyce, for instance, heard in the Music Hall and the French Casino, were enjoyable singers. On the air Miss Joyce offered "Vienna Dreams," and "When Love Is Young," with desultory, if not altogether unpleasant results. Fuld's rendition of an Italian song, sung in the native tongue, was lifeless. Benny Davis, as em cee, reflected his inexperience before the mike, and Leo Freudberg's orchestra was poor. Even Rose Marie, a microphone veteran, showed little of the promise she displayed when she was burning up the airways as "Baby" Rose Marie.

"Spotlight Revue" is offered Mondays from 3 to 3:30 P. M., E.D.S.T.

Banner

"Fatty Lewis"

Kansas City, June 7.—Because of their adaptability to the messages of many advertisers, "domestic drama" on the radio are increasing as time goes on.

One of the better ones went on the air here last week over WDAF. "Fatty Lewis" appeared as a Sunday feature at the Kansas City Star for 20 years. Arthur F. Killick, who created the character and appears as "Fatty" in the program, pictures his ideas of "Home Sweet Home" in the episodes.

Humorously philosophical, the program contains commendably brief and pungent characterizations. The situations, while simple, are genuine, and, for a change, not overdone. They carry the tang and bite of reality.

In the one heard Mrs. L. is berating Mr. L. for being late to dinner, "as usual," and assigns the cause to those loafers he calls friends. Mr. L. tells her she can select the automobile, the furniture, the meals, the church, etc., but to let him select his friends. There is enough narrative interest to carry over from one episode to the next.

Knoxville, June 7.—R. L. Anderson has been made continuity chief of WNOX, Scripps-Howard Radio, Inc., here. Anderson, formerly member of the local sales staff, will head the continuity department and do commercial announcing.

"Madame X" on Lux Show

The Lux "Radio Theatre" will offer Ann Harding and James Stewart in a radio adaptation of "Madame X" June 14. The following Monday, June 21, Lux will present Leslie Howard in a microphone version of "Monsieur Beaucaire."

"Parade" and Show $20,500 Chicago Lead

Chicago, June 7.—"The Hit Parade," aided by Bill Robinson in person on the Palace stage was the outstanding business-getter in the Loop. The gross was $20,500, which was $1,500 above average.

Two pictures opened and then were pulled after the first day. "Melody For Two" was jerked at the Oriental after one day and "Night Must Fall" went in to replace it, doing fair business to get $15,400 which is $400 above the normal gross. "Angel's Holiday" failed to pull after a single day at the Garrick and "Good Old Soak" was substituted, but grossed only $5,000, which was $1,500 below average.

"The Prince and the Pauper" at the Apollo after a week at the Chicago took $7,500 which was $1,000 above average.

Total first run business was $108,900. Average is $118,000.

at the Joinville studios in Paris for six years," he continued.

Considerable praise for the fine work the foreign department has done under John W. Hicks, Jr., was expressed by the Paramount president.

"The organization has done a marvelous job," he said, "in holding together our business and carrying on when we guided them as little as we did. It is a great compliment to the foreign force and the fellows who have worked with Hicks, and I feel they are entitled to a great deal of credit."

His First Voyage

This was the first crossing for Balaban. He reported that business conditions were on the upgrade and that Europe is a very good market for American pictures.

Convinced that the trip has brought about a new understanding of the problems abroad, Balaban asserted he was in favor of having studio and home office executives make periodic visits abroad. He added that the foreign market is important enough for home office and studio men to visit there more often to maintain contacts and to have a knowledge of conditions.

"Our own affairs look very good. I gave the men an inside picture of what Adolph Zukor planned for the new season and they are enthusiastic over the new lineup. In September, when we begin releasing our new pictures, starting with 'Souls at Sea' and 'Ebb Tide,' the ball will again start rolling for us."

"One of the reasons for my going over was to get the production program over to the boys. They would have waited several months after the convention before they would have known what was coming."

Calls Business Good

Asked what the earnings for Paramount this year would approximate, Balaban said that the theatres and production were doing well and that actual figures were unavailable at this time. Paramount's partnerships, he added, are no problem. They have all been pretty well cleaned up.

Hicks accompanied the president on his return. He had been away since March 18 and met Balaban on May 3 in England. Hicks visited Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Zagreb, Rome and Copenhagen. He described the trip as his usual semi-annual survey. "Things are picking up," he said. Hicks left for the coast last night to be on hand for the annual sales convention at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, starting Thursday. The home office contingent preceded his departure by a day.

Balaban will be unable to attend the coast sessions. Y. Frank Freeman, theatre operating head, will be another absentee from the Los Angeles meetings.

he was damaged. Judge Coxe's ruling was upheld by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Katz's contract was for three years beginning Jan. 1, 1932, at $2,500 weekly and an option to purchase at stipulated prices a block of Paramount stick at the end of each six months. Katz's claim alleged that he was wrongfully discharged by the company on Oct. 28, 1932.

Samuel Spring, film attorney, represented Katz in the claim litigation, while Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine, attorneys for the Paramount reorganization trustees, represented the company.

Nebraska Bans "Ecstasy"

Omaha, June 7.—Judge John Rine of the State District Court ruled on Saturday that the film, "Ecstasy" may not be shown in Nebraska on the ground that it violates the decency statutes of the state. He dissolved a temporary restraining order obtained by Samuel Cummins, distributor of the film.

Equity Renames All Of Present Officers

The expected reelection of all officers of Actors' Equity Ass'n and the regular slate of councillors was certified yesterday following a tabulation of the votes cast at the organization's annual meeting last Friday.

Officers reelected for a three-year term are: Frank Gillmore, president; Osgood Perkins, Florence Reed, Arthur Byron and Peggy Wood, vice-presidents; Paul Dullzell, treasurer, and Leo Curley, recording secretary. Councillors elected for a five-year term are Glenn Anders, Franklin Fox, William Gaxton, Walter N. Greaza, Louis Jean Heydt, Benjamin S. Lackland, Burgess Meredith, Claudia L. Morgan, Edith L. Van Cleve and Richard B. Whorf. Councillor for a three-year term, Mary Morris, and for a two-year term, Clifton Webb.

There were two opposition tickets in the field.

Theatrical Unions Plan WPA Protest

Representatives from the A. F. L. unions concerned with the Federal Theatre project meeting at the request of Frank Gillmore at the Equity quarters yesterday resolved to send to Washington today a delegation to protest against the Woodrum amendment limiting the WPA appropriation to $1,500,000,000. New York Senators and the Senate Appropriations Committee will be contacted. Maintenance of the project in its full strength will be demanded.

The committee will be composed of Fred Marshall, president of United Scenic Artists Local 829; David Freed, executive board, Local 802, American Federation of Musicians; a member of the Washington office of the I. A. T. S. E., a representative from the American Federation of Actors, Alfred Harding, representing Actors' Equity Ass'n, and Dorothy Bryant, executive secretary of Chorus Equity Ass'n.

Mickey Mouse Clubs Extended in England

Mickey Mouse Clubs in England are being nationalized by Oscar Deutsch of the Odeon Circuit, William Levy, head of Walt Disney-Mickey Mouse, Ltd., stated yesterday upon his arrival on the Queen Mary. A committee has been set up to organize the clubs in more than 200 theatres, he said. The clubs are designed to promote good fellowship and meet every Saturday morning.

The circulation of Mickey Mouse Weekly, published every week by Walt Disney-Mickey Mouse, Ltd., has been increased to 500,000. No advertisements appear in the eight-page color magazine.

Kay Kamen, head of Walt Disney Enterprises, also returned on the same boat. He spent six weeks in England and France on a combination business and vacation trip. He will leave for the coast Saturday with the RKO convention delegates. Levy leaves today.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Last Train from Madrid"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, June 7.—With the Spanish revolution as the background for a collection of melodramatic romances, this film probably will be better remembered as one that showed that several of Paramount's younger players are heading for more important things than as topical entertainment. With Olympe Branda outstanding and Anthony Quinn, Dorothy Lamour, Robert Cummings and Lee Bowman demonstrating they have completed their training school period, the cast also gives prominence to Lew Ayres, Gilbert Roland, Karen Morley, Lionel Atwill and Helen Mack.

Technically the film is a rather disjointed series of episodic dramas, romances and adventures which befall a little group of people seeking to board the last train out of war-stricken Madrid. The only comedy centers about the character of newspaper man Ayres and the story is generally told in a somber atmosphere. The terror that war danger brings to all is emphasized by the fear that strikes all who come under its sweep. With iron-willed officer Atwill directing evacuation operations, subaltern Quinn, knowing his act will deprive him of Dorothy Lamour, saves the life of blood brother Roland. The story of Ayres and Olympe Branda, who find love, fear and eventual happiness is the film's most appealing incident. Helen Mack's few minutes of happiness with Robert Cummmings are climaxed by her tragic death. Miss Morley is an ally of Quinn's in saving Roland, knowing that her efforts in his behalf will be futile as far as love is concerned. In the finale, the train pulls out.

Produced by George Arthur, based on a story by Paul and Elsie Fox, the screen play is by Louis Stevens and Robert Wyler. James Hogan directed. A peculiar picture because of the manner in which it is executed, it, nevertheless, is the first film to use the Spanish revolution for production atmosphere. This fact, plus its featuring of younger players, loom as the chief exploitation assets.

Production Code Certificate No. 3,359. Running time, 75 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Maternite"

(French M. P. Corp.)

With the expert use of the camera to produce significant effects, thereby telling the story in the basic manner of the screen, through pictures rather than excessive dialogue, this French film unfortunately recounts a hackneyed story, and opens with a seduction, which may not meet with favor in all quarters. That, however, is the only element which could possibly be frowned upon.

The story tells of the country girl who is seduced, and who leaves her child in the country while she seeks work in Paris. Eventually she gains a post as a maid and brings her child to the city. Her employers, a childless couple, want to adopt her son. She rebels, but realizing they can give the boy advantages beyond her power, she goes away. Then follows the old and familiar plot of the aging mother watching her son from afar and unknown. He grows to manhood, is on the way to success, when, visiting the project he is building, she is struck by his car, finally dying with her son beside her, happy despite his lack of recognition.

The performances are good, especially that of Hella Muller as the young mother.

No production code seal. Running time, 77 minutes. "G."

Protest Raid on Film

Vacaville, Cal., June 7.—Mexican children have gone on a school strike with the approval of their parents to protest against a raid by the Mayor and chief of police on a meeting Saturday night at which "Spain in Flames" was being shown to raise funds for "Friends of Lincoln Battalion."

Four persons were arrested and the projection equipment was confiscated. Another showing is scheduled for next Saturday.

Golder Gets Franchise

John Golder of Philadelphia has been given the Imperial franchise for Philadelphia, eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey. The exchange will operate under the Imperial name.

Renew Ruggles Pact

Hollywood, June 7.—Paramount has renewed its producing and directing contract with Wesley Ruggles. His next will be "True Confession," starring Carole Lombard.

Short Subjects

"Girls Ahoy"

(Educational)

Tom Patricola and Buster West are still in the navy. They still do their amusing dancing. Their adventures in this latest comedy revolve around the problem of rounding up "Shanghai Annie," a gold-digger. They prevent her from marrying their fiancees' father. Up to the usual standard. Production Code Seal No. 01,614. Running time, 18 mins. "G."

"Porky's Duck Hunt"

(Vitaphone)

Highly entertaining doings of the porcine cartoon character. It is full of clever twists and novel departures that make it refreshing. Production Code Seal No. 3,190. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Ozzie Ostrich Comes to Town"

(Terry-Toons-Educational)

Though Kiko, the Kangaroo, is featured in this cartoon, it also serves to introduce Ozzie. It is routine material pepped up with clever animation. Production Code Seal No. 01,588. Running time, 6 mins.

"The Jam Session"

(Vitaphone)

A snappily concocted musical offering that features Clyde McCoy and his band. It is tuneful throughout and will be found thoroughly enjoyable. Production Code Seal No. 01,451. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Crystal Ballet"

(Educational)

The Cinderella tale is projected against a background of an ice carnival. It is pleasant fantasy. The fair photography catches the highlights of clever ice ensembles. Production Code Seal No. 01,616. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Study RA Film Costs

Washington, June 7.—The Senate Special Committee on Government Reorganization, headed by Senator Byrd of Virginia, is studying the Resettlement Administration's venture in the production of films of its work. The committee's agents are inquiring into the cost of two films, "The Plough That Broke the Plains," and "Ol' Man River," which is now in production.

Gordon to Make 3 Films

Max Gordon, New York stage producer, through the medium of his Max Gordon Plays & Pictures Corp., plans to produce three films for the season of 1938-'39, he stated yesterday. The first feature will be "The Women," stage play currently on Broadway.

Gordon will leave tomorrow on the Queen Mary for a vacation in Europe.

Suit to Halt Tax Watched By Theatres

Retail Outlet Contends Act Unconstitutional

HARRISBURG, June 8.—Theatre interests in Pennsylvania are watching closely the developments in the litigation begun yesterday by the American Stores Co., to test the constitutionality of the new law imposing a tax on theatres and chain stores in the state. The measure was signed early this week by Governor Earle. The equity suit was filed against John B. Kelly, State Secretary of Revenue, in the Dauphin County Court here.

The law, signed early this week by Governor Earle, taxes theatres and chain stores on a graduated scale ranging from $1 for a single theatre or store up to $500 for each unit when 500 theatres or stores are owned by one organization within the state.

The company states that it had 1,743 retail stores in more than 450 communities in the state on June 1, and claims that if the "store and theatre tax act" is sustained it will be compelled to reduce the number of its stores to less than 1,000. The action seeks to enjoin the Secretary of Revenue from attempting to enforce the act.

The company contends that the law

Missouri 2% Sales Tax Made Effective

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—Because the state was losing $33,000 a day in the extra one per cent of sales tax, Gov. Lloyd Stark of Missouri signed the bill boosting the sales tax from one to two per cent Monday and it became effective today. Stark had not been expected to sign until next week.

"Paris," Nelson Get $55,000, Paramount

"I Met Him in Paris" and Ozzie Nelson and his orchestra on the stage tallied approximately $55,000 for the first week at the Paramount. The combination show will be held another two weeks. Bob Weitman, manager, is trying to book Martha Raye for a personal appearance in July, possibly with "Exclusive."

The fourth week of "Captains Courageous" at two-a-day at the Astor garnered $11,600.

Nazis Establish Circuit Here For German Films Exclusively

The Nazi Government has established a chain of theatres in the United States showing National Socialist films exclusively, Ludwig Lore asserts in an article titled "What Are American Nazis Doing?" which appears in the current issue of The Nation.

Describing what he terms Nazi propaganda at large in this country, Lore has this to say about Berlin's alleged film activities:

"Nazi films picturing the Third Reich in its various activities are released to German societies for a purely nominal fee. Hanns Munz, who is a member both of the American Nazi group and of the German National Socialist Party, directs the German theatre 'Deutsche Schauspielbuehne' which is to conduct German cultural (Nazi) propaganda in various parts of the United States. Josef Danner in Pittsburgh is engaged in similar work."

Universal 3-Month Net Loss $105,069

Universal Pictures Co., Inc., and subsidiaries report a net loss of $105,069 for the 13 weeks ending May 1.

In the same quarter last year the net loss, before crediting a profit on the sale of the capital stock of its British subsidiary, was $404,752. The company says its earnings are beginning to reflect the return from a substantial outlay on production necessary before an even flow of releases can be achieved.

The loss for the first quarter this year is after all charges, Federal and foreign income taxes, and provision of $78,234 for depreciation of capital assets.

In the preceding quarter the loss was $403,966, and for the final quarter of the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1936, (before extraordinary write-offs of $292,369 on certain of the company's foreign interests) the loss was $730,751.

Agreement on Sales Tax Is Being Sought

Distributors Hoping to Reduce Penalties

With legal recourses for contesting the application of the city sales tax to film rentals virtually closed, distribution companies are now concentrating their efforts on working out a compromise with the city comptroller's office which would reduce or relieve them of the penalties and interest which may be levied in connection with the sales tax assessments, it was learned yesterday.

The 90-day period allowed for the appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court from the N. Y. Court of Appeals decision which found rentals to be subject to the tax, expires this week. The Supreme Court has already adjourned for the summer and distribution companies have made no preparations for such an appeal, in any event. The only other legal recourse open to distributors, a rehearing of the case by the Court of Appeals, has never been seriously considered by the companies due, largely, to the fact that the court's opinion in the United Artists sales tax case was a unanimous one. The Albany court is now preparing to adjourn for the term.

The liability of distributors on the sales tax for the two years ended last Jan. 1, was recently estimated by city officials at $1,650,000 on the basis of audits of the books of local exchanges completed to date. Interest on this sum, together with the penalties resulting from the deferred payment, involve an appreciable amount.

Negotiations with the city for a compromise on the interest and penalties liability are in progress now. One city official recently stated that, while there was a disposition on the part of several officials to waive the interest and penalties, others felt that the Court of Appeals decision in the United Artists case included these with the tax assessment, giving the effect of "freezing" all three levies in the form of a judgment against the distributor. If these are inseparable in the United Artists case, they reason, exceptions to it could not be made for other distributors.

violates the uniformity clause of the state constitution and attempts to put a graduated tax upon the same class of propery when the only difference is the multiple number of theatres or stores. It is claimed that this is not a proper basis of classification and that by exemption of newsstands from the provisions of the act, the legislation is discriminatory.

A further point made by the company is tnat the tax is so great in the higher brackets that the act amounts to confiscation and destruction of business. The state has been given 30 days in which to file an answer.

Turf Club to Dine

Los Angeles, June 8.—The Hollywood Turf Club, headed by Jack L. Warner, chairman of the board, will hold a "celebration dinner" June 14 at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel for its stockholders. The club, although it does not have the required horse racing permit from the state, is going ahead with the construction of a track in Inglewood.

Looking 'Em Over

"Smoke Tree Range"

(Buck Jones-Universal)

From the outset this western is satisfying. The producer knows what his following wants and he gives it to them. But in each succeeding effort he injects new material to depart from the beaten path.

The tale is simply and straightforwardly told. The usual rustler angles are worked in and there are also sequences of cleverly handled suspense. The dialogue, too, is devoid of the usual wooden quality. Briefly, it concerns Buck Jones' adventures and his troubles after he meets Muriel Evans, the niece of a neighboring rancher who has disappeared. She had returned to the range to live. Jones' grandfather, thinking her a squatter, orders his hands to drive her off. Jones intervenes. This leads off to rustling, a kidnapping, an exciting gun-battle and finally El Capitan, the arch-rustler, is blasted out of his skin. All this, of course, against interesting backgrounds of well chosen outdoor settings. The romance thread is secondary.

Lesley Selander directed. The support includes Dickey Jones, John Elliott, Ted Adams and Donald Kirke. The story is by Arthur Henry Gooden.

Production Code Seal No. 3,114. Running time, 63 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"March of Time—No. 11"

(RKO)

There is interest and enlightening information in this latest issue of the "March of Time," combining in three episodes a significant situation in the current European powder keg, and two sequences of peculiarly American interest.

The first episode highlights the dangerous position in which Poland finds herself, surrounded by enemies, the huge army built up by the late Marshal Pilsudski, which keeps the country poor, and the policy of careful maneuvering followed by the new Marshal Smigley-Rydz. Most dangerous enemy is Germany, which covetously eyes the Polish Corridor.

The huge industry which is the supplying and equipping of dogs features the next chapter, which has its amusing moments and concludes with the study of the work done by the dogs of the Seeing Eye, which trains the animals to guide the blind, and the legislation which is liberalizing laws to give those dogs more freedom to serve.

The final sequence graphically depicts the tragic situation of the southwest, America's "dust bowl," slowly becoming a new American desert unless the project instituted by the Dep't. of Agriculture in Dalhart, Tex., for reclamation, is successful.

Running time, 19 minutes. "G."

"Eliseo Grenet and Orchestra"

(Vitaphone)

Tuneful Cuban rhythms by their originator and native dances in the Cuban manner are combined in this Melody Master. It is wholly pleasant stuff. The music is set in a theatrical version of Havana. Production code Seal No. 01,527. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

"Ornamental Swimming"

(Educational)

Feminine members of the Mermaid Swimming Club in Toronto form eye-pleasing patterns in a pool. They also have mastered many difficult strokes and stunts. The camera catches all of them. It is pleasing material. Production Code Seal No. 01,615. Running time, 10 minutes. "G."

Farben Develops New Film Timing Device

Washington, June 8.—The AGFA (I. G. Farben concern) has developed a new photographic method for use in judging sporting contests, reports Assistant Commercial Attache R. M. Stephenson, in Berlin, to the U. S. Dep't of Commerce.

Two slow motion cameras are combined to make steroscopic shots of the events at the goal at the rate of 100 pairs a second. The time is also indicated on the film.

By this method, it is possible to fix time differences up to one-thousandth of a second. By a special process, the films can be developed within 10 minutes after taking.

Form Preferred Pictures

Los Angeles, June 8.—Sam Klein and Jack Zamsky have formed Preferred Pictures, Inc., as an independent Film exchange.

Divot-Diggers Ready For Exercise Today

At a late hour last night, The Film Daily's divot-digger devisers, which means golf tournament sponsors, were making frantic efforts to exact a solemn and unqualified promise from the weather man that the sun would absolutely shine today. In fact, that it would do some of the best modern shining it has done in years—for today is the day Jack Alicoate's 25th annual (Silver Jubilee) Film Daily Golf Tournament par excellence, which means Okay.

The beer is on the ice, the prizes (skads of them) are on the trophy table and the attendants are on the alert at the Elmsford Country Club in White Plains for the big doin's of the day. In case the golfers don't golf, they may tennis, or swim, or ping-pong, or kibitz, or just sit in the sun (?) and quaff.

As for the golf, the big feature of the day will be the team play, with nine teams entered, including: M-G-M, United Artists, the trade press, the Hays Office, Warners, Educational, RKO, Eastman Kodak and the Ampa, which is the defending team play "champeen." The teams will attempt to mashie each other with their drivers for the Albee Memorial Cup and the Film Daily medals.

Astonishing Prizes

There are about a dozen major prizes, two prizes for each foursome, innumerable others and even souvenirs. An Estey home organ is one of the major prizes, a round-trip plane trip to Hollywood is another. The list of approximately 200 who are expected reads very much like a who's who in the film business in New York.

The highspot of the day will be the banquet at the club in the evening, at which there will even be food, according to usually reliable sources. The Hurley Screen Corp. has supplied a sound screen for the showing of a program of shorts. Something that that fellow, Walt Disney, made recently will be shown as well as a golf reel which probably will be accompanied by loud and heart-felt groans from the divot-diggers whose scores had to be computed in three figures and up.

Urge Shorts Quota For English Trade

the Government of the Moyne report's suggestion of separate quotas for long and short films, implying the provision of British shorts against foreign.

At present British feature footage may be counted against foreign shorts footage. The suggestion was approved by the Film Group, producers' organization, and opposed in the first instance by exhibitors and distributors. Now strong support has been forthcoming from "documentary" producers and the argument is being used that shorts production is an invaluable training ground for British feature producers and directors and that it will ease the situation caused by the poor quality of second features.

Corum Renews Contract

Bill Corum, Evening Journal sports columnist, has renewed his contract with Condor Pictures for a news series of 13 "Sports With Bill Corum" short subjects, which will be released by RKO on the 1937-'38 schedule.

Words Fail 'Em

Finally, a print of "A Day at the Races" has arrived in New York. M-G-M officials dropped this and also that to take a look and now they can't even talk about it, they reported late yesterday.

So Si Seadler, who has been called upon to invent phrases for all these many years, is hard at it, trying to evolve encomiums and New Deal-type adjectives to express what they think.

This was the big event around the Loew Bldg. yesterday.

Oklahoma Business Outlook Brightens

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 8.—Exhibitors in Oklahoma have a rosy picture before them of business conditions from which their box-offices will reap higher profits this year.

Oklahoma's farm income reached $18,168,000 in March and wheat prospects for the state are nearly double those of last year, the 10th Federal Reserve Bank review has revealed.

While the state's prospective wheat crop increased by 5,000,000 bushels during the month, the prospect for the entire five-state banking area was down about 8,500,000, indicating that not only will there be a crop, but that the prices will be high enough to afford a real profit.

Except for Oklahoma City and Tulsa, the two largest cities in the state, the entire state's income is very closely related to crop conditions, with the smaller exhibitors' fortunes closely related with those of the agricultural folk.

The high farm income and good prospects were reflected throughout Oklahoma in April department store sales averaging five per cent better than last year. The department store sales gain came in face of the fact that Easter last year was in April and Easter business this year was all completed in March.

Theatre Changes Up In New York Areas

Theatre changes in the New York territory for the first three months of the year totaled 38 and seven new theatres were constructed, according to the New York Film Board of Trade.

Of the 38 transfers, six were in Manhattan, eight in Brooklyn, four in the Bronx, five in Long Island, seven in the upper New York area and eight in New Jersey.

One new house each was opened in Manhattan, Brooklyn and upper New York state, two in the Bronx and two are nearing completion in New Jersey. The list does not include the structures now going up for Loew's, RKO and a number of independents.

To Handle Fight Films

TORONTO, June 8.—The official pictures of the Braddock vs. Louis heavyweight championship fight at Chicago June 22 will be released throughout Canada from the six branches of the newly-organized Grand National Films, Ltd., here, according to H. J. Allen, Canadian general manager.

locals. Leaders of the strikers admit privately that C.I.O. affiliation is the ace in the hole and this is confirmed by reports that C.I.O. affiliates and A.F.L. groups inclined to the C.I.O. are carrying the financial burden of the strike.

Strikers in a last minute switch did not send a communication yesterday to Pat Casey but sent a strike settlement plan to individual producers.

Charles Lessing, executive secretary of the F.M.P.C., was detained last night with eight others by Burbank police investigating the beating of a strikebreaker. Lessing, R. W. Kohl, painters' local business agent, and Oliver Chandler were released after questioning but the other six, including Dan Madden, business agent of the molders' local, are still in technical custody under the California law which permits the holding of suspects for 48 hours without lodging formal charges. The victim was Robert Weise, Warner draftsman.

Form Wilmington Union

WILMINGTON, June 8.—Theatre Service Men's Local B94 has been formed here by the I.A.T.S.E. with 50 members. Officers are: President, Bayard J. Barnes; vice-president, Hardwick Poselli; recording secretary, Charles Pasce; financial and corresponding secretary, Leonard Howard; treasurer, Lawrence Posxelli; business manager, Merritt Pragg.

Oklahoma Exchange Employes Organize

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 8.—Union contracts will be presented to exchange managers this week by the recently organized Film Exchange Employes Local B59, according to George Snodgrass, president.

Other officers made permanent at a recent meeting were: Paul Kearns, vice-president; Dudley Tucker, financial secretary-treasurer, and Imogene Fowler, corresponding secretary; trustees, Sophia Lamont, Vincent Settle, Bill Mitchell and Leo Craiker.

The union has 75 members and claims 100 per cent membership of exchange employes, according to Snodgrass.

Avert Tieup in Omaha

OMAHA, June 8.—Tieup of film deliveries threatened when employes of truck companies called a strike has been averted by film trucking firms' employes joining the union being organized among exchange workers.

Features in Berlin Houses Show Decline

WASHINGTON, June 8.—During the first nine months of the 1936-37 season, 136 long features were shown in Berlin, as compared with 140 in the corresponding period of the previous season, according to a report to the U. S. Dep't of Commerce from Assistant Commercial Attache R. M. Stephenson at Berlin.

The nationality of the feature films, however, shows a considerable change, as in the current season the films of German origin numbered 90 as against 79 in 1935-'36, an increase from 56.4 to 66.4 per cent.

If, to these German films, are added others actually of foreign origin but in the German language and financed by German distributing concerns, the figure for the first nine months of the season becomes 108 (79.4 per cent of the total), as against 97 (69.2 per cent) in the period a year ago.

The share of the United States in the Berlin market has further declined. In 1935-'36, it amounted to 45.8 per cent of all foreign films as compared with 41.3 per cent in 1936-'37. The share of other foreign films, especially of European origin, increased.

Wagner Act Is Hit By John Van Allen

Chicago, June 8.—Criticism of the Wagner Labor Relations Act on the ground that it "fails to regulate or control the actions of unions" was voiced here today by John W. Van Allen of Buffalo, general counsel of the Radio Manufacturers' Ass'n. His address was delivered at the 13th annual convention of the organization.

Van Allen declared that minority employes and employers alike are subject to "the unrestrained acts of outside pickets, some of whom hate all forms of government and are experts in the art of discontent."

Statistics revealed at the convention indicated that 9,000,000 receiving sets will be sold during the coming year, these figures being based on reports that current radio sales are 17 per cent ahead of last year.

Election of officers will be held tomorrow and a banquet will bring the convention to a close. Most of the delegates are expected to remain for the National Radio Trade Show which starts Thursday and extends through Sunday.

WNYC Is Accused Of Anti-Semitism

Charging that WNYC, New York's municipal station, was used as a "recruiting agency against Jews," Alderman Hart, at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday, asked that the station be shut down rather than to continue broadcasts of the type described.

The program in question was the airing of a meeting at the Town Hall last week when representatives of an Arabian commission spoke in defense of the Arabs in their fights with Jewish groups in Palestine.

E. E. Grew, deputy commissioner of plants and structures, the department in charge of the station, defended the station in permitting the broadcast. He said that free speech demanded the presentation of both sides of all questions and asserted that a program by a Jewish authority in reply to the speech of the Arabian representative has been scheduled for broadcasting over the station next Friday night.

VOL. 41. NO. 135 NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1937 TEN CENTS

To Reinstate Loew's, RKO Chance Games

Say Resumption Is Due To Independents

After a lapse of several months, Loew's and RKO will reinstate chance games in local theatres, starting June 18. Skouras, Century, Randforce and Consolidated circuits, which had reduced the practice to a minimum, have renewed contracts with Screeno providing for all of its theatres.

The move, circuit heads told MOTION PICTURE DAILY yesterday, was decided upon as a result of the refusal of a number of independents to discontinue games. This was reported about two weeks ago.

Loew's will feature Screeno again in 44 theatres and RKO in 35 of its Greater New York group. Skouras has lined up 22 theatres, Randforce, 39; Century, 15, and Consolidated, its entire circuit.

In each instance double bills will be continued as heretofore. Each theatre will award its own cash prizes with mass disbursements declared out.

George B. West, local agent, and Meyer Solomon, salesman for Screeno, negotiated the deals. The Loew arrangement was completed yesterday afternoon with Charles C. Moskowitz and Eugene Picker, circuit executives.

$30,000,000 a Year

London, June 1. — An amount "in the region of £6,000,000" is paid to the United States annually for films exhibited in England, Oliver Stanley, new president of the Board of Trade, declared in the House of Commons. The figure referred to 1936 approximately, Stanley said, pointing out that exact totals are not available.

He added that the effect of the Films Act had been to reduce the proportion of receipts at theatres accruing to distributors of American films.

Studio Rental Fixing Behind British Moves

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, June 1.—A strong desire on the part of British producers to maintain rental figures for first class floor space in English studios is understood to be one of the important motivating factors behind the agreements closed and in work for a pooling of facilities on the part of major studios in the country.

Although nothing conclusive has been signed as yet, there is considerable talk of a working arrangement among the operators of the Denham, Pinewood and Amalgamated studios, and official confirmation came yesterday of the consolidation of production facilities by Alexander Korda and Basil Dean, operating the Denham and Ealing studios, respectively. Herbert Wilcox, who is producing at Korda's Denham plant, is also a participant in the arrangement.

According to reports of the original three-studio deal, the studios would be operated as a service unit from a

PREDICT U. A. BUY IN 60 TO 90 DAYS

Korda and Rose Declare Financial Plans Are Completed

By BILL ORNSTEIN

Options for the purchase of the partnership interests of Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford in United Artists are expected to be lifted by Alexander Korda and Samuel Goldwyn within 60 to 90 days, Korda and David Rose, vice-president and financial head for Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., stated yesterday before sailing aboard the Queen Mary for London.

Both Korda and Rose declared that financial arrangements have been completed on the deal and that no changes in the administration setup are contemplated.

"I am quite definite the deal will go through," Korda stated. "I hope it will be in a short time. The formalities, you know, take some time, and it may be three months before the attorneys work out arrangements.

"Goldwyn and I will have control between us," Korda added. He would not discuss the amount of money involved, the expiration date of the option, or the sum paid for the options.

Asked about published reports that David O. Selznick had turned down an offer to become a third partner under the new setup Korda said he knew nothing of the offer or the refusal.

Korda was then asked if Prudential Assurance Co. was to finance the deal. He asserted that this was not so, insisting arrangements had already been set whereby he and Goldwyn each put up 50 per cent of the purchase price.

Asked if Hemphill, Noyes & Co., in which Stanton Griffis, chairman of Paramount's executive committee, is a partner, would finance his part of

Para. Coast Meet Will Start Today

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Paramount delegates to the annual sales convention, which will begin with formal business sessions at the Ambassador Hotel here tomorrow, arrived here by special train early this afternoon.

The rest of the day was spent in wandering tours of the Paramount Hollywood studio, and new pictures were screened for the delegates at the studio this evening.

Neil F. Agnew, vice-president in charge of distribution, will open the business sessions at the Ambassador tomorrow morning, followed by J. J. Unger and Charles Reagan, eastern and western division managers, respectively. The awarding of the prizes to winners of the recent Adolph Zukor Jubilee drive will be a feature of the morning session.

Friday afternoon the product for the 1937-38 season will be outlined to

Chicago Lawyer Here For Paramount Talks

I. B. Perleman, representing a group of Chicago independents, yesterday conferred with Austin Keough, general counsel and secretary of Paramount, on what he termed "general conditions in the industry and the rights of independents, if any, in Chicago"

Perleman declined to express the nature of the visit, but stated he would leave today for Washington to talk to Paul Williams and other assistant attorney generals in the anti-trust divisions."

Numerous exhibitors have been complaining about B. & K. protection. Perleman's visit to Paramount yesterday is believed to be in connection with that topic.

Schulberg Plans 8 Films Next Season

Eight pictures, the same number as was scheduled for this year, are planned by B. P. Schulberg Prod. for the new season, Ralph Kohn, vice-president and treasurer of the producing organization, said yesterday just prior to his departure for the coast by plane.

Kohn said that releasing arrangements for the new season product have

Wisconsin Tax Upon Circuits Proposed

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—A bill calling for a chain theatre tax of from five cents per seat on from two to five houses to $5 per seat for circuits with more than 500 houses was introduced in the Assembly today.

The seat tax for circuits operating from six to 10 theatres would be 10 cents with the rate increasing at five cents a seat for each group of five theatres.

The Allied theatre divorce bill is still pending in the Senate and no vote is expected for another week.

Looking 'Em Over

(M-G-M)

The Marx brothers—they who once were four until the agents got Zeppo—are completely the mad men again in their first slapstick, screwball comedy since "A Night at the Opera." They've got a show. Metro's got a show and all exhibitors who made the buy have got a show.

Based on an original by Robert Pirosh and George Seaton, this time Groucho is a horse doctor, Harpo is a jockey and Chico is everything the others are not, plus. There is Maureen O'Sullivan, who has inherited a sanitarium and its debts, in love with Allan Jones, as he is with her, and Margaret Dumont, fixture in all Marx comedies, the wealthy hypochondriac who has the money necessary to pull Maureen and her troubles out of their difficulties. Miss Dumont is sold completely on Groucho's medical prowess and, after all, how was she to know he took care of horses? There is Douglas Dumbrille, in cahoots with Leonard Geeley, and he is after the place for gambling casino purposes. One has what the other wants and that's how it works out with Harpo riding the winning jumper through the winning steeplechase.

However, the story content in any Marx comedy never did cut much swath. Around the situations, the lunatics have built plenty of gags and they're all new, or certainly most of them anyway. Their usual penchant for developing their fun until it gathers a momentum hardly believed possible holds true. You get it in the operating room sequence and more significantly in the racetrack sequence which is as different as it is funny. Any effort to outline in detail the crazy pranks they go through is beyond the limits of an ordinary review. It means, therefore, taking this reviewer's word for it that the gags and the quips are around in substantial belly-laughter proportions.

If audiences will take any Marx comedy, then, they'll take "A Day at the Races" and take it big. Music is interlarded and production value also through a beautiful ballet and an extended negro spiritual sequence which stop the comedy while they are under way, in keeping with the accepted tradition for this sort of interlude.

At an hour and 51 minutes, it is our reaction that the picture, in its present length, is considerably overlength. Chico at the piano could be trimmed and the spiritual number could be reduced, for instance, not only without losing values, but adding to them by speeding the tempo.

The direction is credited to Sam Wood, the screenplay to Pirosh, Seaton and George Oppenheimer and, while that means the Marxes themselves get no screen credit, there won't be much doubt about the extent to which they played a part.

Code-approved, of course.

Overseas Previews

"Knight Without Armour"

(London Films—United Artists)

London, June 2.—Alexander Korda has put all the resources of Denham behind this picture, which starts with the advantage of offering Marlene Dietrich and Robert Donat in a James Hilton story. It is essentially an actionful romance with considerable originality of setting, very good acting by leads and supports alike, excellent suspense value and an unusual climax.

Any American theatre which played "The 39 Steps" should find it goes over well; it has virtues of that picture in a quick succession of dramatic episodes and an absence of ultra-English dialogue, and it has some more of its own. Its faults, which arise from a general defiance of probability, are likely to have more weight with the minority than with the mass which likes its fare to reflect a desirable world of make-believe. They are also considerably mitigated by the fact that in the period pictured life was, in fact, apt to be as improbable as melodrama.

Donat is an Englishman who, posing as a Russian in the interests of the British secret service, is banished to Siberia. Released by the Revolution, he becomes a sort of assistant commissar to a fellow-prisoner with a Revolutionary past which makes him an important figure in the new regime. Told off to escort a captured countess (Miss Dietrich) to Petrograd, he falls in love with her in the process of protecting her from sex-hungry and blood-thirsty Bolsheviks. They spend days hidden in the forest, are captured and saved by the self-sacrifice of a commissar who falls in love with the countess. The Englishman tricks the firing squad and the last scene shows him clambering aboard

"Pauper" Beats Out Cincy Competition

Cincinnati, June 9.—Competition dented last week's grosses. "The Prince and the Pauper" got the only real money, $12,000 par at the RKO Albee. It was moved to the RKO Grand.

"A Star Is Born" came within hailing distance of the $6,500 average at the RKO Capitol, where it pulled $6,000 in its second downtown week, and held over. Returns at the other houses were nothing to write home about.

Total first run business was $45,000. Average is $58,700.

Estimated takings:

Week Ending June 2:

"My Affair" Beats Louisville Slump

Louisville, June 9.—Solo pictures made the best showing during the past week, and successively combatted the heat wave. "This Is My Affair" and "March of Time" at the Rialto pulled $5,500, an even $1,000 over the normal take. The bill was moved to the Brown.

"Kid Galahad" at the Mary Anderson did nice business, taking $4,500, over normal by $1,000. It was held.

All other first runs were below average. Loew's State with "Night Must Fall" and "Way Out West," dropped below normal, due primarily to an idle cooling system. Parts which were on order failed to arrive.

Total first run businesss was $23,300. Average is $23,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending June 3:

"A STAR IS BORN" (U.A.)
"A FAMILY AFFAIR" (M-G-M)

"Family," Calloway Milwaukee Leaders

Milwaukee, June 9.—Cab Calloway on the stage and "A Family Affair" on the screen grossed high money for the week with $10,000 at Fox's Palace, just $5,000 to the good.

"A Star Is Born" and "Penrod and Sam" did $5,500, just $500 above average, in its second and final week at the Warner. "Navy Blues" and vaudeville grossed $5,300 at the Riverside, $300 above average, while "This Is My Affair" and Angel's Holiday" was good for $8,200 in eight days at Fox's Wisconsin.

Total first run business was $36,000. Average is $31,000.

Estimated takings:

"Metropole" Pittsburgh's Only Grosser

Pittsburgh, June 9.—Only the Fulton, with "Cafe Metropole," managed to make a creditable showing, the picture doing $7,100 and getting a second week.

The Penn was the only other house to better par, and then only by $500 with "I Met Him in Paris." The Warner dropped to a new low for the year on "Melody for Two" and "The Man Who Found Himself," the double bill being yanked after six days to $3,400.

Total first run business was $40,000. Average is $44,000.

Estimated takings for the week ending June 3:

"50 ROADS TO TOWN" (20th-Fox)
"CHARLIE CHAN AT THE OLYMPICS"

"Galahad" Dual Is High in New Haven

New Haven, June 9.—"Kid Galahad" and "That Man's Here Again" at the Roger Sherman built up from a poor opening to a $5,800 week, over the line by $1,100, and was held for three days or more, as business should warrant.

"They Gave Him a Gun" and "Thunder in the City" passed the Loew's-Poli $7,000 par by $500, while other business in the city fell below average. Continued fair and warm weather did its usual damage to box-office receipts with the Tom Mix circus contributing.

Total first run business was $18,800. Average is $19,300.

Estimated takings for the week ending June 4:

"CHARLIE CHAN AT THE OLYMPICS"

central office in London. Space would be rented at a uniform rate, and in whichever studio happened to have the required space available when requested. The staffs and equipment would be interchangeable.

In addition to the considerable economies which are seen as resulting from such an arrangement, the important fact is that price maintenance could be guaranteed under such an agreement. No financial merger of the studio companies would be involved in the plan.

The possibility has been voiced in London film circles of the general extension of this type of cooperation. Also seen as important factors in the situation were the hint of Dr. Leslie Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, that the industry should reorganize, and the fact that, due to the slump in production, there appeared a real danger that first class studio space would shortly be available at cut rates to any American company which wanted it.

It was thought likely in some quarters that Sound City, the Warner plant at Teddington, and possibly other plants, might be interested in a larger scheme of a similar purpose, the basis of which would be the interchange of facilities, but the object of which would be to standardize service charges.

Cabinet Changes May Affect Film Parlays

London, June 2.—Cabinet changes announced on the retirement of Stanley Baldwin and the succession of Neville Chamberlain to the premiership will affect the film industry's relations with the Government.

Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, has relinquished that office to go to the House of Lords. He is succeeded by Oliver Stanley. Dr. Leslie Burgin, who as Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade has conducted almost the whole of the Government-trade discussions on Films Act problems, has become Minister of Transport, with a seat in the Cabinet. He is succeeded by Capt. Euan Wallace. It is believed that the Government policy in regard to the Act practically has been decided, but the changes in official personnel may give further opportunities for trade representations.

serves and profits and loss account balances of £1,130,599."

It comments on the fact that the interests behind the demand for an investigation were concerned in an unsuccessful attempt to upset the G. B. deal with General Theatres Corp. and, referring to the request to shareholders to contribute to a fund for the expenses of the campaign against the board, says: "In the circumstances the directors do not suppose that shareholders will be so willing."

the hospital train, in friendly control, which is carrying the countess to safety.

The background of Russia in revolution is very well presented. One does get a vivid idea of the grim thing life was in towns occupied one day by Reds and the next by Whites, with the victors each following the routine of machine-gun execution of the defeated. There is a particularly effective scene showing how refugees stopped a train by the expedient of lying down en masse on the track; also excellent is an incident of a mad station-master, announcing and despatching non-existent trains from a depot to which no passenger comes. Hay Petrie shines in this scene; so, in his own, does Lawrence Bascombe as the young commissar who, love-stricken, shoots himself in order that the countess may escape. All the types, or revolutionaries, White officers, Red officials, are excellent.

Miss Dietrich is beautiful, in and out of her bath, and Donat, suavely underacting, is as good as ever. Jacques Feyder's direction is both imaginative and realistic. It is box-office.

Running time, 82 minutes. "G." Allan

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Mountain Music"

(Paramount)

Hollywood, June 9.—Despite inconsistency and spottiness in the story, "Mountain Music" is a hilarious musical. The cast is headed by Bob Burns and Martha Raye, whose pull at the box-office is steadily increasing.

The yarn combines the harmless slapstick and peculiar idiosyncrasies of mountain folk as currently depicted in cartoons and comic strips with a solid basic story which, however, fails to meet expectations. None the less, the comedy of Miss Raye and Burns, plus that of Rufe Davis, who almost steals the show with his oral imitations of various musical instruments, spell real selling entertainment.

The production by Benjamin Glazer and direction of Robert Florey attempts to stress individual situations and makes the most of the comedy spots although the main thread of the story is somewhat slighted. Of four songs in the picture, "Can't You Hear That Mountain Music" is the best bet for popularity. The words and music are by Sam Coslow.

Briefly, the story shows Burns as having jilted the girl of a family his people are having a feud with. He flees and is hit over the head, losing his memory. Then he meets Miss Raye, tells her he loves her and agrees to wed her. When he recovers his memory he spurns her as being ugly. In the meantime Burns' brother is being tried for his murder. Burns turns up in time. He later marries Miss Raye.

John C. Moffitt, Duke Atterberry, Russel Crouse and Charles Lederer wrote the screenplay from Mackinley Kantor's original. Boris Morros' musical score is excellent. The cast includes John Howard, Wally Vernon, Terry Walker, George Hayes, Spencer Charters, Charles Timblin, Jan Duggan, Olin Howland, Fuzzy Knight, Cliff Clark, Goodee Montgomery and Rita Leroy.

Production Code Seal No. 3,271. Running time, 70 minutes. "G."

"They Won't Forget"

(Warners)

Hollywood, June 9.—A daring and courageous picture that deals with a dynamite-laden theme. This drama of inflamed passions and human nature gone berserk looms as a film that will excite no end of controversy. Mervyn LeRoy demonstrated fortitude in tackling the subject, ignoring formula and assigning unknown players to the principal roles with the exception that Claude Rains and Otto Kruger are given opportunity at the feature parts.

With names or not, "They Won't Forget" is a powerful picture and is headed to become a focal point of discussions and debates. It is to LeRoy's credit as well as the players' who bring to life the biting realism of theme that it never oversteps the bounds of propriety and good taste.

It is strong stuff indicating a social system on a count which many

Film Men Compete at Hub Friars' Tourney

Boston, June 9.—William Canning of the Nathan Yamins circuit took first prize of a radio donated by RCA at the annual golf tournament of the Boston Friars' Club held here today at the South Shore Club. He shot an 81. Joseph Cohen of the Pouzzner circuit—he was also chairman of the entertainment committee—took second place with an 82 and got a set of matched woods.

There were just three entrants in the contest for branch managers. The order of their finishing was: Russ Cropper, RKO; Harry Kirchgessner, National Screen; M. H. Wolf, M-G-M. Thomas Duane, Paramount salesman, hit the longest drive—264 yards.

Yamins, shooting a 91, scored low gross for members of his circuit. About 130 attended the tournament.

Ford Back from Coast

Charles Ford has returned from the coast after completing "Hollywood Screen Test," a two-reel subject with Cesar Romero and Katherine Hughes and directed by Sylvan Simon. In the Universal cutting room now is another two-reel special, "Camera Thrills of 1937," originally called "10 Seconds to Live."

In addition to the two-reelers, Ford produces 13 "Going Places" and a line number of "Stranger Than Fiction," and edits the Universal newsreel. He has just been informed by the Canadian exchange that the scenes of the wedding of the Duke of Windsor must be omitted from the latest reel.

the sales forces by Agnew, following talks by studio executives, headed by Zukor and William LeBaron, managing director of production. Talks on advertising will be started by Robert M. Gillham, director of advertising and publicity.

Individual meetings with district and branch managers will be held on Saturday morning, followed by a studio visit after luncheon and a buffet dinner also at the studio concluding the convention in the evening.

Demands Presented By Painters' Units

Hollywood, June 9.—Business representatives of the three locals of the Painters' Brotherhood today again presented their demands to Pat Casey in person and the painters' and scenic artists' locals were told they could go back to work immediately and then negotiate a union shop and working conditions. Makeup men were told that they first must settle their I.A.T.S.E. jurisdiction fight.

Conferences followed the filing of the informal plea by the locals with the Regional Labor Relations Board asking that they be designated the sole bargaining agencies for their crafts. Pat Casey phoned Dr. Towne Nylander, board director, and agreed to talk to local representatives.

Vernon Murdock, of the makeup men; R. W. Kohl and William Ball, for the painters, and Charles Elrod of the scenic artists have an appointment with Casey for tomorrow.

Strikers arrested Monday night by the police for investigation are all released but two. Ralph Peckham, booked at the Hollywood police station on suspicion of assault in connection with the Westmore beauty salon forceful entry several weeks ago, and Ralph T. Jester for overturning a Warner truck May 10 are still detained.

Form Boston Theatre Union

Boston, June 9.—A new A. F. of L. Theatre Employes' Union has been formed here with 600 members. James O'Brien of the I. A. T. S. E. is organizer and acting business adviser.

Edward McInnes is president, Fred Kennedy, vice-president; Evelyn Bligh, secretary; Hibbard Henderson, treasurer.

British Technicians Ask New Regulations

London, June 2.—At the fourth annual meeting of the Ass'n of Cine-Technicians resolutions were passed asking that the new Films Act should include a cost condition of £2 a foot in British films registered for quota, a "fair wages" clause and prohibition of more than one foreign technician on any British film.

Ralph Bond, chairman, declared that the present crisis in British production was due to mismanagement and incompetence for which technicians had no responsibility and that thorough and proper reorganization is necessary.

Salary Cuts Criticized

In the report there was criticism of the fact that technicians had been asked to take salary cuts in certain studios, whereas "more real and lasting economies could have been made by studios calling conferences of their leading technicians and asking for cooperation in finding economics in working." It was stated that 44 permits to foreign technicians had been refused during the year, a greater number than ever before, and that the association's policy was that foreigners should not be allowed if competent British technicians were available. The association claims 100 per cent union membership in many studios and a strong representation in all the 26 British plants.

Anthony Asquith was elected president for 1937, the vice-presidents being S. R. Cole, Ivor Montagu, Thorold Dickinson and Kenneth Gordon.

AND 100 NEW FACES!

Film Daily's Golf Tourney Biggest, Best

By RED KANN

There was Jack Alicoate, the old golfing maestro, nattily bedecked in linen jacket, a deeper-than-sky-blue shirt and a bright yellow tie going through the paces again exactly as he has for more years than this reporter will recall, lest he be dated.

"I want to tell you that this, the 25th in the series of Film Daily golf tournaments, is the biggest of them all. We have broken all records for attendance."

Nature turned loose her nicest weather for the 200 and more pill swatters who appeared early at the Elmsford Country Club. The Film Daily bunch had been declaring all along the limit was 186, not including those who went in for the so-called gentler sports of tennis, ping pong and swimming. However, and as those things have a habit of going at these popular annual get-togethers, room was found for the overage and around the course they went.

Last night, there was no speculation about the sort of a day golfer and goofer had had. There was some vague talk that the course, as per usual, had been scarred, despoiled and literally torn asunder. Which merely demonstrated the routine to be ordinary and the day to be quite normal.

Greeted from the Air

Three planes droned overhead as the players got going. One carried a streamer whipping in the breeze with this message: Welcome Film Daily golfers. A second, via the same streamer route, made it clear this was the 25th and, thus, the silver jubilee of the series. The third, with understandable pride, merely advertised the skyway service which was responsible for the messages.

This time, team play went into a new high with a total of 10, ranging from the Ampas to trade papers. This, by the way, might be as good a spot as any to report the trade papers weren't even in the running.

Five Teams Get Prizes

Charlie Einfeld, who socks a mean ball, walked off with honors in team play and that got him, as well as his side kicks, with Harry M. Warner as the "anchor man" medals for all, the Albee Memorial Cup for one year and a leg on the wassail-bowl cup which is The Film Daily trophy and which must be won three times before temporary ownership becomes the permanent kind. Trailing, but prize-winners all, were Educational, the Hays office, M-G-M and the Ampas. When Tom Gerety, captain of the Metro team was called upon to introduce his teammates, he had to turn to Howard Dietz for the information. This conveys an idea of how it all went.

The big event of day and night, in strict accordance with well-established custom, was the festive dinner. Behind the dais were long tables which groaned under the weight of trophies. Don Mersereau, looking tired but satisfied, finally had completed the tally and the results were ready for Toastmaster Alicoate. Prior to that, however, came entertainment on the screen. Warners furnished a Vitaphone short, David Mendoza and His Orchestra; Paramount, a Grantland Rice Spotlight titled "Swing Stars" which put the golfers and those who thought they were golfers very properly in their places, and United Artists, a new Silly Symphony, yclept "Little Hiawatha." In it, Walt Disney introduced part of the Longfellow poem as the hero found himself in a big bad wolf situation and the friendly denizens of a charming forest rushing to his rescue.

Followed brief talks by Warner who commended Alicoate on the camaraderie which these tournaments engender; Dietz, who thought it was swell of Martin Quigley and MOTION PICTURE DAILY to provide the kind of a day this had been and Alicoate who thought Dietz might just as well try out the gags for his new show there.

Gordon W. Hedwig, by raffle, won a beautiful set of golf sticks. Len Daly, the prize goofer, got no prize, but escaped the psychopathic ward and Morris Kutinsker, as a mock sheriff, at Alicoate's instance. However, Max Stuart, George Morris and Sam Stern, made up as cops a la the mauve decade, held Daly in check while they broke his sticks, thereby making future golfing desecrations expensive, if not impossible.

No information was available close to midnight as to methods used by Sid Rosenthal, Frank Carroll, John Foster and Norman Nicholson, to get off the premises the set of four chairs which each one earned as runners-up in the team play. Wally Nolan had a rug, and a big one, on his hands, as did Max Cohen. They had a problem to dope out as well.

Jean Harlow Funeral Marked by Simplicity

HOLLYWOOD, June 9.—With the simplicity which marked her contacts with her friends, Jean Harlow was given final rites today with 200 of the best known men and women in Hollywood present in the chapel of the Forest Lawn Memorial Park and 1,000 fans and the curious outside. The service was Christian Science and lasted 23 minutes.

The crowd outside was orderly as it watched Louis B. Mayer, Norma Shearer, Clark Gable, Mrs. Jean Bello, William Powell and other personalities from other studios come and go.

Asks Fee in Fox Case

The law firm of Wise, Shepard, Houghton and Hoffmann filed an application in U. S. District Court yesterday for $12,500 for legal services rendered to the Continental Bank & Trust Co., as trustees in reorganization for the Flatbush Ave. & Nevins Corp., owners of the Fox Brooklyn.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Armand Cohen of this city has acquired a five-year Imperial Pictures franchise for this territory. He will handle the current season's product as well as that of 1937-'38.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"They Won't Forget"

will recognize and decry although the reaction of the deep south is problematical. The film is both mature drama and a piece of adult education and moralizing that ought to exert a profound effect.

During a Memorial Day celebration in an undesignated southern town a girl is murdered. A warped social morality screeches for vengeance. Circumstantial evidence implicates a school teacher. A politically ambitious and ruthless district attorney seizes upon the case as a stepping stone for further advancement. Rival newspapers rush into print with a welter of charges and counter charges arousing the nation to fury. With the cards stacked against him the suspect, aided by an attorney brought from the north, the accused goes on trial. The trial is a travesty on justice. It moves to the tune of prejudiced bigotry that further inflames mob hysteria when it is denied a victim. The terrorized judge sentences the boy to life imprisonment. Mob violence makes a martyr of an innocent man and writes another black chapter in the story of human madness.

Rains and Kruger give superb performances. The newcomers—Edward Norris appearing as the accused, his wife, Gloria Dickson; Lana Turner, the murdered girl; Allyn Joslyn, and Elisha Cooke, Jr.—effectively make good. They are a credit to LeRoy's wisdom in assigning them to such difficult and testing roles. The quality of their work is graphically emphasized by the efforts of the supporting cast, which includes Cy Kendal, Elizabeth Risdon, Granville Bates, Paul Everton, and Clinton Rosemond, a colored player, who was vigorously applauded.

"They Won't Forget" always holds to its spirit of grim and sometimes forbidding realism. The honesty of the film permits no concessions to any irrelevancies that might soften the stark atmosphere. It is based on Ward Greene's novel, "Death in the Deep South." The screenplay is by Robert Rossen and Aben Kandel. It is a fine job.

The controversy the film is sure to stimulate will swell box-office returns in many sections. Yet, exhibitors operating in territories assumed to be the locale of the story, may expect that powerful influences will be brought to bear to prohibit its showing.

Production Code Seal No. 3,150. Running time, 90 minutes. "A."

Hit Booth Law Change

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 9.—The danger of fire was advanced here as an argument against replacing two experienced projectionists in a booth with one projectionist and an apprentice. Vancouver theatres are seeking a change in the law governing projection rooms. Their arguments are being heard before J. M. Coady, commissioner appointed by the Government of British Columbia to investigate the situation.

Booth Bill Is Signed

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann has signed a measure said to have the support of the I.A.T.S.E. which makes more stringent the safety regulations governing the operation of projection booths. One clause requires one operator for each projection machine while the machines are in operation.

Kill Connecticut Tax Bill

HARTFORD, June 9.—The amusement tax measure which has been pending in the Connecticut legislature was killed today.

A. & P. Joins Tax Fight

HARRISBURG, June 9.—The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. yesterday joined in the attack on the Pennsylvania tax on theatres and chain stores, filing an action which declared the legislation discriminatory, because it is not uniform for all stores.

Reopen Two in Ontario

TORONTO, June 9.—The theatre building war has extended to Peterborough, Ont., where the city finds itself with the immediate prospect of having four instead of two theatres in operation. Following the acquisition by Hanson Theatre Corp. of the long unused Grand there, with $60,000 to be spent on renovation, came the news that independent interests of Toronto, known as the Trio Theatre Co., Ltd., had bought the Royal, dark for the past nine years. The modernizing of the Royal will cost over $30,000, it was stated. Both houses will reopen in August.

Robbins Acquires Miller

Robbins Music Co., in which Loew's has a half interest, has acquired Miller Music, Inc. The company will be operated by Jack Robbins as a separate unit, the same as the Leo Feist company which was taken over some years ago. Included in the Miller library are the scores of Vincent Youmans' shows, "Great Day" and "Through the Years," the entire catalogue of the late William H. Woodin, songs by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel and other composers.

M. Benson Carroll Aide

HOLLYWOOD, June 9.—Marjorie Benson, for the past four years associated with Central Casting, has been named assistant to Vance Carroll, Grand National casting director.

Short Subjects

"Love in Arms"

(Educational)

The girls must have their romance. So, with the aid of a miniature camera they frame the dean. Then they throw a party. The invited cadets troop in and the mild blackmail is popped. Both sides agree to be good sports about it and with the chanting of the theme song the conclusion of the second reel is at hand. It is moderately entertaining. Niela Goodelle and Lee Sullivan are featured. Production Code Seal No. 01,602. Running time, 18 minutes. "G."

"Porky and Gabby"

(Vitaphone)

A more or less routine cartoon. The only novel note is the introduction of the Gabby character. In a Donald Duck-ish vein he is given to great excitement and commotion. The denouement is provided by a runaway outboard motor that creates the usual havoc. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"THE LAST TRAIN FROM MADRID" ROARS TO GLORY...

"LAST TRAIN FROM MADRID"
(Paramount)

Producer ....George M. Arthur
Director ....James Hogan
Associate Director..........Hugh Bennett
Story: Paul Hervey Fox, Elsie Fox
Screenplay: Louis Stevens, Robert Wyler.
Photographer ....Harry Fischbeck
Film Editor..................Everett Douglas Cast: Dorothy Lamour, Lew Ayres, Gilbert Roland, Karen Morley, Lionel Atwill, Helen Mack, Robert Cummings, Olympe Bradna, Anthony Quinn, Lee Bowman.

This handsome romantic melodrama, told against the background of Spain's civil war, is worthwhile entertainment. It is built on the familiar Grand Hotel pattern, with three love stories developing concurrently, and it keeps carefully away from the political issues. Moreover, the only battle is a bombing raid used as an incident in one of the stories.

Nevertheless, the tension of war is in the air, heightening the suspense and adding good reason for the panicky stampede to get permits for that last train to Valencia before communications are cut.

Topping cast honors is the surprise portrayal of Olympe Bradna, a comparative newcomer, as a little Spanish girl who escapes from a company of woman soldiers to see her dying father befriended by Lew Ayres, a Gilbert Roland and Anthony Quinn, soldiers sworn to blood-brotherhood, are rivals for the love of Miss Lamour and this triangle, with its dominant motif of self-sacrifice, holds the center of the stage. Roland gives a sterling portrayal of his Colmanesque character and Quinn, a valuable latin type, shows himself a player of fine gifts and appearance.

Karen Morley effectively enters the triangle as a handsome and coolheaded conspirator and Lionel Atwill as the colonel in command delivers with forceful dignity.

Extremely effective use is made of sound effects, coupled with the strikingly interesting music provided by Boris Morros. Hans Drier and Earl Hedrick have built an atmospheric and imposing background for the action and Harry Fischbeck has photographed for maximum value.

CBS 5-Month Day Sales Go Up by 83.8%

The tremendous increases in daytime network sales is reflected in the daytime figures for the first five months of 1937 at CBS and NBC. Expenditures for daytime radio hours on CBS for the above period are up 83.8 per cent compared to the corresponding period last year, while at NBC the percentage of increase this year shows an improvement of 83.5 per cent over the first five months of 1936.

The gross time expenditures for weekday daytime hours for the 1937 five-month period at CBS is $3,426,450, compared to $1,863,911, the revenue for the five-month 1936 period.

The gross time sales for weekday evening time for five months at CBS are $8,892,055, compared to the 1936 gross of $7,603,350, an increase of 16.9 per cent.

Weekday Figures Impressive

Gross expenditures for weekday daytime hours for May this year at CBS amounted to $708,261, a leap of 141.8 per cent over the May, 1936, figure of $292,967. Columbia's evening network hour expenditures for the month were $1,844,113, an increase of 5.4 per cent over last year's evening revenue of $1,749,517.

NBC's time revenue for May of this year are up 65.3 per cent over May, 1936. The weekday daytime sales amounted to $825,428, bringing NBC's five-month total for the daytime periods to $4,688,884.

Gross expenditures for evening network hours at NBC in May totaled $2,238,802, up 12.8 per cent, making the five-month figure for 1937 $11,175,760, an increase of 6.5 per cent.

"Professor Quiz" on New Time

Program Over WNYC Defended by Kracke

In an official statement yesterday, Commissioner of Plant and Structures Frederick J. H. Kracke denied charges of Alderman Hart and Insulbuch that WNYC, the municipal station, had been used to spread anti-Semitic propaganda.

The program on which is based the charge of the protesting aldermen was broadcast last Saturday by Ameen Rihani, Arabian poet and author, from Town Hall. Rihani defended the Arabs in their fight with Jews in Palestine.

Kracke said Rihani was allowed to broadcast in comformance with the station's policy of presenting all sides of public questions, and pointed out that the broadcast included Professor W. E. Hocking, head of the department of philosophy of Harvard University, and Faris S. Malouf, street commissioner of Boston. He said that Dr. Stephan S. Wise, Rabbi Silver, Louis Lipsky and Charles Russell have been scheduled to present their views over the station tomorrow at 7 P.M.

Kracke and Dr. Seymour Siegel, program director of the station, have been ordered to appear before the Board of Aldermen Tuesday to explain the program.

WBNS Gets New Equipment

Columbus, June 9.—New equipment has been installed in WBNS, CBS outlet, which, according to Lester F. Nafzger, chief engineer, will cover a frequency range of 30 to 15,000 cycles with distortion of less than one-tenth of one per cent. Five individual programs can be fed to networks or stations simultaneously, and 28 loudspeaker circuits also can be fed at the same time, it is claimed.

Standard Reserves Wednesdays

Standard Brands, Inc., have reserved the Wednesday 9 to 9:30 P.M. period on the NBC-Blue, it was learned yesterday. The contract is for 15 weeks and is effective as of Sept. 22. J. Walter Thompson is the agency.

The new period will not supplant any of the current Standard Brands programs.

Hurleigh Going to NBC

Baltimore, June 9.—Robert St. F. Hurleigh, who, for some time, has been affiliated with Columbia's WCAO, on June 12 will shift to NBC's red station, WFBR, here.

Hurleigh started his radio career at WOL, as "America's Youngest Newscaster," with subsequent service in Hagerstown and Frederick.

U. A. Option To be Lifted In 60-90 Days

the transaction, Korda said there was nothing to such reports.

Chaplin, Fairbanks and Miss Pickford will continue to release through the company, the head of London Films continued. "There will be no change when they sell out," he said. London Films will contribute "eight big ones" to U. A.'s program next season.

Questioned on the possibility of a stock issue, Korda said there may be one later, probably in a year or two, and then again, perhaps never. "Our business is to produce pictures and not to promote stock," he declared.

"No changes in officers are expected to take place," Korda said, adding, "I hope Dr. A. H. Giannini will continue as president and chairman of the board. We are all very happy to work with him and I have never heard of his being dissatisfied with our offer to buy control. As a matter of fact, Dr. Giannini was instrumental in helping us and we hope he will remain."

Korda insisted that at no time has he mentioned the price offered, or the time limit of the options.

Expansion Predicted

"United Artists will expand with additional producers. I am sure the company has a definite place in the business. After looking over the lineup for next season, I feel it is the biggest in U. A.'s history." Asked who the new producers would be, Korda declined to name them. He did say, however, that he believed Walter Wanger would extend his activities and go to London to make a few pictures.

"United Artists is open, as in the past, for first class producers who hope to join our company," he said.

Emanuel Silverstone will continue to represent London Films and Korda on all negotiations in the United States. In praising the executive administration, Korda said: "Two great men are handling this end, George J. Schaefer, in the United States, and Maurice Silverstone, in England."

Rose Silent on Price

Rose, who is accompanying the London Film head, said he planned to remain abroad about 10 days. He admitted the purchase price for the three partnership interests was $6,000,000 and added that they expire Dec. 21, 1937, not 10 days later, as reported. He also would not say how much was paid for the options.

"We hope to complete the deal in the next 60 days," he said. "I am going over to discuss the English situation with all those concerned there," Rose added. He would not divulge names. "No changes in the present setup are planned," he stated.

"Goldwyn will make eight pictures next season at a cost of slightly under $10,000,000," Rose asserted. He plans to return on the Queen Mary or the Normandie next month.

Korda probably will return from London in three months, if not sooner, to complete final details on the deal. The American publicity head for London Films will sail in five weeks to confer on the new lineup which is scheduled to be announced today.

Mack Littman, representative for Criterion Films, plans to sail for England next week.

When Korda arrived several weeks ago from London, he said that he was dissatisfied with the returns from his pictures by the major circuits and that he may discontinue production for an international market. With the announcement he will make "eight big ones," the impression is that he has cleared up this angle during his visit.

Korda also said on May 11 that there was no significance to his trip other than attend the annual stockholders' meeting of U. A., which he had not done for two years.

However, just before the Queen Mary pulled out yesterday, the London Films' head admitted he worked "very hard" while he was here. He seemed in gay spirits, which was a sharp contrast to the tired look he had when the liner sailed up the bay last month.

During the interview with reporters yesterday, Korda was accessible to all. Several times he cut short an answer to sign pictures projected by autograph hunters.

Silverstone, managing director for U. A. in London, also is returning home on the same boat. His trip, he said, was a holiday. He also was on the Ile de France when Korda arrived here. Basil Bleck, attorney for London Films in England, was in the party.

Alger Voices Criticism of Plan for RKO

Rockefeller Claim Pact Displeases Master

Dissatisfaction with the settlement of the Rockefeller Center claim against RKO was expressed by Special Master George W. Alger at the close of yesterday's hearing on the proposed plan of reorganization for RKO.

Special Master Alger's remark was made in answer to a statement by H. C. Rickaby, counsel for the Atlas Corp., proponents of the plan, that his client and creditors approve the settlement. The hearings were adjourned until June 16. Testimony is expected to be concluded on the following day. Alger will then study the data and listen to the arguments of counsel.

Rickaby stated that he has obtained consent to the plan from 78 per cent of the secured claims and that $6,665,000 out of $9,497,800 unsecured claims, exclusive of the Rockefeller Center claim, have likewise consented.

Si Fabian was present at the hearing and took the stand to testify about Giannini, president of United Artists, was opposed to the granting an option by which Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda would acquire control of the company through the purchase of interests now held by Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Charles Chaplin are untrue, Giannini states.

"I was in favor of the option," he declares.

French Trade Waits Report of Inquiry

By PIERRE AUTRE

Paris, June 10.—The French film industry is awaiting anxiously the publication in the near future of the 600-page report on the results of the investigation of the business conducted by the film commission of the French Parliament.

As a result of the investigation, the Chamber of Deputies is known to be framing a new law calling for the reorganization of the industry. It is understood that it will include a limitation on the number of French film theatres, and the institution of a "cinema state ticket," to be sold by the Government, the purchase of which will be obligatory with all exhibitors as a

Goetz Going Abroad For Fields Picture

William Goetz, vice-president of 20th Century-Fox and executive assistant to Darryl Zanuck, will arrive in New York from Hollywood Sunday and will sail for London on the Normandie the following Wednesday to complete plans for the forthcoming Gracie Fields picture which is to be made under the 20th Century-Fox banner and arrange for the transfer of Annabella to the studio in Hollywood. The French player has been placed under contract as a result of her work in "Wings of the Morning."

Goetz's sojourn in England is in the nature of a semi-vacation, his first since he joined Zanuck in 1933. In his current capacity, Goetz has acted as associate producer of such films as "The House of Rothschild," "Les Miserables," "The Affairs of Cellini" and "Lloyds of London."

Maurice Sigler and Arthur Johnston, songwriters under contract to G. B., were tendered a farewell party yesterday at the company's office. They sail tomorrow on the Champlain. The pair will do the songs for the forthcoming Jessie Matthew's film, "Gangway."

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Drums of Destiny"

(Crescent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 10.—Again E. B. Derr uses a little known incident in American history as the background for a Tom Keene action drama. Carefully written and effectively staged, the piece is held together by intelligent and well developed suspense. Action dominates and every move the players make has a definite meaning in leading up to the climax. With Keene giving a likeable performance and the support contributing effectively to the film's worth, the show is the kind of entertainment that gives youngsters plenty of opportunities to whoop and shout. It also should interest adults.

The locale is the border line between Mississippi and Florida and the time about 1815. Robert Fiske, a renegade, in addition to supplying Indians with arms, dominates the Spanish governor, Carlos de Valdez. An attack on a settler's farmhouse and the subsequent capture of Keene's brother, David Sharpe, a young officer convoying an ammunition train, brings Keene and his gaudily clad colonials into action. With a bit of romance involving Keene and the Governor's daughter, Edna Lawrence, introduced, the hero upsets Fiske's plan to execute his brother and after convincing de Valdez of Fiske's character, the troops eliminate the renegade band to insure peace and cordial relations between the U. S. and Spanish territories.

Based on a story by Roger Whately which he and John T. Neville transcribed, the picture is smartly directed by Ray Taylor and played by lead and cast to make an attractive program picture with particular appeal to those who like to see pictures move instead of listening to a superabundance of talk.

Production Code Seal No. 3,463. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Woman Chases Man" yesterday's opener at the Music Hall was previewed by wire from Hollywood in the April 24 issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

"There Goes My Girl," opening today at the Roxy was reviewed in MOTION PICTURE DAILY on May 24.

"Parnell" is being held for a second week at the Capitol.

"I Met Him in Paris" continues at the Paramount.

"Room Service" Sale Not Signed, Warners

No contracts have been drawn as yet whereby Warners will acquire film rights to "Room Service," the John Murray-Allan Boretz comedy which is in the hit category at the Cort. There is little likelihood that the deal will not go through, but Warners yesterday rested on the old observation that "a contract is not a contract until it is signed." The purchase price is mentioned at $250,000 around Times Square.

To Organize Ad Workers

A plan for the organization of the publicity and advertising fields was formulated at a meeting of the executive committee of the American Advertising Guild. Lewis Merrill, president of the C. I. O affiliate known as the United Office and Professional Workers of America, discussed the objectives of the plan.

Claim 100% Unionization

Alger Voices Criticism of Plan for RKO

his contingent claim against RKO with reference to the Plaza and Palace theatres in Schenectady and Albany. However, it was decided to postpone his testimony until the next hearing.

Joseph Cohen, representing the independent protective committee for common stockholders, placed Elmer Pearson, general manager of the Pathe exchange, on the stand. Pearson testified that the latter half of the year produces at least 25 per cent more profits than the first half. He said that producers having their own distribution setup abroad can secure 25 to 32 per cent of the gross from foreign distribution, and from seven to 15 per cent if they sell to distributors.

Cohen attacked the method of amortizing pictures over an 18-month period. He stated that 851 pictures were written off the books at one dollar after that period although they were still producing revenue. Cohen contended that 42 pictures earned $1,000,000 after being written off.

Arthur Berenson, counsel for a Class A stockholder, asked that the agreement between RCA, Atlas Corp. and Lehman Bros., under which they acquired stock from RKO be placed in evidence, but Alger reserved decision on this request.

Leonard Atkins, representing RCA, stated that 500,000 shares of Class B stock were acquired in December, 1929, and 216,000 shares of Class A stock were acquired between December, 1928, and May, 1930.

basis on which admission charges will be figured.

It is reported that there are numerous additional clauses in the proposed law, but it is believed none will constitute a threat to the importation of American films, which is governed by the Franco-American trade treaty of 1936.

The French industry is unwilling to accept Government control. The Confederation of the French Cinema, which now represents all branches of the trade, is preparing an internal organization, with the creation of a French organization similar to the M. P. P. D. A. in the United States. The Confederation has just organized an inter-professional control system and central film fund for all credit and banking operations for the purpose of assisting producers.

Before becoming effective the agreement must be ratified by the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n and the S.P.A. membership. Dual meetings for this purpose will be called early next week, it was stated. The S.P.A. originally asked full synchronization and recording rights. Publishers countered with an offer of 50 per cent on classical music and 40 per cent on popular music.

Jersey Allied Hears Summary of Session

ASBURY PARK, June 10.—Lee Newbury, president, and Sidney E. Samuelson of Allied of New Jersey today gave exhibitors from this state a resume of developments at the recent national convention in Milwaukee.

The session was held at the Berkeley-Carteret with more than 50 theatre owners in attendance. Newbury presided.

Flash Previews

"Forever Yours"—Featuring the excellent and generous singing of Beniamino Gigli, one of the world's leading lyric tenors, this film will have a particular attraction for lovers of operatic music.

"Yodelin' Kid from Pine Ridge"—A story of the cattle ranches in Florida, of which, the picture assures us, there are many. Another Gene Autry offering.

These films will be reviewed in full in a coming issue of MOTION PICTURE DAILY.

the terms of the contract, must be approved by M-G-M. It is also asserted that the cost of the cartoons, which M-G-M paid in addition to the $200 weekly each to Harmon, Wilson and Ising, have run as high as $20,000 despite the contract stipulation that the maximum cost per short should be $12,500.

The suit declares that the pact calls for from 13 to 18 shorts yearly and that M-G-M asked for 18 yearly for the last two years, but did not receive them.

Columbia to Ask Dismissal

Columbia Pictures Corp. of California, Screen Classics and Columbia Pictures will petition the U.S. District Court on June 15 to dismiss the complaint filed against them by Plain Talk, a magazine, on the ground that it fails to state a cause of action.

The complaint charges infringement of the plaintiff's copyrighted story, "Norton the First, Emperor of America," which it claims was made into a picture of the same name. A permanent injunction, accounting of profits and $50 damages for each exhibition of the film are asked.

S. L. Chess Asks $20,000

Samuel L. Chess, attorney for participating creditors and stockholders, filed an application in Federal Court yesterday for an allowance of $20,000 for legal services rendered in the reorganization proceedings of the Flatbush Ave. and Nevins St. Corp., owners of the Fox Brooklyn and office building. Francis J. Quillan also filed a petition for $2,000 for legal services.

Delay Moskowitz Quiz

Examination of C. C. Moskowitz, Loew executive, by attorneys for the I. T. O. A. in connection with a suit on the circuit's split week policy, scheduled for yesterday, has been put off until July 15. The request for the delay again was made by counsel for the plaintiffs.

B. N. Stymies San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, June 10.—Local theatre policy on Bank Night is undecided here following the Court of Criminal Appeals' ruling that the game is a lottery and illegal. William O'Donnell, local Interstate Circuit director, said he was awaiting instructions from the circuit's headquarters at Dallas before deciding whether to continue the game next Tuesday when the local award will amount to $1,600.

board before they can be placed in effect and the board is not scheduled to meet again until late September.

The title registration committee has been considering several proposals for lengthening the time in which exclusive rights to a title are permitted to remain with the registrant. Formerly, the time was unlimited, but one year ago the rights to a registered title were limited to two years, after which the title, if unused during that time, became available to anyone. The present inclination of the committee is to extend the exclusive period to either three or four years.

At the board meeting yesterday Will H. Hays appointed H. M. Warner, E. W. Hammons and Stanton Griffis as a special committee to study further the question of films for use in class work in schools to be made under the supervision of educators. Warner is chairman of the committee.

Attending the board meeting were Barney Balaban, Paramount; Harry D. Buckley, United Artists; R. H. Cochrane, Universal; Jack Cohn, Columbia; Hammons, Educational; E. B. principally of technical discussions. Tonight Dr. O. H. Caldwell spoke on "Radio Tomorrow," revealing data regarding new radio pianos with radio amplifiers which make possible the reproduction of sound and tone comparable with concert grand pianos but selling for $500 instead of $3,000. The development, said Caldwell, may revolutionize the piano business.

Many delegates here intend to stay over for the convention of the N.A.B. next week.

McCosker Will Head Delegation to NAB

The WOR-Mutual contingent to the NAB convention in Chicago will comprise the following: Alfred J. McCosker, president of WOR and chairman of the Mutual board; Ted C. Streibert, Mutual vice-president; Fred Weber, network general manager; John W. Johnstone, director of publicity, and Lester Gottlieb, Mutual publicity coordinator.

The CBS and NBC delegations have not been set as yet.

Radio Events Plans Out of Town Tests

Radio Events, Inc., by special arrangement with an unstated number of stations, will experiment with productions this summer by presenting its new programs for first readings, or "tryouts" over the wavelengths of the out-of-town stations.

In this manner the commercial department of Radio Events will be able to get a reaction to scripts before offering them commercially.

To Expand Bulletin Service

NBC Thesaurus Bulletin service will be improved and expanded, with a view toward increasing the usability of its recorded program library.

The bulletin service will be divided into two classifications. One will be directed toward program managers and will give information on record releases, programs, artists and operating suggestions. The other will be issued to commercial managers and will be devoted to sales hints, promotion ideas, etc. Commercial managers also are to receive more publicity matter than heretofore.

Kraft Pact Expires July 1

The contract for the Kraft "Music Hall" series will expire July 1. Although not definitely certain at the moment, it is believed that the series will fade for the summer at this date. J. Walter Thompson handles the account.

Other J. Walter Thompson programs which are definitely scheduled to close are the Louis Armstrong all-Negro show, June 25; Bob Ripley's program, June 27; Joe Cook's program, June 26, and the Grace Moore series, the same evening.

"Spy Stories" on WINS

Tim Healy's "Spy Stories," a long popular network feature, will begin a broadcasting stay over WINS and the New York Broadcasting System June 15 at 3:30 P. M., E. D. S. T. The scripts are by Vernon Radcliffe, New York, production manager of WPA.

Transamerican Gets 10 Hearst Stations

Transamerican Broadcasting & Television Corp. has completed a deal whereby it will represent 10 Hearst stations.

The stations are: WINS, New York; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WBAL, Baltimore; WISN, Milwaukee; KOMO, Oklahoma City; KYA, KTSA, San Antonio; KNOW, Austin, and WACO, Waco.

The Booth Tarkington radio serial, 'This Boy Joe," in which Leon Janney is featured, will probably be the first of the sponsored Transamerican programs to be heard over the foregoing stations as well as other Transamerican outlets.

Inter-Hotel System Ties in with WMCA

WMCA programs will be carried on the inter-hotel systems of four local hotels, through an arrangement completed by Dick Fishell, WMCA director of special events. The plan becomes effective June 14.

In return for the constant carrying of WMCA's programs on the hotel set, the station will publicize the activities current at the hotels in the morning "Today's Doings" broadcast daily at 8:55 A. M. Participating hotels are the Waldorf-Astoria, Park-Central, New Yorker and Lexington.

Sues on Radio Contract

A charge that the National City Bank and others interested in the purchase of stock of five broadcasting corporations did not pay him for negotiating the purchase in accordance with an agreement made on Feb. 27, 1932, is made in a suit for $38,600 filed in N. Y. Supreme Court yesterday by Lorenzo C. Carlino, an attorney.

Carlino asserted in his complaint that he was to get 10 per cent of the purchase price of stock of the Brooklyn, United States, Paramount and International Broadcasting Corp., and of the Voice of Brooklyn, Inc. The defendants in addition to the National City Bank are the law firm of Edward & Smith, Nichols & Co., Inc., Myron S. Hall & Co. and the Development Associates, Inc.

Transradio Suit Settled

According to Transradio yesterday there had been a satisfactory adjustment between that company, NBC, and CBS of the controversy growing out of arrangements for broadcasting news inaugurated in 1934. These arrangements and subsequent modifications will be continued and the networks recognize Transradio as a regularly established news organization.

The suit instituted by Transradio against the broadcasters, Associated Press, United Press, International News Service and the American Newspaper Publishers Ass'n and certain individuals, has been discontinued.

WHK to Join NBC-Blue

WHK, owned by the Radio Air Service Corp., will join the NBC-Blue Sept. 26, replacing WGAR, which will hook up with CBS.

The network rate for WHK will be $340 per evening hour.

The station has a daytime power of 2,500 watts, and an evening power of 1,000 watts.

New Shows On the Air

"The Other Americas"

NBC merits high praise for its able welding together of a new series, "The Other Americas," dedicated to the Latin-American countries and short-waved to 20 nations below the Rio Grande via W3XAL. Listeners here will appreciate the weekly dedicatory programs as much as Latin-Americans, is our opinion.

Edward Tomlinson, authority on Latin-American affairs, chatted enjoyably about the customs and histories of the Latin-American countries, and interpreted current news of significance to them. Congratulatory wires to NBC from Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Dr. L. S. Rau, director general of the Pan-American Union, were broadcast.

Maria Silveira, possessor of a beautiful soprano voice, offered several Spanish song numbers in exquisite fashion. Joseph Littau's orchestra provided spirited accompaniment.

BANNER

Lily Pons to Sing By Air for Wedding

Probably the most unusual broadcast of the year will be offered over the CBS network next Wednesday from 12:50 to 1 A.M., E.D.S.T. (actually Thursday) when from the WABC studios in New York, Lily Pons sings wedding tunes dedicated to her dearest friends, Jeannette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, who will be married in Hollywood at this time (allowing for the four-hour time difference between California and New York.) The songs will be piped direct to the scene of the marriage ceremony. Andre Kostelanetz will accompany Miss Pons at the piano.

The broadcast was arranged when Miss Pons learned that previous commitments would not permit her to attend the wedding.

CBS Builds Laboratory

CBS here has built an experimental laboratory studio for testing new ideas in radio acoustics, lighting and other construction details. The devices tested here are for installation in the new KNX studios in Hollywood, now under construction.

Singer on Censor Board

TORONTO, June 10.—Wishart Campbell, radio baritone, has been named to the three-member film censor board of Ontario by Premier M. F. Hepburn. He is the only member who has any connection with the entertainment field.

Gilbert Forbes Joins WFBM

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10.—Gilbert Forbes has been added to WFBM's news staff. He comes from WKBB, Dubuque, and succeeds Fred Winter, who has been added to WFBM's regular announcing staff.

Miss Mueller Going Abroad

Marjorie Mueller of the Script Library staff will leave June 20 for a tour of the Continent with a view to securing more thorough coverage for its script service library in Europe.

Mutual to Broadcast Opening of "Winkie"

Through cooperation with the 20th Century-Fox Studios, the Mutual network will present exclusively scenes attending the world premiere of "Wee Willie Winkie," opening at the Carthay Circle, Hollywood, June 25. The broadcast will be aired from 12:30 to 1 A.M., E.D.S.T.

Although Shirley Temple has never appeared on the air before, Mutual promises she will be on hand to broadcast greetings. Others who will be introduced on the air include Victor McLaglen, Barbara Stanwyck, Simone Simon, Joan Blondell, Walter Winchell, Alice Faye, Tyrone Power, Robert Taylor, Jane Withers, Loretta Young, Alice Faye, Don Ameche and Sonja Henie.

Don Lee's KHJ will feed the program over the coast-to-coast Mutual network.

FCC Gets Pleas for Three New Stations

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The receipt of applications for authority to construct three new broadcasting stations has been made public by the F. C. C..

The applications were submitted by WWPO, Inc., Pittsburgh, for a station to operate on 1,120 kilocycles with 250 watts; Gila Broadcasting Co., Safford, Ariz., for a station to operate on 1,420 kilocycles with 100 watts power night, 250 watts day, and Earl A. Nielsen, Phoenix, Ariz., for a station to operate on 1,210 kilocycles with 100 watts power.

An application was also submitted by WKRD, Tuscaloosa, Ala., seeking authority to increase power to 250 watts.

Will Describe Cup Races

Kenneth S. M. Davidson, authority on yacht racing, has been signed by NBC to broadcast the America's Cup races, beginning July 31. Davidson will work with George Hicks and Bill Stern. The latter incidentally, is no longer a free lance announcer, having signed with NBC's special events department.

"Remember When" New Series

"Remember When" is the title of a new series which will be presented weekly each Tuesday at 8:15 P.M. on WHN. A feature will be re-enactments of films of the past 10 years. Titles will be given, and listeners able to recall the names of the stars who were featured in the films will be rewarded with broadcast tickets.

Sherwin-Williams Back to NBC

The Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. has signed to return the "Metropolitan Auditions of the Air" program to NBC this fall. The program last season was heard Sundays from 3 to 3:30 P.M. on the Red. Its fall time schedule is not known at the moment.

Begin Test Programs

Axton-Fisher Tobacco Co. has begun a radio test campaign for Twenty Grand cigarettes on three Pittsburgh stations, through the New York office of McCann-Erickson.

ecutive cited the "remarkable strides" made by Paramount since Adolph Zukor took over studio supervision 14 months ago.

Charles M. Reagan, western division sales manager, declared that the company's business for the first 17 weeks of this year was more than 14 per cent above the business for the same period in the best previous year, 1929. He said the company is now servicing more than 91 per cent of its possibilities.

John Hicks, Jr., vice-president in charge of foreign activities, was enthusiastic about the prospects in his department, declaring people abroad have plenty of money to spend for film entertainment.

J. J. Unger, eastern division sales manager, awarded gold watches to 15 members of the 100 Per Cent Club, and Reagan presented the cash prizes to the winners of the Adolph Zukor Jubilee sales drive.

Today's list of 100 per cent winners were E. M. Adams, Charlotte; N. Davidson, Washington; D. C. Elmo, Pittsburgh; J. F. Gubbins, Boston; Irving Lesser, New York; J. C. Rodman, Cincinnati; C. N. U.A. Circuit In Deal with Robb-Rowley

Report Groups About Set To Enter Partnership

Negotiations are understood to be practically completed whereby the United Artists Theatre circuit will acquire a partnership interest in the Robb & Rowley circuit of approximately 65 houses in California, Oklahoma and Texas.

Harold Robb, Edward Rowley and their attorney are now on the coast conferring with Joseph M. Schenck, president and chairman of the U.A. circuit. The deal, it is said, will be completed shortly.

Schenck is expected to arrive from Hollywood the latter part of the month for the reported purpose of presenting the deal to the circuit's board, which includes, in addition to Schenck, Harry D. Buckley, A. H. Frisch, Joseph H. Moskowitz, Bertram S. Nayfack, Dennis F. O'Brien,

GN Loss $636,201; Blumenthal Is V.P.

Grand National yesterday reported a loss for its first year of $636,201 after all charges, including costs of organizing the company and other corporate expenses aggregating $74,131.

At the same time, Edward L. Alperson, president, reported that A. Pam Blumenthal, former film and financial executive, who has been associated with Grand National unofficially for some time, will become a vice-president and director of the company. On June 30 he is slated to succeed Charles L. Stillman as a director, with the latter's resignation becoming effective on that date, and on Aug. 1 he is to become a vice-presi-

Coast Strike Is Settled by An Agreement

Hollywood, June 11.—By the terms of a strike settlement reached late last night painters and scenic artists will receive 100 per cent union recognition starting July 1. They will go back to work immediately.

Makeup men will be guaranteed a union shop, but a contract and negotiations will be delayed until a membership election to be held soon determines whether the I.A.T.S.E. or the Painters' Brotherhood shall represent them.

In the agreements, which were submitted in writing by Pat Casey, producers' representative no mention is made of the Federated M. P. Crafts,

Academy Writers Ask Contract Abrogation

Hollywood, June 11.—Producer signatories to the contract establishing working conditions for writers have received from the writers' branch of the Academy a request for the abrogation of the pact.

Should the requested abrogation of the writer-producer contract be completed it will mark the withdrawal of the Academy from economic and labor situations, limiting it to purely cultural, educational and technological functions.

Something Else

"We're going to have fewer B and C pictures this year than ever," a film salesman with a new season work sheet confided to an exhibitor in front of the Film Center Bldg. yesterday.

"Well, it ain't the B and C product that I'm worried about," the exhibitor countered, "it's the A and Z product."

Zukor Sees Higher Grade Films Ahead

Los Angeles, June 11.—The new season should be the greatest for top caliber productions in many years, Adolph Zukor, chairman of the board of Paramount, today told the delegates to the company's annual sales convention at the Ambassador Hotel here. He expressed the belief that the public is demanding a higher type of entertainment and that by next fall big films will run five or six weeks instead of one and possibly two weeks, as before.

The executive declared his expectation that Paramount's planned 22 $1,000,000 features will gross more than the 60 the company released in the current season. He urged the salesmen to educate the exhibitors to seek their profits in quality rather than in quantity. He added that the company is aiming at 36 big pictures although just 22 are scheduled.

At yesterday's session, Eugene

British Quota Up to 30% Proposed by Government

Would Start at 20% and 15%, Rising to 30% Within 10 Years

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, June 11.—A quota ratio of 20 per cent for distributors and 15 per cent for exhibitors, rising gradually over a 10-year period to a high of 30 per cent for distributors and 25 per cent for exhibitors, was stated today by Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, as the British Government's proposal for quota stipulations in the proposed new Films Act. The new law will replace the present legislation expiring next year. The present quota is 20 per cent for both distributors and exhibitors.

Stanley revealed the long-awaited Government proposals to the joint trade deputation to the Board of Trade today. The deputation represented the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n, the Kinematograph Renters' Society (distributors) and the Film Group of the F.B.I. (producers).

The Government also proposed a minimum cost of £15,000 or £2, 10 shillings per foot, with a film costing £7, 10 shillings per foot, or a total of £45,000, counting double on the quota.

A separate shorts quota is proposed at 10 per cent for distributors and five per cent for exhibitors, rising to 20 per cent and 15 per cent. There is to be no cost basis for shorts, but the Board of Trade would be invested with power to impose such a stipulation.

There will be no quality test as re-

Ohio Files Answer In Playdate Action

COLUMBUS, June 11.—Rocker & Schwartz, Cleveland, representing defendants in the suit of RKO Distributing Corp. vs. State of Ohio, to test the validity of the preferred playdate law, have filed a brief with the U. S. special statutory court.

The answer denies all allegations of unconstitutionality as set forth by the plaintff, and affirms the validity of the act as a valid exercise of police power.

Defers Play Suit Ruling

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum yesterday referred the motion made by RKO Radio Pictures to dismiss the suit of Samuel Shipman and Clara Lipman to Federal Judge John M. Woolsey for a hearing on June 26. The complaint charges infringement of the plaintiff's play, "Depend on the Woman," in the RKO picture, "I Dream Too Much." An accounting of the profits and an injunction are asked.

Take Jersey City Site

The Bergen Center Holding Co. has acquired a site in Jersey City for a new theatre which is expected to be completed in October.

Purely Personal

ALBERT MARGOLIES of G.B. says it must be two other fellows—maybe Hecht and MacArthur—who are writing that play. As far as he is concerned his status this summer will be only that of a commuter between 1600 Broadway and the hills of Katonah, where there is a tennis court but no typewriter.

Bisby, Grover McDonnell and Roy Starling; Little Rock, B. F. Busby, manager; Fred Lawrence and G. W. Jones; Oklahoma City, Sol Davis manager; F. R. Moran, G. A. Alt and Eddie Greggs.

Seicshnaydre was host tonight at a dinner and entertainment for the delegates.

Zukor Sees Higher Grade Films Ahead

Zukor, assistant to the board chairman, declared that studio personnel is becoming more than ever interested in the problems of distribution.

John Hicks, Jr., foreign distribution head, said that the world market is profitable despite the current problem of "blocked profits" by several foreign countries and foreign import regulations.

Among the members of Paramount's 100 Per Cent Club who were awarded engraved gold watches for having topped their quotas and those elected to the club during the year were: E. M. Adams, Charlotte; H. Davidson, Washington; G. Elmo, Pittsburgh; J. F. Gubbins, Boston; Irving Lesser, New York; J. C. Rodman, Cincinnati; C. H. Weaver, Dallas; J. S. Young, New Orleans; F. R. Anderson and S. Pick Two for Crosby HOLLYWOOD, June 11. — Paramount has lined up two Bing Crosby starrers to follow "Double or Nothing," now at work. The first will be produced by Emanuel Cohen from an untitled story under the terms of a picture-a-year deal which Cohen has with Crosby, and the second will be "And Then Came Spring," musical romance by Angela Sherwood and a score by Rudolph Friml. Franciska Gaal may play opposite Crosby in the Paramount produced picture.

Short Subjects

"The Coronation"

(20th Century-Fox)

All the pomp, the pageantry, the riotous color of robes and jewels and cheering throngs attendant upon the coronation of a monarch and his queen, have been caught in their impressive splendor by the wonder of the Technicolor camera in this color featurette of the Coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England.

As something for the exhibitor to sell to his customers the result should be well worth the effort of specialized promotion, and that despite the fact that when it is released—and no release date has been set as yet—it may well have lost its timeliness. However, the color subject which British Movietone News has produced is so far superior to the routine black and white reporting of the parades and ceremony that its exhibition as a special, historical subject appears worth while.

The supervision of Sir Gordon Craig, Gerald Sanger and Russell Muth and the skillful editing of Truman Talley have made more than a mere pictorial reporting job of the subject. It is introduced with beautiful scenic shots of the several castles of the House of Windsor, shows a number of principal members of the nobility in their Coronation robes and the crown jewels, then records the parades to and from Westminster Abbey and Buckingham Palace. Natalie Kalmus deserves recognition as Technicolor adviser, and Lowell Thomas is precise and interesting in his colorful running commentary, aided by an excellently appropriate musical score.

The subject's faults lie in too many references to the abdication of the Duke of Windsor and the disappointing absence of scenes of the actual Coronation ceremony, since no color cameras were permitted inside the Abbey. As a substitute are paintings picturing the important moments of the ceremony.

Running time, 28 minutes. "G."

"The Grand Bounce"

(M-G-M)

The idea in this short is familiar to readers of Liberty. To pay a gambling debt, a young man gives a check he cannot meet. The scenario follows that check. It goes to a gambler's girl. She buys a fur coat. The furrier gives it to a surgeon who saved the life of an injured child. It passes from the surgeon to a friend, to a prize fighter and finally back to its original writer. The idea is unreeled dramatically. Pete Smith acts out all the parts with his usual versatility from the soundtrack. Production Code Seal No. 2,948. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Rushin' Ballet"

(Roach-M-G-M)

Alfalfa and Spanky of the Our Gang troupe are the protectors of the weak and oppressed in this latest adventure. Their altruistic bent gets them into a jam with two tough kids. The course of the story involves the first mentioned pair in the intricacies of the ballet as they attempt to elude their pursuers in a children's dancing school. Production Code Seal No. 3,196. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Coast Strike Is Settled by An Agreement

each local bargaining individually in the negotiations.

The deadlock to the strike situation was broken when Dr. Towne Nylander, of the Labor Relations Board, told George Browne, president of the I. A. T. S. E., that the makeup men, claimed by Browne, could vote any affiliation they pleased. Arrangements will be made for future voting by the makeup men after they return to work. All strikebreakers are to be ordered officially out of the studios. The establishment of a union shop means that if the locals cannot supply sufficient workers, they in turn will take in new members. The decision to accept the agreement which provides, in the case of scenic artists and painters locals to start negotiations for wage scales and working conditions within six days, was virtually unanimous in all three Painters Brotherhood locals.

Browne Promises Withdrawal

Strike leaders today expressed high favor of the agreement but were unwilling to make any statement regarding the future of the F. M. P. C. It is understood, however, that the F. M. P. C. was held to be unwieldy by the majority of the strike leaders but that sentiment favored a new form of federation.

Browne today said that he would pull his men from all studios signing agreements with scenic artists and painters locals because he had not been officially notified that the F. M. P. C. has been dissolved and also because he and his organization have not received apologies for attacks upon the I. A. T. S. E. by F. M. P. C. leaders. Browne's action came about an hour after Charles Lessing formally announced the disbandment of the F. M. P. C. Upon direct questioning, Browne admitted that his action was taken because he believed that reports concerning the F. M. P. C. continuance emanated from Lessing and other leaders.

"Strike Over," Says Lessing

Informed of the Browne statement, Lessing said, "We have an agreement in writing from Pat Casey for the painters and scenic artists. We have a verbal agreement for the makeup men. We have an understanding with Casey on moulders and stationary engineers. As far as we are concerned the strike is over."

The cold, final analysis of the strike agreements establishes the fact that the result is practically a standoff between employes and producers despite the fact that a victory for the strikers seems apparent on the surface. Painters and scenic artists originally had been offered reentry into the basic agreement plus a 10 per cent raise. Now they have a union shop but are assured of no salary increases. The makeup men had been told to first settle their I. A. T. S. E. jurisdictional differences and then talk working conditions. Today, while they have been given a union shop, the jurisdictional obstacle has still to be surmounted.

One of the most significant results of the strike situation is that about 2,000 men lost six weeks of salary, exhausting the treasuries of their locals.

Strikers returned also to independent studios today. The independent producers are expected to follow the move of the majors in signing labor agreements.

U.A. Circuit In Deal with Robb-Rowley

Willard V. King, William P. Philips and Lee Shubert.

The United Artists circuit is interested in more than 165 theatres from coast to coast, which are operated by Loew's, Paramount, National Theatres and Metropolitan Playhouses, the latter circuit in turn being operated by George Skouras of Skouras Theatres and Sam Rinzler and Louis Frisch of Randforce.

Of the 165 theatres, approximately 100 are located in the Greater New York area, 50 in the California region and about 15 in Portland, Ore., Baltimore, Detroit, Chicago, Columbus and Louisville.

The Rivoli on Broadway is wholly owned by the U.A. circuit and is under Skouras' management. About two years ago, the same circuit purchased an 80 per cent interest in Metropolitan Playhouses, the other 20 per cent being held by RKO.

According to the circuit's deal with Skouras and Randforce, a half interest in all theatres acquired by the independents automatically is turned over to U.A.

For the year ended Aug. 31, 1936, the U.A. circuit reported a net income of $167,845.66.

Reports current yesterday had it that the U.A. deal with Robb & Rowley is for a 50 per cent interest with operation to remain with the present management.

Unions Oppose WPA Cuts

All theatrical unions having members employed on the WPA theatrical projects voted yesterday "to take such action as is necessary" to prevent the discharge of any union worker from such projects.

The following unions joined in the resolution: Actors' Equity Ass'n, Chorus Equity Ass'n, American Federation of Actors, American Federation of Musicians, I.A.T.S.E., Theatrical Protective Union, United Scenic Artists, Theatrical Wardrobe Attendants, and the Agents', Managers' and Treasurers' Union. Their resolution, which will be presented to Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, by a union delegation immediately, asserts that the unions "resolve to stand together as one united body and refuse to accept dismissal of any one of our members, and resolve to take such action as is necessary to carry out the intent of the resolution."

The resolution is aimed at proposed cuts in relief rolls.

Actors to Open N. Y. Branch

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—Ken Thomson, Actors' Guild secretary, leaves today for New York to establish a guild office there through which eastern film actors will have to pass.

Variety Club

St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—The annual midnight boat ride of Variety Club will be on the President on the Mississippi River tomorrow night with RAY COLVIN, chief barker, in charge.

The boat will leave the dock at 12:30 A. M. Sunday, to be exact.

Each year the net proceeds of the river excursion go to some local charity or are devoted to sending boys to summer camps of the Boy Scouts. This year the proceeds will be used to purchase and equip a special sound truck that will be used to show pictures to shut-ins at various institutions.

GN Loss $636,201; Blumenthal Is V.P.

dent. Blumenthal, who was formerly head of Stanley Advertising Film Co., represents interests holding substantial amounts of Grand National stock.

Alperson points out in a letter to stockholders that the company's first owned picture was not distributed until Dec., 1936, and that Grand National did not distribute any pictures for outside producers until shortly after Oct. 1, 1936. The report covers the fiscal year ended April 3, 1937, thus indicating that the bulk of the company's operations occurred during the final six months covered by the report.

Total distribution revenue amounted to $1,205,651, and the gross profit thereon was $437,276. Of the distribution revenue $495,932 was from pictures distributed for other producers, on which the company's profit amounted to $218,737; $451,685 was from company owned productions, on which there was a profit of $123,096, and $258,033 was from pictures distributed for outside producers, on which there was a profit of $95,442.

Foreign Business May Help

The report also reveals that advance payments received under foreign distribution agreements, aggregating $357,938, have not yet been taken into the company's income account, and will not be until the pictures covered by such agreements have been exhibited in the respective foreign countries.

Grand National's balance sheet shows current and working assets of $1,704,438, of which $824,308 is in cash. Current liabilities amount to $462,581.

Alperson's letter also points out that the report reflects "primarily the cost of building up an extensive national distributing organization, in advance of the development of a full supply of product." He lists the company's 29 branch offices in this country and reports that arrangements have been made for distribution outlets in Canada, England, Ireland, Europe and South America, and declares that "now that the groundwork has been laid, your corporation is in a position to look forward to a year of increased business at home and abroad."

Grand National and Keller-Dorian Split

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—Grand National today rescinded its contract which called for the use of Keller-Dorian color on two pictures. Phil Krasne of Grand National gave as reason for the move the fact that Grand National "does not wish to act as subject for experimentation to establish the commercial feasibility of the color process."

Keller-Dorian assets and equipment were attached recently by Windsor Prod. because of the alleged back payment due for two color experts.

Plans Coast Color Plant

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—E. T. Oakland, head of the production staff of Telco Corp., is here completing arrangements for a Telco color plant. A printing unit is to be shipped from New York as soon as the Hollywood plant is ready.

Quota High of 30% Proposed By U.K. Gov't

quested originally by the C.E.A. A reciprocity scheme is being considered, Stanley said, and may become an optional feature of the act.

A significant feature of the proposals is the fact that the Board of Trade will retain administration of the Films Act, with flexible powers to modify the quota and other details as desirable. The retention of power in the Board of Trade is indicative of the fact there will be no Government film commission or Government arbitration board named with specific jurisdiction over films. An advisory committee will assist in administration.

An extension of the classes of film available for quota purposes will include all but advertising films and newsreels, and probably will admit documentary short subjects.

See American Producing

The general reaction to the proposals is favorable, and they are seen as especially beneficial to the K.R.S. in the absence of a Government commission and the double quota provision. It is believed that American companies will make big pictures for the world market here as a result. Exhibitors are alarmed in the belief that the double quota may mean a 50 per cent reduction in the British footage handled by American companies.

The Board of Trade has asked that the trade express its views on the proposal within 10 days, indicating that the proposals as set forth do not necessarily represent the Government's final decision on quota.

New St. Louis Law Blow to Exhibitors

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—The new city ordinance signed by Mayor Bernard F. Dickman governing the operation of theatre projection booths and the handling of film will cost the more than 90 local houses several hundred thousand dollars, it is estimated, if Director of Public Safety Chadsey insists upon immediate compliance with the law's provisions.

The law, which was backed by the I. A. T. S. E., gives to the union two weapons for creating jobs for its members. One requires one operator for each machine, and the other provides: "No person shall be allowed within the projection booth except the owner, manager, business manager of the local union, operators or apprentices as authorized by the local union and agreeable to the management."

It is considered doubtful that any theatre at present is complying with the requirements of the new law.

RCA Issues Pressbook

RCA Mfg. Corp., under the direction of Julius Haber, in charge of the press division, has issued an elaborate press book designed to build up a campaign for the opening of new sound in a theatre and to continue its exploitation throughout the year.

Schaefer Will Predict 28 at Least for U.A.

Delegates to Be Given Details Here Today

United Artists will distribute a minimum of 28 pictures during the new season, delegates to the company's eastern sales convention, which opens here today at the Waldorf-Astoria, will be told by George J. Schaefer, vice-president and general manager. The list may be augmented during the year by an additional 10 or 12 features from available producers, which would bring the company's new season total to a maximum of 40.

The company will have six features completed and ready for distributing by the opening date of its new releasing season, Aug. 15, according to A. W. Smith, Jr., general sales manager. The six, said to be more than the company has ever before had ready for release at one time, are

To Hold Republic Meet Here Today

Republic's eastern division sales convention will be held today at the St. Moritz with 60 home office and eastern branch delegates in attendance.

Today's convention is the last of four regional meetings held throughout the country under the direction of J. J. Milstein, vice-president in charge of sales, following the initial meeting of Republic franchise holders on the coast last month. Edward M. Schnitzer, eastern sales head, will preside at today's session.

Paramount Meeting Concluded on Coast

Los Angeles, June 13.—Paramount's annual sales convention, which started on Thursday, came to an end at the Ambassador Hotel here yesterday. The early part of the day was devoted to individual sales meetings with district and branch managers of the various territories.

Luncheon was followed by a visit to the studio by the delegates. A buffet dinner, also held at the studio, concluded the convention last night. The men are expected to be back in their respective territories late this week.

Hold Academy Destined for Cultural Role

Bargaining Moves Leave It Outside Economics

Hollywood, June 13.—Insiders here predict that by September the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences will be completely removed from the economic side of the industry, relegating all working condition contracts, arbitration and so forth to the various creative talent groups which have organized or are organizing to do their own collective bargaining. It is the sentiment of the leaders that the group should function only as a social and educational institution.

The Actors' Branch of the Academy already has asked the producer signatories to the Day Player and Free Lance Actor Code to join them in rescinding it in favor of the Screen Actors' Guild contract, which move was a mere formality under the explicit terms of the guild contract.

The Writers' Branch of the organization holds a dual contract with

RKO Train Gathers Clan at St. Louis

St. Louis, June 13.—The RKO convention special stopped here today to pick up the delegates from a number of cities, en route to the company's annual sales convention which will open Wednesday at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. The train was boarded today by the sales personnel from Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Milwaukee, Washington, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and this city.

Yesterday, after leaving New York in the early evening, the train stopped to pick up the Albany delegates in that city, and in Indianapolis for the men from that city and Cincinnati. Aboard in New York, in addition to

Warners to Produce On the London Stage

Warners have made plans to enter the London stage production field through an agreement with O'Bryan, Linnit and Dunfee, London producing firm. At least six plays will be put on starting in September.

Jacob Wilk, head of the Warner story department, will sail to handle details within a fortnight. Later, business manager and production man will go over. The plays produced will be used later for films.

New C.I.O. Move

Philadelphia, June 13.—The C.I.O. is actively seeking to organize white collar workers in local exchanges. An initial meeting was held late Thursday evening with others to come.

Authoritative opinion available over the weekend inclined toward the opinion that the Philadelphia situation very likely would demonstrate itself to be merely one evidence of a nationwide move on the part of the C.I.O. to unionize stenographers and routine office help in all exchanges.

Heads of the larger companies are understood to be aware of the development and discussed it at length at the quarterly meeting of the Hays organization last Thursday.

Court Refuses To Set Aside Stadium Sale

Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson on Saturday denied petitions by Isidor J. Kresel and Samuel Zirn, on behalf of Orpheum Circuit stockholders to set aside the sale in April of Orpheum's assets to Stadium Theatres Corp., a wholly owned RKO subsidiary.

Kresel, representing the preferred stockholders of Orpheum, had asked the court to review Referee Oscar W. Ehrhorn's order approving the sale to Stadium for $700,000 cash and subordination of $3,450,000 of claims against Orpheum, and the rejection of the preferred stockholders' bid of $2,000,000 cash for the Orpheum assets. Kresel had also requested that

Pathe News to Drop Topics in Shakeup

Pathe News will discontinue its Pathe Topics series with the new season, replacing it with a new series to be known as the Pathe Parade, Frederick Ullman, vice-president and general manager of the reel, said Saturday prior to his departure for the RKO Radio Pictures annual sales meeting in Los Angeles.

The change in production plans is in line with a broad program of inno-

Five Cities Scheduled To Send Delegations

Negotiations will start Wednesday between home office executives of eight major companies and representatives of exchange union employes from Cincinnati, Oklahoma City, Charlotte, Indianapolis and Kansas City. There is a possibility that a union delegation from Denver may be included.

Also on the schedule for this week is a rediscussion of terms previously gone over for the Cleveland and Washington territories.

Distributor interests stated on Saturday that most of the present setups, providing for a maximum 40 hours a week are not being disturbed and that all conferences are of an amicable nature. While the terms of the contracts have not been decided upon, the pacts take in all inspectors, poster and shipping clerks.

William F. Rodgers, general sales manager for M-G-M, is chairman for the distributor committee. The committee is represented by four sales executives and home office exchange personnel. No decision has been made for the handling of negotiations with

National Understood In Fox Detroit Deal

National Theatres is understood to have closed a deal with the bondholders of the Fox, Detroit, for the operation of that theatre and by another deal, also will operate the Adams, that city. The two theatres may be pooled in direct opposition to United Detroit Theatres, Paramount affiliate in the Motors City.

The Adams is being operated currently by Harry Balaban.

Report Dwight Will Leave Hughes Firm

Richard E. Dwight of Hughes, Schurman & Dwight is understood planning to withdraw from the legal firm which has been representing 20th Century-Fox. Dwight, it was indicated Saturday, will continue to handle the film company's legal business. Efforts to reach Dwight for a confirmation were unavailing over the weekend.

Approve Nuisance Taxes

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The House has adopted, by a vote of 230 to 93, the resolution extending the "nuisance" taxes, including the Federal admission tax, for two years, as was anticipated.

Looking 'Em Over

"Yodelin' Kid from Pine Ridge"

(Republic)

The locale of this film is unusual, to say the least. It is set in Florida where, the foreword tells us, there are a number of large cattle ranches. The ensuing story is cleverly handled. It concerns the rivalry between turpentine gatherers and the cattlemen for the right to carry on their respective callings. Like other Gene Autry offerings, this, too, contains many musical interludes by the star and an amusing cowboy ensemble. As a whole, it is first-class outdoor entertainment that will go over with its proper audience.

Autry helps out the turpentine gatherers. When he is discovered by the cattlemen his father disowns him. He leaves for the west where he becomes a rodeo star. With his winnings he buys a tent show and returns to his hometown. He heads right into the thick of the still smouldering hatred. His father is murdered. The turpentine men come to lynch him when they find their leader dead. He escapes from prison and with the aid of Smiley Burnette and Betty Bronson he rounds up the guilty party responsible for all the feuding.

Miss Bronson turns in a fine performance as the "Tobacco Road-ish" heroine. The cast includes Le Roy Mason, Charles Middleton, Russell Simpson and Snowflake. Joe Kane directed.

Production Code Seal No. 3,391. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"Episode"

(Metropolis)

The patrons of the "little cinemas" that prefer films with continental flavor will like "Episode." It is an Austrian production. There are English titles.

Production details and the photography might have been better. The story quality compensates for these faults. It is a charming romantic story set in the Vienna of 1922, the time of inflation.

The suicide of a reckless banker cuts off the interest from Paula Wessely's investments which have been supporting her mother. An art collector becomes her philanthropic and well-meaning friend. The plot from that point goes its wistful way. It develops clever conflict in which the Viennese flair for lightness is shadowed by interesting drama. The trying romantic difficulties are satisfactorily ironed out when Miss Wessely, after many misunderstandings and vicissitudes, finds that she loves the tutor of her benefactor's offspring.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 96 minutes. "A."

Looking 'Em Over

"Forever Yours"

(Grand National)

Far and away the outstanding salable feature of this picture, especially for those who like good music, is the singing of Beniamino Gigli, one of the world's leading operatic tenors. He is in fine voice and, although no complete operatic score is rendered, Gigli sings a number of arias.

Produced in England, and with an all-English cast supporting Gigli, the performances are of uniformly good quality, especially that of Joan Gardner. Alberto Giacalone produced, Stanley Irving directed, and Hugh Gray and Arthur Wimperis wrote the screenplay. What Gigli lacks in slim, film hero appearance he compensates for with an honest, workmanlike performance. Where good music is wanted, this film should have a market.

The simple story finds Miss Gardner falling in love with an officer aboard ship, meeting disappointment, then meeting Gigli, through his small son. The widower is attracted to the girl, and with his limited knowledge of English, proposes. They are married, and he is extremely devoted to her. Then suddenly she again meets the man she had loved, and he asks her to go away with him. She is torn between her desire to go and her loyalty to the kind Gigli. In a dramatic climax, Gigli is singing, sees her leave the theatre, and rushes home, where she joins him, her decision made.

Production Code Seal No. 01,025. Running time, 71 minutes. "G."

"African Holiday"

The interior of Africa offers material that suggests a waiting audience. The exhibitor can always go to town with spectacular exploitation. This is also true of "African Holiday."

Harry Pearson, a retired business man, made the picture. In proper documentary fashion it begins with shots of the preparations for the exploitation. With Mrs. Pearson, the producer arrives in Nairobi, organizes his safari and departs for the veldt.

The teeming game of East Africa performs in the usual style. There are shots of the varied species of fauna in their natural habitats—lions, wildebeeste, elephants, giraffe, the many varieties of antelope and countless others.

But interspersed throughout the glimpses of animal life there are compelling and strange sequences of native rites. These include Masai blood-drinking ceremonies, orgiastic performances and a rare snake dance. The latter shows the natives doing their stuff among deadly reptiles. It is chilling material that will draw the morbidly interested into the theatres. And then there is the photography which catches fine shots of little known places.

It is an effectively presented and composed "different" film. Distribution plans have not yet been set.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 57 minutes. "G."

Overseas Preview

"Merry Comes to Town"

(Sound City, London)

London, June 1.—In many ways this is a model of the type of film which British producers should make in order to get into the American market, in a modest way, perhaps. With Zasu Pitts as its spearhead for the U. S., it is unpretentious but convincing comedy, based on good story values and supported by clever and very amusing characterizations. The cast is excellent and the direction of George King efficient and speedy.

Miss Pitts is an American stenographer who uses a legacy to have a vacation in London. There she finds her "rich" relatives actually to be in very poor circumstances and under the impression that she, as an American, must be rolling in money. She puts their affairs straight, by a blend of simplicity and good business sense and goes back to Detroit as poor as she came.

There is a lot of good fun at the expense of amateur vocalists, correspondence courses, and of Miss Pitts, who makes the American visitor a very engaging figure. The British character support is excellent.

It should make a good comedy support and convince many American audiences that British producers are capable of humor, and of considerable finesse in presentation.

Running time, 77 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Carnival in Paris"

(M-G-M)

A gay musical containing fundamentally sound entertainment ingredients. The theme is different but a "Seventh Heaven" air is about it. The action starts in a museum where clever lines are delivered, jocularly referring to the Egyptian collection. The plot—boy meets girl—takes her to a masquerade ball, they win a costume prize, find they are in love, difficulties enter, they are overcome. You describe the finish. Production Code Seal No. 3,162. Running time, 21 mins. "G."

"Streamlined Greta Green"

(Vitaphone)

A cleverly executed color cartoon. It concerns the trials of a young car that aspires to become a taxicab. In interesting fashion the plot involves the use of many fresh novelties. It is new material that should go over well. Production Code Seal No. 3,357. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"The Hound and the Rabbit"

(Harman-Ising-M-G-M)

An entertaining and cleverly executed color cartoon. A young rabbit befriends a dog. He takes his new pal and uses him to advantage on his football team. A wily fox lures the dog away and catches most of the players for his dinner. But, the hound returns in time and is acclaimed after he dispatches the fox. Production Code Seal No. 3,280. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

"Play Ball"

(Terry Toon-Educational)

Kiko and his Australian team engage the denizens of the jungle on the diamond. They go through spectacularly animated cartoon sequences that are satisfying. Production Code Seal No. 01,604. Running time six minutes. "G."

"Serene Siam"

(Fitzpatrick-M-G-M)

In addition to interesting scenes in and around Bangkok the producer here offers enlightenment on Buddhism and discourses on the technique of the interesting Siamese dance forms. It is wholly interesting and satisfying. Production Code Seal No. 01,563. Running time, 9 mins. "G."

"Golf Mistakes"

(M-G-M)

Pete Smith aided by four outstanding players in his usual tongue-in-cheek style offers a learned discourse on what to do and what not to do on the green. The usual horseplay is in evidence. The golfing fraternity will stay to see it twice. Production Code Seal No. 3,265. Running time, 10 mins. "G."

Trade Show "Said No"

Grand National will hold trade previews of its "The Girl Said No" in every exchange center throughout the country June 15, with the exception of New York where a trade preview has already been held. "The Girl Said No" will have its premiere in Boston on June 22 at the Shubert.

unions in the far west, it was stated. Present indications are that the distributor committee will not leave New York, but that out of town union delegations will come east for the talks.

RKO, which will hold its annual sales convention on the coast starting Wednesday, will be represented at the union meetings here by the committee as a whole.

With the exception of Cleveland and Washington, arrangements have been completed for exchange employes in Buffalo, Philadelphia, Boston, New Haven and Pittsburgh.

Distribution executives indicated on Saturday that agreements for Cincinnati, Oklahoma City, Charlotte, Kansas City and Indianapolis will be completed before the end of the week.

Jo Davidson Is Named

Oklahoma City, June 13.—Jo Davidson, famous sculptor, has been designated by Mrs. Will Rogers to make the statue of her late husband which will be placed in Statuary Hall in Washington. Members of the Will Rogers memorial committee, appointed last week by Governor E. W. Marland, have been asked to meet here on June 20.

Youngclaus Adds Two

Grand Island, Neb., June 13.—Increasing his holdings to five houses, W. N. Youngclaus of Grand Island, one-time baiter of the big producers with a series of suits, has purchased the Sterling and Lyric from J. I. Galbreth at Superior, Neb.

"Star Born" Twin Cities' Only Grosser

Minneapolis, June 13.—Only the Century with a second run, "A Star Is Born," escaped a general slump. The gross of $5,500 was $2,000 over average.

The Minnesota with "I Met Him In Paris," the Paramount and the Tower in St. Paul showing "Cafe Metropole" and the double feature, "Her Husband Lies" and "Off To the Races," respectively, showed slight increases of $500.

Hold Academy Destined for Cultural Role

Screen Playwrights, Inc., on writer working conditions, but the Academy is expected to sidestep the forthcoming controversy between the revived Screen Writers' Guild of the Authors' League of America and the Playwrights over who shall be determined the bargaining agency for the film writers.

Then, too, the Academy holds a pact governing working conditions of assistant directors which is expected to be tossed overboard when the Screen Directors' Guild is thoroughly organized and held the directors' bargaining agency.

Chief duties of the Academy, under the planned setup, will be the maintenance of the publication of its records of achievements in the various fields of talent, the annual distribution of awards for which necessarily some change must be made because of the depleted talent branch membership, and the continued program of education and research under the Research Council. Formulation of a definite future policy will await the return of Frank Capra, president, from Europe.

Walker Bars Coal Job

Scranton, June 13. — Frank C. Walker, vice-president and general manager of Comerford Theatres, Inc., has no desire to become "czar" of the anthracite industry. Proposed by the Scranton Tribune as the man for leading the hard coal industry out of its difficulties, Walker said under no circumstances could he see his way clear "to assume leadership of so difficult a task."

Birmingham Meet June 27
